Mr. Arnold is staying with his sister, Mrs. Mary Ann Varian, of East Ninth street. He resides in Milwaukee, Wis., where he holds a lucrative position as cashier of the Pabst National Bank. His early training in banking was received at the City National Bank, of this place, where he filled the position of clerk for some years. William F. Arnold, of Third place, cashier of the City National Bank, and James K. Arnold, of Manning avenue, the grocer, are brothers of the visiting westerner, who is accompanied by his wife and daughter.

JUNIOR ENDEAVORERS CLOSED THEIR SEASON

Closing Exercises Held By Junior Endeavor Society Of Trinity Reformed Church, GIFTS FOR FAITHFUL ONES.

INFORMAL MUSICAL PROGRAMME WAS GIVEN BY YOUNG FOLK.

Pastor Schenck Made a Short Address And The Superintendent, Mrs. J M. Tier, Spoke To The Children—Refreshments Served.

The Junior Christian Endeavor Society of Trinity Reformed church held its closing exercises for the season in the primary department room of the church yesterday afternoon. There was a large attendance of the young folks and everyone thoroughly enjoyed the event, which was marked by several pleasant features. Mrs. J. M. Tier is the very efficient superintendent of the society, and she is ably assisted by Miss Berkaw.

The society now numbers ninety five and there has been an average attendance of thirty-nine at the meetings. The receipts during the year have been $65.36, and the disbursements as follows: Arabian Mission, $12; Miss Winn's work in Japan, $12; Indian Mission, $12; "Shut-In" work, $5; Camp Wolfe, $2; Mrs. Khair Allah's hospital work in Jerusalem, $6 50; piano fund, $5. Mrs. Cornelius Schenck is the treasurer and she reports a small balance.

While Mrs. Tier was in charge yesterday, the programme was arranged by the Juniors and it was most creditable. After the opening exercises there were vocal solos by Eliza Dufford, Laura Bodine and Anna Randall, the latter singing "The Holy City," accompanied by her sister, Miss Hattie Randall. There was a recitation by Beulah VanWinkle and a reading by Bessie Randall. The programme was concluded with a short, but interesting talk by Rev. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of the church, in which he commended the Juniors for their excellent work. He also praised the efforts of Mrs. Tier and her assistants.

Mrs. Tier then announced that during the year nothing had been said regarding presents, but she believed that when the members had been faithful in attendance they should be rewarded. She then stated that Miss Emily Bye had not missed a single meeting during the year, and she was given a token of appreciation of that fact. Christopher Mobus, for bringing in the largest amount of money for missionary purposes, was presented with a book telling of China. The second largest offering was made by Helen Smith, and she received a present. The faithful secretary, Fred Smith was presented with a book, "The American Boys in Japan," and Miss Berkaw, the faithful assistant, also received a present.

At this time Bessie Randall gave the superintendent a surprise by presenting her on behalf of the society two handsome books. The gift was appreciated and the members thanked heartily. The rest of the afternoon was then devoted to sociability and the serving of refreshments. Before the meeting adjourned Mrs. Tier gave the Juniors some timely advice for the summer. After repeating the Great Commandment in concert, the benediction was pronounced by Pastor Schenck.

PISCATAWAY SCHOOL PICNIC.

WAS HELD AT VAIL'S GROVE, NEAR NEW MARKET, YESTERDAY.

Addresses Given—Day Was Perfect and Attendance Was Large—Children Marched to Grove.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Market, June 13—With a perfect day and a crowd of several hundred in attendance, the annual school day exercises of the Piscataway township schools, took place in Vail's Grove at this place yesterday. It was by far the most successful affair of its kind held in several years.

The pupils assembled at the New Market schoolhouse and marched to the grove under the leadership of Superintendent Cathers and Principal Harry Pittinger. They were assigned places near the platform and during the exercises rendered a number of appropriate songs.

It was originally intended to have an address delivered by Professor Apgar, of the Trenton Normal School, but he was unable to attend. Interesting speeches were given by Revs. Frank Fletcher and L. E. Livermore, of New Market, and William FitzRandolph, a member of the School Board.

Reports by the various teachers of the district and the distribution of honor emblems to the pupils for meritorious work and regular attendance completed the exercises. The latter were given out by County Superintendent Willis.

The rest of the time was spent socially while the refreshments were being disposed of. The affair broke up shortly before 6 o'clock.

WOOLWORTH'S NEW STORE.

Five And Ten Cent Store, Which Opens For Inspection Tomorrow, Will Be Finely Equipped.

For several weeks past, F. W. Woolworth & Co., have been preparing to open their handsome five and ten cent store in West Front street, which will be another addition to their already long list of such stores which are established in all of the principal cities in the United States. The first store was opened by this firm at Lancaster, Pa., in May 1879, and since then sixty-five stores have been established by the firm. Their efforts have been met with wonderful success, until today they are the leaders in their line of business.

Owing to the fact that the firm buys in such large quantities, they are able to give the people such bargains. They have adopted a perfect system for purchasing, there being two European and eight American buyers, whose work is solely that of supplying the stores with the best of everything. The quality of their goods is a feature and ten cents is the highest price asked for any article. The large variety of goods found in all the other stores of the firm will be found in the Plainfield store, thereby giving their patrons, who visit the New York and Newark stores, the same variety to select from.

The store in this city is large and cool and will be well lighted by day and night. Handsome and substantial fixtures have been installed and the fittings of the store throughout are first-class in every respect. No pains or expense will be spared in maintaining the store in the best possible manner. R. H. Allen, who has been in the stores at Philadelphia and Brooklyn, will be manager of the Plainfield store. The opening, for inspection only, will take place tomorrow, when an orchestra will be present to present a popular programme. Saturday morning at 8 o'clock the store will be opened for business The firm believe that their efforts in this city will be appreciated and warrant a good share of patronage.

To Form New Club.

A new club is to be formed at 117 East Second street, whereby for a nominal fee the members will have the use of the bowling alleys, shuffle boards, etc., from 10 o'clock in the morning to 12 midnight. For particulars apply at 117 East Second street.

FIRST OPEN AIR CONCERT.

GREAT CROWD ASSEMBLED TO HEAR MUSIC BY LA VERE'S BAND.

Concert Was Very Satisfactory Save For The Long Waits Between Selections—May Give More.

Fully 2 500 people from every part of the city, listened to the first band concert of the season, given by LaVere's band, in front of the Hotel Waldorf last evening. It lasted for full two hours but during all that time, the crowd remained in almost full force, the majority of the people coming before 8 o'clock and remaining until the last selection. Every bit of standing room was taken advantage of, while the usual large number of young folks grasped the opportunity afforded for a promenade. To those who were forced to stand, the long waits between selections became very monotonous, but beyond this the concert was a success in every way.

As for the concert itself, it was fully as good if not better than any of those given on North avenue last summer. The members of the band have improved wonderfully under Leader LaVere's coaching and the result was made plain in a number of difficult selections usually rendered only by professional organizations. The cornet solo, "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp," grand fantasia, by Albert C. Sweet, was executed in that artist's usual meritorious manner which called for long applause. The medley overtures and Sousa's new march, "Hail to the Spirit of Liberty" were clearly the features of the programme.

Whether or not the concerts will be made a permanent feature during the coming summer, has not yet been decided. LaVere has several plans in view for furnishing the music, but as yet he has not made any of them known. It is possible, however, that one of them will be formulated within a very short time, providing he receives assurance of proper support.

UNITED SCHOOL ATHLETICS.

NORTH PLAINFIELD HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION FORMED.

Permanent Organization Made Which Will Control Athletics in Borough School in the Future.

The members of the North Plainfield Public High School, who are interested in athletics of any kind, have felt for some time past that a permanent organization should be effected. This was done yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the North Plainfield High School Athletic Association which was held at the school. George C. M Smith was chosen chairman of the meeting, after which it was stated that the purpose of the association is to bring under one head all the athletics of the school, and a permanent organization was formed by the election of the following officers: President, Fred Armstrong; vice-president, Ray Stevens; secretary and treasurer, Robert Hand; assistant, Edward Overton.

Edward Overton was elected manager and captain of the hockey team, and the following officers were chosen for the baseball team: Manager, Edgar George; assistant manager, Edgar Adams; captain, Fred Armstrong; assistant captain, Ray Stevens.

A committee, consisting of Edward Overton, chairman; Ray Stevens, Fred Armstrong and Edgar George, was appointed to make arrangements for securing suitable athletic grounds for next season. Heretofore, the members have been handicapped by not having regular grounds where games could be played and other athletic events held. The association hopes to overcome this difficulty another season.

There was a pleasing spirit of harmony evidenced among the members at the meeting and greater things are looked for in the future.

SACRED CONCERT AT ST. JOSEPH'S CHURCH.

Enjoyable Programme Rendered Before Large And Appreciative Audience.

THOSE WHO TOOK PART IN IT

PARTICULARLY FINE SINGING BY THE CLERICAL CHOIR.

Well Rendered Solos By Miss Marisona—Regular Choir Of The Church Sang Well—Other Features Of Programme.

A large and appreciative gathering of lovers of good music listened to the rendition of the well arranged numbers on the programme of the sacred concert given in St. Joseph's church last evening. The recital was highly commendable and thoroughly enjoyed by the attentive assemblage. It would be difficult to select any particular number as a feature of the affair since each selection was a musical treat in itself.

As an appropriate introduction Farmer's setting to the "Gloria In Excelsis, Deo" was rendered by the church choir, which is composed of Miss Tina Smith, Mrs. Reilly, Fred LaPorte and James Bailey, assisted by a special chorus. Miss Mira Marisona sang as a solo, "My Redeemer and My God." This was exceptionally fine though her chief achievement of the evening was the "Inflammaties," by Rossini, in which she took high C with much ease. Later her cultivated voice was much in evidence in the rendition of the "Ave Maria," by Gounod. In this last number Miss Marisona was supported by the violinist, M. Koiff All her selections were rendered with telling effect.

William Holmes, whose pleasing solos are much enjoyed by Plainfield audiences, sang "Light in Darkness," by Dudley Buck and again Grainer's "Hosanna." Rev. Fathers Joseph Keuper and Wm. Dettrick rendered as a duet, "A Salutaris," by Wiegand and Father Dettrick sang "A Dream of Paradise." Both numbers were very good. A violin solo by M. Korff entitled "Priere" was well played. Wiegand's "Tantum Ergo" was sung as a duet by Mrs. Reilly and F. LaPorte to the edification of the assemblage.

One of the masterpieces was Verdi's "Praise Ye the Lord" which the Clerical Choir of the Diocese, composed of six priests, rendered as a chorus. Father Miller acted as accompanist. The selection was unusually effective.

That inspiring composition of the late Sir Arthur Sullivan, "The Lost Chord," was rendered with considerable expression by Rev. Father Joseph Keuper. Another vocal number was "Consider and Hear Me," produced by a quartette composed of Miss Smith, Mrs. Reilly and Alfred LaPorte and James Bailey.

As a climax to the entertainment the "Regina Cœli" was rendered by St. Joseph's choir. During the concert Mrs. LaPorte, the church organist, who acted as accompanist, played a variety of National and popular airs. This feature had the effect of demonstrating the tone and capability of the newly-installed organ.

At the conclusion of the concert all who were present arose and sang in unison "Holy God We Praise Thy Name."

Party Of Day Nursery.

The fifth annual party of the Little Missionary Day Nursery, of which Miss Sara Curry is the manager, was held Friday evening, May 31, at the Eleventh Street M. E. church, New York, and was one of the most successful affairs ever held. The affair netted over $200 for the nursery, and Miss Curry is thankful for the many kind remembrances sent from this city.

Short and Cossipy Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

The May number of the New Jersey Crusade, a magazine devoted to the interests of the Knights of the Golden Eagle, contains a poem written by a well-known boroughite under the nom de plume—"Medicus." The incident dwelt upon in the poem refers to the time of the institution of the Somerville Lodge, K. G. E., on which occasion the New Brunswick and Plainfield lodges attended. Reproduced in its entirety it is:

"Ye entrance into Somerville of ye Knightly host from New Brunswick.

[With apologies to ye illustrious and renowned band of musicians of ye New Brunswick Castle, commonly yelept ye red-headed drum corps.]

Ye goodly folk of Somerville,
Ye second night in May,
Had sought ye bed full wearily,
When ceased ye busy day.

Ye storm came on almightily,
Ye water filled ye ground;
Ye watchman wore his rubber boots,
And prayed he be not drowned.

Ye thunder spake, ye lightnings flashed,
And from New Brunswick way,
Ye watchman heard an awful sound,
And louder yet did pray.

And louder still ye voice appeared,
And louder eke it grew;
Ye watchman trembled in his boots,
And wot not what to do.

And on ye sky a glow appeared,
Ye watchman turned and fled;
Ye heavens o'er ye sleeping town,
Grew brighter yet with red.

And nearer came ye awful noise,
And brighter grew ye light;
Ye fleeing watchman looked around,
And nearly died from fright.

For on ye road from Brunswick town,
There met his frightened gaze;
A host of men, and in ye van,
A most unearthly blaze.

And lo, it was ye Brunswick host!
Each one an Eagle Knight;
Ye red-head band had made ye noise!
Their heads had made ye light!!

DISABLED STEAMER ARRIVES.

Three Men Sailed Seven Hundred Miles In Search of Help.

HALIFAX, June 13.—Disabled over two weeks ago far south of the beaten track of ocean travel, the British steamer Border Knight, bound from Cape Verde islands for New York in ballast, drifted and sailed 400 miles north in a zizzag course and was then picked up by the Spanish steamer Duranco, bound from Philadelphia for Bilbao, and towed another 300 miles to Halifax, arriving with tail shaft broken and propeller gone.

Twenty-four hours ago a ship's lifeboat containing First Officer Matthis and two sailors of the Border Knight landed in an exhausted condition at Sheet Harbor, a fishing hamlet 100 miles east of Halifax. They had left their steamer when the accident to the shaft occurred 15 days ago, volunteering for the perilous mission of seeking to intercept some sailing ship or steamer cruising the ocean to report the Border Knight's condition and to solicit aid.

The lifeboat was provisioned for ten days, and Captain Splatt only consented to the boat's leaving the steamer on the reflection that the Border Knight was so far out of the track of commerce it might be many days before help would arrive. In an open boat the three men sailed 700 miles, and it is a coincidence that they reached the Nova Scotia coast a day before the Border Knight. The intelligence of the safety of the lifeboat and of the steamer was a mutual relief.

Carter's Home a Sweet Place.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—The Washington house of ex-Senator Thomas H. Carter of Montana has become the hive of a swarm of bees, and the industrious insects have already packed full of honey the entire space under the floor of one room. Large quantities of honey, hundreds of pounds of it, Mrs. Carter thinks, have been taken out during the last week by the human inmates of the house. The store of honey is believed to represent the accumulation of three years. The ex-senator himself has become interested in honey mining, as he calls it, and declares, with his wife, that this honey is the most delicious ever tasted.

SALEM, Mass., June 13.—Willard Spaulding of Peabody, son of the late Rev. Willard Spaulding, a famous Universalist, has been found guilty by a jury of breaking, entering, larceny, burning and having burglar's tools in his possession. There were 24 counts in the indictment, and he was found guilty of 15 of these. Judge Hopkins immediately imposed a sentence of ten years in state prison.

CUBA HAS ACCEPTED

Vote Stood 16 to 11 on the Platt Amendment.

MADE AN APPENDIX TO CONSTITUTION

Original Act as Passed by Congress, Without Change or Explanation, Was Considered—An Electoral Law Next.

HAVANA, June 13.—The Cuban constitutional convention has accepted the Platt amendment by a vote of 16 to 11. The resolution to accept was carried without discussion. Immediately after the opening of the session Senores Tamayo, Villuendas and Quesada, constituting a majority of the committee on relations, submitted as a substitute for the committee's former report the Platt amendment as passed by congress, recommending that it be accepted and made an appendix to the constitution.

In the vote on the resolution the 27 delegates present divided as follows:

In favor of acceptance: Senores Capote, Villuendas, Jose M. Gomez, Tamayo, Monteaguedo, Delgado, Betancourt, Giberga, Llorente, Quesada, Sanguily, Nunez, Rodriguez, Berriel, Quilez and Ferrer.

Opposed to acceptance: Senores Zayas, Aleman, Eudaldo Tamayo, Juan Gualberto Gomez, Cisneros, Silva, Fortun, Lacret, Portuondo, Castro and Manduley.

Senores Rivera, Correoso, Gener and Robau were absent. The latter two voted against acceptance in the previous division. Senor Ferrer voted with the conservatives, explaining his change of attitude by asserting that he believed acceptance would be the best solution of the problem.

The convention will now appoint a commission to draw up the electoral law.

Rejoicing at Washington.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—The news of the adoption of the Platt amendment by the Cuban constitutional convention was received with genuine gratification here. The administration officials all along have felt confident that its ratification would be accomplished when the Cubans realized that this government was firm in its attitude regarding the amendment and that its acceptance would be necessary before the United States would consent to withdraw its supervision from the island. Now that the Cubans have demonstrated their good faith in the United States it is expected that a fairly speedy evacuation of the island will follow, contingent only upon the establishment of a stable government in the island. Just to what extent the United States will require practical evidence of this fact is not definitely known, but the officials here think that such steps should be taken by the Cubans as will demonstrate their ability to maintain order and peace, so that the interests of all the people, native and foreign, shall be adequately protected. One cabinet officer, speaking of the matter, expressed the opinion that if the other requirements are met our withdrawal must be accomplished during the summer, so that Cuban independence might be a reality by next autumn.

Train Wreckers Foiled.

CHEYENNE, Wy., June 13.—An attempt to blow up the bridge and wreck an express train on the Union Pacific six miles east of Green River, Wy., was frustrated by the accidental discovery of 800 pounds of dynamite hidden in a deep ravine. The explosive was removed to another place and officers set to watch. At night two men, mounted and heavily armed, went to the spot where the dynamite was found. When they discovered that the dynamite had been moved, they put spurs to their horses and fled to the mountains. Officers are now in pursuit. The company has been expecting a hold up, and all express trains carry guards.

Tornado Sweeps Iowa.

SIOUX FALLS, June 13.—A dispatch from Rock Rapids, Ia., directly east of here, says that a terrific windstorm struck that section. A cloudburst accompanied it. The storm first struck the Schrader farm, three miles from Lester, and wrecked the house occupied by a family named Barney, killing an infant outright and breaking Mrs. Barney's jaw. All the other members of the family were injured. North of Lester a number of farmhouses and barns were destroyed. In Rock Rapids several buildings were badly damaged. All crops in the pathway of the storm were destroyed.

The Trap Shooting Match.

LONDON, June 13.—It is believed that today's shoot will surely end the match in favor of the Americans. Their average yesterday was decidedly better than that of the previous day, but the team will be disappointed if today's average, under anything like favorable conditions, does not exceed 90 per cent. Crosby led yesterday's score with 95 per cent kills. Heikes and Gilbert had 93 per cent each, and Tripp had 90 per cent. No member of the American team secured lower than 81 per cent, whereas the highest British score was 87 per cent.

A FAST BATTLESHIP.

New Sea Fighter Illinois Makes a Record.

A VERY SUCCESSFUL TRIAL TRIP.

She Raced Yesterday Over a Sixty-six Mile Course at an Average Speed of 17.31 Knots Four Consecutive Hours.

BOSTON, June 13.—With the proud distinction of being the fastest battleship in America and the speediest of her class in the world, the new sea fighter Illinois lies at anchor in President's roads after a most successful trial. Over the government course from Cape Ann to Cape Porpoise and return, a distance of 66 nautical miles, she raced yesterday under the watchful eyes of Uncle Sam's official representatives and established a new record by maintaining an average speed of 17.31 knots for four consecutive hours. Not only did she demonstrate that she was faster than any warship of her inches afloat, but she proved her ability to turn upon an enemy with extraordinary quickness by describing a complete circle within 300 yards, or little more than twice her length, in three minutes and ten seconds while plowing through the sea at full speed.

Steadiness and reserve power characterized the performance of the ship throughout the severe test. The work of her engines was smooth, and even the records of the day showed but one-tenth of a knot difference in speed between the northern run and the return. The machinery easily met every requirement, and not an accident of any kind marred the success of the day.

While still going at top speed immediately after crossing the finish line the ship's helm was thrown hard over, and she described a complete circle in three minutes ten seconds. Immediately she was turned again in three minutes eight seconds. Off Gloucester shortly after her anchors were tested in 30 fathoms of water.

The Illinois is a sister ship to the Wisconsin, which has previously held the record for American first class battleships with 17.12 knots to her credit.

Rear Admiral Sampson, who was aboard unofficially, and Rear Admiral Evans, who acted as president of the trial board, as well as the other naval officers who participated in the trial were thoroughly pleased with the new champion, and as she steamed back to her anchorage with a broom at her masthead the officials of the Newport News Shipbuilding company, whose three years of labor had reached such a happy climax, were enthusiastically congratulated.

Virginia Constitutional Convention.

RICHMOND, June 13.—The Virginia constitutional convention met at noon yesterday and after prayer by the Rev. Dr. Richard McIlwaine was called to order by Delegate Pettit of Fluvana. Hon. John Goode of Bedford was elected president, and his speech of acceptance announced the principal questions the body will be called upon to consider. He took strong ground in favor of restricting negro suffrage. The question of the members taking the oath prescribed for state officers was raised, and a long debate followed. It was finally decided that neither that nor any other oath should be taken. Senator Daniel was one of the leaders of the opposition to swearing in the members.

New York Architect Won.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—The competition among the 13 prominent architects of the country for plans for the public building at Cleveland has been settled by the unanimous agreement of the board of award, which has selected the plans submitted by Arnold W. Brunner of New York. The board of award in considering the plans had no knowledge as to what architects submitted them, the envelopes and plans being designated by corresponding numbers. The report of the board was approved by Secretary Gage and Assistant Secretary Taylor. The building, it is said, will be one of the finest in the United States.

Accident Fatal to Two.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 13.—Two men are dead and three injured as the result of an accident at the Paint creek bridge of the Windber extension of the Johnstown Passenger Railway company. A dinky engine used in construction work jumped the track and cut one man in two and mangled a second so badly that he died shortly after being brought to the hospital in this city. Three others were injured. The men are all Italians and were employed by the contractors of the road.

BALLSTON, N. Y., June 13.—The forge department of the American Ax and Tool company's factory, one mile northwest of this village, was destroyed by fire last evening.

ANOTHER EXPLOSION.

Number of Victims at Port Royal Mine Has Reached Eighteen.

WEST NEWTON, Pa., June 13.—Another explosion took place in the Port Royal mines at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon in No. 2 shaft. It sent up a whirlwind of oil, dust and smoke and proved conclusively that the gas is still active in the mines. It will probably be this afternoon before the mine inspectors can get together for the purpose of deciding as to the advisability of making another attempt to recover the dead bodies in the mine before flooding it. Coroner Wynne of Westmoreland county has commenced an inquiry into the cause of the disaster at this place. Only two witnesses were examined when adjournment was taken. The inquest will probably occupy several days, as the jury, which is composed of well known business men, seems determined to get at the cause of the disaster if it can be learned from any living man.

The death of Harvey Beveridge at the McKeesport hospital brings the total number of fatalities of the Port Royal mine disaster up to 18.

The last rescuing party explored the mine for a distance of about 3,000 feet. The dead body of David James was found between Nos. 10 and 11 entries. The body was taken into the blacksmith shop, where it was identified by a rag tied around the little toe of the left foot. The flesh was burned from the face in several places, and the body looked as if it had met nearly the full force of the second explosion.

CAILLES MAKES TERMS.

Insurgent Leader Says Amnesty or No Surrender.

MANILA, June 13.—General Sumner has received a notification from Cailles, the notorious insurgent leader in Laguna province, that unless the general agrees to the Filipino's terms, which include the granting of amnesty to the latter, Cailles will not surrender, and the negotiations on the subject are to be considered at an end.

Captain William H. Wilhelm of the Twenty-first infantry, who was recently wounded in the shoulder in an engagement with insurgents at Lipa, Batangas province, is dead.

Lieutenant Henry T. Mitchell of the Forty-first regiment has been arrested and will be tried by court martial on the charge of embezzling at Bacolor $227 of the public funds.

Distinguished Visitors at the Fair.

BUFFALO, June 13.—The Pan-American exposition was honored yesterday by the presence of a galaxy of distinguished men. Secretary of State John Hay arrived in the city. Secretary of War Elihu Root spent a part of the day at Niagara Falls, returning to Buffalo last night. He will leave for the east this afternoon. General John R. Wilson, chief of engineers of the United States army, will remain in the city for a few days. Major General Corbin and Major General Young have returned to Washington. Today General Miles, Admiral Dewey and Captain Richmond P. Hobson have arrived. They will participate in the Flag day exercises to be held in the Temple of Music at the exposition grounds. General Miles and Captain Hobson will speak. Senator Platt spent another busy day. He went to the exposition grounds as the guest of Director General Buchanan. Later in the day he made a trip to Niagara Falls.

State at Newport News Serious.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., June 13.—The strike situation in Newport News has reached a critical stage. In addition to the striking machinists, about 500 in number, 350 unskilled men from the electrical, plumbing and pipe fitting departments have been laid off. This action was due to the interference in the progress of the work of the departments by the strikers. It is stated that other departments will be laid off as rapidly as they finish their work ahead of the machinists and can do no more without the aid of the machine shops. As the city is largely dependent upon the 7,000 men at the yard the feeling in business circles is uncomfortable in the highest degree.

Take Advantage of Plainfield Citizen's Experience Before It's Too Late.

When the back begin to ache,
Don't wait until backache becomes chronic,
'Till serious kidney troubles develop.
Profit by a Plainfield citizen's experience.

Mrs. Wm. H. Ludlow, of 88 Jackson avenue, says: "I had backache and a sort of dull pain across my loins for several years. If I sat for any length of time and tried to rise I had a sharp pain in my kidneys. Walking any distance or standing aggravated the difficulty. I could not rest well at night from the fact that I had to be constantly changing about from one position to another trying to free myself from pain. I used quite a number of remedies but got no permanent relief. I was prevailed upon to get Doan's Kidney Pills from L. W. Randolph's drug store. I must say they did me a great deal of good. It is seldom that I feel any pain in my back and when I do a few doses of this remedy never fails to relieve me. I know others who have used Doan's Kidney Pills with good results."

NOTED MEN HEARD.

Young Men's Christian Association Delegates Throng Boston.

BOSTON, June 13.—The great influx of delegates during the past 24 hours largely augmented the audiences that filled Mechanics' hall yesterday at the various sessions of the Young Men's Christian association international convention which were chiefly devoted to the presentation by able speakers of subjects and problems bearing on the progress of the Young Men's Christian association work during the past 50 years. In opening the convention President William E. Dodge implied repudiation on behalf of the convention of the remarkable circular issued by a few members of the association condemning the Boston Museum of Fine Arts as an improper place for the young people to meet in at a reception.

Although couched in moderate language, his words were strong and forceful and were greeted by applause.

Although the addresses of the morning and afternoon sessions were deeply interesting to those personally engaged in association work, it was the evening meeting which most strongly appealed to the popular taste on account of the curiosity to see and hear the military and naval heroes who were announced as speakers and to catch a glimpse of the other notables who were present merely as auditors.

Among the speakers were Major General Joseph Wheeler, Rear Admiral F. J. Higginson, Captain A. V. Wadhams, U. S. N.; Captain Richmond Pearson Hobson and Colonel Curtis Guild, Jr., who presided. The result was an immense audience that filled every nook and corner of the big hall and one that was wildly enthusiastic in its reception of the speakers, especially of General Wheeler and Captain Hobson.

ALBANY, June 13.—State Superintendent of Public Instruction Charles R. Skinner reports that a communication has been received by Myron T. Scudder, principal of the New Paltz Normal school at New Paltz, from Lieutenant Matthew B. Hanna, acting commissioner of public schools for the island of Cuba, announcing that arrangements are being perfected for sending between 50 and 100 teachers from the island of Cuba to the New Paltz Normal school for a course of instruction for one or two years in the study of English, manual training, domestic science, school economy methods and civil government. This is taken to mean the beginning of professional training for the teachers of the schools of Cuba and the planting of the American public school idea in that island. The Cuban government defrays the expense of transportation, board and instruction for these teachers and allows each a salary of $20 a month during the entire course of instruction.

California Excursionists Arrive.

NEW YORK, June 13.—The Los Angeles Times Pan-American excursion, made up of 53 persons, representing all parts of California, but principally the city of Los Angeles, has arrived in this city en route to Buffalo. The excursionists are traveling in a special train of Pullmans and have had the same dining car service throughout their long trip. Mrs. Harrison Gray Otis, the wife of General Otis, the proprietor of the Los Angeles Times, is one of the party. Six days will be spent by the excursionists at Buffalo. They will return on their train via Niagara Falls, Chicago, Denver, Salt Lake City and San Francisco.

New Million Dollar University.

LINCOLN, Ills., June 13.—The new $1,000,000 Millikin university, to be composed of Lincoln college and Decatur Industrial college, was organized here on the occasion of the thirty-fourth and final commencement of Lincoln university. A. R. Taylor has resigned as president of the State Normal college at Emporia, Kan., and will come this summer to accept the presidency and complete the new organization. The new university is named for James Millikin of Decatur, who has given over $150,000 to endow it.

Cannot Save the Carinthia.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, June 13.—The steamer Bear has arrived here from Point Gravois, Haiti, where the Cunard line steamer Carinthia, then on her way from New Orleans for South Africa with 1,400 mules for the British army, was wrecked in May of last year. John T. Boyt, the Philadelphia salvage expert who was in charge of the attempts to reclaim the stranded ship, returned on the Bear and reports that the efforts to save the liner must be abandoned, as all devices have proved unsuccessful.

San Francisco Butchers Strike.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13.—The union butchers report that about 1,100 men have walked out and that Butchertown is tied up by the slaughterers quitting work. They state that between 100 and 150 shops out of a total of 350 have retained the union cards, and about 400 men are at work. The wholesale butchers, however, claim that there will be no difficulty in supplying meat to their customers. They will not furnish any houses showing a union card.

NO AGREEMENT YET.

Ministers at Peking Are Still Haggling.

ANNOUNCEMENT CREATES SURPRISE.

The Indemnity Question Supposed to Have Been Settled Long Ago. It Appears False Reports Were Sent Out.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—The astonishing information has come to light that the representatives of the powers at Peking have not reached an agreement as to the amount of indemnity to be demanded of China. It has been accepted as a fact for several weeks that the indemnity feature had been closed with an agreement on the part of a majority of the powers to demand 450,000,000 taels and that China had consented to pay that amount. It appears, however, that there was never a definite agreement on the subject and that China's promise was a general one and not with reference to any specific sum, being an assurance to the powers that she would comply with whatever indemnity demands were made.

It is difficult to furnish any adequate explanation of the cause of the confusion that has existed as to the condition of the indemnity question. The understanding of the world has been that China had been asked to pay 450,000,000 taels and had promised to do so, thus disposing of that phase of the negotiations and removing the main barrier to the withdrawal of the foreign troops. Dispatches were sent out from some of the European capitals that such an arrangement had been effected, and nobody questioned this intelligence. The first news on the subject came from Paris and was to the effect that M. Pichon, the French minister at Peking and chairman of the indemnity committee, had presented a report to the other foreign ministers, in which the indemnity to be demanded was fixed at the sum stated. Later it was given out by some foreign offices that the report had been approved by the other foreign representatives, and when advices came that China had sent a favorable response to the ministers on the subject of indemnity it was generally accepted that the Chinese government had agreed to pay the full amount.

Delay at Peking.

PEKING, June 13.—The ministers at their meeting totally failed to reach any conclusions. Several of the ministers are awaiting definite instructions from their governments. One says that a fortnight is still needed to settle the questions at issue. Imperial orders have been received by the military authorities in Chi-li province promptly and thoroughly to suppress disturbances in order to make the return journey of the court safe. The task will be an extremely difficult one, as the foreign occupation weakens Chinese authority in many districts. Even under the best circumstances the Chinese troops are untrustworthy and dilatory.

No Hitch at Peking.

BERLIN, June 13.—Contrary to newspaper statements that a serious hitch has occurred in Peking regarding the indemnity question, it is asserted in authoritative quarters in Berlin that the negotiations are making "satisfactory progress" and that there is no doubt of an agreement being reached between the ministers of the powers themselves and between them and the Chinese plenipotentiaries even if the negotiations should be prolonged for a week or two more.

Extensive Irrigation Advocated.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Professor Meade, the agricultural department's irrigation expert, in his testimony before the industrial commission said that irrigation is necessary in two-fifths of the area of the United States to make farming profitable. To those inclined to consider it a sectional question he would say that irrigation within the past few years had redeemed an area in Louisiana and Texas larger than some New England states, causing an increase in the value of land from $5 to from $50 to $100 an acre. He also said that irrigation is coming to be considered a necessary adjunct to market gardening all along the Atlantic coast. He said that there are no fewer than 75,000 irrigation ditches in the United States, costing a total of not less than $200,000,000 and possibly much more. He advocated government aid under certain restrictions in reclaiming some sections of the country by irrigation.

Austrian Emperor at Prague.

PRAGUE, Bohemia, June 13.—Emperor Francis Joseph has arrived here for a visit of five days. It is the first visit he has made Bohemia during the last ten years, and he is now here in the interest of German-Czech conciliation. His majesty is accompanied by a suit of 300 persons and will attend an elaborate programme of festivities, likely to prove rather exhausting at his age. The city is crowded with visitors, and great precautions are taken to insure the safety of the emperor.

Governor Sanford's Successor.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 13.—Hon. William D. Jelks of Barbour county succeeds Governor W. J. Sanford, who died Tuesday. Mr. Jelks, who is president of the senate, is now absent in Beaumont, Tex., but a telegram was received from him stating that he would reach the city today to assume the duties of office. Governor Jelks will hold office until the regular election in 1902 and his successor is elected and qualified.

Gifts to Princeton.

PRINCETON, N. J., June 13.—President Patton announced that the authorities of the university had received $50,000 for an endowment fund for the library and $10,000 to establish a fellowship in rhetoric. He also said $150,000 of the $200,000 necessary for the erection of a new gymnasium had been insured by the alumni.

Hermit's Dead Body Found.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., June 13.—The horribly decomposed body of John Noonan, a hermit, 50 years of age, has been found in a hut near Slate Hill. He was last seen alive ten days ago. It is believed that he was robbed and murdered as he is known to have had considerable money secreted in his hut, and Coroner Decker is investigating.

Severe Storm In Minnesota.

WINONA, Minn., June 13.—A storm that partook of the nature of a tornado visited this city. Trees were uprooted and general destruction worked. The wind was accompanied by a furious rain.

Wage And Labor.

The Daily Press received a communication from the press committee of the local striking machinists some days ago which, for lack of space, we have not been able to refer to before. The communication sets forth a comparison of the wages paid the machinists and the workmen in other trades which go to make up the working people of Plainfield.

Attention is first called to the carpenters who receive $2 75 a day for eight hours' work, or $16 50 a week, or $858 for a full year's work, comprising 2,496 hours Painters receive $780 per year for 2,496 hours' work, while masons receive $1,092 for the same number of hours. The hod carriers earn $702 for their year of 2,496 hours.

It is then pointed out that the machinists receive but $702 for a working year, which is composed of 3,120 hours, or 624 hours more than their nearest wage-earner, the hod carrier. While they admit the argument that the building trades do not work a full year, they argue that it is easy to see that even after deducting an allowance for that, the machinists are far behind the others.

This question of wages is one that cannot be answered in a moment and will probably never be regulated to suit all parties until the millennium is here. There is undoubtedly more or less unjustice worked by the present scale of wages in certain lines but the scale must be gradually changed so as not to upset the existing conditions. In many lines, where the competition is very close, the wages are figured closely and a change in the wages will mean a change in the total figure.

If the ideal state of affairs could be brought about at once, it would undoubtedly bring more money to the machinists and put them on a basis equal to that of other trades. This question of wage and labor is a decidedly complicated one, however, which has puzzled the greatest social economists of the world. It is a questions which, apparently, time only will solve and while the present generation may advance a step or two toward the desired goal, the people of today will never live to see it settled.

It has often been remarked that Plainfield possesses an unusually large number of lawyers. So it was rather surprising that at the last State examinations there were no candidates from Plainfield who desired to become attorneys-at-law. Two of the attorneys, who successfully passed three years ago, were made counsellors, which gives them the right to practice in the Supreme Court and also gives certain other privileges. One of the two was City Judge William N. Runyon, who is now in partnership with his father in this city. Judge Runyon is considered one of Plainfield's brightest young lawyers. He has a host of friends and has made so successful a start that he promises to attain a position of prominence in the legal circles of the county and the State before many years go by.

Company M, of Somerville, is to have its armory in time for the fall drills. The Somerset County Board of Freeholders have decided to start work on it at once and have it ready for the autumn season. In connection with quarters for Company M, the Board has decided to also prepare quarters for itself in the same building. The members of Company K, of Plainfield, are naturally interested with the success of their fellow militiamen. While nothing has been heard during the last few days regarding the project of the local company to build an armory here, it is understood that the members of the company are going to make a strong effort to have proper quarters before the snow flies.

Years ago it was assumed, the Philadelphia Record says, that there was a certain amount of trade in a community, and that the share which any establishment could get must depend chiefly on its location. Now it is known that not only will advertising enlarge the share of any establishment but it will also increase the total volume of business. That trade can be created by advertising has been shown many times—as, for example, in the case of the various breakfast foods, for which millions are expended annually.

The much talked of "shirt-waist" man is out again. He does not really wear a shirt-waist at all but simply leaves off his coat and usually wears a belt instead of suspenders. While the people of this country are not fully used to seeing him about the streets on warm days, he is fast becoming a regular feature of the summer life. Apparently he has come to stay as he has the decided advantage of being much more comfortable than his friend with the coat.

Comment has been heard from several of the nearby cities regarding the new street signs in Plainfield. Everybody sees the value of them and other communities are bemoaning their fate in not being as fortunate as Plainfield. Without any undue boasting, The Daily Press can fairly claim the credit of having brought about this decided improvement for the streets of both city and borough.

Earlier in the season the school boys of this city tried their skill at amateur theatricals, filling the parts of both sexes with much success. Now the young women of one of the local schools have appeared behind the footlights and impersonated both masculine and feminine roles. No one has yet ventured to offer a comparison of the two.

Don't forget that every house and building in the city should be properly numbered. The street signs are in position and now the house numbers should be completed. If there is any householder who does not know the number of his home, a visit to the office of Street Commissioner Gavett will enlighten him.

This is real commencement weather, hot with occasional showers. The local graduates would not feel that they had been properly graduated if the weather at this season should be cool.

It is several years since such a string of June weddings have come to Plainfield.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence.)

Dunellen, June 13—All arrangements have been completed for the commencement exercises of the class of 1901 of the Whittier school, which are to be held in the Methodist church this evening, commencing at 8 o'clock. President of the School Board W. J. Hamilton and County Superintendent Willis will distribute diplomas to the following members of the class: Miss Edna Corlell, Miss Ethel Garretson, Miss Amy Sampson, Miss Ruby Smalley and Ferdinand Titsworth. Judge Adrain Lyon, of Perth Amboy, will deliver the address and essays will be read by the graduates. Music will be furnished by an orchestra in charge of Miss Anna Nelson.

In a very quiet manner, Albert Voorhees, a well-known resident of Hillsboro, and Miss Annie Sheldon, a popular young woman of Warrenville, were united in marriage at the Methodist parsonage last evening. The ceremony was performed by Rev. S. K. Doolittle. The only witnesses were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stites, of the borough. The bride was formerly teacher of the district school at Hillsboro. After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Voorhees will take up their residence at Hillsboro.

Rev. S. K. Doolittle, who was painfully injured by a fall from his wheel Tuesday morning, is recovering very slowly. The bruised shoulder still pains him badly and yesterday he submitted to a second examination by Drs. Brakeley and Whitford. They found no broken bones and promised the patient that with careful treatment he would soon be able to use the injured arm.

Garretson & Gray, the stone contractors, added two more new trucks to their delivery service, yesterday, made necessary by the large number of orders on hand waiting to be filled. A few days ago the firm found it impossible to accept three orders aggregating 10,000 tons of cracked stone, as it would be impossible to deliver it in the time specified.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Jessie Maltby, of the borough, to Nathan Read, of New York city. The wedding ceremony will take place at the bride's home, Wednesday, June 26.

There are letters remaining in the postoffice addressed to Mrs. Baptiste Degardin and William Sherman.

The Ladies Aid Society, of the Presbyterian church, met yesterday at the home of Mrs. W. H. Terry.

W. G. Runyon, yesterday, sold a handsome park phaeton to Frederick Finch, of Randolphville.

Mr. and Mrs. George Dunham, of New York, visited friends in the borough yesterday.

Mrs. John Cruser is confined to her home by illness.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence.)

New Market, June 13—The annual re-union of the Dunham family took place at the home of William Dunham, of New Market, yesterday. Members of the family were present from this vicinity, Bound Brook, Flemington, New York and other places. The day was spent in the usual way, the old people comparing reminiscences while the young people romped about the farm. An excellent supper terminated the day's pleasure.

The refreshment stand at the school day exercises yesterday, was in charge of Nelson Giles, assisted by Stanley Day, Jr., R. L. Pierce and Mefford Giles. They were kept very busy all the afternoon and disposed of a large stock of mineral waters and cream.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Shepard will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage tomorrow evening. They have issued a large number of invitations and a pleasant occasion is anticipated.

James Jacobs, of South Amboy, is visiting friends in town.

PLAINFIELD AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence.)

Scotch Plains, June 13—It has been wisely suggested that the baseball team could make some extra capital during the season, if they would put up a line or two of cheap seats near the first and third base line. As it now is, those who enjoy seeing the game with any degree of comfort, are obliged to carry a chair or box with them. The same people would gladly pay for a seat.

The Misses Alice and May Shott and Miss Nettie Johnston, who have been attending Peddie Institute at Hightstown, are home for their summer vacation. Miss Johnston has the honor of winning the cash prize, which is offered for the best examination in chemistry.

Frank Haskard and daughter, who have been visiting at the home of Mr. Haskard's mother, Mrs. John R. Haskard, have returned to their home in Boston, Mass.

The children and teachers of the Baptist Sunday-school are practicing hard for their Children's Day exercises which will be held Sunday.

The commencement exercises of the public school will be held this evening in the Baptist church.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will hold a regular meeting in its rooms this evening.

Peter Frazee has been making improvements about his home in the borough.

Miss Lily Gibbs, who has been quite ill, is reported as improving very nicely.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence.)

South Plainfield, June 13—Rev. J. A. Cubberley has returned from Hightstown, where he served as a member of the examination committee at Peddie Institute, and was elected to the presidency of the Alumni Association for the coming school year, succeeding Hon. A. B. Endicott, of Atlantic City.

Among those present at the school picnic yesterday were: Mrs. John Geary, Mrs. Albert Young, Mrs. Chas. Braningham, Mrs. William Manning, Mrs. R. B. Manning, Miss Steingraph and Miss Emma Manning.

The strawberry crop in this vicinity is below grade, because of the excess of rain last week.

A number of our young people attended the band concert in Plainfield, last night.

The Patriotic Order Sons of America will meet this evening at 8 o'clock.

Tomorrow the local school will close for the summer vacation.

Reception at Park Club.

The executive committee of the North Plainfield High School Alumni Association met at the home of Miss Ida Fountain, on Jackson avenue, Tuesday evening, and made arrangements for the reception to be given to the graduating class. It has been decided to hold the affair at the Park Clubhouse immediately after the commencement exercises Friday evening, June 21.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

Many of the cities of New Jersey are considering the advisability of introducing the meter system as means of putting a stop to the wanton and useless waste of water. At present meters are used only in measuring the supply of large plants, but there is such great waste on the part of private consumers that the application of the system to these is suggested.—New York Herald.

No longer must the stranger in Plainfield wonder where he may find the address he seeks, as has been the case heretofore, for the City Council has placed the street signs at every corner in the city. These are neat blue signs with white letters, which may be read even in the night.

It was a vexation for many years to Plainfielders that they could not make their visitors certain of their destinations. A stranger depended entirely upon the chance of meeting a policeman for his bearings, especially in the residental part of the city.

Following the town's example, the North Plainfield Borough Council passed a resolution that the streets in the borough should be marked.

The case in Washington Park is particularly bad. Here the residents says, "Just around the curve," instead of "Around the corner." Families living on the same street are obliged to go around the curve to pay a visit to each other, for the street s twist and cross one another at all sorts of angles. Three streets meet at one point, run along a short distance together most amicably and then suddenly diverge in any direction.—New York Herald.

T. A. B. CELEBRATED.

Gave Dance in Honor of its Twenty-Ninth Anniversary at T. A. B. Hall Last Evening.

In honor of the twenty-ninth anniversary of its organization the members of the T. A. B. Society, gave a dance to their numerous friends in ther hall last evening. Despite the extreme warmth, a large number was in attendance, and a most pleasant affair was the result. Music for the occasion was furnished by O'Reilly's orchestra in the usual excellent manner.

Among those who were present was a delegation from the Elizabeth T. A. B.'s which came by trolley. The committee in charge consisted of Michael O'Keefe, floor manager, assisted by Thomas McInerny, Hugh Higgins and R. J. Birmingham. The refreshments were in charge of Thomas Eganey and David Doyle It is the intention of the organization to shortly give a two nights' strawberry festival.

Accident in Alighting From Car.

While attempting to alight from a trolley car near the corner of Fifth street and Watchung avenue, early last evening, Miss Elizabeth Sheehan, of East Front street, was thrown to the ground. Her face was badly cut and she suffered from shock. Patrolman Watson, who was in the near vicinity, assisted her to Hall's drug store and afterward to her home in a cab.

Stern Measures.

"What have you got in that package?" asked Mrs. Moxley, when Henry came home the other evening.

"Has Mrs. Smith brought back that coffee yet?"

"No."

"Has Mrs. Tutwiler brought back Bertha's piano music?"

"No."

"Has Mrs. Effington returned my 'Richard Carvel?'"

"No."

"Is Mrs. Willoughby still in possession of your clothesline?"

"Yes. But what have you got in that package?"

"That package," returned Henry, savagely, "contains a big red placard labeled: 'Beware! Smallpox within!' I'm going to tack it upon the house and see if we can't stop this borrowing around here for awhile."—Indianapolis Sun.

Russian Barbarity Serves Japan.

We Japanese should derive a lesson from the stories of Russian barbarity. We sincerely hope that no such untoward event will come to pass, but we must always be prepared for a conflict with Russia. None can positively say that a Russian war is a nightmare of the weak. Who knows? It may occur at any time. If it really occurs we Japanese one and all must prepare ourselves to conquer or die. It is far better for us to perish as a nation by our own hands than to be tortured and then slaughtered in a wholesale manner by our savage enemy.—Tokio Yorodzu Cho.

The Proper Habit.

Detective—Did your cashier have any extravagant habits that you knew of?

Bank President—Well, he was inordinately fond of dress and scrupulously particular about the proprieties in that line.

Detective—Did you see him shortly before his departure?

Bank President—Yes.

Detective—How was he dressed at the time?

Bank President—I can't answer that any further than to say that he wore a cutaway.—Boston Courier.

Increase of Platinum.

The Ural mountains are the world's great source of supply of platinum. Ninety-five per cent. of the total product of that metal comes from the Ural region. There has been a notable increase in the production recently. In 1899 the Urals furnished 13,242 pounds. In 1890 their total output was only 6,363 pounds. But in consequence of the demand for this rare metal, the value has increased, together with the quantity.—Industrial Journal.

Ink of Roman Royalty.

The Roman emperors always signed their names in purple ink. No subject of the empire was permitted to use or even to have this ink; and, on at least two occasions, the possession of a small quantity of it was considered treason and the person owning this emblem of royalty was put to death.—Chicago Chronicle.

He was sitting at one of the little tables, smoking, in that wondrously picturesque garden stretching between the broad and beautiful Chiaja and the incomparable Bay of Naples.

San Martino looked down from the hill behind; Capri lay a bright dot on the blue water, and flashed, as the sun went down, like a diamond set in a mirror of ruby and sapphire. The black murderer of Pompeii and Herculaneum drew a royal Tyrian mantle about his rugged sides and shrank away in the deepening gloom till only his grim, lava shadow stood in the gloaming against the sky, under the eternal pillar of smoke, and down the long garden 10,000 lamps flashed out, enhancing its marvelous beauty.

Even the waiters seemed happy as they dispensed the delicious creams and fragrant coffee to those sitting at the tables. From the grand pavilion one of the finest of Italian orchestras rendered such music as might almost have thrilled the frozen souls of the marble gods and goddesses.

In the extravaganza of dreams Robert Stanton dreamed, not of the home that would be, but of the home that might be. He dreamed of Esther Thorndike there, his wife—his real wife.

Suddenly the banker's daughter usurped the place, and the home changed to his office. He heard her voice. He saw her eyes.

"She is here," he muttered, and, turning as though some one had spoken, he looked, as he knew that he should look, directly into her eyes. And yet it caught his breath, and for a moment he could not move.

Her father was beside her, at one of the little tables. He was listening to the music.

She seemed unconscious, almost as though asleep and dreaming, dreaming some delightful dream from which it would be cruelty to rouse her.

For a moment Stanton's very life seemed to stand still—as a boat at the vortex of the Norwegian pool stops for an instant, shudders, draws back a handbreadth, then plunges and is engulfed. And the whirling pool was those flashing eyes.

It would have been easy to make the plunge. It required a superhuman struggle to drag himself back from the spell.

"This is not asking her to help me win my wife," he muttered. Grinding his teeth, he deliberately lifted his hat. Then she woke with a start. For a moment she looked at him irresolutely. Her head inclined just perceptibly, and she looked away.

Her father was beside her.

That alone would not have caused Stanton to hesitate, but his heart was throbbing. His muscles were quivering. He did not dare to trust them.

"Not here. It is too public," he said. "But to-night—to-night, before I sleep, I must see her."

It was impossible to sit there, yet he would not have her think that she drove him too easily. Slowly he settled his bill, and very slowly made the usual preparations for departure; but when, at the last moment, he glanced towards her again, the face was still turned away from him. She was talking with her father.

With a troubled sigh he walked slowly away. It was not encouraging.

A hand was laid upon his shoulder, and a voice said:

"Beg pardon, sir; my name's Braddon—Thaddeus Braddon, of Braddon & Burridge, bankers, New York. You know the firm. You won a case against us a year ago. We were right, and you knew it, but you twisted our witnesses about till every one of 'em was ready to swear that he had never spoken the truth in all his life. Never mind. It was business, and it was worth all it cost to see you do it; only I want you on the other side next time.

"Your name's Stanton—Robert Stanton. You're my old friend John Olmstead's nephew. Your mother was an Olmstead—Mary Olmstead. I used to know her. Used to think she was an angel. Think so still, even if she did refuse to marry me. It almost killed me at the time, and it's almost killed me ever since. You look just like your mother, and, if you don't mind I'd like to shake hands with you.

"Good gracious, man, it takes me back again to— Confound it, I'm pretty old for tears. I say, my daughter's here with me. She's my sister's child. I took her when her father and mother died. Oh, I never married. No, indeed. Seems you and she have met before. She caught sight of you here and sent me after you to ask if you wouldn't come round and dine with us to-night. Dinner's in one hour. Private lodgings. All alone. No form. Here's the card. And, I say, you'll excuse me now, won't you? I must be getting back to her, or she'll say I'm growing old and take too long at doing errands. One hour. Don't forget. Glad to have met you, sir. Hope to see more of you." And he was gone.

Stanton watched as he disappeared in the crowd, and, with a half-sigh, half-smile, remarked:

"If she thinks he is growing old she's mistaken."

CHAPTER X.

If the meeting had been the working out of his own plans, Stanton would have carried his message on his tongue. As it was, he held it more in deference, waiting for an opportunity that was slow to come.

"Your trip has changed you till I believe your friends at home will hardly know that it is really you," Miss Braddon said, in response to a passing compliment. "You wouldn't have said that a year ago. You'd just have looked me over solemnly, and remarked: 'Hm. You must have been out of doors. You have freckles on your nose.'"

"I certainly had a vast collection of disagreeable traits," Stanton replied, seeing his first opportunity. "I've discovered some of them and been making a struggle to dislodge them. I'm glad if you see a change, for you knew me at my worst, and I'm heartily ashamed of it. Any change at all must be for the better."

"Oh, Mr. Stanton, what an idea!" she exclaimed. "Of course I knew you at your worst, but, truly, that worst was so much better than the best I ever knew of hosts of people who think themselves very good, that I have always considered you a remarkably model man. Papa says it's all because you're an Olmstead and couldn't be anything else. And don't you think we're all of us a little ashamed every time we look back? I am. If I weren't I shouldn't think I was making any progress."

"You're comforting to say the least," Stanton replied, and was going on to press the opportunity, when Miss Braddon interrupted:

"We saw by the paper that you were soon to leave for home. What a lion they will make of you!"

"Of me?"

"Certainly."

"Why?"

"Because you deserve it, of course."

"Deserve what?"

"To be lionized."

"For what?"

"Now, Mr. Stanton, if I didn't know you I should think all sorts of things; but instead I'll begin and tell you all about what you know just as well as the rest of us, only you don't see it in the same light. Didn't you make a great hero of yourself when your steamer was captured by pirates in the Gulf of Siam?"

"Indeed I did not, Miss Braddon," Stanton exclaimed, and his cheeks flushed. "I swung a rusty sword in the face of a few Chinese cowards, and they ran without a scratch. That was heroism indeed."

"Of course I don't know all the particulars, but I'm sure the king of Siam thought so, or he wouldn't have decorated you with an order. The New York papers thought so, or they'd not have printed so much about it. The British government thought so, or it would not have remembered it till you reached London, two months ago, and presented you with a medal. But how was it about your being almost killed by a tiger, in India, while saving the life of a little native girl? There was a story printed about that, too."

"I was hardly hurt at all," Stanton replied, thoroughly confused. "I simply wanted the tiger's skin as a memento, and I have it."

With a merry laugh Miss Braddon replied: "How fortunate for the little girl that that was just the tiger whose skin you wanted, and that you wanted it at that very moment when it was about to kill her! But what papa thought most of was your address before the Historical society of London, when you gave them an old Babylonish brick. He said he couldn't see how a lawyer could possibly know so much about antiquity."

Vainly Stanton endeavored to take another step toward the end he had in view. Before the evening was past Miss Braddon had invited him to drive with them to Vesuvius the next day, and to sit in their box at the opera the next Immensity of Alaska.

A commentary on the "bigness" of Alaska is the following incident, told by Gen. Friedrich. He said: "Some time since a deputy marshal started from a point less than half way from here to Nome to bring a prisoner to Sitka, to which place he had been sentenced by a commissioner to serve three months in jail. The prisoner's time expired before they reached Sitka and the officer turned him loose."—Boston Transcript.

An Interesting Diary.

The empress of Germany is said to be one of the most conscientious of royal diary keepers, and the daily record no one ever sees, not even the emperor himself. Value of Horses in England.

The average price of a good railway dray horse in England is about $300, and each animal costs about $2.25 per week for fodder alone. Under fair conditions railway companies work their horses about ten hours a day.—N. Y. Times.

This is the second lot of Ripans Tabules I have sent for, and I have bought quite a few boxes from our near-by druggist, and almost all of them I have given to friends, knowing that the Tabules are a sure cure for that full feeling or indigestion. I gave a few boxes to a friend a week or so ago who I knew suffered very much from indigestion, and this lot of Ripans Tabules is for him. He feels that he could not get along without the Tabules since trying them. I tell every one that Ripans Tabules are almost indispensable around a house.

FASHION NOTES.

Interesting Details of the Warm Weather Wardrobe.

Chantilly lace embroidered with chenille forms some very pretty scarfs and stoles. Plaitings of mousseline de soie, interspersed with coques of pompadour ribbon, are also used. A novel idea is the application, upon ribbon, of flowers of chantilly lace, embroidered with spangles.

Cloth, perforated in open designs, the perforations being outlined with silk cords, is used for sacks, being laid over a lining of taffeta matching it in color. The lining is of great importance in nice wraps and is often as costly as the outside.

Today's picture illustrates a costume for a young girl. It is of nickel gray voile, and the skirt forms a plain tunic over two flat circular flounces. All three edges are finished with applications of white cloth, and there are three white cloth tabs at the left side, fastened by white buttons. The bodice is cut to form a bolero in front and is trimmed with white cloth applications and tabs. The collar and full front are of white mousseline de soie. The sleeves, slightly full below the elbow, are gathered into a deep cuff. The belt is fastened with white tabs and buttons.

SUMMER MATERIALS.

Rough, Open Woolen Goods Much Employed.

Etamines and canvases of various kinds are shown in profusion for summer wear. They are of a coarse, open weave, sometimes plain, sometimes with open stripes, and are of light weight. Light colors also preponderate, and there is great use of guipure applications as a decoration. These materials, in suitable colors and trimmed with braid or stitched bands, make very pretty and effective costumes for yachting, walking and other outing purposes.

The picture gives an idea for such a gown. It is of white etamine and has a plain skirt flaring very much around the foot, where it is trimmed with bias bands of dark blue taffeta, headed by crossed straps of the same goods. Lengthwise bands of the taffeta pass down the seams. The closed bolero is decorated to match the skirt and has plain sleeves, flaring at the wrists, where they are trimmed with bias taffeta bands. The collar and plastron are of white silk. The hat of white shirred mousseline de soie is trimmed with blue flowers and white ribbon.

TRAIN HIT BALLOON.

Locomotive Engineer Describes a Peculiar Collision.

The Mystery of the Thing Nearly Made His Hair Stand on End—Saved at Last by Copious Blowing Off of Steam.

"One pitchy dark night, early last summer," said the fat engineer to a New York Sun reporter, "I was coming east with a fast freight. As we were approaching the top of Pecano hill I noticed some kind of a light moving way up in the sky. First I thought it was a new star, but as the sky was all beclouded and I could see no other stars I concluded that I was mistaken. The light seemed to be descending, but as we pitched over the top of the hill I dismissed the matter from my mind, having more important matters to attend to.

"The further along we got the darkness and fog seemed to thicken. I was a little bit skittish about going down the hill with that heavy train such a night, and as the train dropped over the top of the decline I soaked the air on a little to ease 'em off. Then I thought it was no use slowing up; if I didn't make time with the fast freight they'd take me off and put me on the pick-up again. So I put the air brake handle back in running position again and let the cars behind me set the pace.

"After we got about a mile down the grade we were going a clip that would make the Empire State express look like a dingy old stage coach in comparison. Then I got 'cold feet' once more, and thought it was up to me to jack 'em up again. Accordingly I put the air over in the service position, but, b'thunder, it had no more effection those flying cars than a thimble of whisky on a Kentucky colonel. They just kept on coming and shoving my Mother Hubbard engine along ahead of 'em at about a 70-mile-an-hour pace. I reached up for the whistle rope to pass a tip to the train crew in the dog house that they'd better get out and twist up a few brake wheels, when, ca-smash! we went into something.

"Some darned kind of a rubbery blanket enveloped my cheese box cab and came down over the windows, just as if some one had lassooed us with a big rubber bag. I made a frantic jerk at the whistle valve, but, instead of the sonorous sound it usually handed off, the noise it gave out then was like the shriek of a penny horn. You couldn't hear it for a car length.

"I was getting mighty scared, because I didn't know what kind of a game we'd butted into. The rubber covering had settled down over the cab windows and was shutting off the outside atmosphere from me so that I could hardly breathe, and I surely thought I would suffocate unless I got relief somehow. No one on the train, not even my fireman, knew what dire straits I was in. I made several ineffectual attempts to get out of the cab, but the rubber blanket had me completely cut off.

"I tried the whistle again, but it was smothered so by its covering that it hardly gave forth any sound at all. I had about given up hope when I heard the pop valve on the dome commence to blow off steam. At first this added greatly to my discomfiture, but I realized that my only hope would be in having the safety valve blow off steam with sufficient pressure to lift the rubber covering.

"After two or three minutes had elapsed, during which time steam had been blowing off steadily with a heavy pressure, the rubber bag began to lift and finally tore itself away, although it took with it a large section of the cab roof. I was pretty nearly exhausted, but I managed to reverse the engine and call for brakes. With the assistance of the brakemen the train was brought speedily under control and stopped. We made an investigation, but it was so dark we could not find out what had hit the cab and clung so tightly to it.

"In reading the newspaper advertisements the next morning I saw an advertisement which stated that the proprietors of a big wagon circus would pay a liberal reward for information concerning their balloon, which had been lost, strayed or stolen from a little village in the vicinity of which I had my queer experience the night before. Their swell parachute jumper had let the balloon get away from him. It flashed through my mind right away that it must have been the descending balloon I had run into, and on my next trip out I saw the battered remains of a big balloon lying at the foot of the embankment where it had been loosened from the cab."

As Miss Illington Plays "The Pride of Jennico"

The Dramatization of a Clever Story Has Proven Popular with the Public

THE name Miss Illington attracts by its unusualness, and that no doubt is its excuse for being. The real name of the young person that is traveling under this cognomen is Maud Light. As Maud Light she studied her profession in Chicago; but when she was past her apprenticeship and about to appear as a professional the stage name "Miss Illington" was coined for her.

By any other name she would not be passed by. She is considered one of the most promising of the new beginners and her future will be watched with interest. Miss Illington appears this season with James K. Hackett in "The Pride of Jennico," taking the part of the gypsy girl in a very acceptable manner.

"The Pride of Jennico" is one of those stories one can begin late of an afternoon and forget to go to bed over. The plot is original, the language unhackneyed, the local color not usual. And, besides, there is not a little of character study in at least one of the personages, Basil Jennico. Basil, with his pride, his ostentation, his delight in power, his remorse, his passion, is very real, very human.

The time of the story is late in the eighteenth century; the place Moravia; the dramatis personnae young Basil Jennico, "The Princess," the lady in waiting, Janos the heiduck—whatever that may be; the gypsy, the villain, a good, old-fashioned sort; peasants, soldiers and other attendants. We find ourselves shown the almost feudal power of a Moravian lord late in the eighteenth century, something of the peasant life, the sight of an Englishman trying to adapt himself to foreign conditions, a princess weary of state and flattery and brute force; and, last but by no means least, a very pretty love story. All the world loves a lover, whether he belongs to the twentieth century, the first or the eighteenth; 'tis the same old, old, interesting story.

At the moment I think of no other love story that so brings out what may be called the "evolution of love" as does "The Pride of Jennico." What lover ever knows whether or not he really is in love? Ambition, a rich setting, attributes arising in his own imagination, blind him at the first; and though he may honestly believe for a time in his passion he does not fool himself long. And Basil Jennico is such a well-drawn picture of the average lover. He sees two maidens together, one in rich apparel, of supposedly exalted station, of pleasing form and face; the other unpretentious, unceremonious, independent, gay, careless of finery—and at once sets himself about falling in love with the first and ignoring the second.

He becomes prouder, more cocky than ever, and writes to his mother in England that his coming out to take possession of his uncle's estates in Moravia has been richly crowned with success; that there is strong hope he may win the hand of a very high geboren lady. The mother is asked to keep the matter a secret. She, who dearly loves a prince or princess, conscientiously shares it with only a chosen few.

The circumstances that led to the appearance in the neighborhood of Tollendahl, Basil's castle, of Princess Ottilie and her attendant were these: A smallpox epidemic had driven the young ladies from the duke's palace to take refuge with an aged relative, Basil's neighbor, Baroness Schreckendorf. And a stroke of apoplexy that overtook the poor baroness left he charges free to roam the forest wilds about Tollendhall.

But to return to the evolution of love. Basil proposes to his high geboren, and is told her father, the duke of Lusatia, would scorn his request if he were to learn of it; but that the princess believes in him and is willing to wed him secretly. He is to meet the Lady in Waiting that afternoon and conclude arrangements.

The Lady in Waiting was one of those sprightly, happy, unusual maids that spend little time in thinking of their charms or endeavoring to enhance them. Whenever Basil spared a moment's thought on her it was to compare her to her disadvantage with the stately, beautiful Princess, and to think her faults but the result of the low birth of which she so often spoke. He endured her because of the Princess' apparent fondness for the saucy thing and because she seemed to be doing all she could to help his suit. At their meeting she told him all arrangements were complete.

Basil was overjoyed, went home, made arrangements for his bride's reception, donned white satin bravery and then started forth to wed. He found the little church dark and cold, but soon all was made right by the arrival of a stately figure draped in a velvet cloak. The two advanced to the altar; the priest made them one. They entered their carriage and started for Tollendhall. In the carriage Basil doesn't know what to do; he feels that he isn't experiencing the rapture proper to the occasion. He awkwardly puts out his hand and touches his bride's fingers. Heavens! He does not hold the plump, white hand of the Princess, the hand he has so often set his lips to. No, it is a slender, sunburnt little paw. Whom has he married? The lady throws back her hood. He beholds the face of the Lady in Waiting!

And so they ride home, the bride and groom, and are received in great state. The lady acts her part well, plays the grand dame quite naturally. As the days pass he finds the strange, elfish creature by his side full of charm. At the end of a month he is madly in love with her, is ashamed of the unmanly revenge he had planned. Occasionally she angers him with her irreverence for his pride of family; and one day, just after a letter from his mother, effusive in congratulations that he is so well considered by a Princess, he gives his rage vent. He tells her it is unbecoming that one of her low birth should take such an attitude toward his proud line of ancestries, and tells her she has a right to call herself a respectable woman only on his tolerance; that if he choose he can call her marriage no marriage.

She leaves him in scorn. When he comes to himself and searches for her he finds she has left the castle. Then follow weary days of search. He goes to Lusatia, where he is not only denied access to the palace, but is expelled from the country. He goes to London and is mysteriously hounded; five or six times his life is in danger. He meets a Chevalier (the villain), and by him is engaged in a duel, is left on the field for dead. Of course, in the end he gets his bride, who, of course, turns out to be the Princess; and, of course, according to the rigid law of romance, the cruel villain is slain.

The Gypsy Girl (whose part is played by Miss Illington) and Janos, the heiduck, are the ones that bring about the reunion of the lovers.

BARBERS' UNION.

Journeymen Barbers Will Hold Another Meeting For Formal Organization Tonight.

With a view to secure shorter hours of employment from their employers, the journeymen barbers, of this city, have decided to form a union and adopt a working scale. The first meeting to consider the movement was held last evening in Trades Union hall, when fourteen barbers were met by W. C. Howe, of Bradford, Pa., general organizer of the Journeyman Barbers' International Union of America.

Mr. Howe addressed the men at some length, in which he told of the benefits to be derived from organizing and of the progress of the movement throughout the country. He explained the methods to be used in the formation of the union, and the journeymen were much impressed with his views.

It was decided to hold a second meeting this evening, when a charter list will be signed and permanent plans made. The boss barbers were allowed to attend last evening, but were not permitted to take any part in the proceedings.

AID FOR STRIKERS.

Contribution Being Received From Many Sympathizing Unions—Situation is Unchanged.

Contributions from sympathizing unions still continue to pour into the local treasury of the International Association of Machinists, and the members have been greatly encouraged in consequence. Among the organizations lately extending checks are the Moulders', Hodcarriers' and Masons' and Carpenters' unions for $25 each, and Queen City Lodge, No 226, I. O O. F., for $25. Other lodges have promised to extend checks at their regular meetings as soon as they are held.

The strike situation is very quiet. A number of machinists have left the city in search of work, while those remaining content themselves with working about their homes. At present there is no prospect of a settlement before Monday, as was reported, or any hope of a concession of any kind being made.

ESTIMABLE WOMAN GONE.

Death of Mrs. Hattie E. Coward at Her Home in Washington Park.

Mrs. Hattie E. Coward, wife of Frank H Coward, passed away at her home on Sycamore avenue, in Washington Park, shortly after 11 o'clock last evening. The cause of her death was peritonitis.

Mrs. Coward was the daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Overbaugh and the late James E. Overbaugh, of Brooklyn, and it was in that city that she married Mr. Coward, of Plainfield, just fourteen months ago. Her husband is associated with Power Brothers, a large wholesale shoe firm on Duane street, New York.

Although in this city but a short time, she had formed associations with a large number of people, who will mourn the loss of a most estimable woman. Besides a husband Mrs. Coward leaves a baby six days old.

Funeral services will be conducted at the home Saturday morning by Rev. W. Montgomery Downey, rector of the Church of the Holy Cross, and at 2 o'clock in the afternoon in St. Stephen's church, Brooklyn. Interment will be made in the family lot at Greenwood cemetery, Brooklyn.

For seven years he has been pastor of the First Reformed church at Catskill, N. Y. He is unmarried.

WHAT IT COSTS TO LIGHT CITY STREETS.

Writer To New Brunswick Times Declares There Is Great Gain In City Ownership.

LITTLE ADDITIONAL COST WHEN RUN WITH WATER SUPPLY PLANT.

W. E. Snyder Argues In Favor Of Municipal Ownership Of Electric Light Plants In New Brunswick And Elsewhere.

Now that the residents of North Plainfield are seriously considering the question of the municipal ownership of water works and electric light plant, anything which has to do with similar plants elsewhere, is of interest to the borough. The New Brunswick Times recently published a communication from W. E. Snyder concerning a municipal electric light plant.

Regarding the proposition, in general, it says in part:

"The United States Government, in one of its publications, demonstrates that where there is municipal ownership of electric light works the cost to the municipality per light is a trifle over one-half what the cost is where there is private ownership. In other words, wherever the municipality does not control the electric light plant it pays nearly twice as much for the light as it would if it owned the plant.

"In many instances the municipality is able to do its own lighting at $50 per lamp per year, said light to burn all night, and in some instances it has been reduced considerably below that. Indeed, some reports indicate that the municipality can furnish its own light for $36 per lamp per year, and where the authorities furnish light to the citizens the cost has been reduced to as low as $5 per lamp per year, this being made possible by the revenue from the light used by the citizens reducing the cost of the light used by the municipality.

"Why should not the city of New Brunswick own its own electric lighting plant? It could readily be installed in conjunction with the water works, and the cost would not be very great. The city could readily be bonded for the amount, and, as a result, we should be able to have sixty lights for what the city will pay for thirty, the number they intend placing next year, providing the electric light company charges the same for them next year that it charges this.

"In 1888 Professor Ely wrote to the mayor of Dunkirk, N. Y., asking him some questions in connection with Dunkirk's lighting plant. Here are a few facts from the mayor's reply: 'The cost of each arc light per night, runnig all night and every night, is 13½ cents. (It has since been reduced to 10 cents. We are paying 30 cents.) The capacity of the arc light is $2,000 candle power, and they are 55 in number. Our plant cost $11,025.31. This includes two Rice engines of 50 horse power each, two dynamos of 35 arc lights each, and all the necessary apparatus. The length of the line is about 11 miles. In order to make sufficient room for the plant in the water works building, an addition was made at an expense of $1,630.50, making the total cost of plant and build- $13,338 71. You are aware that our city owns and operates its water plant, and the great saving comes from the city owning and operating both plants No extra labor is required but a lineman, for whose service we pay $45 a month. The same engineers, firemen and superintendent operate both plants and the same boiler power is used.'"

INTERESTING SUBJECT.

Reports of the Latest Thoughts Upon Philantropic Work Will Be Given.

An important yearly event is the National Conference of Charities and Correction, which was held last month at Washington. Plainfield was represented by Miss VanBoskerck, because the local association desired to hear at first-hand the latest thoughts upon philanthropic work. A report of the National conference will be given Tuesday evening at the meeting of the Organized Aid Association in the parlors of the Crescent Avenue church.

Among the subjects considered at Washington were: "The Care of Destitute and Neglected Children," "The Care of the Insane," "The Division of the Work Between Public and Private Charity," "Juvenile Reformatories and Industrial Schools," "The Treatment of Needy Families in Their Homes." A report of such a meeting cannot fail to be of vital importance and great interest to those who are trying to meet the difficult questions in this city.

ILLUSTRATED LECTURE ON VENICE BY WALTER M. M'GEE.

Was Given At Grace M. E. Church Last Evening Before a Large Audience.

The many beautiful and historic spots of ancient Venice were set forth before a large audience in Grace M. E church, last evening, by an illustrated lecture given by Walter M. McGee. It was similar to the one recently given by Mr. McGee in the Monroe Avenue church, but was improved in many ways. With the lecturer's accurate descriptions and the excellent pictures the talk was instructive as well as entertaining.

Preceding the lecture Mr. McGee acquainted his audience with many interesting facts and statistics in regard to the subject, stating that it was the most unique city in the world. The statements made certainly bore out the assertion. It has 15,090 houses, no two of which are alike, built on seventy-one islands, 1,200 streets connected by 470 small bridges and 471 lateral canals.

Among the pictures shown were St. Mark's cathedral from several different views, St. Mark's library, the Grand canal and the important streets of the city. The pictures and material for the lecture were all secured by Mr. McGee while on a visit to the city a short time ago.

ELEVATION TO BISHOPRIC.

Preparations Will Soon Be Made For That Very Impressive Event.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Newark, June 14—As soon as Very Rev. John J. O'Connor is officially notified of his elevation to the bishopric of the See of Newark, elaborate preparations will be made for his consecration.

The imposing function, as ordained by the Roman church, will draw great numbers of the faithful to this city, as the ceremony will be performed in St. Patrick's Cathedral. Several bishops and many priests will attend the brilliant services, which will be conducted by His Grace, Most Rev. M. A. Corrigan, the archbishop of New York.

The consecration function is a most imposing service. It begins with a preliminary examination, followed by the consecration and concluded with the investiture.

The bishop-elect is required to affirm separately the articles of the Roman Catholic faith preceding the celebration of the mass and the consecration. After the consecration the bishop-elect is invested with the crozier and the Episcopal ring. He also receives the mitre and gloves. While the Te Deum is solemnly intoned the new bishop is enthroned on the Episcopal seat.

THE OPENING NIGHT OF TRINITY'S FESTIVAL.

Strawberry and Ice Cream Festival Given by Ladies' Christian Work Society.

GIVEN FOR A WORTHY CAUSE

FUNDS WILL GO TOWARD REPAINTING THE CHURCH.

Musical Programme Proved a Pleasing Feature—Tonight's Entertainment—Well Patronized—Those in Charge of Different Departments.

A most enjoyable strawberry festival, at which a delightful musical programme formed a pleasant feature, was given by the Ladies' Christian Work Society of Trinity Reformed church last evening in the lecture room of the church edifice.

Needless to say, the festival was very successful and it promises to be equally as auspicious this evening when as a special attraction the Ladies' Orchestra, of Dunellen, will participate in the musical programme

The object of the affair is truly praiseworthy. Some time ago when the proposition to paint the exterior of the edifice was first advocated, this worthy organization came forward and subscribed the sum of $100 toward the commendable object. Easter Sunday $50 additional was added by the offerings at the church service, and now the society, which is ever endeavoring to advance the interests of the church, gives this festival as a means of increasing the fund already at hand.

Judging from the goodly attendance and the hearty co-operation on the part of everyone present to make the festival a success, no doubt remains but that a considerable sum will be netted as the result of the efforts of the society.

About the lecture room last evening groups, composed of members of the congregation and their friends, gathered to listen to the rendition of good music and to partake of seasonable refreshments as well as to enjoy a social time. Neopolitan, harlequin and other forms of ice cream; glaces, candies and cake were served in liberal quantities.

During the evening, Miss Cornelia Miller rendered a pleasing soprano solo and was compelled to respond to an encore. Her contribution was greatly enhanced by the assistance of Miss Lillian A. Force, who acted as accompanist.

Highly appreciated also was the rendition of several soprano solos by Mrs. May Grant Crane which were well received. In each instance Mrs. Crane acted as her own accompanist.

Miss Aimee Emmons exhibited remarkable elocutionary talent in several clever recitations given by her during the course of the festival.

In charge of the affair was Mrs. Edward T. Van Winkle, who added fresh laurels to her oft demonstrated ability to superintend church entertainments Assisting her was an able corps of workers. Mrs. Salmon C. Baker and Mrs. Mary Disborough constituted the reception committee. In charge of the cake table were Mrs. William A. Woodruff and Mrs. Edward Cooley. This delicacy was cut as needed by Mrs. Seaman Williams.

TWO GRADUATES AT THE 'PLAINS SCHOOL

Commencement Exercises Were Held At Scotch Plains Baptist Church Last Evening.

WERE LARGELY ATTENDED.

ADDRESS OF EVENING MADE BY DR. FOREST A. PRESTON.

The Graduates Were Miss Mary E. Westcott And Miss R. Muriel Robinson—Exercises Were Followed By Reception At School House.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, June 14—The graduating exercises of the Scotch Plains public school were held last evening in the Baptist church and that edifice was filled with parents and friends of the school. The affair was one of the most successful ever held. The church was very appropriately decorated with large American flags, one being suspended over the platform upon which were seated Dr. F. W. Westcott, president of the Board of Education; Principal John Morey, the graduates, Miss Mary E. Westcott and Miss R. Muriel Robinson, and DeForest A. Preston, schoolmaster, of Brooklyn, who made the address of the evening.

The exercises opened with a popular selection by P. Ludwig Conde, violinist, accompanied by the piano. After the invocation by Rev. G. M. Shott, another selection was given by Mr. Conde. This was followed with an essay by Miss Mary E. Westcott, a graduate. The subject was "A Welsh Classic," and in a very pleasing manner this young woman gave her essay. It showed careful preparation and study and reflected much credit upon the graduate, who has completed her course of studies so successfully.

The second graduate, Miss R. Muriel Robinson, then gave a reading entitled, "The Public School." This treated in an interesting manner the principal points of value in the public school system, telling at what cost it is maintained for the children of the United States. In conclusion, Miss Robinson took occasion to thank the school officials and teachers, on behalf of Miss Westcott and herself, for the many kindnesses and the opportunities given them to secure an education.

At the close of the part taken by the graduates they were showered with beautiful bouquets of choice flowers. They also received other presents of value.

Following another selection by Mr. Conde, President Westcott presented the graduates with diplomas, after which Principal Morey took occasion to make a few remarks. He expressed his appreciation for the courteous treatment and assistance given him during the six years he has been at the head of the school. He then introduced DeForest A. Preston, of Brooklyn, who made the address of the evening.

Mr. Preston's subject was. "What Shall It Profit." The idea he impressed upon all was that the curse of the American school system today is the tendency to rush children through school as quickly as possible. He formed comparisons between a tour awheel and going through school.

"The ambition to get somewhere," said Mr. Preston, "is a sad commentary on the method of rushing children through school. How often we see illustrations of how poor boys are often hindered in getting an education and thus obliged to take a long time in getting through school. Yet they afterward distance those more fortunate, because they took more time and thoroughly learned their lessons."

President Westcott presented the graduates in the primary and grammar grades with certificates. The graduates in the grammar grade are: Emil Jahn, Elsie Shott, Jacob Coles, Aaron Darby, Henry Meyer, Louise Bettman, Charles Eller and George Randolph. The primary graduates are: DePierre Beeken, William Reynolds, Albert Meyer, Walter Brick, George Miller, John Schenck, Madeline Renaud, Emma Jahn, Hazel Marsh, Lawrence Kettyles, Elouise Goodwin, Harold Kettyles, Paul Ritter, Grover Schierenbeck, Fred Renaud, Jennie Reynolds, Mamie Clark, Lucy Denitdzeo and Rosee Denitdzeo.

After the singing of "Star Spangled Banner," by the audience the exercises came to a close and a reception to the graduates was given at the public school. This was largely attended and the young people greatly enjoyed the dancing, music for which

SCHOOL DAYS OVER FOR FIVE GRADUATES.

Closing Exercises of Dunellen Public School Were Held Last Evening.

ADDRESS BY ADRIAN LYON.

MEMBERS OF GRADUATING CLASS PRESENTED ORIGINAL ESSAYS.

Superintendent Meseroll's Report Presented—Honors for Good Attendance Were Awarded—Exercises Held in Dunellen M. E. Church.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, June 14—School days, as far as Dunellen is concerned, ended for five young borough people last evening, who composed the graduating class of 1901 of the Whittier public school They were Miss Amy Samson, Miss Edna Coriell, Miss Ruby Smalley, Miss Ethel Garretson and Ferdinand Titsworth.

The public exercises, which marked their graduation, took place in the Methodist church before a host of relatives and friends. As is customary, there was no salutatorian or valedictorian, each member of the class contributing an original essay. These were as follows: "In the depths" Miss Ethel Garretson; "The Old and New Japan" Edna Coriell; "Historic Rivers" Ruby Smalley; "Achievements of the Nineteenth Century" Miss Amy Samson. Ex-Senator Thurston's familiar speech on "Cuba" was delivered as an oration by Ferdinand Titsworth. All the essays were well read and the oration was rendered in a meritorous manner.

The customary address was delivered by Hon. Adrian Lyon, of Perth Amboy, who is familiar to many in this vicinity. His subject was "The Purpose of Education" and given in his able manner, proved an interesting and instructive address.

Superintendent Lester Meseroll made his annual report and presented the class to the Board of Education. It was accepted by W. J. Hamilton, the board president, who also presented the diplomas and spoke to the graduates, remarking that the hard work had not ceased but was just commencing. He advised them to take the great Teacher of men as their example and the Bible as the guide of their life and their efforts would be successful.

The certificates of promotion were distributed to the lower grade pupils by County Superintendent H. B. Willis. The remainder of the programme consisted of a piano duet, "The Graduates' March" by Miss Lizzie Herlick and Miss Edna Baldwin, choruses by the pupils and selections by an orchestra in charge of Miss Emma Nelson. Benediction was pronounced by Rev. S. K. Doolittle.

The motto of the class is "To be, and not to be seem," and its colors are red and white. The members will tender a reception to their numerous friends tomorrow evening at the home of L. T. Titsworth.

In Superintendent Meseroll's report, he spoke of the good work accomplished during the year and also referred in tender words of four pupils who had died within the past twelve months. Thirty-seven pupils were presented with books for clear records in attendance and ninety seven will receive certificates for not having missed more than ten days in the school year.

KILLED BY ENGINE.

Coroner's Jury Decided Gorman Was Not Victim Of a Fight Near Somerville.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, June 14—At the continuation of the coroner's inquest yesterday afternoon, touching the death of David Gorman, Drs. Wagoner, Stillwell and McWilliam testified to making an autopsy. They said that they found a fractured skull, effusion of the brain, abraisions above the hip, effusions of blood in the abdomen and around the kidneys.

Dr. Wagoner was asked what he thought might have caused these injuries. He replied that he thought probably they were caused by the cylinder head or crossbar of a locomotive striking Gorman on the side and hurling him forehead on his head. Officer Totten testified that trains passed east that night at 12:17, 12:43 and 2:44.

The jury rendered a verdict that deceased came to his death through injuries inflicted by a locomotive.

BOOTBLACKS FORM UNION.

COMBINE WILL INSIST ON TEN-CENT RATE FOR OIL SHINES.

Only One Knight of the Brush is Running Independently—Officers Were Elected—Much Excitement.

Ten of the most prominent "knights of the brush," in this city, met in the bootblacking parlors of Professor Ernest Austin, on Park avenue, last evening, and completed the organizing of a bootblacks' union.

It was one of the stormiest sessions the "knights" have yet held, a number of the polishers objected to abiding by the stringent rules laid down by the formulators. It was not until after they had been threatened with complete ostracism that they agreed to conform with the union's provisions, the most important feature being the keeping up of a ten cent charge on all oil shines.

This matter being settled, the election of officers was then taken up and resulted as follows: President, Ernest Austin; vice-president, George Buggles; secretary, Wm. Wilson; treasurer, Lewis Randolph. The following were made regular members: Michael Miller, George Hill, Wm. Johnson, David Thompson, Lewis A. Randolph and John Desenion.

The only bootblack in the city who persists in giving all shines for five cents, against the wishes of the combine, is John Weber, of North avenue.

TWO ARRESTS MADE FOR BURNETT BURGLARY

Sarah Spiers, a Former Servant, and James Simpson Captured in New York.

PLUNDER FOUND IN ROOMS.

WILL BE BROUCHT HERE AS SOON AS REQUISITION IS SECURED.

Chief Kiely Said From the First It Was An Inside Job—Suspected the Servant—Arrested as They Pawned Fur Coat—Clever Work.

By one of the most clever pieces of detective work which the local police has ever done, James Simpson and Sarah Speirs, both originally of Montreal, Canada, were arrested in New York city early yesterday afternoon, charged with being the burglars who on the night of May 18, stole $1,600 worth of furs and clothing from the residence of W. A. W. Burnett, at 61 Sandford avenue.

They were detected in the act of pawning a fur coat worth $150 for $12, and were immediately taken into custody by the New York police. The information, which finally led to their discovery, was furnished by Chief Kiely, of the local police force. The woman had been in the employ of Mrs. Burnett as a domestic.

The woman's room on Eighth avenue, between Forty-seventh and Forty-eighth streets, was opened and found to contain the greater part of the stolen articles. Pawn tickets for the remainder were discovered on Simpson's person. When arrested, both refused to make any statement which would serve to incriminate them.

Word of their capture was immediately sent to Chief Kiely, who went to New York last night. He had a formal warrant made out before Justice Nash. Armed with this he went to New York this morning. When they were arraigned before a magistrate he stated his case. They were held pending requisition papers to remove them to this State. In all probability they will be brought to this city early next week for a hearing and will then be confined at Elizabeth until the next session of the Grand Jury.

The robbery, of which the pair is accused, was one of the most audacious ever committed in this city. In reality its very boldness was the foremost factor in leading to the arrest of the thieves. Mr. and Mrs. Burnett, who removed to this city from Montreal but a short time ago, went out for the evening, leaving the girl, Sarah Spiers, alone in charge of the house.

On returning shortly after midnight, they immediately discovered evidence of the burglary. The girl had gone to bed and on being aroused claimed to have heard nothing as she had retired at 10 o'clock. The furs had been placed in a trunk taken from the attic, and while the rooms on the second floor were ransacked, nothing was removed. It was plainly evident that considerable time had been consumed in gathering the articles and the burglars must have had help in getting the trunk from the house.

From the very outset, Chief Kiely maintained that it was an "inside" job and used every means known to his craft to shake the servant's story, but without success. She insisted that she had been asleep and was also hard of hearing. She remained in Mrs. Burnett's employ and despite the closest watching did not give any evidence of being implicated in the affair.

As a last resort, Chief Kiely requested her discharge for the purpose of following her. This was done last Friday and she immediately left for New York. The detectives, employed by the burglar insurance firm which holds a policy on Mr. Burnett's residence, were notified of this, and shadowed her constantly. Their efforts were crowned with success when she and her accomplice were caught in the pawnshop.

Very little is known about either the girl or Simpson, with whom she has been keeping company. She entered Mrs. Burnett's employ in Montreal two months before removing to this city and was always regarded as being trustworthy. She was recommended by an employment agency. She is about twenty-three years old. Simpson gave his age as thirty-five and claimed both New York and Montreal as his home. He had never been seen about the Burnett home, and it was not known that he was paying any attention to the girl as she went out but very little.

Short and Cossipy Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

A correspondent writes to the Somerville Unionist Gazette to publish a list of the important political offices in Somerset county and its townships, and the names of the county office holders. The most important county officers the Gazette says are the sheriff, surrogate and county clerk. Selah Schoonmaker is the present sheriff; H. Newton Spencer the surrogate, and Frank W. Somers the county clerk. The prosecutor of the pleas has a very important position in county administrative affairs, but is appointed by the governor and is really a part of the State legal machinery. James L. Griggs is the present incumbent. These four men with the county judge, L. H. Schenck, have a patent influence in administering county affairs. The sheriff is elected for three years, the county clerk and surrogate for five. The legislative body for the county is the Board of Freeholders, consisting of ten members, who are elected in the various townships. The clerk and the county collector are officers of this board. The legislative body for the township is the township committee, consisting of three members. Justices of the peace, constables and surveyors, comprise the township officers.

THE BUBONIC PLAGUE.

The Disease Declining at Cape Town, but Increasing In India.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—The latest official advices to the marine hospital service, based on statistics, lead to a belief that the maximum of the plague epidemic at Cape Town has been reached and that the number of cases from now on will lessen. This report says there can be no doubt that the infection of Cape Town has been very general and that since the beginning of the outbreak there has been a total of 610 cases and 275 deaths.

During the week ended May 11 there were 38 cases and 23 deaths from plague at Cape Town. In the "contact camps" on April 13 there were still 745 persons under observation. Plague among the natives in Cape Colony has diminished, and the plan of keeping them apart in "locations" in which 6,000 Kaffirs were accommodated on April 10 has borne good results. Under date of May 18 Consul General Mason, at Berlin, reports that from April 15 no unvaccinated person has been allowed to enter the docks at Cape Town.

According to the port authorities 5,446 rats have been killed in the Cape Town docks. Plague baccilli were shown to be present in many of them.

The fearful ravages of plague in British East India are increasing. In the presidency of Bombay during the week ended April 12 there were 1,947 new cases and 1,632 deaths. This is an increase of 172 cases and 127 deaths over the previous week. The increase is notable in Karachi, where in the same week 230 fresh plague cases and 209 deaths occurred.

In the same week 715 deaths were reported and 492 others suspected in Bombay City.

There are many thousands of plague deaths reported from other provinces of India, the largest number being in the Patna division of Bengal, where up to April 27 a total of 437,681 cases were reported. The plague is prevalent in various parts of China, in one district of which (Lam-ko) 10,000 deaths were reported between Feb. 14 and March 26.

BID FOR FRANCHISES

Wanamaker Offers Philadelphia $2,500,000.

A CASE OF PUBLIC PLUNDER.

The Fourteen Ordinances Giving to Political Capitalists the Right to Construct Elevated and Tunnel Roads in the City Denounced.

PHILADELPHIA, June 14. — The latest move in the matter of the granting of street railway franchises by the city councils was made when ex-Postmaster General John Wanamaker sent a letter to Mayor Ashbridge offering to pay to the city $2,500,000 for the powers, rights and franchises granted and intended to be granted by 14 ordinances of council now awaiting the mayor's approval.

These 14 ordinances give to a number of capitalists who are friendly to the dominant faction in the Republican party in this state the right to construct underground and elevated railways on streets now occupied by surface railway companies and to build surface roads on those streets now occupied by other companies. The speed with which the enabling acts were passed by the legislature and the passage by the city councils in three days of the 14 city ordinances has aroused opposition in certain quarters.

It has been understood, but not officially announced, that the Union Traction company, which occupies most of the streets of the city, would contest the granting of the privileges, along with Albert Johnson, who desires to construct street railways and charge 3 cent fares. Up to this time Mr. Wanamaker had not figured in the matter, but his participation against the granting of the franchises does not come with surprise.

Mr. Wanamaker in his letter says he believes the franchises granted by these ordinances are of enormous money value, that the people will get nothing for these franchises, passengers will have no cheaper transportation and that the only gainers will be those financially interested in the projects. He urges the mayor to veto the ordinances before him in order that new ordinances may be drafted conferring the franchises in question only upon the payment of a sum of money into the public treasury commensurate to the value of the grant.

Mr. Wanamaker says he will cheerfully pay the sum of $2,500,000, but suggests that if the new ordinances required the franchises to be put up at auction and sold to the highest bidder an amount largely in excess of that which he had offered could be readily secured. His offer, he continues, is merely an indication in concrete form of the magnitude of the gift conferred upon private citizens without return to the people. "It seems to me," he concludes, "that to give away such franchises for nothing when others stand ready to pay millions for the same rights is little short of public plunder."

Mother and Son Shot.

MONTREAL, June 14.—Mrs. J. J. Redpath, one of Montreal's society leaders, lies dead in her handsome residence on Sherbrooke street, and her son, Clifford Redpath, is lying unconscious in Royal Victoria hospital with a bullet in his brain. About 6 o'clock the household was startled by the noise of two revolver shots from Mrs. Redpath's room. On rushing in the servants were astounded to find Mrs. Redpath and her son lying on the floor, both unconscious. Physicians were summoned, but Mrs. Redpath died in a few minutes. Her son was removed to the hospital in a dying condition. Mrs. Redpath had been ill for some time, suffering greatly from insomnia. The surmise is that while temporarily mentally deranged Mrs. Redpath attempted to end her life, and in attempting to prevent her the son was shot.

The Butchers' Strike.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 14.—The only development in the butchers' strike is a proposed combination of union retailers and journeymen to establish slaughter houses of their own, making them independent of the wholesale butchers. Thus far the strike has caused no diminution in the meat supply of the city. Both the union and nonunion retailers have been able to supply customers with a fair degree of promptness. Of the 600 retail shops in the city 150 display union cards.

Wheat Badly Damaged.

SYRACUSE, June 14.—Investigation shows that the ravages of the Hessian fly grub in the wheatfields of Yates county is much worse than was at first supposed. While it has not as yet spread to all parts of the county it daily increases the area covered, and great damage is the result. In the town of Jerusalem some of the apple orchards are being affected by what is called forest worms, and a large orchard near Bluff Point is as bare of leaves as it would be in the winter time.

Prominent Lawyer Dead.

CINCINNATI, June 14.—The bar of Cincinnati was shocked to hear that one of its best known members was found in his bedroom alone with a bullet in his brain. He was Frederick Roelker, unmarried. The first impression was that the shooting was an attempted suicide, but the family physician, after an examination, stated that the shooting was accidental.

Three Boys Drowned.

BALTIMORE, June 14.—Arthur Barkman, aged 19; Arthur Kalbfleisch, aged 13, and Edward Sheets, aged 13, were taken dead from a water hole in Leonard's stone quarry late yesterday.

LYNCHING PROBABLE

Intense Excitement Prevails at Shreveport, La.

FOSTER'S MURDERER STILL AT LARGE

Armed Posses Scouring the Country. A Dozen Negroes Under Arrest. Particulars of the Shooting.

SHREVEPORT, La., June 14.—This city and vicinity has been in a state of feverish excitement and unrest since Wednesday, when John Gray Foster, a prominent planter, was shot and killed by Prince Edwards, a negro employed on the Foster plantation, five miles east of this city. Armed posses of white men have been scouring the country for miles around in an attempt to capture Edwards. A dozen or more negroes are under arrest in Kennebrew's store, and their fate is uncertain. Foster was widely known and very popular. He was a brother-in-law of Governor McMillin of Tennessee and belonged to one of the oldest families in this state.

There had been bad feeling for some time past between the negroes and overseers on the Foster plantation, and Foster was appealed to to settle the differences. The planter started for the plantation, and upon reaching a negro cabin he was fired upon and killed. There were a dozen or more negroes in the cabin, and they broke and ran in all directions. The overseers were quickly joined by white citizens, and it was not long before all the negroes were arrested, a single exception being Prince Edwards, who, it is said, did the shooting. Posses were quickly formed and started on a hunt for the negro, but as yet have made no further arrests.

There were many wild rumors afloat throughout the day, the most sensational being that the negroes in the Kennebrew store were in imminent peril of being lynched.

This rumor proved to be untrue, although many threats were heard against the prisoners. The store where the negroes are confined is guarded by a posse of 25 men armed with Winchester rifles, and unless sentiment changes indications are that the majority if not all the prisoners will be let off with a thorough whipping. Edwards, if caught, will be burned or lynched.

There is much feeling against "Prophet" Smith and Edward Washington, both of whom are under arrest. Smith is declared by some persons to be at the bottom of all the troubles, while Washington is said to have been active in aiding Edwards to escape.

Prisoners in a Safe Place.

NEW ORLEANS, June 14.—A special to The Picayune from Shreveport, La., says: "The prisoners supposed to have been implicated in the murder of John Gray Foster have been removed from Kennebrew's store, where they were in the hands of the possé and taken to Benton, La., under a strong guard under command of Deputy Sheriff Porter Edwards. The carrying of the prisoners to Benton removes the immediate danger of lynching."

Clergymen Must Pay For Permits.

CHICAGO, June 14.—After July 1 all clergymen east of the Mississippi river and west of Pittsburg and Buffalo must pay 25 cents for permits to buy railroad tickets at half fare. This was agreed upon by general passenger agents of all the roads in the territory named at a meeting here. To obtain clergy half fare permits it has been customary for clergymen to fill out prescribed forms and file them with agents of the transportation companies. On this credential the reduced rate tickets were sold. There has never been any charge for these permits authorizing representatives of the railways to sell the tickets, though there has always been a fee of $1 for the annual book permits furnished preachers. The new rule places the same restrictions about the trip credential as has surrounded the annual permit.

A Clever Robbery.

ROCHESTER, June 14.—Depot Master Warren of the Central road has been notified that a lady passenger residing at Savannah, N. Y., had been robbed either in the station or while boarding the 3 o'clock train for home of $1,300. The lady, whose name is unknown, came to Rochester in the morning, drew the money from a bank and started for home. The money she placed in a hand satchel, and as she went into the station she opened the grip far enough to assure herself that the money was secure. After the train had started the lady suddenly discovered that the satchel had been cut open and the money stolen.

A Bold Bandit.

GUTHRIE, O. T., June 14.—At Coyle, 20 miles from here, Ben Cravens and a companion blew open the Santa Fe safe with dynamite, securing $1,500, and escaped. The safe and part of the building were wrecked. Cravens killed two members of a posse who were chasing him near Pawnee two months ago. He escaped from the Kansas state penitentiary mine last winter, holding the guard off with a toy pistol.

Extensive Railway Improvements.

CHICAGO, June 14.—Between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000 will be spent for improvements by the Pere Marquette railway system during the next 12 months. To provide funds and facilitate the work the company has organized the Marquette Equipment company, limited, and an issue of $1,000,000 5 per cent bonds guaranteed by the Pere Marquette road has been authorized.

Actress Saved From Potter's Field.

CHICAGO, June 14.—Instead of being sent to potter's field, the body of Rose La Fevre, the young actress who was shot at the Great Northern hotel Monday by Louis Hartman, will be buried in the Jewish cemetery. Clarence Hartman, who came from New York to attend the inquest over his nephew's body, has advanced money to defray the funeral expenses.

Drowned by a Cloudburst.

BELLAIRE, O., June 14.—Three sons of Lawrence O. Mellot were carried away by the water in Captina creek in a cloudburst and drowned. The bodies have not been recovered. The victims were Arthur, aged 15; Wilber, 9, and Roy, 6.

Railroad Building In Rhodesia.

Y. M. C. A. JUBILEE DAY.

Interesting Services and Notable Addresses at the Boston Meeting.

BOSTON, June 14.—Jubilee day, as yesterday had been designated by the international jubilee convention of the Y. M. C. A., was brimful of interest, and the morning session in Mechanics' hall was in a large degree picturesque and novel.

After the formal addresses had been delivered by Cephas Brainerd of New York, President Faunce of Brown university and Rev. Francis E. Clark, the father of the Christian Endeavor movement, the presentation of foreign delegates went on again, as it will from time to time each day, the vast audience rising to its feet and welcoming with friendly voice and fluttering handkerchiefs each representative from foreign lands as he was presented, many of the latter wearing their native costumes.

James Stokes of New York, known the world over for his noble work for the welfare of young men, presided, with Christian Philidias of Switzerland, whose wide knowledge of languages was made evident to the audience, acting as master of ceremonies. A striking figure was that of Father Nicholas W. Vassilief, a delegate from Russia, gowned in the deep crimson silk of his office, a silver chain and crucifix about his neck, with the sunshine lighting up his fine face and sturdy figure.

A special jubilee service in the Old South meeting house, in the chapel of which the first Y. M. C. A. in the United States was organized 50 years ago, at which a commemorative tablet was unveiled; a reception of more than 600 delegates by Governor Crane at the statehouse and a special service in Faneuil hall, with addresses by Lieutenant Governor Bates, Mayor Hart and several foreign delegates, served to fill out the afternoon.

In the evening a number of prominent railroad officials addressed a large meeting in Mechanics' hall, their remarks having an especial bearing upon association work among railroad men in North America.

EXPOSITION SPORTS.

First of the Series of Field Contests Takes Place at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, June 14.—The first of the series of national track and field contests arranged by the Amateur Athletic union for the Pan-American exposition were held yesterday at the classic stadium in the fair grounds.

The heat set a limit upon attendance, but a large number of athletes came to measure muscle and endurance in the lists, and there was an afternoon of spirited sports. There were no records smashed, but some of the time made and distance covered were close to the standards that have been set. The athletes assembled here represent nearly every section of the United States and Canada, and the junior championships today and the senior championships tomorrow will bring them out. The prettiest event was the final of the 100 yard sprint, which George H. Hoffman of the Anchor Athletic club of Jersey City took after a rattling race from W. S. Edwards and A. W. Burlingame of the Knickerbocker Athletic club of New York in 9 4-5 seconds.

The weights developed a series of surprises, A. B. Gunn, a Y. M. C. A. lad of Buffalo, beating John Flanagan of the New York Athletic club in the shot put and John R. Dewitt of Princeton defeating both Flanagan and Charles H. Hennemann of Milwaukee, the champion, in tossing the discus. George W. Orton of the New York Athletic club was without pacing material in the five mile run and took nearly 29 minutes to go the distance.

Of the clubs represented the Knickerbocker Athletic club of New York scored the greatest number of victories for the day.

Steamer and Tug In Peril.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., June 14.—Yesterday afternoon the Leyland line steamer Assyrian, ashore off Cape Race, swung around on the rocks with the tug Petrel on the inside. Both are now in a very critical condition. The Assyrian is pounding to pieces. A northeast gale is raging, a heavy sea is making fast, and it is feared that the two vessels will become complete wrecks. The Petrel was engaged in an attempt to tow the wreck off, but failed to move her. Subsequently one of the Assyrian's ropes became entangled in the Petrel's propeller. The Petrel, thus crippled, drifted inside the Assyrian, where she tried to repair the damage under the shelter afforded by the liner's hull. A northeast gale was brewing at the time, and this steadily increased. Finally the wreck, started by the heavy seas, swung round as upon a pivot and embayed the tug. Both vessels were then forced broadside on the rocks, the seas sweeping over them. The crews of both ships left them.

NEW MINT ACCEPTED.

Recently Completed Building at Philadelphia a Fine One.

PHILADELPHIA, June 14.—Secretary of the Treasury Gage, acting for the government, has accepted the United States mint which has just been completed at a cost of more than $2,000,000 and is said to be the finest and best equipped building of its kind in the world. The ceremonies attending the transfer, which took place in the coining room, were simple, but interesting.

Secretary Gage, United States Treasurer Ellis H. Roberts and party arrived here over the Pennsylvania railroad at 1 o'clock and were welcomed by Mayor Ashbridge, Colonel A. Louden Snowder and Henry K. Boyer, superintendent of the mint. After luncheon the party proceeded to the new mint building, at Sixteenth and Spring Garden streets, where the municipal band gave the distinguished visitors a harmonious welcome. Colonel Snowden, who was formerly superintendent of the mint here, presided at the exercises.

On the platform, in addition to those named, were George C. Roberts, director of mints; James M. Beck, assistant United States attorney general; former Director of Mints Preston, James K. Taylor, supervising architect; Chief John E Wilkie and W. J. Burns of the secret service, Attorney H. B. Knox and several city officials.

The opening address was made by Colonel Snowden, who gave a brief history of coinage in the United States.

Work on the new mint began early in April, 1898, and was practically completed in April of the present year. The building is of gray granite, the main structure being 318 feet long and including terraces 395 feet, its width being 208 feet. The vaults are located in the basement. That for silver dollars will hold 100,000,000, and already about 70,000,000 are stored there. The interior of the building is beautifully ornate.

AN ISLAND GRANT.

Sultan of Jolo Makes a Concession Which May Be Questioned.

MANILA, June 14.—Prince Poniatowski, a San Franciscan, has secured from the sultan of Jolo an absolute concession for 50 years, ending with the year 1950, of the island of Paragua. It is reported that the prince has formed a $10,000,000 company and is making plans for the most thorough exploitation of the timber, mining, rubber and pearl industries of the island and the development of shipping. The scheme also embodies a plan for the building of roads and harbor improvements.

The representative of Prince Poniatowski here, John Anthony, presented the documents to the Philippine commission yesterday and asked for an indorsement of the plan. The question involves the agreement of General Bates with the sultan and also the validity of the sultan's jurisdiction and authority, which occupied an uncertain status with Spain and afterward with the United States. The commission will probably refer the question to Washington.

The military authorities are on record as opposed to recognizing the sultan's timber permits to public lands, as the forestry bureau has collected taxes on these lands. The population of Paragua is estimated at 30,000, of whom 20,000 are Moros.

THE GUARD AT TIEN-TSIN.

An Especially Strong Force Considered Necessary.

PEKING, June 14.—The British, Germans and Italians contemplate retaining a general each to command the foreign forces, which will probably be stationed at Tien-tsin.

The Italians are preparing to retain 1,200 men in the province of Chi-li, which will be a proportionately larger force than that of any other country. The British, French and Germans will retain about 3,000 men each and the Americans 150.

Tien-tsin, being the center of a turbulent population, will require an especially strong guard. The provisional government there will not transfer its authority to the Chinese until the last. When this is done, Li Hung Chang proposes to establish the headquarters of his viceroyalty there, leaving his Peking duties to others.

Miss Field to Wed.

BALTIMORE, June 14.—The announcement is made that Miss Mary French Field, daughter of the late Eugene Field, the poet, is to marry William C. Engler of Maryland next fall. Miss Field, who is familiarly called "Trottie," is well known in Chicago, where she makes her home. When her father died five years ago, she took up public reading as a means of livelihood and was very successful, especially in presenting the writings of her father. Mr. Engler, whom she is to marry, is a native of Frederick county, Md., who went to Chicago six years ago and holds a position as secretary of one of the big manufacturing concerns on the north side.

Conant Family Reunion.

BOSTON, June 14.—Nearly 200 descendants of Roger Conant, the first governor of Salem, met for their first reunion yesterday. Their ancestor, Roger Conant, came from East Budleigh, Devon, England, in 1623 and was forced to leave Plymouth colony because his religious principles differed. It was in midwinter, and he sought refuge on an island in Boston harbor, going later, with followers, to Salem, where he was elected first governor. He was succeeded by Endicott, who came out from England. His descendants who gathered at the Vendome yesterday came from New England, the south and west and also from Canada.

Only Two Machinists at Work.

SAVANNAH, June 14.—Only two non-union machinists are at work in the Seaboard shops. The strikers have induced all the others to throw down their tools and go out. The number, while not large, practically stops work at the shops. The superintendent says he can replace the men without difficulty. An extra force of police officers, armed and supplied with ball cartridges, remain on duty at the shops.

Keene After the Grand Prix.

PARIS, June 14.—Foxhall Keene's Olympian, which arrived here from England and which is entered for the Grand Prix de Paris, to be run next Saturday, was given a trial gallop this morning.

Received by Loubet.

PARIS, June 14.—President Loubet yesterday received Mr. Henderson, speaker of the United States house of representatives, and Representative Gillet.

NO FRAUDS AT FRISCO

Kimball Says Quartermaster's Employees Are Innocent.

CLOTHING IN QUESTION WAS SOLD.

It Is Claimed That Discharged and Returning Soldiers Pawn or Sell the Articles Found In Second Hand Shops.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 14.—Captain A. W. Kimball, post quartermaster at the Presidio, made the following statement in regard to the alleged frauds in the sale of quartermaster's supplies belonging to the government:

"I am the officer that is concerned in this matter, but no one has yet made any inquiry of me. I am the only bonded officer at the post and the only one accountable and disbursing officer. If there has been anything irregular, I would be pleased to give all the assistance in my power in the search for the guilty men if there are any.

"All the government things sold in the pawnshops are sold by discharged soldiers from the returning volunteer regiments."

Colonel J. B. Rawles, artillery corps, post commander, said:

"All this talk of fraud is perfect rot. People have been nagging for a year on the same subject. I have been aware of the soldiers selling their clothing for a long time. One of the puzzling and perplexing things in army management is to keep the soldiers from selling their clothing.

"I am confident that no quartermaster's sergeant or civilian employee is implicated in the selling of even a shoestring."

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Abe Abrams, son of Louis Abrams, the second hand dealer, who, with another son, is in custody. Detective Reynolds reported to the federal authorities yesterday that he found 20 pair of government shoes in a Sacramento street store Wednesday night.

Captain Seymour of the local detective force said:

"No one can say, in view of all that has transpired within the past two days, the frauds have not been going on. Detective Reynolds reports to me that the investigation has made a stir among the second hand stores and those who deal in the class of goods stolen from the army and that those who have not yet been visited by Colonel Maus are hurrying to cover what government goods they have. The quantities which they were able to supply their customers makes it seem conclusive to my mind that there is some one or more having access to the quartermaster's department in collusion with them. They will have a hard time explaining away the evidence against them."

The announcement that a warehouse full of stolen goods had been found, which was made on authority of Captain Seymour, has been found to be erroneous.

The person who informed the captain was told to telegraph that the property recovered was being stored in the locality mentioned, but misunderstood his instructions and sent the message wrong.

Toledo's Car Lines Purchased.

CLEVELAND, June 14.—Announcement is made of the purchase by the Everett-Moore syndicate of all the street railway lines of Toledo, and other negotiations in progress, when completed, will give the syndicate control of all electric railways between Detroit and Cleveland. Every electric railway in northern and southern Michigan will also be merged with the exception of Pomeroy interests and the Little Consolidated Street railway of Cleveland. Messrs E. W. Moore and Henry A. Everett are in New York in conference with New York bankers. The purchase price of the Toledo lines is said to be $9,000,000. The scheme of the promoters is to control urban and interurban traction lines between Cleveland and Detroit along the lake shore. The Toledo purchase embraces all the electric lines in that city known as the Toledo Traction company, consisting of 99 miles of track.

Sixteen Eaten by Cannibals.

VICTORIA, B. C., June 14.—The Miowera, from Australia, brings these advices: From New Guinea news was received via Sydney of the massacre of Revs. James Chalmers and B. F. Tomkins and 14 native teachers by cannibals. The whites were eaten. The place of the cannibal orgy was seen by the troops sent out to investigate the massacre, and a portion of a jaw and thigh bones of the missionaries were found, together with their hats and portions of trousers which belonged to Chalmers. The expedition punished the natives, destroying their villages and canoes. Some prisoners taken during an attack made by the natives on the troops told the tale of the massacre and cannibalism.

Students Taking Strikers' Places.

CINCINNATI, June 14.—The Machinists' union of Covington, Ky., has sent a letter to Governor Beckham, in which they appeal for an investigation of the action of Professor J. P. Anderson of the Kentucky State college, who, they claim, is sending students from the mechanical department of that college to Cincinnati to take the places of the striking machinists. The officers of the union assert that ten students are now at work in various shops in Cincinnati and that they are working without any pay whatever. The strikers expect Governor Beckham will investigate the matter and have the students recalled.

Remains to Be Brought Home.

BERLIN, June 14.—Upon the joint request of the mother and widow of Baron von Ketteler Emperor William has caused a dispatch to be sent to the German minister in Peking, Dr. Mumm von Schwartzenstein, directing that the body of his predecessor be disinterred and transported to Berlin for final interment later on the paternal estate. A Berlin sculptor has received an order for a suitable tombstone.

Murder Theory Strengthened.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., June 14.—Coroner Decker's investigation of the case of John Noonan, the aged hermit who was found dead in his cabin near Slatehill Wednesday, strengthens the belief that Noonan was murdered for the purpose of robbery ten days ago. There is no clew to the supposed perpetrators.

Off For San Francisco.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—General S. B. M. Young visited the White House and bade the president goodby. He left here last night for San Francisco, where he relieves General Shafter as commander of the department of the Pacific.

Flag Day.

Today is Flag Day. While New Jersey has taken no official recognition of the day as have most other States in the Union, it is being more or less observed throughout the State and the Stars and Stripes are floating in the breeze in many parts of Plainfield and other cities and towns in Jersey.

Flag Day is the anniversary of the day, in the year 1777, when Congress enacted that the flag of the thirteen United States be thirteen stripes, alternate red and white and that the union be thirteen stars, white in a blue field, representing a new constellation. The idea of its observation was to promote reverence for the flag and prevent its descration. Several States have officially recognized the day and provided that appropriate exercises shall be held in the public schools. The citizens of other States, like New Jersey, have shown their love for the flag by giving it unusual prominence today.

There has been a concerted effort made, since 1897, to secure the general observation of the day. The American Flag Association was then formed of committees from veteran, military, patriotic and historical societies of the United States. The efforts of this society have met with much success. The campaign is now being waged in New Jersey and the many flags aloft today testify as to the results. Another effort will undoubtedly be made this winter to secure official recognition from the Legislature. It is to be hoped that the worthy plan to win official recognition for the Stars and Stripes from the Legislature will be successful.

There was no doubt about the popularity of the open air concert, which was given by LaVere's band, Wednesday evening, through the generosity of one of Plainfield's local business men. It was a business proposition with him, but it nevertheless supplied entertainment for several thousand people. It was regretted by many that Wednesday evening was chosen as that is the regular night for the mid-week services at most of the local churches. There was also too long an interval between selections which dragged the concert out to nearly 11 o'clock. Otherwise it seemed a decided success. It is greatly to be hoped that the open air concerts will be made a regular weekly feature of the summer life in Plainfield this year. It is said that Mr. LaVere has several plans in view to bring about the desired end. Of course the question of support has to be carefully considered by him, but it is to be hoped that he can obtain enough funds to allow the concerts to be held in some public square where there is more space for an audience than on one of the streets of the business section.

The Philadelphia Record relates that an English merchant, who spent some time in this country and studied American advertising, has told his countrymen that the American merchant will always find newspaper advertising profitable provided he shall insist on knowing in what number of genuinely circulated copies of the newspaper his advertisement will appear, and shall select those newspapers which circulate among the people to whom his announcement will appeal. In other words, to produce the best results he must put his advertisement in newspapers which show a large circulation and which stand high in the community.

It is only of recent years that there has been any ceremony attached to graduation from the grammar department of the city public schools. It was formerly merely a step higher, differing but little from the regular promotions to the other classes. Now, however, the commencement of the grammar school has been made quite an elaborate affair. Regular exercises are held and diplomas are presented. The plan tends to encourage the younger children and particularly impress on them the entrance into the High School.

There are comparatively few young people from this city who graduate this year from any of the higher institutions of learning. There is no doubt but that the city and borough send an unusually large percentage of their sons and daughters to the colleges and universities of the land to give them a better and broader education than can be secured at the public and private schools of this community. While there are very few graduates, a number of local young people are planning to enter these institutions in the fall.

Admittance this year to the commencement exercises of the Plainfield High School will be strictly by ticket. This is done to avoid undue crowding and to allow those who are really entitled to seats to obtain them. Heretofore, it has been the custom to reserve only a portion of the building in which the exercises are held and allow the public to take the rest of the space, first come first served.

E. Dean Dow, the veteran Plainfielder who recently died at Knoxville, Tenn., was one of Plainfield's earliest editors. He conducted the Central New Jersey Times in a little wooden building on Park avenue, where the Coward building now stands. Then The Times passed into the hands of the late Calvin Runyon and Mr. Dow went into other ventures.

It is to be hoped that the street committee of the Borough Council will lose no time in securing the new street signs as they are needed every day. The influx of summer visitors has begun and the sooner it is possible to discover the identity of the borough streets, the better it will be for all concerned.

Another club has been formed, the chief object of which is to promote the game of lawn tennis. That game, once so popular in this section, seems to have taken a new lease of life.

These are the days when the florists reap their harvest. Never has the trade of the local florists been so brisk as at the present time.

Weddings, strawberry festivals and commencements have all combined to make the month of June an active one for Plainfield.

Accepted Better Position.

Having accepted a better position, Charles A. Steadman, of Somerset street, has resigned his place as assistant superintendent of the Plainfield division of the Prudential Insurance Company. Mr. Steadman has been in the employ of the Prudential Company for four years and has been located in this city for two and a half years. During that time he has been one of the most successful of the company's employes and has made many friends in this city.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence.)

Dunellen, June 14—Under the supervision of W. H. Cole, workmen are laying drains at the Potter property on New Market road, in order to do away with the surplus water which collects after every rain. The matter had become a decided nuisance to the residents of the vicinity, as the water became stagnant, which led to reports being made to the Board of Health. The owners of the property were notified and immediately promised to remedy the trouble.

The members of Joseph Soukup's family, who have been ill for several weeks past with smallpox, have almost entirely recovered and will shortly be allowed to go out. Before that time, however, the premises will be thoroughly fumigated by an experienced health inspector. It will be done as soon as possible in order to allow the father return to his work at the Greenbrook tanks.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

The Supreme Court has just given a death blow to an important rural industry in deciding that Sunday horse trades are illegal. The destruction of the Palisades continues with unabated energy. Only one contracting firm has stopped the work of transforming a beautiful cliff into an ugly quarry. The incapacity of the commissioners appointed by the Legislatures of New York and New Jersey, to put an end to this vandalism, is a disgrace to both States.—Trenton Times.

Elizabeth has had two military companies for several years, and healthy ones they are, too. Yet the members have got along without a State armory. The newly organized militia company in Plainfield, however, is already agitating the subject of securing a State armory. Judging by the experience of other companies throughout the State, they will agitate in vain. Just now the State administration is pluming itself on the fact that there is $2,000,000 in the treasury of the commonwealth, yet when it comes to spending a few thousand for armories hard-fisted economy prevails.—Elizabeth Times.

RECEIVER APPOINTED.

Creditors Asked U. S. Court That Vincent L. Frazee be Declared a Bankrupt.

Attorney William Newcorn, representing Joseph A. Blatz, J. P. Homan, P. C. Thompson & Co., and Andrew Laing, went before the United States Court at Trenton Monday and filed a petition asking that Vincent L. Frazee be declared a bankrupt. After paying the fees and filing papers, he was informed that on the Friday preceding similar papers had been forwarded from Jersey City on behalf of Thomas Stokes and other creditors, in which they petitioned for the same thing. They failed to take the necessary proceedings, however, toward having a receiver appointed.

Mr. Newcorn took advantage of this point and Wednesday he went before the court and secured the appointment of Francis J. Blatz as receiver for the prosecuting creditors. Mr. Blatz today qualified and Joseph A. Blatz and J. P. Homan are his bondsmen.

ADDRESS ON MISSIONS.

Given By Rev. Mr. Mosher At Warren Chapel Last Evening.

An address on the subject of missions was delivered by Rev. Mr. Mosher, rector of Grace Episcopal church, Brooklyn, before a special meeting of the King's Foreign Missionary Circle of Warren chapel last evening.

The speaker dwelt upon the general idea of missionary work, which he declared should be the primary aim of every church. He also referred to the urgent need of missions particularly in foreign lands. The discourse was of an interesting nature throughout.

Rev. J. O. McKelvey, the pastor of the church, presided at the meeting and introduced the speaker of the evening. Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Taylor, of East Fifth street, who are intimate friends of Rev. Mr. Mosher, and who have devoted much time to missionary work, were also present.

The affair was in charge of Mrs. Louis C. Ely, the chairman of the Circle.

The second day was a failure, like the first, so far as the message was concerned; while with every atom of manhood in him Stanton struggled to hold himself back from what he knew would be a fatal plunge into that bewildering pool.

Why should she fascinate him till his heart and brain reeled? No woman had so much as attracted him before; and now, of all times, when it must not be!

"Is it because she knows that I am married and thinks herself safe?" he asked himself. "I hope she is safe. If not, surely I am not worthy of Esther Thorndike's love. I don't know. Sometimes when she looks at me that way, as though she were ready to put her arms round my neck, I feel as if I could throw away everything to run to her. It would be throwing away everything, and I will not do it."

Then he thought of ignominious flight, but there was just one day left before his intended departure from Naples. He determined to see it to the end, true to himself and to his wife, and if he still failed to find the opportunity to give her the message he would at least conduct himself in such a way that he might write it in a letter and send it to her after he was gone, asking her to deliver it.

He even decided to take the initiative, and invited the banker and his daughter to spend the last afternoon in a sail to Capri.

At the very last moment Mr. Braddon declared that he did not much like the water, and decided to remain at home. A cold shiver crept over the young lawyer as he heard the announcement; but Miss Braddon had no intention of abandoning the trip on her father's account.

With grim determination Stanton clutched the door of his heart that nothing should open it. It was a very new experience.

Miss Braddon had never made herself so beautiful before. She had never been so entertaining. The boatman was accustomed to carrying lovers to Capri. Of all the world the Bay of Naples is the place for them. It is the beautiful home of love.

If Stanton had sought for opportunities to say: "I love you," they were without number; but to deliver his message was utterly impossible.

The sails were filling to return when Miss Braddon said, abruptly:

"Mr. Stanton, you are not really so happy as you wish to seem. I wonder if you would tell me why?"

"It is because I am not satisfied," he replied, as abruptly.

"I was afraid, at the time, that it would prove an irksome bondage, and I am very sorry," she said, as though in all their conversation they had spoken of nothing else but that one subject which had not once been mentioned.

"You were mistaken," Stanton replied, calmly.

Like a flash the dark eyes turned on his.

"Do you mean that it is not irksome?"

"Not in the way you mean," Stanton said.

"I hardly understand you."

"Yet I very much wish that you did."

"Why in particular?"

"Because through you is my only hope of being understood where, of all, I am most anxious to be understood."

"Do you mean with Esther Thorndike?"

"Yes."

"Why, you have never even mentioned her name."

"If I were not bound by a condition that is a most irksome bondage, I should have gone to her, direct, long ago, instead of living in the hope that in some way I might reach her through you."

"What would you have me say to her?"

"Tell her that I am trying to be a better man than when she saw me, and ask her to give me freedom from the chains she bound, and let me, as a man, come to her, as a woman, and try to win her love."

"Truly, Mr. Stanton, you astonish me. Is that what you have been thinking of, all these days?"

"I could have had but one other thought."

"What thought?"

"To win your love."

"And that you do not care for?" she asked, almost sadly, trailing a rope in the water.

"That is not the question."

"It is for me, if I love you."

Stanton turned, slowly, till his eyes rested full upon hers. His face was very pale. It was more than he had ever dared to dread. He knew that it meant death—death to the hopes he had fostered and the dreams he had dreamed, death to his self-respect, death to his future. Yet he could most easily have said:

In a look if death there be,
Come, and I will look on thee.

His lips moved slowly, but they moved steadily, with all the force of his will behind them, as he replied:

"Any living man who had the right would be a blind fool not to love you and long for your love."

"But you have not the right?"

"Because you have a wife?"

"Yes."

"But do I not understand the arrangement, and does not Esther? And if you asked her do you not think that she would agree to some arrangement that would set you free?"

"After she has seen me and known me, if she cannot love me and be my real wife, and if for herself she wishes to be free, she can say so. It is her right."

"Is it because you have discovered that you really want a wife, a real wife, and your sense of honor forces you to hold the place open for her?"

"I think not."

"Surely you don't mean that you think you love her?"

"I don't know."

"Did you ever see her face?"

"Never."

"Have you ever learned much about her?"

"I know absolutely nothing but what she and you have told me."

"Well, if you were not bound in honor to her, surely for that one meeting you would not still be thinking of her."

"Or perhaps we might have met again and again, as the result of one meeting, had it not been for that binding. At all events, for that meeting I am indebted to you, and by your help I hope to meet her again."

"Surely you do not think she loved you, Mr. Stanton?"

"I hope that she will love me, some day."

"Has no one tempted you to let slip such a slender thread as that?"

"It must be stronger than it seems, for no one has tempted me—no one but the woman to whom I have come for help to win my wife."

The boat was close upon the landing-stage. The carriage was already waiting there. As they stepped on shore Miss Braddon turned abruptly, and said:

"If you and Esther should try to be more to each other, and fail, it would be worse than it is now. You cannot possibly be sure that you love her. I will tell her all I know, but let it rest this way. You said that you were to reach home on the 6th of December. It is the first anniversary of the marriage. Think it over till then. If you feel as you have said to-day, send some flowers to papa's bank for her that day. If you find that you have a single doubt, oh, I beg of you, for her sake, not to do it. She will think it over, too, and if the flowers come to her she will send some message to your home in Brooklyn, telling you what she feels in her heart is best. If you do not send the flowers, it will only be that you wish to be honest and true. If she returns some message which you do not wish, remember it is because she, too, is trying to be honest with herself and you.

"Now, don't think it rude in me. I am only a woman, and I want to be alone. You have said good-by to papa. Please let me say it right here; and may the best of life be yours always!"

Before he could speak, she was gone. Stanton stood in bewildered astonishment and watched the carriage drive away.

At least she was not angry. She did not look it. Yet the carriage disappeared and she had not looked back.

Her last words were still ringing in his ears as Stanton took a worn card from his pocket and read: "May the best of life be yours, always! Esther Thorndike."

He replaced it with a troubled sigh and turned his face toward America.

CHAPTER XI.

On the afternoon of the 5th of December, 1893, Stanton stood upon the wharf at New York.

He went first to a florist's. Then repeating Miss Braddon's words, "I want to be alone," he went to a hotel and took a room without registering.

It was a useless precaution, however, for the morning papers announced his arrival in a way to indicate Miss Braddon's prophecy correct.

His office was besieged when he reached it in the morning. He was astonished that business men could be so cordial. In spite of every effort, it was noon before he reached his home, where Sam and his wife made their timid greetings as expressive as they dared.

They were amazed by the hearty response they received, for since his baby days they had never known the young master say so much and say it so kindly to them.

There were many messages and cards of welcome. Dr. Borden had already called, and left word that he should call again. The good man might chide his friend if he thought him in the wrong, but he was enough of a true man to be all the more his friend for that.

One envelope Stanton caught eagerly from the pile and with it hurried to his room. There he opened it and in blank astonishment stood staring at the card it contained.

SUMMER STYLES.

Many Flowers Employed For Dress Hats.

An immense quantity of flowers is worn upon hats, many of those intended for dress wear being covered with them. For ordinary use draped and twisted straws, caught up by quills of various kinds, used like pins, are seen and are rather effective. Quills gilded all over are sometimes employed, and there are others spotted, striped and painted in various ways.

TAFFETA COSTUME.

The picture shows a costume of straw taffeta tucked horizontally all over. Bands of lace over straw silk ornament the bodice in bretelle style and are carried down to the foot of the skirt, being fastened at the waist by decorative buttons. There is a wide pelerine collar of lace, over which is a cravat of black velvet held by a brooch. The sleeves are tight to the elbow, below which they become full and are gathered into a lace cuff. The hat is of very soft, yellowish straw, plaited and stitched, and is trimmed with large pink roses with reddish foliage.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

SUMMER SKIRTS.

Those of Thin Materials Very Much Decorated.

The plaited skirt takes on renewed vigor now that the season for thin materials has arrived, and flounces also have come to the front for the same reason. These latter are varied in many ways. Sometimes they have a bias border of the same stuff or an edge of fine embroidery or tucks and applications, but the majority are finished by tiny ruches of muslin, lace or ribbon. Except in the case of tailor made and walking costumes, the decoration of the foot of the skirt is and will be very full and expansive. Lace continues to be in great favor for evening gowns and other dress costumes. There are skirts entirely covered with ruffles of applications and others all of chantilly.

BOLERO BODICE.

The illustration depicts a bolero bodice of peau de soie. The back is plain, but the fronts are cut to form a short, pointed bolero, to which the sides are secured by buttons. The bolero has a high, flaring collar faced with white silk and entirely stitched. The bolero is embroidered front and back and has half length sleeves, flaring at the edge. Beneath these are tight sleeves to the wrist, also flaring and trimmed with buttons. The full vest is of silk, tucked at the top, and the high collar is also tucked silk.

AFTER THE BATTLE.

Romantic Meeting of Two Cousins on San Juan Hill.

Their Relationship Discovered in an Extraordinary Way—Now They Are Partners in Business and Fast Friends.

According to the Omaha correspondent of the New York World Arthur L. Drake and William Francis Drake, cousins, partners in the cattle business near Ogallala, owe their acquaintance and partnership to an accidental meeting on the battlefield after the charge of San Juan hill, Cuba, before which they never knew of each other's existence.

After the close of the Spanish-American war each of these men received his discharge, the one from the rough riders and the other from the Third United States cavalry one year later. In August, 1899, they located in western Nebraska, and have since been intimately associated.

No story of fiction has ever been imagined or told which surpasses the remarkable history of their family, and more especially that of the fathers of these two young men, themselves, their two sons and these sons' little daughters.

Arthur J. Drake and Francis M. Drake, twins, were born in Birmingham, Ala., April 21, 1836, where they lived until Arthur decided to go north when he was 16. After traveling through many of the northern states he located on a farm near Milwaukee. He never wrote home. He married Miss Mary Sherwood and was the father of two sons, one of whom is Arthur L. Drake.

Francis M. Drake remained with his father and worked for him in a store. He was married in 1859 and is the father of one child—William Francis Drake.

At the beginning of the civil war Arthur J. Drake volunteered for the union and joined the Eleventh Wisconsin infantry. Francis M. Drake went with his state and the confederacy and was a member of the Thirty-first Alabama infantry.

During the siege of Vicksburg by Grant's forces the soldiers on either side became friendly at certain places where they were stationed in trenches close together and would often call each other "Yanks" and "Rebs" in a social way, trade tobacco for coffee and exchange other articles. Here the twin brothers met for the first time after Arthur left home.

After the war was over Arthur J.—returned to his home in Wisconsin, where he died in 1880. The other brother moved from Alabama to Texas, where he engaged in the cattle business. He still lives in that state.

After the battle of San Juan hill a wounded rough rider was sending a dying message to his wife and only daughter by a kind-hearted private of the Third United States cavalry, who was doing all in his power to stop the hemorrhages from his wounds and save his life.

The dying man took from his watch chain a locket which contained the photos of his wife and child.

"This," he said, "is for Edith Drake, my only child."

"My God," whispered the other, "that's the name of my only child." Then he hesitated. He knew the man had not the strength to answer questions, so he waited until the rough rider was strong enough to talk. There in that southern hospital these two men discovered that their fathers were brothers and that they had each a daughter named Edith Drake and that their little girls were nearly of the same age.

Pope's Elaborate Wardrobe.

A large staff of women is employed at the vatican for the sole purpose of keeping the pope's wardrobe in perfect condition. No spot or stain may disfigure the garments worn by his holiness, and, as he always appears in white, even a few hours' wear deprives the robes of their freshness. It is considered that no man's hand is dainty enough for their care, so in this one respect women are permitted to serve the pontiff. Only the most delicate materials are used, moire silk being the summer fabric and a specially woven fine cloth the winter one.

Massage for the Fingers.

Paderewski keeps a valet whose chief duty it is to rub the great pianist's fingers at stated times, to knead the palms and to crack his knuckles. Without this extraordinary exercise Paderewski believes that he would not be able to play so as to satisfy himself. This treatment makes his fingers elastic and supple.

Topic For the Week Beginning June 16. "Reverence For Sacred Things"—Text, Ex. iii, 1-6.

"The place whereon thou standest is holy ground."

Reverence and superstition have no blood relation even of the remotest. They do not belong to the same race. Superstition believes in magic and the rule of unreason; reverence believes in miracle and the authority of rational personality. Both feel fear in the presence of God and His mysterious manifestations. But one is blind terror of the vast, unknown and perhaps hostile power—dread of its enmity; the other is the awe of worship, the adoration of the recognized Being above all others, the all mighty and all worthy One.

Reverence is the essence of true religion. Superstition is the noxious residuum of impiety. Both believe things with equal tenacity. But one is faith founded on sufficient reason, while the other is credulity without reason.

What's holy ground? Has earth a clod
Its Maker meant not should be trod
By man the image of his God;
Erect and free, unscourged by superstitious rod,
To bend the knee?

Never before had the bush in the desert visibly flamed to the shepherd's eyes. Never again would it appear burn unconsumed. This once was enough to assure him of God's presence now and ever and to teach him the mystic name and secret sign of the Holy One of Israel. That makes the place holy to him. The flame vanishes, the man goes his way, but not as he came. He has been a herder of sheep until the bush burned. Henceforth he shall be a guide of men to lead them to God and feed them with heavenly food. The place was holy while God and man spoke to each other, while man received commission from God to guide his fellow men; that is all. The bush burns no more, the divine voice is silent on the mountain, the man is gone. The holiness has passed from the caller into the called and left the clod and bush as they were. It is useless to seek the place and erect shrine, monastery or cathedral. Sanctity is not in place, but in person. Reverence looses its sandal, stands with bare feet and covered head in the presence of its God, hears Him speak and with awed heart and consecrated powers sets forth on the appointed mission of deliverance of captives into God's freedom. Superstition will seek the bush and rock and bow before them, make its prayers and vows, take off its shoes, and that is all. It will never see flame or hear voice or go on mission of deliverance, for it has no eyes for God nor ears for His word.

Every place and every hour may furnish the bush where God will burn and speak to you if only you are prepared to see and hear Him. You need not leave your daily task to go to some far altar to pray and seek God. He is close at hand. If only you are in right condition, the holy place will be found. The holy of holies will blaze with shekinah fire close beside you if you are ready to know the Lord.

More spirit of reverence is sadly needed in these times. All things have become common to many people. The Sabbath and church of God are no longer held in reverence, when they should more than ever be the time and place to meet God, until all days, all places and all work shall be sacred because done faithfully in love of Christ for the service of men.

A True Revival.

A true revival is a return to the Lord on the part of God's people and a turning to the Lord of those who are not. The saints are quickened, and the sinners are converted. Godliness, like nature, has its seasons. We never keep up to our ideals in Christian living. We need the restoring grace of God. The revival restores the joy of God's salvation. The church has periods of looseness of life and laxity of devotion, and the gracious Lord sends rebuke and then revival to lift up His fallen church. In Hezekiah's day there had to be a general clearing away of the unhallowed altars at which they had burned incense and paid their vows which belonged only to Jehovah. A revival time is a heart cleansing time. All sorts of worldly and sinful habits receive a righteous condemnation for usurping God's place in the soul, and the church is prepared for the coming of the Lord.—Christian Intelligencer.

Yield Thyself.

Thine own self will and anxiety, thy hurry and labor, disturb thy peace and prevent Me from working in thee. Look at the little flowers in the serene summer days. They quietly open their petals, and the sun shines into them with his gentle influences. So will I do for thee if thou wilt yield thyself to Me.—American Friend.

Prayer.

Prayer is the defensive means which satan and his hosts dread while they cannot emulate. They can blaspheme, they can argue, they can fight, they can write books and, if need be, quote Scripture for their purposes, but pray they cannot.—Dr. J. W. Alexander.

Looking to Jesus.

Jesus, Saviour, Son of God,
Bearer of the sinner's load,
I to Thee will look and live
And, in looking, praises give!
Looking lightens, looking heals;
Looking all the gladness seals;
Looking breaks the binding chain;
Looking sets us free again;
Looking scatters all our night,
Makes our faces shine with light;
Looking quickens, strengthens, brings
Heavenly gladness on its wings.
Jesus, Saviour, Son of God,
Bearer of the sinner's load,
I would rise to Thee above,
I would look and praise and love!
Ever looking, let me be
At the blood besprinkled tree,
Blessing Thee with life and soul
While the endless ages roll.

—Bonar.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning June 16—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—Reverence for sacred things.—Ex. iii, 1-6.

Reverence is a virtue that needs to be inculcated today as seldom ever before. We are living in an age characterized by irreverence. The beliefs and traditions of the past are treated in the most flippant manner. In the home the respect of children to parents is sadly lacking. There is not the respect for authority and for those who are in places of authority that there once was. It is not to be wondered at that this spirit should also pervade the atmosphere of religion and should manifest itself there. That this has been the case is only too sadly true. Reverence for sacred things has diminished. God's name is profaned and blasphemed, God's day is not kept sacred and holy unto Him, and God's book is most lightly esteemed by man. This is a sad condition of affairs and also a serious one, for, while man may hold those guiltless who profane sacred things, God will not. His name, His day, His house and His revelation are the objects of His love and care, and punishment will be meted out to all who dishonor them.

Reverence for sacred things is repeatedly emphasized in the Scriptures. Moses beside the burning bush, in which God appears to him to reveal His will to him, is taught a lesson upon this subject. He approaches too closely the place made sacred by the presence of God. God calls out to him: "Draw not nigh hither. Put off thy shoes from off thy feet, for the place whereon thou standest is holy ground." And Moses, when he was conscious of God's presence, "hid his face, for he was afraid to look upon God." As the angels veil their faces in the presence of God and exclaim, "Holy, holy, holy, Lord God Almighty!" so Moses in God's presence was filled with humility and godly fear. The teaching of Scripture throughout is that sacred things—things made sacred by the presence of God—should be considered holy and should be respected and reverenced.

God has also declared in His word that irreverence shall receive His displeasure and severe punishment. "The Lord will not hold him guiltless who taketh His name in vain." And what is true of the name of God is true of His day, His house, His word. God has often severely punished irreverence. Hophni and Phineas, sons of Eli, were punished for their gross dishonoring of sacred things. The hands that too lightly esteemed the ark and touched it were forever stilled. And thus God teaches by precept and example that He will punish those who profane sacred things. Let us take warning and guard ourselves against the irreverent tendency of the age. Let us reverence sacred things. Let us honor God and all that is holy. Then God will honor us.

THE PRAYER MEETING.

Have the pastor open the topic with a short address.

BIBLE READINGS.

Ex. xix, 7-14; xx, 7-11; Joshua v, 13-15; Lev. xix, 30; Ps. lxxvi, 7-12; lxxxix, 7; cxi, 10; Acts vii, 30-33; Heb. xii, 25-29; Rev. iv, 8-11.

Through Toil and Suffering.

Through toil and through suffering we are enabled to gain a keener insight into spiritual things and greater power in doing spiritual things, increased purity of heart, a deeper humility, more intense desire for holiness, then toil and suffering are endowed with the highest of all meanings. And this meaning is given to labor and sorrow just in the degree that they are borne in humble trust in God and in the desire, so far as lies in our power, to be faithful to our profession of faith in the Saviour. That we know not the reason why we are compelled to labor so hard or to suffer so much does not affect the result. Through the presence in us of the true spirit of devotion, through the offering of ourselves in this way, the blessed effects will be wrought. For in our lives as individuals as well as in the life of the church and the nation there is the hiding of God's wonderful power.—Reform Church Messenger.

Live by the Bible.

He who believes the Bible and follows its directions as to his conduct of life cannot fail to see that the heaven to which he is going is a goodly land. When he gets there, he will know more about it than he can know here. But while here he will know enough by faith to transport his soul with the most exalted hopes and make him content to leave this world whenever it shall please his heavenly Father to call him to the higher and better world. Thrice happy the man, and as wise as happy, who makes the Bible practically sufficient to train his action and lives for heaven in the light of what it teaches.—New York Independent.

Rest.

Thou hast made us for Thyself, and the heart never resteth till it findeth rest in Thee.—St. Augustine.

The great spiritual law is "from death unto life." Jesus had a perfect human will, and yet He ignored it when He said, "Not My will, but Thine be done," and when we sincerely say the same, pertaining to the little as well as the great things which come into our daily lives, we enter into the will of God, which means life, joy, peace, rest.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Fault Finders.

The fault finder does not attract. There is something about his face, gait and manner as well as about his temper and words that repel. Sweetness, gentleness and charity are lacking in his composition, and people fight shy of him. Men become a bane to themselves and to society when dominated by a critical, carping and harsh spirit.—Presbyterian.

SPORTING.

GOLF.

The events on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course tomorrow will be weekly competition in the morning for the Mellick cup, and in the afternoon for the Golf Committee cup. The other attractions in the afternoon will be play for the Fisk handicap cup and the Reinhart cup.

Out of respect for the memory of Charles Hyde, a highly-esteemed member of the Park Golf Club, whose funeral services are to be held Saturday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock, the members of the Board of Governors have unanimously decided to close the clubhouse and grounds on the afternoon of that day. The members of the club are therefore requested to refrain from using the course Saturday afternoon. The club flag will be at half-mast during the remainder of the current month.

Spalding's "Official Golf Guide" is the June number of Spalding's Athletic Library. It is edited by the well-known golfer, Charles S. Cox, of New York, who has compiled a very interesting work on the "royal and ancient game." The general contents include a very clear exposition of play which will be found of great help to the novice and can be read with profit by all. The constitution, by-laws, and rules of the United States Golf Association, the Metropolitan Handicap list, useful hints for players, a glossary of technical terms, and other features will be found in its pages.

Although Miss Genevieve Hecker made the lowest score yesterday in the qualifying round of the Essex County Country Club's first open tournament for women, Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers, a member of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, but who is playing from the Baltusrol Club, finished second. with a score of 104. According to the accounts of the contest she played good golf, but lacked the steadiness of the maker of the low score. The following is the draw for this morning: Governor's cup, first round, Miss Whitmore and Miss Badgeley, Mrs. Carnrick and Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers; Miss Hecker and Miss Oliver, Miss Goffe and Miss Hurlbut.

LAWN TENNIS.

There is play every afternoon on the new court of the Cedar Brook Tennis Club on LaGrande avenue, and much interest is being taken in the game. Work has now started on the second court which will be ready for play next week.

CYCLING COMMENT.

David Curtis has entered the bicycle races to be run off at Vailsburg tomorrow and Sunday and one to be held at Manhattan in a few days. Mr. Curtis has been in training of late and he hopes to capture a few prizes.

ON THE DIAMOND.

The Plainfield High School Athletic Association has elected Fred Van-Auken captain of the baseball team for the coming season.

The Westfield baseball team is playing fast ball. June 1 the team defeated the O. N. T's. 17 to 4 and last Saturday it humiliated the crack Murray Hill's, of New York, 16 to 2.

Tomorrow at Recreation Park, Westfield, the team opposes the Bayonne Field Club.

The line-up of the Fleetwood A. C., of New York, which is to play the St. Mary team tomorrow on the Fourth street grounds, will be as follows: Lenihan, 1b; H. W. Nally, ss; Baker, 2b; Flynn, 3b; Dillon, lf; Tenney, cf; J. McNally, rf; Dumford, c; White, p; Whalen, extra. All are players of exceptional merit and the local team will probably have the hardest struggle it has had this season. The St. Mary boys spent considerable time in practicing last evening and will spend several hours in twirling again tonight.

CHECKS WERE WORTHLESS.

GEORGE HANEY, OF DOYLESTOWN, ARRESTED FOR PASSING THEM.

Claimed To Be Innocent Of Wrong Intent And Made Good The Amounts—Complaints Withdrawn.

George Haney, a young man who claimed Doylestown, Pa., as his home, was arrested by Patrolman Gamo, yesterday afternoon, charged by Liveryman D. S. Roberts with tendering a worthless check in payment for a bill. He was taken to the city jail, but was sudsequently brought before Justice Moffett. Haney claimed to be innocent of any wrong intent and, if released, promised to obtain the sum stated in the check. In custody of an office, he went to the home of a friend, who loaned him the money, after which the complaint was dismissed.

Haney has been in this city for the past week, visiting the outlying districts in search of slate roofing contracts. He did considerable carriage hiring and yesterday gave Roberts the check for $8. It was written on a Plainfield bank form but called for payment at the Doylestown National Bank. A similar check was given to Harry Werner for $11.75 in payment of some clothes. Werner became suspicious and, on wiring the Doylestown bank, learned that Haney had no money there. The clothes were returned and Mr. Werner refused to make any complaint. Haney was arrested by Gamo, who had been on the lookout for him all day.

VACATION HERE.

Miss Rocap's School Closed Yesterday For the Long Vacation.

Miss Rocap's school closed yesterday for the year. The school room was prettily decorated and the work of the pupils hung about the walls.

Those who saw the work expressed themselves as much pleased with the exhibit, especially the map drawing. After games and refreshments the children were dismissed to meet again in September.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Marsh, of Plainfield, and W. H. Long, of this place, were counsel for the caveators, and Hon. A. A. Clark appeared for the executor. Judge Schenck reserved his decision.

GRADUATES MONDAY.

Nathan E. Lewis is Member of Class of 1901 at Stevens Institute.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

Hoboken, June 14.—The twenty-eighth annual commencement exercises of the Stevens Institute of Technology will be held in the Lyric Theatre in this city Monday evening. Among a class of forty young men, who will be graduated are Nathan E. Lewis, of Plainfield, and Felix Layat, of Scotch Plains.

At the commencement exercises James Glasgow, of London, will answer a recent utterance of Charles M. Swab, the president of the steel trust, who declared that higher education is detrimental to a young man.

LAWN PARTY.

Given By Faithful Workers Of Mt. Olive Baptist Church Last Evening.

A lawn party was given last evening by the Faithful Workers of Mt. Olive Baptist church at the home of Mrs. Lulu Dempsey, of West Third street. A large crowd was present and quite a sum was realized as a result of the efforts of the organization.

Assisting Mrs. Dempsey, the president of the workers, were a number of women who had charge of the various tables and several waitresses. Mrs. Anna Benn presided at the cake table and Mrs. Hattie Mitchell at the ice cream stand. The Rockland Orchesta furnished music for the occasion.

Funeral of Mrs. Coward.

The funeral services of Mrs. Hattie E. Coward will be held at the house on Sycamore avenue tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock. They will be conducted by Rev. W. Montgomery Downey, rector of the Church of the Holy Cross. After the services the husband and immediate relatives will accompany the body to Brooklyn, where services will be held in St. Stephen's church. Interment will be made in Greenwood cemetery in that city.

New Choir.

It is expected that the new choir at the Congregational church will be heard for the first time Sunday morning. Alfred E. Holmes has been engaged as choirmaster of the church and took charge of the music for the first last Sunday. A special male quartette then took part in the Children's Day exercises. It is Mr. Holmes' object now to organize a double quartette which will sing regularly at the morning services.

Westfielder Won Prize.

Frederick Sutton Taggart, of Westfield, at the graduating exercises of the New York Law School, held in Carnegie Hall in that city last evening, was awarded one of the four senior prizes contested for annually by the graduates.

PROGRESSIVE SOCIAL HELD.

LADIES' AID SOCIETY AT FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH IN CHARGE.

Novel Sort Of An Affair Proved Very Entertaining To The Many Guests In Attendance.

What was styled a "progressive social" was given last evening in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society. There was a large attendance and all thoroughly enjoyed the unique programme as arranged by the committee, of which Mrs. Edgar Williams was chairman.

There were six rooms arranged to represent January, February, March, April, May and June, and there was something different in each room to engage the interest of all. As those entering one room would do what was required of them, they would go into the next room and perform the task there. In one room a district school was in session, while in another room, those who entered were put to work trimming hats. Another room was filled with pictures of famous men, and those who went in were required to guess the names.

Another interesting feature was the guessing of names from initials and still another form of amusemont was the guessing of conundrums. All of these things kept everyone busy and was a capital idea for promoting sociability.

As an additional feature Miss Ida Dunham very kindly favored those present with several vocal solos. After this part of the programme was concluded the committee served refreshments and there was a continuation of sociability.

Will Be Held at Plainfield High School All of the Coming Week.

FOR ENTRANCE TO COLLEGE

SCHEDULE OF THE VARIOUS EXAMINATIONS TO BE GIVEN.

Rules Governing Them—Local Supervisors Will Be Miss Phœbe Lovell and Miss Gertrude Snodgrass—Time Limit is Given.

The idea of the system, as outlined in The Daily Press some days ago, is to afford to any one, contemplating entering a collegiate institution situated in the middle States or Maryland, an opportunity to take an examination prescribed and sanctioned by the universities and colleges forming the association. A certificate of the result of the examination is issued and if the officials of the particular institution, which the student examined desires to enter, are satisfied with the showing made, no further test will be required of the applicant. The candidate for examination must ascertain the particular subjects the college or scientific school he wishes to enter requires and in those only will he be examined. At the time appointed for the examination the candidate will be assigned a seat in the rooms provided and will be furnished with the requisite answer book, all other necessities must be provided by him. No books or papers can be brought into the rooms by the student. Other rules are to the effect that: No candidate will be permitted to leave the room during the course of an examination, and those who give or receive assistance will be excluded from further participation in the examinations.

CLASS DAY EXERCISES AT N. P. HIGH SCHOOL

Graduates Heard Wonderful Things They Will Do in the Future.

THE CLASS POEM WAS SUNG.

HISTORY OF THE REMARKABLE CLASS WAS READ.

Miss Maud L. Honeyman, President of Class, Presided—Advice Given to Juniors—Prophecy Told Wonderful Things.

The graduating class of the North Plainfield High School held its class day exercises in the chapel of the Somerset street school building last evening.

Friends and relatives, of the members of the class, taxing the room to its utmost capacity, were afforded infinite amusement and pleasure by the peculiar features which always make such an occasion a merry one. The spirit of fun and mischief is allowed to run rampant at such times and the affair last evening was no exception to the rule.

The members of the class, all of whom took a more or less conspicuous part on the programme, are the Misses Mary E. Valiant, Maud L. Honeyman, Bessie Irene Hackett and Bessie Rebekkah Martin and Kerro Knox, classical course; Alfred Cortlandt Emmel, Oscar William Crite, scientific course; Miss Carrie Slater Pangborn, Morgan T. Townsend, advanced English course; George C. M. Smith, W. Frank Vincent Hamilton, Jr., and Miss Jessie Stites, English commercial course.

Miss Maud L. Honeyman, the class president, delivered the address of welcome. Her few words were said in rhyme and in the same fashion she introduced those who were assigned special parts on the programme.

Miss Bessie Rebekkah Martin read the class history. From a class of thirty it has dwindled down to one of thirteen. The colors adopted were red and gold and the motto "Not finished but begun." The weakness of each pupil in the past was brought out. Miss Nellie Valiant and Morgan Townsend were pictured as golf fiends; the Misses Carrie Pangborn and Jessie Stiles, as ambitious stenographers; Miss Maud L. Honeyman, as having "the gift o'gab;" George Smith, as having a rich bass voice; Walter Hamilton and Oscar Crite, as baseball cranks; Howard George, as a brilliant Latin scholar; Miss Bessie Hackett, as a poet; Fred Emmel, as an orator, and Kerro Knox, as a crayon artist. Morgan Townsend, according to the history held the record as the tardiest pupil.

Morgan T. Townsend read the "Advice to Juniors." In it he warned Miss Winnie Carroll not to burn the midnight oil at study; Miss Virginia Hegeman to get a "pony" or a heavy team to pull her through French. Miss Pearson was advised to get a book on conversation and Teddy Overton and Robbie Hand to "brush" up on spelling. The Misses Bauersachs, Davenport and Mantz, "the Heavenly Twins," were advised to burn their booklets and to learn the art of "bluffing."

The class prophecy was assigned to Alfred C. Emmel. An unique feature in this connection was the mode adopted in presenting the prophecy. Mr. Emmel and Howard George, who took part, are represented as meeting in after years discussing old times, and referring incidently to the history of each pupil after he or she was graduated. They were both costumed. Miss Bessie Martin, it was related, had gone to the Philippines, where she was called Senorita Martini. George Smith was represented as the leader of an operatic orchestra in Berlin, whose music moved people to tears; Walter Hamilton, as a National League baseball star; the Misses Pangborn and Stiles, as manufacturers of a mosquito antidote; Oscar Crite, as the Congressman from North Carolina, advocating a bill designed to protect watermelons; "General" Morgan Townsend, as a hero, who saved his country by his delays; Miss Bessie Hackett, as a successful sketch writer, and Miss Maud Honeyman, a graduate of Wellesley College, as sojourning in Paris.

During the evening Fred VanEps added much pleasure to the affair by giving two selections on the banjo in his usual able manner. In both instances his work was greeted with a storm of applause and he generously

MAY DANTZ PUT ON TRIAL.

ATTEMPT BEING MADE TO SEND HER TO INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

Occupied Attention of Court at Somerville All Yesterday—Parents Claimed She Was Incorrigible.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, June 15—The case of the State against May Dantz came up before Judge Schenck yesterday and occupied nearly all day. Garton and Mary Dantz, the young woman's parents, seek to have her sent to the Industrial School, claiming that she is incorrigible.

Marshal William T. Campbell, of North Plainfield, William N. Pangborn, Garton and Mary Dantz and Mike Popolillo all testified that the girl had been living a gay life and was not amendable to parental restraint. Mr. Pangborn said that he did not think the girl was so much to blame, as her environments had been enough to make her bad. He said the girl's father kept a boarding house, and usually had from fifteen to eighteen men boarders in a six room house, and that they slept on the floor and all over, drank and cursed.

May was put on the stand herself and denied all the accusations made against her. She said her father was too lazy to work; that he took all the money she earned; beat and ill-treated her; threw beer bottles at her. She admitted that she swore; denied smoking cigarettes and drinking beer, or that she was out on the streets at night later than 11:15 o'clock, except when she occasionally attended a dance. She said her age was seventeen, but it was proven to be not quite fifteen, and that she and her sister were now working in a hair dressing establishment for a Mrs. Shaw, at 25 Second avenue, New York.

May was represented by A. M. Beekman and the State was represented by F. A. Pope.

Judge Schenck laid the matter over for a week.

SOMERSET IS TEN YEARS OLD.

CELEBRATED ITS ANNIVERSARY WITH AN ENTERTAINMENT LAST NIGHT.

Somerset Council, No. 104, Jr. O. U. A. M. Entertained Its Friends—The Programme.

Just ten years ago last evening, Somerset Council, No. 104, Jr. O. U. A. M., was instituted in this city with a fair number of members. Since then it has thrived and flourished until today it is one of the foremost lodges in the city. When it was announced that the tenth anniversary of it institution would be observed last evening, the friends of the members responded in such numbers as to completely fill the lodge room in the Babcock building. The good and welfare committee had made careful arrangements, however, and everybody was well taken care of.

The fore part of the evening was taken up with a very enjoyable entertainment in which every number was one of exceptional merit. Those appearing were loudly applauded and encores were frequent. The programme in detail was as follows: Overture by orchestra composed of Vincent Sokol, Morris Sorensen, Garret Dunham and Martin Korff; vocal selection, Mrs. A J. Stiglitz; mandolin solo, Frank Konen; recitation, Mrs. Peter H. Bennett; violin selection, Wm. Welsh; recitation, F. O. Smith; duet, Miss Alice and Jennie DeMott; mandolin solo, W. C. Townsend; dialogue, "The Book Canvasser," Mrs. A. J. Stiglitz, Miss Try Mattox and F. O. Smith. The latter was very laughable and greatly enjoyed.

At the conclusion of the entertainment the audience was invited to the banquet room, where cooling refreshments were provided in abundance.

Those in charge of the affair and who arranged the details were F. G. Wikoff, chairman; W. C. Walker, A. M. Stein, Elmer GaNun, George Allen, Fred G. Welsh and I. N. Wycoff.

HEARING POSTPONED.

Couple Charged With Burglary Of Sandford Avenue Residence Arraigned In New York.

James Simpson and Sarah Spiers, the couple accused by the police of robbing the residence of W. A. W. Burnett, of Sandford avenue, were arraigned before Magistrate Brann in the Jefferson Market police court, New York, yesterday morning. The detectives desired a postponement of the hearing and it was laid over until tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. It will probably be a week or ten days before matters can be arranged to bring them to this county.

WORKINGS OF THE NEW SCHOOL LAW.

State Superintendent Of Public Instruction, C. J. Baxter, Gives His Official Interpretation.

SETTLES DISPUTED POINTS.

WHAT SHALL BE COUNTED IN FIGURING THE DAILY ATTENDANCE.

Need Be No Delay In Paying Teachers—Settled Other Details Concerning The Working Of The Law—Opinion Will Be Sent Out As a Circular Letter.

There has been much interest in Plainfield and other parts of the State concerning the details of the new school law. A Daily Press reporter called at the home of Charles J. Baxter, state superintendent of public instruction, on Sandford avenue, last evening, to interview him concerning his interpretation of the law, the details of which are left to him.

In place of an interview, Mr. Baxter kindly gave a copy of his opinion as to the law which is to be sent out next week as a circular letter to all the county and city superintendents of the State. It will be very interesting reading to those who are at all interested in school affairs, as it answers some very important questions regarding the apportionment of the school moneys and kindred subjects.

The full text of Mr. Baxter's statement is as follows:

Department of Public Instruction,
Trenton, N. J., June 14, 1901.

To county and city superintendents: Numerous inquires have been received as to the effect of the law passed at the last session of the Legislature providing that the school moneys shall be hereafter apportioned on the basis of aggregate days' attendance of the pupils in the public school.

The law provides that "if a school in any district shall on account of contagious disease, destruction of the school house by fire or otherwise, or for other good reason, be closed for five or more consecutive days, for the purpose of this apportionment, such school shall be deemed to have been in session, and the total days' attendance upon such school for the time it shall have been closed as aforesaid shall be determined by dividing the actual total days' attendance of the pupils enrolled in such school by the number of days such school shall have been actually in session, and multiplying the quotient thus obtained by the number of school days such school shall have been closed."

No attendance is to be marked in the register for the days during which the school shall be closed, but a report should be made to this office at the end of the year stating in detail the days on which the schools were closed and the reasons therefor. The attendance for days when the school shall have been closed will be calculated in this office and all that the teacher is required to do is to note in the register on each day the school shall be closed the reasons why a session of the school was not held.

When a school is closed by order of the Board of Health and it is necessary to disinfect the building, the total time the school is closed will be counted, provided, it is not less than five days. No attendance should be reported in the registers for holidays, institute days, or in fact any day when the school is not actually in session. If it shall be necessary to close a school for repairs during the school term, the attendance for such days will be counted as stated in the law, provided such repairs were rendered necessary by some cause which could not be foreseen in time to make them during the summer vacation.

Any school district which has but one session each day for high school or kindergarten departments will be entitled to credit for full day's attendance in such departments. Any district which maintains half day classes for the reason that the school accommodations are not sufficient to provide full day classes for all pupils will be credited with half-day's attendance for said classes. In case a school is dismissed at noon or later and no afternoon session is held on account of inclement weather, a full day's attendance will be credited.

In some districts summer schools are maintained and said districts will be credited with a half day's attendance for each session of such schools, provided, the instruction given in such classes is the regular academic course. Districts maintaining evening schools will be entitled to credit for half day's attendance for each session of the school.

The question has been asked how long a child must be present at any session in order to be counted in the attendance. The mere presence of a pupil at roll call will not be considered as sufficient attendance to be a compliance with the intent of the law. A pupil should be present at least one hour during any forenoon, afternoon or evening session in order to be recorded as present.

When a dwelling is quarantined by order of the Board of Health, notice should be sent to this office of the date when the quarantine went into effect and the date when it was raised, with a certificate from the Board of Health stating the reason for the quarantine. Children residing in the building quarantined, who are actually enrolled in the school should, excepting the children who are ill, be counted as present during the time the building is quarantined.

As the law changing the basis of apportionment was not enacted until so late in the school year, the attendance for the year just closing will be the actual attendance as shown by the registers plus the allowance for the time the schools were closed on account of contagious diseases, or for other good and sufficient reasons. It appears that in some districts attendance has been marked for institute days and holidays. This attendance cannot be allowed.

I shall be glad to hear from any of the superintendents or teachers as to any changes to the above rullings that suggest themselves, or as regards any other questions affecting the attendance of pupils. All such suggestions will receive careful consideration and should it be deemed necessary further instructions will be given prior to the opening of the schools next September.

There seems to be a misapprehension as to the effect of the rule requiring the forwarding of registers to this office. At a meeting of the State Board of Education, held April 15 last, the following rule was adopted: "The order or warrant for the balance of salary due any teacher at the time of closing the school for the summer vacation shall not be delivered to such teacher until the district clerk or other officer, authorized to deliver such order or warrant, shall have received notice from the State Superintendent of Public Instruction that such teacher has filed with him his or her register and report of attendance, provided, that any school in which more than one teacher shall be employed the principal thereof shall file such registers and reports."

I understand that in some districts it is held that the assistant teachers cannot be paid until the registers and reports are received at this office and the receipts forwarded to the district clerk. As will be seen by the above rule this is not the case. Every assistant teacher may be paid his or her full salary as soon as the district clerk has certified to the register as required by law. In a district having a supervising principal, all registers should be delivered to him and he alone is held responsible for their delivery to this office. It will also be a compliance with the law if in districts having a city superintendent, the registers and reports are deposited with him. All the principals in such districts may then be paid and the city superintendent may forward the registers and reports to this office by express.

Very truly yours,
C. J. Baxter,
State superintendent.

ORDERED HER AWAY.

As Soon As Mr. Edwards Learned Mabel Duffy Was a Runaway He Acted Promptly.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—The telegram from Westfield in your issue of yesterday about Mabel Duffy, the runaway girl, being located at Recreation grounds and connected with the merry go-round show on the premises is untrue. The girl visited here several times, and having learned Monday last she was a runaway, I advised her to go home. She told a story of abuse at hands of her father, and said she was to go to work as waitress at Elizabeth the following day and was going away then and there. She reappeared Tuesday and I gave orders to the officer to keep her off the grounds, since which time she has not been seen. Her father came here yesterday inquiring for her, and to him I made statement as above. No shady characters or runaways will be tolerated about Recreation grounds.

MISSION WORK DONE IN FAR OFF JAPAN.

Interestingly Pictured By Miss Allen, Secretary Of Young People's Department.

PRESBYTERY OF ELIZABETH.

GIVEN AT MEETING IN WARREN CHAPEL YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

Concluding Meeting For Summer Of Ladies Aid Society Of Warren Chapel—Was Largely Attended—Informal Address.

A decidedly interesting missionary talk was given by Miss Leila B. Allen, the corresponding secretary of the young people's department of the Presbytery of Elizabeth, before the regular monthly meeting of the Ladies Aid Society of Warren chapel at a meeting of the organization yesterday afternoon.

In an informal way the young woman told of the laudable work being accomplished by the missionaries in far-off Japan. Particularly she dwelt on the noble labors of those in charge of the Presbyterian mission at Asahigawa, Japan. A special interest is taken in the propagation of the Gospel at that place inasmuch as the missionary, Rev. George Pierson, is supported by the united aid of the Christian Endeavor societies of the Elizabeth Presbytery.

Miss Allen referred at some length to the general scope of the mission work and gave some incidents which amply illustrated the grand results being obtained in the earnest endeavor to instill the principles of Christianity in the heart of the native Japanese. Mrs. Pierson, the wife of the missionary, she said, has been a great help in spreading the Christian faith. By reason of her unusual knowledge of various languages, particularly German, a large number of the high caste Japanese came to her as pupils. In her work as teacher she is able to enlighten the students on the Christian religion. One young woman, with whom she has been brought in close touch, was converted and has been of great service to the mission. This convert with all the others has lent invaluable assistance at the station. All of those who have embraced the Christian faith are indefatigable in their work.

During the course of her remarks Miss Allen incidently sketched the scenes connected with the horrible massacre at the Presbyterian mission stations in China just one year ago. In this connection photographs of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Hodges, Rev. Dr. George Taylor and Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Simcox were exhibited.

At the conclusion of the address, delicious refreshments were served and a social time was enjoyed. No business was transacted at this meeting, excepting that it was decided to suspend the meetings during the summer season. Mrs. A. V. D. Honeyman, the president of the society, presided at the meeting.

CLUB BOUGHT FARM.

Formal Transfer of Property From Melick Heirs to Hillside Tennis and Golf Club.

The final business, transferring the property recently purchased by the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club from the heirs of the Melick estate, was transacted yesterday, when the title was passed and the money paid over. The property was purchased for $9,000, and each one of the heirs received $2,250. The heirs are W. L. Melick, J. E. Melick, Walter L. Melick and Leonard Melick.

A. H. Atterbury represented the club, while Lawyer W. S. Angleman looked after the interests of the heirs. This deal is one of the most important that has been effected in some time. The property is used by the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club as a golf course and it is one of the finest in this part of the country. The club's lease was to run another year, but the members decided to save the interest and rental and purchase the property at a comparatively low figure.

Fined For Carrying Gun.

A fine of $5 was imposed upon Patsy Martin in the city court this morning after he had been adjudged guilty of disorderly conduct and carrying concealed weapons. He was arrested by Roundsman Mattox on Richmond street, Tuesday night.

JESTER'S LOVE STORY.

One of The Attractions on The Famous Red Star Route at Exposition.

It is generally conceded by the subjects of that court, of the street of fancy at the Pan American Exposition, known as "The Midway," that there is a king of the Midway, and it universally conceded likewise that Maurice F. Tobin is the reigning monarch.

Before him the crowd laughs at flighty humor; sardonic witticisms, and incongruous monologues, though the "King" has ever a stolid expression. In his heart is a romance of the land of dreams, Hawaii, which ended in bitter disappointment. To-day jesting is his business. He was ever known as a giddy pate.

"One day there came into my life," says Tobin, "an enchanting maiden, and so in the stillness of a summer's night I told her of my love. I waited vainly for the love light in her eyes, the herald of bliss from her heart."

"'Surely Maurice,' she whispered, 'you carry your jest too far.' 'It was but a jest, only a jest,' I replied with a faint heart. She turned on me with splendid anger in her eyes and passed into the night saying, 'Farewell!' She was gone!!

"Then the bitterness of my folly and fate overcame me, and I fell upon the ground, bursting into tears" "And since then——" Here Tobin, the "king" mounted the pedestal before the Hawaiian Village, and in a clarion voice shouted:

"This way, ladies and gentlemen, to the Hawaiian Village! See the great theatre—see the beautiful Hula Hula Dancers. It's a dreamland."

This then is the love story of Tobin, the famous "barker," whose sallies of wit and humor afford untold amusement to the countless numbers who daily visit the attractions on the famous Midway Red Star Route at the Pan-American Exposition.

The Druggist Recommends LAXAKOLA

The Great Tonic Laxative, as the One Great Family Remedy for All Stomach Ills.

Skin Blotches Muddy, Sallow Complexions Can Only Be Cured by Purifying the Blood. Laxakola Does It.

Blotched, sallow, unwholesome and muddy skin, with its consequent mortification, often leading to morbid seclusion, shows that your blood is bad. The only way to clear the complexion and restore it to its normal healthy, velvety condition is to cleanse out the entire system, purify the blood and remove the causes. Laxakola does it, as well as acting directly on the pores and assisting the perspiratory glands to throw off impurities.

Constipation Can Be Surely, Quickly and Permanently Cured. Laxakola Does It.

You have a full feeling, with dizziness, headache, heartburn, palpitation, foul breath and bad taste, the stomach becomes distended, the eyes heavy and yellow, and the skin pale, sallow, muddy and blotched, accompanied by loss of sleep, appetite and vitality. Laxakola at once relieves and speedily cures these by toning up the stomach, increasing the flow of gastric juice, resulting in a return to the natural feeling of good health.

For the Children Children Die from Stomach Diseases which Laxakola will Speedily Cure.

It is a dangerous thing to give little babies violent remedies that rack and rend their little bodies. DON'T DO IT—Give them Laxakola. For constipation, coated tongue, simple colds and fevers it is invaluable. It is the best and most effective laxative for children. BEST because it is safe and made entirely of harmless ingredients. INGALLS CAPSIZED.

Transport Turned Turtle In Brooklyn Drydock.

ONE KILLED AND MANY INJURED.

Two Hundred and Forty Workmen Plunged Into the Water, and There Were Many Narrow Escapes.

NEW YORK, June 15.—While the United States transport Ingalls was in the balance drydock owned by the John N. Robins company at the Erie basin, South Brooklyn, at 3:30 yesterday afternoon, where she was about to undergo extensive repairs, she suddenly slipped from the blocks and capsized. One man is known to have been killed and many others injured. There were about 240 carpenters, machinists and other laborers at work on the vessel and dock at the time. Hurry calls were sent for ambulances and patrol wagons.

It is supposed that the vessel was thrown from an even keel by ballast improperly placed or by the shifting of the blocks on which she rested, causing her to list to starboard, driving the shoring beams through the rotten walls of the old floating drydock in which she was cradled. Besides the mechanics and other workmen which crowded the vessel and dock preparing her for a voyage to Manila there were supposed to have been about 30 Italian laborers in the hold of the ship, employed in shifting the pig iron ballast forward and astern.

While the terrorized and screaming workmen were trying to escape the dock itself, overbalanced by the weight of the ship, turned on its side and sank in 50 feet of water. A number of the men were borne down into the water and jammed under and between the wreckage which rose to the surface. How many were caught could not be learned last night. Martin Anderson, a painter, was caught under the descending side of the ship and killed outright. Others were dragged out of the water badly injured or half drowned and hurried to the hospitals. Added to the horrors of the night was the uncertainty of the fate of the men in the vessel's hold. Some managed to get to the dock and leap into the water as the vessel was sinking, but it is feared that the majority were less fortunate. Many are so seriously injured that it is not expected that they will survive.

The Ingalls went into the drydock at 11:30 yesterday morning, and about $80,000 was to have been expended on her repairs. The lock in which she was placed was a very old one, having been constructed over 50 years ago. An effort was made to close the gates at the time of the accident, but was unsuccessful.

FERRYBOATS COLLIDE.

The Northfield Sinks at East River Pier—Possible Fatalities.

NEW YORK, June 15.—The wooden side wheeler Northfield, which has been in the service of the Staten Island Ferry company for the past 38 years, was rammed last night by the steel hulled propeller Mauch Chunk, built in 1893 and used as a ferryboat by the Central Railroad of New Jersey. The collision occurred just off the Staten Island ferry slip at the foot of Whitehall street, and in less than ten minutes afterward the Northfield, which was crowded with passengers, sank at the outer end of the Spanish line pier No. 10, East river.

The Mauch Chunk, which was badly damaged, after landing the two dozen passengers which were aboard of her at the slip adjoining the one occupied by the Staten Island Ferry company proceeded under her own steam to Communipaw channel, where she was laid up for repairs.

Over 100 of the passengers on the sunken Northfield were dragged out of the water by people alongshore and the crews of the fleet of river tugs, which promptly responded to the ferryboat's call for help. A few of the Northfield's passengers were hurt in the accident, and the police believe that some lives were lost.

Captain Daniel Gully of the tugboat Mutual, who saw the ferryboats crash together, says that immediately after the collision between 25 and 30 of the passengers leaped into the water and that some among the number must have been drowned.

The scene when the vessel sunk, with thousands of people watching from the shore only a few feet away and only as far as a woman could throw a stone was indescribable.

Many women and children were watching, and a number of them shrieked from terror and became hysterical.

A deck hand who had jumped for his life to a tug said that at least 18 teams of horses had perished.

Twelve Poisoned.

TOLEDO, June 15.—Twelve people were poisoned here by eating meat. All of them are now out of danger, although four of them were in a very serious condition. Those who were poisoned were J. E. Myers, wife and two children; Arthur Miller, wife and five children, and also Mrs. Miller's mother, Mrs. Sumner. At the home of Mr. Miller both corned beef and mutton were eaten, and it has not as yet been decided which caused the sickness. At the Myers home it is charged to the corned beef.

Contractors Refuse to Arbitrate.

ROCHESTER, June 15.—The contractors have finally and decisively refused to arbitrate the matter in dispute between themselves and the striking laborers. This was made known after the conference between the contractors and Mayor Caranahan. The contractors declare that they are in the right on every point and that therefore they have nothing to arbitrate. They ask for protection in order to resume the work on contracts on public improvements, and the mayor has assured them such protection.

Heavy Storm at St. Paul.

ST. PAUL, June 15.—A hard rain storm which closely approximated a cloudburst struck this city and neighborhood yesterday afternoon, doing much scattered damage, but so far as yet reported causing no loss of life.

NEW RECORDS MADE

Splendidly Contested Games at Pan-American Stadium.

AMATEUR ATHLETES IN COMPETITION

Detroit and Yale Runners Clip a Few Records Off the Previous Best Time—Flag Day Celebrated.

BUFFALO, June 15.—Five new American records for junior athletes were established on the stadium track and field yesterday in a series of splendidly contested games arranged by the Amateur Athletic union. The successful men and the nature and time of their performances were as follows:

Clark M. Lieblee of Detroit ran 100 yards in 10 1-5 seconds, cutting one-fifth of a second off the time of P. J. Walsh of New York, the former champion.

Howard H. Hayes of Detroit ran 440 yards in 51 2-5 seconds, beating the record of W. G. Edwards of New York of 52 1-5 seconds.

F. R. Moulton, the Yale sprinter, running under the New York Athletic club's colors, went 220 yards in 22 2-5 seconds, beating the time of A. H. Kent, Pastime Athletic club, New York, which was 23 1-5 seconds.

J. J. Nufer of Detroit ran the 220 yard hurdles in 26 2-5 seconds, which was two-fifths of a second better than the record of H. Arnold, Union Settlement Athletic club, New York.

Both Lee C. Deming of the American School of Osteopathy, with 21 feet 2½ inches, and W. J. Feldkamp of the Pastime Athletic club, New York, with 21 feet 2¼ inches, beat the running broad jump record, held by R. J. McInerney of the Pastime Athletic club of New York, who went 20 feet 10 inches.

The big string of youngsters who competed were out after the records, and several that were not broken were closely approached.

The popular victory of the day was that of Jerry Pierce, a Seneca Indian boy, who ran as a Pastime man in the five mile race and whose performance recalled an early fame of his people. He ran John K. Baillie, Jr., of Pennsylvania; J. Coleman, Jr., of the Buffalo Young Men's Christian association and Peter Soutar of the Pastimes off their feet and finished a full lap ahead. He was fresh and if extended would undoubtedly have given a mark under the record. He is entered for the senior event today. The day was an ideal one for the sport, and the stadium sheltered a much larger crowd than on Thursday. The honors of the day went to the Detroit Athletic club, whose men were foremost in record breaking and event winning. The meet closes today with the senior American championships.

Patriotism was the theme at the Pan-American. All paid tribute to the stars and stripes. The formal exercises were held in the Temple of Music under the auspices of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Grand Army of the Republic and other patriotic societies. Lieutenant General Miles was received with enthusiastic applause, the entire audience rising to their feet and cheering the veteran to the echo. Captain Richmond P. Hobson, representing the navy, was received with a remarkable demonstration, the audience rising and cheering for fully five minutes.

Mexico's building on the Pan-American grounds was formally opened and dedicated yesterday.

Murdered Planter Buried.

SHREVEPORT, La., June 15.—The funeral of John Gray Foster, the planter who was killed on his plantation by Prince Edwards, a negro, on Wednesday last, occurred yesterday afternoon and was largely attended. A majority of the business houses of Shreveport closed in order that their employees might attend the funeral. Among those present were Governor McMillin of Tennessee and Mrs. McMillin, a sister of the murdered man. The score of negroes under arrest charged with complicity in the murder of Foster have been successfully removed to the parish jail at Benton, and there is no further fear of mob violence. Edwards, who did the killing, is still at large, and posses continue in the field.

Yukon River Open.

SEATTLE, June 15.—The Yukon is open from end to end, according to news brought by the steamer Dolphin, which arrived yesterday. The ship brought $40,000 in gold dust. The presence of $7,500,000 in gold dust in the banks at Dawson has caused a renewal of speculation as to what the total output of the Klondike will be this year. Estimates range from $15,000,000 to $25,000,000.

Mountain House Destroyed.

NEWBURG, N. Y., June 15.—The Mountain House, in the mountains back of Cornwall, has been destroyed by fire. The building, formerly a big summer hotel, was unoccupied, but was being put in order for use as a sanitarium for consumptives. To such a use the people of Cornwall objected and had arranged to hold a mass meeting last night to make a public protest.

American Locomotives Failures.

LONDON, June 15.—"The manager of one of the principal Swiss railroads informs me," says the Geneva correspondent of The Daily Mail, "that the American locomotives bought four years ago are a failure. They have been tried thrice with the same result. Future orders are likely to go to Great Britain."

German Losses In China.

BERLIN, June 15.—Official figures published show that the total German losses in China thus far have been 18 officers, 32 noncommissioned officers and 250 privates. Thirteen officers, 20 noncommissioned officers and 122 privates were lost in action, the others succumbing to disease.

Rear Admiral's Son a Suicide.

NEW YORK, June 15.—Dudley R Walke, a grandson of the late Rear Admiral Walke and well known in musical circles, killed himself by inhaling gas at his boarding place in Brooklyn. He was 30 years old. Business reverses are thought to have caused the man to take his own life.

Packing House Burned.

CITY OF MEXICO, June 15.—The National packing house of this city, situated near Siemmes Halke Electric Light works, has been burned; loss, $300,000.

The number of miners entombed in the Port Royal (Pa.) disaster may reach 30.

Fifteen lives were lost in the blowing up of a cartridge factory in a Paris suburb.

A combination has been proposed of coal mine owners of five states with a capital of $300,000,000.

The shipyards at St. Petersburg were burned. A cruiser and other vessels were destroyed. Twelve lives were lost.

Indiana Hotel Burned.

WEST BADEN, Ind., June 15.—Of the 268 persons who were in the Mineral Springs hotel fire here it is now believed that every one escaped with his life. Mr Sinclair, the proprietor, has been busy checking off the names, but the accuracy of his work is handicapped by the fact that all the records and papers, including the hotel register, were lost. Many of the guests have left for their homes in various parts of the country, the most of them going to Chicago, Louisville and Indianapolis. The rest are at French Lick. The loss on the hotel building is estimated at $250,000, with insurance aggregating $110,000. The loss in diamonds, jewelry and clothing belonging to the guests it is estimated will reach $50,000. Mr Sinclair is yet unable to say what his plans for the future will be further than that the hotel will be rebuilt as soon as possible. The conflagration had its origin in the kitchen, located on the ground floor of the hotel immediately under two rows of sleeping rooms, all of which were occupied, and spread with wonderful rapidity.

A Steel Monopoly.

CLEVELAND, June 15.—The Leader says that the United States Steel corporation and its allied interests are preparing to control its four big competitors and thereby lay the foundation for a monopoly of the steel industries in the United States. The Cambria Steel company, the Pennsylvania Steel company, the Bethlehem Iron company and Jones & Co. will be brought under control before winter. The manner of obtaining control of these plants will be by utilizing friendly financial powers, such as Mr. Schwab, the Pennsylvania railroad and other interests of like magnitude. The United States Steel corporation in itself finds that the resources of its projectors have been about taken up in floating the securities of that organization; hence to control these plants, which means an outlay of several hundred million dollars, it is necessary to interest outside capital. This will be done by retaining as aids such powers as have been suggested, which will establish a community of interests among the financiers now developing the steel industry.

Flag Day In Washington.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Flag day was appropriately celebrated in the immense audience hall of the pension bureau at the close of office hours. At that hour Commissioner Evans and other officials and clerks and many of their friends congregated there to listen to a concert of both vocal and instrumental music, all of which was patriotic in tone. An orchestra rendered Sousa's "Stars and Stripes" and "Flag Day." Mr. Charles B. Hanford recited "The American Flag," and there were two solos, one of them being "The Star Spangled Banner" and the other Kipling's "Recessional." The programme closed with the singing of "America," in which the entire audience joined with splendid effect.

Injunction Against Strikers Asked.

CLEVELAND, June 15.—The Cleveland Punch and Shear company have commenced injunction proceedings against the striking machinists, asking that the men be restrained from picketing the works of the company. The company in its petition avers that the union pickets have terrorized employees who wish to work. The case will be heard Tuesday.

British Census Figures.

LONDON, June 15.—The population of Great Britain almost doubled during the Victorian era, but that of Ireland declined from 6,801,000 in 1821 to 4,456,000 in 1901. The mean annual death rate has been steadily declining since 1861. The birth rate has declined with still greater rapidity.

The Story of Romoc

A MINER, a chronic sufferer from epilepsy, while working in the mountains of Northeastern Georgia, found a spring of delicious cool water, of a beautiful clear amber color, issuing from the black rock of the mountain side. Without knowing why he did it, he drank several times each day a small quantity of the sharp, pungent water. The first effect was better digestion, increased strength and a complete cessation of his epileptic attacks. To-day that miner is strong, robust and vigorous. This was given to the world the greatest of all of Nature's own remedies. Brewed by Nature's home chemist, its remedial qualities whose virtue is recognized the world over,

ROMOC

ROMOC makes Rich, Red Blood.

"If the blood be right, naught else can be awry!"

Tourists and invalids travel thousands of miles and cross oceans and continents to reach the famous springs whose waters give health. Yet for one of these springs to pour forth such health-giving treasure as ROMOC. Its power is Nature's own. No chemist, druggist or doctor has compounded it, no science or knowledge of man is able to increase its power as it comes forth from the laboratory of Nature. It is a natural product, undoctored and untainted by poisonous drugs or fiery stimulants.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

Retail Business Brightened Up—Iron Market Easier.

NEW YORK, June 15.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Confirmation by the agricultural bureau of recent private estimates of the wheat crop has given to business a tone of greater confidence. Retail operations both east and west are larger, and distribution of merchandise by the wholesale trade is increasing in dry goods and boots and shoes. A slightly easier market in iron reflects conditions noticed for several weeks past. The labor situation is gradually mending, with the appreciation of the fact that in some directions manufacturers would be glad of a temporary shutdown of works.

Pig iron production on June 1 was at the rate of 314,505 tons weekly, according to statistics compiled by The Iron Age. This is about the anticipated increase for May and establishes a new high water mark, exceeding the previous record by 13,380 tons.

In finished products there is great activity owing to the large amount of goods to be delivered July 1. There is noticed special urgency for immediate shipment by consumers of plates, bars and structural shapes, the activity in building operations showing no diminution. Billets, however, are more eagerly sought than any other form, and sales are made at about $25 at mill. Maturing contracts for rails are chiefly responsible for this feature, and $30 is quoted for prompt delivery.

Wheat declined to a more reasonable level with withdrawal of speculative support. The government report of condition on June 1 was chiefly responsible. A crop this year equal to the greatest ever harvested was indicated by the official statement, and as department figures have generally proved below the final yield there was heavy selling of options, with a fall below 80 cents for cash wheat at this city. Foreign buying promptly decreased, with the prospect of more satisfactory terms.

Atlantic exports for the week, flour included, were 2,935,983 bushels against 4,520,144 the previous week and 3,081,926 the same week last year. Corn also lost in value, although crop news was not especially bright.

Failures for the week numbered 179 in the United States against 162 last year and 23 in Canada against 21 last year.

Blondin Not Found.

LOWELL, Mass., June 15.—Word reached this city yesterday afternoon that the state police have given up hope of locating Wilfred Blondin in Montreal and will give their attention to Lowell and vicinity. There is a theory that Blondin had the aid of some other person in this vicinity. A dispatch from Boston says that the belief that Mrs. Margaret Blondin was murdered in her room at 42 Green street on the evening of April 27 is gaining ground in police circles in that city. The expressman who took the Blondin trunk away from the boarding house on Green street was William Dean. Dean remembered the incident, as it was raining hard and as the man who engaged him rode with him.

Ore Mines and Furnaces Bought.

LEBANON, Pa., June 15.—It is authoritatively announced here that the Pennsylvania Steel company has purchased the Cornwall iron ore mines, the Lebanon furnaces and the Cornwall and Lebanon railroad. All these properties have been owned and operated for many years by the Coleman family. No intimation is given as to the amount of money involved in the transaction. The ore mines are considered to be among the most important sources of supply in the country. They have been mined since 1740, and at the present time there are 63 acres of ore uncovered. It is calculated that there has been removed in 160 years not much more than half the deposit.

Pingree's Illness Serious.

LONDON, June 15.—Governor Pingree of Michigan is very ill in this city. Mr. Pingree's doctors made the following report regarding his condition at midnight: "Mr. Pingree is undoubtedly seriously ill, but he appears stronger tonight than early in the evening. The greatest trouble is the exhaustion attendant upon a long attack of dysentery." Mr. Pingree was taken ill in Switzerland, but insisted upon proceeding to Holland, where he was forced to take to his bed. As he was booked to sail from Southampton this week he hurried to London, where his physicians compelled him to remain. The peritonitis is fairly well controlled, but the dysentery is still very intractable.

Paper Makers' Strike Off.

HOLYOKE, Mass., June 15.—The paper makers' strike has been formally declared off, and the city hall bell was rung to spread the news through the city. Both sides have made some concessions. The tour workers held a mass meeting last night, at which the agreement presented by the grievance committee was accepted. The mills will begin operations again Monday, but the new schedule does not go into effect until July 8.

Iron Deposits Located.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., June 15.—Evidences of large deposits of iron have been discovered on a farm near Treadwell. The residents of the section have long contended that metal in large quantities eventually would be unearthed there, owing to the frequency with which lightning struck buildings and trees in the vicinity.

Cuba's Electoral Law.

HAVANA, June 15.—Senores Bravo, Silva, Aleman, Betancourt and Zayas have been appointed by the constitutional convention a commission to draw up the electoral law. It is probable that the Australian system will be adopted. The commission is studying the New York law as a basis.

Two Instantly Killed.

RICHMOND, June 15.—By an explosion in the Logan mines in Mingo county, W. Va., George Tuggle and James Snodley were instantly killed. The cause of the explosion is supposed to have been an electric spark which ignited some powder.

Farmer Found Dead.

LITTLE FALLS, N. Y., June 15.—The body of William H. Getman, a farmer living in the town of Columbia, this county, was found in the woods near his home. He had been addicted to the use of opium, and it is believed he died from an overdose of the drug.

Fire In a Texas Town.

CONROE, Tex., June 15.—Fire has destroyed 22 business houses, comprising nearly all of the stores here; loss, $100,000; insurance, $25,000.

Mayor Ashbridge Signs Rapid Transit Ordinances.

JOHNSON AND WANAMAKER IGNORED.

Philadelphia Might Have Received Millions and the People Enjoyed Three Cent Fares, but Politics Stood In the Way.

PHILADELPHIA, June 15.—Mayor Ashbridge, disregarding Albert Johnson's offer of 3 cent fares and John Wanamaker's offer of $2,500,000 for the same rights, has signed the 13 rapid transit ordinances and the special franchise repealer that was rushed through councils.

His action in refusing to open Mr. Wanamaker's letter which was left at his house and throwing away the letter handed him at the dedication of the mint has created a profound sensation. Regarding his actions the mayor said:

"As soon as the bills were approved by Directors Haddock and English Mr. Morrow and I compared them word for word, and the last of the bills was signed at 10:05. One or two further ordinances kept me here until after 11 o'clock.

"There was absolutely no secrecy on my part. I was working here with the windows open in my shirt sleeves and with my collar off. There is no truth in the statement that the telephone wire was disconnected.

"Regarding the alleged incident which took place at the new mint building the facts have been grossly distorted. As I was sitting on the stage a young man rushed up to me after elbowing his way through the crowd and handed me a letter. I did not know what it was, as it was handed to me upside down, and I called to him: 'Who are you? What is this?' The young man, who may have been Mr. Wanamaker's secretary, walked away rapidly.

"Without looking at the letter I threw it after him. It struck him on the back and fell at his feet. For a moment I thought it might have been another letter from Johnson. When a reporter picked it up and offered it to me, I told him I did not know what it was and if there were any bonds in it for him to keep them. I frequently receive letters on such occasions, but have no time to read them. This was another instance, and there is no more to say about it."

John Wanamaker when seen refused to make any statement. "My letter to the mayor speaks for itself," he said. "Comment upon his action in giving away rights for which $2,500,000 was offered is superfluous."

Mayor Ashbridge has signed the ordinance appropriating $35,000 for the purpose of defraying the expense of a Philadelphia exhibit at the South Carolina Interstate and West Indian exposition to be held in Charleston next winter.

The mayor also signed the resolution of councils that the old liberty bell be sent to Charleston as a part of Philadelphia's display.

Philippine Captures.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—The war department has given statistics showing the extent of the disintegration of the Philippine insurrection. The compilation of reports covers the period up to April 17, 1901. Up to Jan. 1, 1901, the total number of insurgents captured or surrendered was 21,497, together with 5,048 rifles, 56 fieldpieces, something over 3,000 shells and balls, 573,860 rounds of ammunition and 19 tons of powder. The compilation shows surrenders and captures on nearly every day from Jan. 2 to the close of the report. The surrender of Lieutenant General Trias in southern Luzon was of more importance than almost any other save that of Aguinaldo, his surrender practically ending the insurrection in the section over which he had command. General Trias since has been made governor of Cavite province. All of the more important captures and surrenders were published at the time they took place.

Naval Movements.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—The collier Alexander, loaded with coal for the new coaling station at Pichalinqui, on the west coast of Mexico, has arrived at Valparaiso, Chile, having more than half completed her long journey from Baltimore around the South American continent. The Yankton has left Gibara for Nipe. The Newport has arrived at Newport, the Nero at Baltimore and the Eagle at Key West. The torpedo boat Bailey, which has just gone into commission, has left New York for Newport. The Peoria has arrived at New Bedford. The gunboat Scorpion has left Greenville for Vicksburg.

Cornell Beat Syracuse.

SYRACUSE, June 15.—Syracuse university was beaten three times in races on Onondaga lake by Cornell oarsmen. In each event the training and experience of the Ithacans told heavily in their favor, apparently outweighing the familiarity of Syracuse with the course. The main event of the day, the race between the regular Syracuse university eight and the first Francis club eight, was the prettiest of the day.

Limited Train Wrecked.

PITTSBURG, June 15.—The Pennsylvania limited, east bound, was wrecked just west of Rochester, Pa., by a rear end collision with a freight train. The passengers were considerably shaken up, but no one was injured except Mrs. Amos Millinger of Dubuque, Ia., whose face was slightly cut and bruised by being thrown against a mirror, and she proceeded on her way to Wilmerding, Pa.

Postmasters Appointed.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—The following fourth class postmasters have been appointed: Massachusetts—C. R. Tallman, South Westport. New York—Charles Johnson, St. Andrew; Kate L. Moore, Fentonville. Pennsylvania—David Scully, Laughlintown; Percival K. Boyer, Lafayette Hill; F. M. Tiffany, Dalton.

Where They Stand.

It has been very difficult to get any expression of opinion from the superintendents of the local factories concerning the strike among the machinists. They have been very reticent about saying anything for publication. Their policy has been simply to await the action of the men. The latter have, however, outlined their desires pretty clearly.

While the owners of the local factories, now affected by the strike, are not directly allied with the National Metal Trades Association, it is generally understood that they take practically the same view of the existing situation as do the members of that association. The National Metal Trades Association has carefully outlined its stand regarding the strike in a document which is commonly known among the members of that association as the "Manufacturers' Declaration of Independence." This declaration of principles was adopted by the Administrative Council of the organization at Chicago, May 29, 1901.

As so little has been said that comes authoratively from the manufacturers that this declaration of principles will be read with much interest by the public at large and the strikers themselves. It is as follows:

1. Since we, as employers, are responsible for the work turned out by our workmen, we must, therefore, have full discretion to designate the men we consider competent to perform the work and to determine the conditions under which that work shall be prosecuted. The question of the competency of the men being determined solely by us, and while disavowing any intention to interfere with the proper functions of labor organizations, we will not admit of any interference with the management of our business.

2. Disapproving absolutely of strikes and lockouts, the members of this association will not arbitrate any question with men on strike. Neither will this association countenance a lockout on any arbitrable question unless arbitration has failed.

3. Employment.—No discrimination will be made against any man because of his membership in any society or organization. Every workman who elects to work in a shop will be required to work peaceably and harmoniously with all his fellow employes.

4. Apprentices, helpers and handymen.—The number of apprentices, helpers and handymen to be employed will be determined solely by the employer.

5. Methods and Wages.—Employers shall be free to employ their work people at wages mutually satisfactory. We will not permit employes to place any restriction on the management, methods or production of our shops, and will require a fair day's work for a fair day's pay.

Employes will be paid by the hourly rate, by premium system, piece work or contract, as the employer may elect.

6. It is the privilege of the employe to leave our employ whenever he sees fit and it is the privelege of the employer to discharge any workman when he sees fit

7. The above principles being absolutely essential to the successful conduct of our business, they are not subject to arbitration.

In case of disagreement concerning matters not covered by the foregoing declaration, we advise our members to meet their employes, either individually or collectively, and endeavor to adjust the difficulty on a fair and equitable basis. In case of inability to reach a satisfactory adjustment, we advise that they submit the question to arbitration by a board composed of six persons, three to be chosen by the employer and three to be chosen by the employe or employes. In order to receive the benefits of arbitration, the employe or employes must continue in the service and under the orders of the employer pending a decision.

In case any member refuses to comply with this recommendation, he shall be denied the support of this association unless it shall approve the action of said member.

8. Hours and wages.—Hours and wages being governed by local conditions, shall be arranged by the local associations in each district.

In the operation of piece work, premium plan or contract system now in force or to be extended or established in the future, this association will not countenance any conditions of wage which are not just or which will not allow a workman of average efficiency to earn at least a fair wage.

Hunterdon county is to be congratulated on defeating the project which aimed to keep that county out of the march of progress. Some time ago, the Board of Freeholders of that county appropriated $20,000 for county roads under the provisions of the State road aid act. An attempt was then made to reconsider the motion and defeat it. This question came up at the meeting of the board last Wednesday and the enemies of good roads failed to carry their motion for a reconsideration. The question is now settled and for the first time in its history Hunterdon county is to have some really good roads. It has taken a long time for that portion of the State to come to a realization of the need of good roads and even now the sentiment is by no means overwhelming. To the residents of enlightened communities, where good roads are built and appreciated, it seems strange, indeed, that there should be a place so close at hand where the necessities of good thoroughfares are not clearly recognized. While $20,000 is a comparatively small amount, it is a step in the right direction and will undoubtedly be followed by subsequent appropriations for the same good cause.

Many residents of the borough have commented on the marked differences in the methods used by the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company and the Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Company in filling up trenches dug on the various thoroughfares. The telephone company makes it a practice to cover the earth with crushed stone. A heavy roller is used to pack the stone and when the work is finished the street is left in its original condition. On the other hand neither crushed stone is used by the light company in its work, nor is the street roller. As a consequence a mound or ridge is formed along the entire distance dug up. As a result the earth is susceptible to depression and causes great inconvenience to those using the thoroughfare.

Since the municipal ownership agitation grew so marked in both city and borough, other communities in the comparatively near neighborhood have felt the effects and are now talking about city water works and city electric light plants.

In one night both the journeymen barbers and the bootblacks organized local unions, with the object of securing uniform rates and other advantages. The last year has seen many new organizations of that nature formed in this city.

While the strike has stopped the weekly revenue of the local machinists, their expenses continue. Quite a number have wearied of waiting for a settlement of the strike and have taken positions in other cities.

At that time the house will be thoroughly disenfected by Dr. Bohn, physician to the State board. After making the inspection yesterday Dr. Hunt had none but the highest terms of praise for the manner in which the disease had been taken in hand by the local Board of Health. SUCCESSFUL FESTIVAL.

Second Night of Affair at Trinity Reformed Church Was Well Attended.

Nearly all the ice cream, strawberries and cakes, as well as the glace, was disposed of and the women hope to realize about $50 after all expenses are paid.

A feature that helped to make the affair a success and pleasure, was the fine programme rendered by the Dunellen Ladies Orchestra under the leadership of Miss Emma Nelson. The selections were all of a popular character and assisted to make the occasion a joyous one. Among some of the best selections were "Opera Bouffe," pot pourri on French comic opera, "Sweet Bell Gavotte," "Pietro," polka, and "The Sergeant Major."

The orchestra is composed of the following: First violin, Miss Fanny Smith, Emma Nelson; second violin, Miss Ella Boice; 'cello, Miss Helen Dunham; cornet, Mrs. J. D. Anderson; flute, Elmer P. FELL HEAD FIRST.

William Pape Met With Serious Accident While Loading Meat Wagon Yesterday Afternoon.

William Pape, a driver employed by the Plainfield Beef Company, met with a very painful accident yesterday afternoon, just as he was preparing to go out with a load of meat. His wagon was standing in the doorway, and while resting on his knees in an attempt to bring a side of beef over to a certain place with a hook, he slipped and fell off the wagon striking the pavement head first.

Other employes nearby rushed to Pape's assistance and they soon learned that he was badly injured. He had a deep gash in the side of the head and a cut in the face. His wrist was severely sprained and several teeth were loosened. Dr. T.S. Davis, of Park avenue, was immediately summoned and he treated the injured man properly.

Pape was in a dazed condition for some time and he acted as though he had sustained internal injuries. A little later the man was taken to his home, corner of Pearl street and Watchung avenue, where he is now resting comfortably with excellent chances for a speedy recovery.

Across the center was the name "Esther Thorndike." In the corner was Mr. Braddon's home address, and above the name was written: "Jeremiah 40:4."

"She might have said what she had to say without the help of Jeremiah," he muttered, and, folding his arms, stood looking down at the little card as it lay on the table. It must have been for some time that he stood there, and the knife was cutting deep, for tears glistened in his eyes, when a tap on the door roused him and Sam's white head appeared.

Sam had come with a simple message from his wife concerning the hour when the master would have the first meal served; but the sight of the master's face obliterated it, simple as it was, and to an incoherent effort on Sam's part to say something, Stanton replied:

"Bring me a Bible, Sam."

Sam's wife stood anxiously waiting at the foot of the stairs, for she proposed to have that first meal the masterpiece of her life.

"He don't seem to want to eat, M'ria," Sam said, when he was safely landed at the bottom. "His arms was folded and his hair standin' up, and when I asked him how 'twould be 'bout eatin', says he: 'Bring me a Bible, Sam.' Now, do you go fish one up, M'ria, an' fish it lively; for he didn't look like he cared to wait for one to grow out in the garden."

The good woman knew the locality of everything in the house except the books. Books without pictures had no charms for her.

It happened, however, that there was one Bible, a colossal affair, overburdened with illustrations, resting upon a plush cushion, under embroidered velvet, in the library. In calmer moments she might have recalled the whereabouts of some smaller copy, for there were Bibles enough about the house; but her mind was centered on soups, broiled chicken and condiments, pies, cakes and puddings, with bread turned upside down in the oven for just a last touch of brown on the bottom. She recalled only this one copy, and started for it at a rolling waddle which really was not resultant in such rapid transit as her ordinary gait, but was more in harmony with the general idea of haste.

She dusted the huge volume with her apron and came back to Sam, bending under the burden.

When the verse was found, Stanton unconsciously read aloud. The print was colossal; in common, instinctive consistency, a silent perusal would not have coped with it.

When Sam returned to his waiting wife he said:

"Now, M'ria, you mark my words. What with wanderin' in ungodly parts, 'mong pirates an' tigers an' heathen kings an' old bricks, as you've read about in the papers, that young man has gone daft. He just made them leaves fly till he struck what he wanted, an' then he read out to me 'bout chains an' Babylon an' Christopher Columbus, an' up he jumped and down them stairs an' out doors like a rat with a cat behind."

"Sho, Samuel!" his wife said, struggling to be calm. "Might be you was a leetle daft yourself. Christopher Columbus ain't one o' the Bible folks. You know that, Samuel."

"I'm not so sure I do, M'ria," Sam said, doubtfully. "I know he come on later, but I have my doubts if he didn't take his name outer the Bible, same's I did. He read it all out plain, and the very last was Christopher Columbus. Book's open just as he left it, M'ria. You just go see."

Sam stood speechless at the open door.

M'ria climbed the stairs and studied and studied till she came to the verse which Sam recognized.

"That's it! That's it!" he exclaimed. "Now begin back and read it all."

So M'ria read, slowly and solemnly, as was befitting one who could not read well at the best, and was reading from the Bible:

"And now, behold, I loose thee this day from the chains which were upon thine hand. If it seem good unto thee to come with me into Babylon, come, and I will look well unto thee; but if it seem ill unto thee to come with me into Babylon, forbear; behold, all the land is before thee; whither it seemeth good and convenient for thee to go, thither go." But there was never a word concerning Christopher Columbus at the close, and the good wife remarked, as many and many a time she had done before:

"Samuel, I told you so."

In the meantime Stanton had crossed the city of Brooklyn and found the door of Thaddeus Braddon's mansion opened for him by the banker's daughter, even before he rang the bell.

He never knew precisely what took place, but he always remembered the flash of the diamond set in pearls, and the words:

"I didn't want to love you. I didn't want to love anyone. I ran away from you in Jerusalem and Paris, for, until you bowed to me in Naples, I felt sure that you must have found out who it was, and I knew that if you looked into my eyes they would betray me and you would know that I—that I was only a woman and I loved you."

THE END.

Few Distinguished Congressmen.

The average length of a career in congress is four years. At the beginning of every congress about one-third of the members of the house are new to the business. It is a rare thing for a member to make any sort of a mark in legislation before he has been in the house at least two full terms, and those who have forced themselves above the surface before the close of a single term can almost be counted on the fingers of one hand. The ordinary congressman comes and goes and leaves no trace behind him, except on the salary vouchers. The man who stays in the house for more than two terms has a fair chance of wielding a little influence. He gets his name into the congressional record once in awnile; he is recognized by the speaker occasionally, and if he is unusually lucky the newspapers take him up and sometimes give him a headline all to himself.—Chicago Chronicle.

An Old Custom.

Why is it the duty of the bride to cut the wedding cake? The fact is—at least so a professor told me the other day—that the Romans are at the bottom of it. The original Roman marriage was effected by the simple process of the bride and bridegroom breaking a cake of bread and eating it together. This developed into the bride cake, and the bride cut it because it was the duty of the woman to prepare food for the man. Young brides of to-day who think it the height of ill luck not to cut their own wedding cake are probably not in the least aware of what they are symbolically pledging themselves to; but they had better bear in mind that if they wish to keep a man in a good temper they must not forget to feed him.—Detroit Free Press.

Custom Influences Language.

Pomologists, like botanists, find it impossible to enforce the rules of priority in names of fruits and flowers. In fruits the names of Bartlett for a pear and Telegraph for a grape have not been changed in spite of the efforts of leading pomologists and pomological societies to support prior names. Those who lead in these good efforts forget that the only law for language is the law of custom. In a famous grammar we are told "the English language requires the pronoun 'it' for all inanimate objects; but custom has so firmly made the sun a he and the moon a she that we have to accept it." Thus it will ever be. To secure the adoption of a prior name reformers must bestir themselves before custom gets possession of the field.—Mechan's Monthly.

Have Wills of Their Own.

That the women of China do not lack courage is proved by the fact that they sometimes seek suicide as relief from unhappy marriages, and uncongenial husbands would frequently be murdered were it not for special punishments, "ignominious and slow," devised for all women who should attempt homicide. The mere existence of this law proves the necessity for it. Again, not long ago, 15 young girls of Canton threw themselves into the river to escape from marrying the husbands chosen for them.—Montreal Sun.

German Soldiers Must Be Frugal.

Small as is the wage received by the German soldier, yet the army regulations guard it jealously, for frugality is part of the training. Each soldier places his money in a little bag suspended from a string about his neck. At any time during inspection the officer may demand to have the bags opened, and if it is found that any soldier spends his money too rapidly he is reprimanded and punished. He must make his wages, small as they are, cover his expenses; he must not spend them instantly for beer.—McClure's Magazine.

Remarkable Perception.

Maude—Don't you think that the Count de Verdreuil is a very intelligent man.

Ethel—Yes, indeed! Why, he can even understand my French.—Somerville Journal.

Silence.

Silence is the understanding of fools, and one of the virtues of the wise.—Boileau.

SOME SPONGE ON THE DOCTOR.

Doctors nowadays give away medicine much more generally than in former years, and the manufacturing chemists who supply compressed tablets report of late numerous orders and applications from physicians for a tablet that shall be "equivalent to a Ripans Tabule." There is really little reason why a physician should buy an imitation when the genuine Ripans Tabules can be had on just about as good terms, and there is nothing about them to enable a patient to recognize them. The Ripans Tabules look just like any other tablet of the same size and color, and the genuine are only to be recognized with certainty by the universally good results that follow their use. The Ripans Chemical Co. supply their product to the profession on specially favorable terms, because it is for their advantage that every doctor shall become so familiar with the merits of Ripans Tabules that he will be quite as willing a patient shall supply his needs at the drug store as to sponge on his physician, and thus get them for nothing.

TAGALO WOMEN

THE comeliest women of Luzon and the adjacent islands are the Tagalos. That perhaps is not saying much; still it is something. The aborigines and the other wild peoples of the Philippines are among the most unpleasing of mankind in appearance.

The women of the Tagalo race, besides being the best looking, are also the most highly civilized and the least oppressed of their sex among the native races of the Philippines. They have seen more white women than have their native sisters of other races and have profited by it.

Tagalo women seldom go out to domestic service except as nurses. Men are the house servants. But women and girls work in the tobacco factories. Nearly all the cigar and cigarette making is done by them. In some cases the Tagalo man stays at home and minds the children and does the house work while his wife earns the living in the factory. For some reason women seem to be preferred to men in tobacco manufacture.

In one industrial art Tagalo women are really gifted, and that is embroidery. I never noticed that they could do anything else particularly well, but in art work with the needle they are equal to Japanese. You may, for instance, direct a Tagalo woman to make a monogram or a set of initial letters. You give her the pattern. She looks at it, sets it before her and begins. Without a measurement, without putting in a stitch to guide her, without a touch of a stamp, she merely follows the pattern with her eye while she works, and under her hand meantime forms itself the exact reproduction of the model you gave her—forms itself, too, with astonishing rapidity. These women learned embroidery from the Spanish nuns sent centuries ago to teach and civilize them.

The universal costume of the Tagalo women you see in the picture, but not once in a thousand cases would you see a girl so pretty as the one here shown. The skirt of the dress is scarlet in most cases, the overapron is black, and the shirt waist, without neck or belt, is made of the beautiful pina, or pineapple cloth, usually embroidered. It is naturally of a light grayish brown color.

It is the rarest to find a Tagalo woman of the pure native blood. The one in the illustration has a strong infusion of Spanish in her veins. Tagalos are nearly all of mixed Spanish descent, and where there is no Spanish ancestry in nine cases out of ten there will be a Chinese father or grandfather or yellow progenitor still further back. The Tagalos are found chiefly in the north Philippines, and their women were wives to the Chinese even before Magellan discovered the islands. For many centuries Chinamen have been crossing the sea from their native land to the Philippines, and in all that time they have been taking Tagalo wives. The Tagalo women rather like Chinese husbands because they are industrious and make a living for their families.

Among the equal rights which Tagalo women claim is that of smoking cigars and cigarettes, which they do freely in the most public places, on the highways, in the street cars—everywhere, perhaps, but in church. They also claim the right to chew betel nut, which stains their teeth, tongue and lips a frightful blood red, making them look to a white person anything but kissable. But a Tagalo man does not mind a little thing like that. The whole race of them, men and women both, with a few exceptions, have very bad teeth. The women have long, thick, pretty black hair, which they grease to death, largely with cocoanut oil. In consequence of this little custom they do not smell good. Besides nursing in white families and working in tobacco factories, Tagalo women earn money by selling fruit and flowers on the streets. They sew under the direction of Spanish dressmakers, too, squatting upon the floor and turning by hand ridiculous little toy sewing machines. They will not use those which they must sit upon a chair in front of and work with their feet.

ALEXANDRA COSMO.

AFLOAT ON ICE CAKE.

Terrible Experience of a Party of Cape Nome Prospectors.

Details of the Adventure Related by One of Two Women in the Company—A Hair-Raising Struggle for Existence.

Evelyn Buss, one of the victims carried out on the ice off Bluff City, has kindly consented to give her impressions of the terrible experience for the Nome Gold Digger. She is a frail little woman, who looks incapable of enduring such privations and hardships as she was called upon to endure, but like the rest of the party she faced the danger with the utmost coolness and courage.

"It was four nights before Christmas eve that Audrey Bell, Charles Hagelin, Eric Johnston and myself rounded the point at Bluff City and found open water barring the trail. Miss Bell and I were tied to the sleds, for the way was rough, and we did not pay much attention to the water, the men telling us there was often a crack at that point. Eric Johnston jumped across and ran uptown for ropes and then we realized that we were gradually drifting away from the shore. People in Nome seem to think that we were carried away on a little patch of ice, but our floating prison was many miles in extent.

"As the crack grew wider Eric Johnston and W. F. Austin, the man he had asked to assist at Bluff City, rowed out to us in a boat. They succeeded in scrambling on the ice, but Austin was drenched, for it was a wild and stormy night. We had a robe and two pieces of canvas, and we wrapped him in one of the sleds, and let the dogs lie around him to keep him from freezing. He had no hat and his clothes were wet through, so I opened my trunk and got out an eiderdown mattinee for his head and tore up a flannel skirt for his feet; the rest of the things in the trunk we used to keep ourselves warm.

"Everyone in the party seemed anxious to pretend that there was no danger, the boys made light of everything, and Mr. Austin was full of fun. I did not realize till the next morning that we might drift out on the ice till we were starved or frozen, and then I did not see any use making a fuss about it.

THEY LIGHTED A FIRE.

"That day we kept traveling to keep land in sight, as the position of the ice was continually shifting. All the time we were afloat we must have gone 20 or 30 miles. I had been ill and could not walk fast enough to keep warm, so they let me lie in one of the sleds with dogs round me. Miss Bell, Johnston and Hagelin kept walking all the time to prevent them from freezing. As the days went on they sometimes fell asleep on their feet.

"All our provisions consisted of some fish for dog feed, and a little cornmeal but we had no salt. On the second day when we began to travel a strange thing happened. We found some wood that Austin had thrown from his sled a few days before. With this the boys were able to light a fire and cook, but it was not till the third day out that I could eat a little cornmeal mush, and it revived me wonderfully.

"We saw a bonfire on the coast the third night, one of those, we afterward heard, that were lighted as signals to us. The fourth night it snowed, and we were soaked through. If we had been forced to stay on the ice another night we should probably have frozen for we were very wet and exhausted.

"But on the morning of the fourth day our ice field drifted in shore, and we were only separated from the beach by six miles of rubber ice. This was our one chance, and we determined to risk it. The sleds were put side by side, and with a rush we started, the ice cracking and breaking all the way. The 14 dogs dashed on, urged by the men. I did not dare to look, but covered my head, expecting every moment to go through, till some one called out 'we are on the beach!' and then I threw off the wrap and saw one of the boys break down and sob with joy, and Mr Chisman, the roadhouse keeper at Cookook, with an Indian, was standing on the shore welcoming us."

Hard on Amateur Nimrods.

Inexperienced hunters, who are in the habit of mistaking human beings for game, and occasionally wounding or killing the former, will do well to avoid Maine. The legislature of that state has just passed a law making it a crime, while hunting, to "accidentally" shoot a human being. The penalty is ten years' imprisonment or a fine of $1,000.

The Driest Spot on Earth.

The driest place on earth is the little town of Payta, on the coast of Peru, where seven years is the average interval between two rains. In old times the water supply of Payta was brought down from the mountains every night by a herd of little donkeys, who returned in the cool of the evening.

CHICAGO TO BUFFALO.

Once Famous Lake Route Re-established After Many Years.

CHICAGO, June 15.—Twenty-five years ago the steamer Nyack, belonging to the Erie railway, sailed out of Chicago harbor for Buffalo. That was the last regular passenger steamer between Lake Erie and Lake Michigan until the Northland, belonging to the Great Northern railway, steamed into Chicago yesterday. The event of the re-establishment of the once famous lake route between Buffalo and Chicago was celebrated by an excursion given under the auspices of the Chicago Press club to Waukegan during the afternoon. Some 700 guests boarded the Northland when she steamed out of the harbor at 3 o'clock. On the trip northward United States Senator William E. Mason, Bob Burdette, Opie Reid and a number of others made speeches on the significant growth of the passenger traffic on the great lakes, which has brought forth such steamers as the Northland and the Northwest, comparing favorably in their equipment and speed with the best product of American shipyards on the Atlantic.

On the run from Waukegan to Chicago, a distance of 35 miles, the Northland made a spurt for an hour, running 22½ miles. Early in the day the Northland had made the run from Milwaukee to Chicago over a course 90 miles long in 4 hours and 30 minutes. She will leave this afternoon in the regular service between Chicago and Buffalo.

The steamers Northwest and Northland were built a few years ago by Jim Hill, head of the Great Northern railroad, at a cost of $750,000 each, to run between Buffalo and Duluth as a part of the Great Northern railway system. Their western terminus this season was made Chicago on account of the Pan-American exposition. Vice President Farrington said that he felt assured the re-establishment of the old time celebrated trips between Chicago and Buffalo would prove highly profitable, as the first three trips of the steamers were already booked nearly to the limit. On the excursion there was the largest gathering of people prominent in the daily life of Chicago that was ever gathered before on any lake ship.

The Assyrian a Total Loss.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., June 15.—The battered hulks of the Petrel and Assyrian are below water, with the exception of the latter's bridge. The liner's hull broke off abaft the engine room during yesterday afternoon, the cargo floating out and but little being saved owing to the heavy seas, which dashed the packages against the rocks. The steamer Algerine, returning from Trepassey to the scene of the wreck, will embark the crews of both vessels, together with a lady passenger on the Assyrian, and bring them to St. John's. The Leyland line steamship Assyrian went ashore on the rocks near Cape Race on the night of June 5. The tug Petrel, which had gone to her assistance and was caught between the big ship and the cliffs, was also wrecked. It is estimated that there was $100,000 worth of cargo in the after half of the ship, all of which might have been unloaded and saved last week. The gale is still raging, and the sea is so high that boats cannot approach the wreck. There were no casualties when the Assyrian broke up.

Emperor William Very Busy.

BERLIN, June 15.—Just now Emperor William is, so to speak, annihilating time and space. After an arduous day's work he left Kiel at 10 o'clock p. m., arriving in Berlin at 5 yesterday morning. He immediately mounted a horse and proceeded to the Tempelhof field, where he met the empress, also on horseback, with her suite, while 12 splendid cavalry regiments, including the cavalry division of the guards, were drawn up for drill and sham fights. At half past 5, with the thermometer only a few degrees above freezing point, the battle began. The spectacle was grand. It was an attack upon an enemy represented by the Emperor Alexander II Uhlan regiment near Britz. The scene was inspiring as eight cavalry regiments thundered along, with lance at hip, the emperor always leading. During the rest of the day his majesty did a lot of hard work, receiving departmental reports and giving audiences. At night he left for Cronberg.

Our Trade With China.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—The state department has received from Consul General Goodnow, at Shanghai, the report on Chinese trade issued by the imperial maritime customs and also an interesting report of his own upon the same subject. The figures for 1900, says the consul general, show that the United States buys more goods from China than any other nation, and her total trade with China, including both imports and exports, equals that of Great Britain, exclusive of the British colonies, and is far ahead of that of any other country.

Negro Murderer Hanged.

BRUNSWICK, Ga., June 15.—Friday Griffin, a negro, was hanged here for the murder in October last of R. Mario Latimer, a passenger conductor on the Southern railway. On the night the murder occurred Latimer was informed while his train was running between two stations in this part of the state that some one was standing on the front steps of the baggage car. He opened the door and called to the man to come inside. The negro stepped to the door of the car and shot the conductor, killing him instantly.

SPORTING.

GOLF.

As yet there has been very little playing on the Somerset Golf Club course at Finderne, but the members expect to have an attractive programme of events to be played during the summer.

At the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course this morning, Miss van Herwerden won first honors for the Mellick cup with 101 net. Miss Daisy Elsberg was second and Miss Adelaide G. Ball third. Miss Elsberg scored a win for the Fisk cup.

All things being favorable there is likely to be some fine playing today on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course. It would not be surprising if low scores should be recorded, better than any made this year. Some of the best players are now home and play will be watched with interest.

There was much brilliant play by the women at the open tournament in their honor at the Essex County Country Club yesterday. Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers, of this city, was one of the successful contestants, defeating Miss Ruth Badgeley by 1 up. This was in the match play handicap. In the first round play for the Governor's cup, Mrs. Rogers defeated Mrs. E. M. Carnrick, by 3 up and 2 to play. Today's Sun, in speaking of Mrs. Rogers, says: "She has been playing very well and may give a surprise to Miss Hecker in the final play this morning."

ON THE DIAMOND.

The Plainfield High School Relics, Cy Kinsman's aggregation of baseball players, yesterday afternoon on the Plainfield avenue grounds—defeated the third class team of the same institution by a score of 10 to 9. Only seven innings were played by agreement. VanAuken pitched and White caught for the third class team while Phillips and Aldrick in turn were in the box for the "Relics." Egan was behind the bat for the latter nine.

CHESS.

Owing to a misunderstanding, Mr. Finn, of New York, who was scheduled to give an exhibition in chess at the Y. M. C. A. hall Thursday evening, did not appear. He will be present this evening. Mr. Finn will play the game blindfolded. It is claimed that he can play three games simultaneously while blindfolded.

FOR THE FOURTH.

Borough Firemen Are Arranging for Special Duty on Independence Day.

Arrangements are being made by Foreman Edward P. T. Smith, of the Warren Engine Company, and Foreman Charles Keller, of the West End Hose Company, to provide the necessary protection against fires by the appointment of shifts of firemen to be on duty at the houses of the respective companies on Independence Day.

According to the plans there will be three shifts composed of six men each at the Warren Engine Company's house, and of four men each at the West End Hose Company's house. Each shift will serve for nine hours. The first will go on duty at 10 o'clock the evening of July 3, and the last shift will quit at 1 o'clock on the morning of July 5.

Aluminum Men Will Assist Strikers.

Although receiving their first pay in four weeks, the employes of the Aluminum Plate and Press Works, this morning, voted to assess themselves to the limit in order to assist their striking fellow machinists from the other factories. At least $100 was secured at once, and the chances are this amount will be largely increased by the time it is turned over to the International Union this afternoon.

Settled Out of Court.

QUESTION OF JURISDICTION.

Trouble Over Which Borough Court Ought To Try a Man Named Saunders.

Some feeling has been caused in the borough by the proceedings which followed the detention of a colored man named Saunders, yesterday, charged with dumping ashes on West End avenue. Saunders was placed in the lockup by Special Marshal Gunther.

The Recorder heard the case and imposed a fine. This is what caused the trouble.

Justice Mattison alleges that the officer had put the man in the lockup for violation of an ordinance of the Borough Board of Health.

While steps were being taken to issue the proper warrant, the Justice declares the Chief Marshal released Saunders.

In the afternoon John H. VanWinkle, of John H VanWinkle & Son, appeared before the Justice to prosecute the case, but Saunders could not be found.

The hearing in the evening was held against the protest of J. H. VanWinkle, Jr., who declared the Recorder had no jurisdiction.

Justice Mattison alleges that the man was arrested for violating a Borough Board of Health ordinance and the case should have come before him. He cites as his authority an ordinance of the board relating to depositing refuse matter.

There is an ordinance relating to the correction of nuisances, which covers the same ground, and calls for proceedings before the Recorder.

HAPPILY CELEBRATED.

Twenty-ninth Anniversary Of Perseverance Lodge, K. of P., Was Observed Last Evening.

The twenty-ninth anniversary of Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., was celebrated in the lodge room last evening in an appropriate manner. No invitations were issued. In the absence of Chancellor Commander J. P. D Kirch, his place was filled by Past Chancellor Commander Stephen Higham.

Considerable time was devoted to speech making. The success of Perseverance was reviewed and congratulations were in order. The present membership is 262, and during the existence of the lodge there has been thirty deaths, an average of nearly one a year. The lodge is in excellent financial condition and is steadily progressing.

During the evening there were songs by Charles Foster, Thomas Hendry and J. B. Higgins, the latter singing an original selection entitled "When We Follow the Circus Around." A recitation was given by Geo Lees, and mandolin selections by Joseph Lowhead, of New York, were much enjoyed. An interesting feature was the calling of the roll, a majority of the members responding. District Deputy Frank Putnam was present and made a few remarks. After the evening's entertainment a bountiful collation was served and a social time had.

rendered a couple of encores.

Miss Bessie Hackett's original class poem, adopted to the music of the "Stein Song," was sung by the members in chorus as the concluding feature on the programme. Reproduced in full it is as follows:

'Tis in happy retrospection
That we view our school days here.
And recount the many pleasures
Of each past and bygone year;
And Miss Lum's generous actions
In her mathematic fractions.
Place a slip upon the table
Or they'll treat you quite severe.

But the sands of time are gliding.
And our note books still are due;
And Miss Crowther's ever chiding
When she finds they are too few.
Little mice'll no more fatten
On Miss Bush's class in Latin.
And those hundred lines in Virgil
Will no longer make us blue.

And we'll think of Mr. Sander
As he toils from morn till night.
Teaching little goosey gander
How to add and cipher right;
And of all the charming lasses
In Miss Taylor's cooking classes.
How they learned to make a pudding
And their bread was really light.

We will think of Mr. Wightman and each private interview;
And Miss Sydenham's class in spelling.
And of dear Miss Montague;
And the Deutsch we "nicht forgessen"
Nor the gentle kind expression.
And the "don't disturb our lesson"
Of das liebe Fraulein Glass.

We are standing in the pathway
Where at last it must divide;
And the future lies before us
Spread majestic far and wide.
We have trod the path of learning.
and the prize is worth the earning.
And there're worlds yet to conquer
By the class of 1901.

Ames Brooks, of Company C. In the back row, beginning at the left, are Quartermaster Cyrus Kinsman Lieutenant David S. Pond, of Company B, and Lieutenant Mellick Tweedy, of Company A.

The recent prize drilling contest held by the Plainfield High School Battalion elicited much favorable comment on the military system which forms a feature of the institution.

The idea which gave rise to the battalion originated in the formation of a cadet corps in 1896. The drilling master was Captain George F. Edwards, who is well schooled in military tactics. For two years prior to the organization of the corps in 1896, Captain Edwards had been instructor of a company at the High School. He acted in this capacity for a long period and was succeeded by Albert B. Meredith, one of the High School instructors.

The company gave place to a battalion, which was formed last year by Mr. Meredith, who acts as the commandant. There are three companies; each commanded solely by pupils.

The present officers of the battalion, all of whom are members of the senior class with one exception, retire Thursday, and in the fall enter college. The roster includes: Major Townsend Mason, of Bound Brook, who is pursuing the scientific course and will attend Rutgers College. First Lieutenant and Adjutant J. Hollywood Titus, who is taking the course in modern languages and proposes to go to Cornell this fall. Quartermaster Cyrus Kinsman, is taking the latin scientific course with the view of continuing his studies at Cornell. The quartermaster sergeant, E. Douglass Murphy, is the only officer on the staff, not a member of the senior class. Sergeant Major Sheppard Randolph is pursuing the scientific course and intends to enter Cornell.

There are three companies in the battalion. The officers include: Company A, Captain Lawrence Tweedy, and Lieutenant Mellick Tweedy, both studying science and will become Princetonians in the autumn; Company B, Captain Fred Mason, of Bound Brook, taking the course in science, proposes to enter Rutgers, Lieutenant David S. Pond, pursuing the classical course, will become a student at Old Nassau; Company C, C. Ames Brooks, taking the classical course, enters Princeton also. Lieutenant Edward Janes proposes to take a post-graduate course at the High School and subsequently to enter Williams.

The battalion officers recently elected to succeed those retiring are: Major, Linden Bridgeman; first lieutenant and adjutant, B. M. Fosgate; second lieutenant and quartermaster, Russell Bailey; quartermaster sergeant, E. H. Whitney; sergeant major, Archibald Brakeley; color sergeant, Robert Meeker.

The company officers are: Company A., Captain, H. K. Doane; lieutenant, Douglass Murphy; Company B., Captain, Claude Cubberly; lieutenant, Kenneth Bulkeley; Company C., Captain, Harold Nomer; lieutenant, E. Leland.

Holder of the medal awarded to the best drilled cadet, Edison Davis, of New Market; holder of the silk guydon, Company A.

AT HOPE CHAPEL.

Children's Day Exercises Were Held Yesterday Afternoon—A Large Attendance Present.

The annual Children's Day exercises of Hope chapel, though one week later than ordinary, were held yesterday afternoon. There was an unusually large attendance, but the programme rendered was very simple. Anthems were sung by the primary class and by the main school, and addresses were made by Revs. G. K. Newell, John McMurray and Dr. W. R. Richards. Mr. Newell's address was very interesting, and at the close he presented to the school the original coins in a frame from the Lillian Cowling legacy, which formed the neucius of the mortgage fund for the Memorial chapel.

The display of flowers was the prettiest seen at the chapel in some time. The front of the platform was hidden beneath rows of peonies, roses, ferns and daisies, arranged in artistic forms. The supports and columns about the front part of the chapel were also handsomely decorated. Most of the flowers were contributed by Mrs. C. W. McCutchen and were put in place by members of the Endeavor society.

PATRIOTIC DISCOURSE.

Delivered by Rev. C. M. Shott to G. A. R. Veterans, Woman's Relief Corps and Sons of Veterans.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, June 17.—Special services were held in the Baptist church last evening, when the pastor, Rev. G. M. Shott, preached a patriotic discourse to the members of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., the Woman's Relief Corps and Sons of Veterans, of Plainfield. In all there were nearly thirty in the delegation.

Mr. Shott's sermon was of considerable interest. He took for his text the words "Watch Ye, Stand Fast in the Faith Quit You Like Men, Be Strong." From this text the speaker held the closest attention of all. He compared the life of a soldier with that of a soldier of Christ, and he urged the Veterans to be as zealous and faithful in fighting for the Lord as they were in fighting for their country. Throughout the discourse Pastor Shott gave several illustrations to impress upon his hearers the force of his remarks. During the service there was special music of a patriotic character.

WEEKLY CONTEST FOR CUPS GROWS EXCITING

Saturday's Play at Hillside Club Made Changes in Standing of Players.

GOOD GOLF WAS PLAYED.

MANY SCORES WERE HANDED IN DESPITE THREATENING WEATHER.

Miss vanHerwerden Now Leads for Mellick Cup—C. C. Burke, Jr., Close Second to Mrs. N. P. Rogers for Golf Committee Cup.

The weekly competition for the Mellick cup and regular play for the Fisk handicap cup were the attractions Saturday morning on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course. Owing to the disagreeable weather the number of contestants was small. There were a dozen entries, but only three made the rounds, the others turning back after playing a few holes. The scores made by the three contestants counted for both events.

Miss vanHerwerden with Miss Daisy Elsberg won the honors for the morning. The former won the competition for the Mellick cup with a net score of 101 from scratch, while Miss Elsberg won the Fisk cup. As Miss vanHerwerden already has one win to her credit for this cup she could not score another Saturday. This cup is played for four times a year, and ends with match play. Miss vanHerwerden and Miss Elsberg are at present the only ones who have won the cup.

Miss vanHerwerden now leads in the competition for the Mellick cup with 4½ points. Miss Elsberg won second place, receiving 2 points, and Miss Adelaide Ball was third, receiving 1 point. Miss Goddard, who held the lead up to Saturday, now drops back to second place. Miss Ball is third with 2½ points, while Miss Elsberg is last with 2 points.

The standing for the cup at present is as follows:

	Points.
Miss vanHerwerden	4½
Miss Margaret Goddard	3
Miss Adelaide Ball	2½
Miss Daisy Elsberg	2

The scores for the morning were as follows:

	Gross	Hand.	Net
Miss vanHerwerden	101	0	101
Miss Elsberg	118	9	109
Miss Ball	122	10	112

In the afternoon the attendance was quite large considering the disagreeable weather. The weekly competition for the Golf Committee cup and the monthly play for the Reinhart cup proved to be interesting and some very low scores were made.

George T. VanBoskerck won both events with a net score of 83. This gives him three points for the Golf Committee cup, while C. C. Burke, Jr., with a net score of 84 receives two points. Walter Peterson, F. A. Clark, W. F. Murray and D. W. Taylor were tied with a net score of 85 for third honors, and between them one point is divided. As in the morning play the scores count for both events.

The following scores were turned in Saturday afternoon:

	Gross.	Hand.	Net.
Geo. VanBoskerock	95	12	83
C. C. Burke, Jr.	108	24	84

KILLED IN BROOKLYN.

William Stone Hubbell, Jr., Struck By Train and Lived But a Few Hours.

Wm. Stone Hubbell, Jr., the oldest son of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. W. S. Hubbell, of 945 Central avenue, was struck by a train on Atlantic avenue, Brooklyn, last Tuesday, and received injuries which caused his death a few hours later.

Mr. Hubbell was graduated from Yale in 1897 with honors, after which he entered the Harvard Law School, but left it during the Spanish-American War to join the "Yale Battery." After the war he spent some time in the west in mining. He expected soon to marry Miss Katherine Verderay, of Flushing, L. I.

The deceased lived with his father in this city, and he and his brother, DeWitt Hubbell, were temporarily residing at Staten Island, while the rest of the family were abroad. The first message the parents will have received of the son's death will be by cablegram.

FESTIVAL BY ENDEAVORERS.

GIVEN IN CHAPEL OF CRESCENT AVENUE CHURCH SATURDAY NIGHT.

Delightful Programme Was Given, the Feature of Which Was the Singing of Mr. Beach.

A large and appreciative audience was delightfully entertained in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church Saturday by a programme of music and recitations. It was provided by the social and welcome committees of the Endeavor Society, and was given in connection with the annual strawberry and ice cream festival. At the close of the entertainment an invitation was extended to all to adjourn to the parlors where they were served by those in charge.

The feature of the programme rendered was the tenor solos of Mr. Beach, the latest addition to the church choir. His selections were numerous and diversified in character and his expressive voice has seldom been heard to better advantage. He intended to give but three solos, but his efforts were so greatly appreciated he was forced to respond to an encore each time. Miss Elvina De B. Benton, an elocutionist of much merit, recited "The Country Landlady" and "If I Were You" in a manner which elicited long applause. The remainder of the programme consisted of a piano duet by Miss Carrie Dewey and Miss Marie Newman and piano selections by Miss Cahoone.

Those in charge of the affair were as follows: Social committee, Mrs. S. H. Voorhees, Fred G. Smith, Miss Clara Long, Miss Marie Newman, Miss Wilhelmina Patton, Miss Lillian Oakley, Miss Adelaide Lyon, Miss Evalina De B. Benton, Morris C. Sutphen and Howard Miller; welcome committee, Dr. B. VanD. Hedges, Miss Marguerite Yerkes, Mrs. C. W. Burton, Miss Lucy L. Brown, Irwin Yerkes and Clarence Sutphen.

TRIBUTE TO MEMORY OF CHARLES HYDE.

Funeral Services Were Held From the Residence, "Edgewood," on Front Street.

MANY FLORAL TRIBUTES.

SHORT SERVICE HELD AT HILLSIDE CEMETERY AFTERWARDS.

Officiating Clergymen at Funeral Were Rev. C. E. Herring, Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards and Rev. Dr. John C. Bliss—Honorary Pallbearers.

The funeral services over the remains of Charles Hyde, who passed away shortly before noon Wednesday, were held at the family home, "Edgewood," on East Front street, Saturday afternoon.

Many persons of prominence, some of whom had been associated with him in business enterprises and others intimately acquainted socially with the much lamented citizen, gathered at the beautiful home to pay their last tribute of respect. Most solemn and deeply impressive were the sad rites.

Rev. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of which Mr. Hyde was an attendant, conducted the services. Assisting him were Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards, pastor of the Crescent Avenue church, and Rev. Dr. John C. Bliss, of New York, formerly pastor of the latter church.

An appropriate selection from the Scriptures was read by Rev. Dr. Richards. Ericsson Foote Bushnell, the celebrated baritone, of New York, sang as a vocal solo "Crossing the Bar," and then Rev. Dr. Bliss delivered an eulogium which moved everyone. The lofty character and high ideals of Mr. Hyde were pointed out and the strong moral fibre and lovable traits he possessed were dwelt upon. No taint of evil thought or action entered into the life of this industrious and upright man, said he.

When Rev. Dr. Bliss had concluded his remarks, Mr. Bushnell feelingly rendered "Peace, Perfect Peace."

Rev. Mr. Herring spoke on the glorious spiritual development of Mr. Hyde during the last few weeks of his earthly life. His many manly qualities, said he, had been recounted by Rev. Dr. Bliss, and it was his purpose to dwell on the spiritual nature which had recently been emphasized in the good man who had to go beyond the great river. In a sympathetic way the speaker told of what great comfort had been found by the departed one in pious books which he had read just before his death. When his body was racked with pain, he had obtained solace from these volumes. Rev. Mr. Herring pictured the transition from the world to the eternal life. To one in this life his passing away appears to be as a sunset, but to him it is as the sunrise. His death makes darkness here, but he finds light before Christ. Mr. Bushnell sang as a solo, "Rock of Ages." A touching prayer and benediction said by Rev. Dr. Richards completed the services at the house.

Immediately afterwards the family and intimate friends accompanied the body to Hillside Cemetery. There a short burial service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Herring and after impressive prayers by Rev. Dr. Richards the remains were placed in the receiving vault. The interment will take place at a subsequent date.

Acting as honorary pall bearers were the directors of the City National Bank, of which Mr. Hyde was the president. The bearers were H. G. Runkle, Walter Scott, J. F. MacDonald, William F. Arnold, James T. Closson and Joseph B. Coward.

A profusion of gorgeous floral tributes were the remembrances of relatives and friends. A handsome wreath of roses was sent by the directors of the Second National Bank, of Titusville, Pa., of which institution Mr. Hyde was president. The directors of the City National Bank sent a large broken column of white roses capped with violets. Other especially beautiful set pieces in the mass of flowers were a stately cross of lilies of the valley the tribute of Mr. Hyde's sons; a wreath of white roses, the tribute of his daughter, Miss Edith Hyde, and a massive pillow of roses, the tribute of his wife.

The casket in which the body reposes is made of gun metal and is of an exceedingly ornate design.

Among the out-of-town mourners at the funeral services were J. L. Grandin, of New York, a former partner of Mr. Hyde; Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Kepler, of Lancaster, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wright and Mr. and Mrs. Godfreid, of New York.

WOULDN'T HIRE HALL.

So the West End Balladist Was Gathered in by the Police and Fined.

Not wishing to disappoint a number of friends, Robert Hart, the West End balladist, started to deliver a speech at their invitation on East Front street early last evening. He touched on a number of interesting topics and the result was the gathering of a large crowd which interfered with church goers. Hart persisted in speaking his piece even after a patrolman advised him to hire a hall, and the latter was forced to escort him to the city jail.

To City Judge Runyon this morning the orator declared his willingness to address the crowd was due to sundry glasses of liquor which he had imbibed, but that he was sure it wouldn't happen again. As it was the fifth time he had been arrested for singing or speaking on the street, he was given his preference of $3 or ten days, with the warning that his sentence would be doubled the next time. He paid the fine.

SERMON TO ODD FELLOWS.

AT PARK AVENUE BAPTIST CHURCH LAST NIGHT.

Queen City And Plainfield Lodges Attended—Discourse By Rev. J. W. Richardson.

The members of Queen City Lodge, No. 226, and Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, I. O. O. F., assembled at the Park Avenue Baptist church last evening and listening to an eloquent and helpful discourse delivered by the pastor, Rev. J. W. Richardson. In accordance with a standing resolution of the Sovereign Grand Lodge, the Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of the order in New Jersey decreed that a convenient day at this time be observed as a Memorial Day. In obedience to this command the Queen City Lodge, No. 226, decided to attend divine service and extend an invitation to the sister lodge to join with it.

Rev. Mr. Richardson took for his subject the story of Jonathan's love for David and from it drew a lesson on the duty and privilege of fellowship among men. The most appropriate place for men to meet together, excepting the home and the church, is the lodge, said he. Jonathan, in his spirit of brotherhood, was willing to sacrifice all, because of his regard for David, and this principle the preacher declared should animate the conduct of man today. He implored his hearers to cultivate high ideals and to be true to their fellowmen. Encouragement and cheer given to a brother was also dwelt upon, as was the duty to afford protection against real or imaginary danger.

On the platform with Rev. Mr. Richardson was B. W. Hand, of the Queen City Lodge. Preceding the sermon Mr. Hand offered a fervent prayer.

PYTHIAN MEMORIAL DAY WAS OBSERVED HERE

Crescent Division And Its Visitors Decorated Graves Of Local Pythians.

SERVICES AT CEMETERIES.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS ATTENDED FROM BROOKLYN AND NEWARK.

Delegations Present From Rathbone And Black Prince Divisions—Several Grand Officers Present—Visited Cemeteries Here And Scotch Plains.

Pythian Memorial Day was observed yesterday by Crescent Division, No. 4, U. R. K. of P., assisted by over one hundred members from Rathbone Division, No. 27 of Brooklyn, and thirty members from Black Prince Division, No. 4, of Newark. The members from the latter division came as a surprise but they, as well as the Brooklyn Knights, received a cordial welcome.

The observance of this day is an annual affair. This year it was considered the most successful of any ever held. The way the Knights turned out and the excellence of the various parts taken in the ceremony all added to this success. The Knights were honored by the presence of Grand Chancellor J. H. Conger, of New Brunswick; Brigadier-General and Supreme Representative W. E. Hitchcock, of Newark; Col. Shanley, and Major Cramer, of the First Regiment, of Newark.

It was soon after 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon that the Knights assembled and, led by Captain J. E. Flannery, of Crescent Division, and the Independent Fife and Drum Corps, took up their line of march to the various cemeteries, where services were held.

With the exception of the Plainfield avenue cemetery, the services were conducted by Captain J. E. Flannery, Lieutenants Jacob Blimm and Stephen Higham, and Knights J. C. Blimm, Wm. Young, A. W. Clifton and Charles McGinley. At the Plainfield avenue cemetery the members from Rathbone Division conducted the services at the grave of their late member, Knight Olsen.

The Knights first visited the North Plainfield cemetery, where services were held over the grave of Knight William Blimm. They then went to the Plainfield avenue cemetery and from there to Hillside cemetery. At the latter cemetery the services were held over the grave of Knight Duckworth. From there the members went to the Scotch Plains cemetery and held services over the grave of Knight Hosenger. All of the deceased Knights, with the exception of Knight Olsen, were members of Crescent Division. The services were very impressive.

After the services in Scotch Plains the Knights all adjourned to Edward Hand's hotel at that place, where supper was served. Then they returned to Plainfield where the visiting Knights took the train for home. Much praise is due the Independent Fife and Drum Corps for the excellent and appropriate music furnished. It added greatly to the impressiveness of the service.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

Of course the Republican managers, with characteristic fervor, object to the plan suggested by Councilman Vansant at the last meeting for taking steps to ascertain if it would not be greatly to the advantage of the city to have its own electric light plant. If it had been a plan to raise the salaries of some of the officeholders, or to create places for more, we would not have heard a "peep" from that direction. Certainly Rahway people have no great incentive to foster the gas and electric light productions as now, or soon will exist. The gas is made in Elizabeth and soon our electricity will be generated in Middlesex county, near Metuchen, and the power house here discontinued. Hence, if the city should establish a lighting plant of its own, not only to light the streets and public buildings, but to furnish the citizens generally with electric light and power, it would not take long to pay the cost of the works, and then have a revenue to go far toward paying the expenses of other departments and thus relieve the taxpayers.—Rahway Union Democrat.

Sweetness Wasted.

Sweets are all right, but this time they were sadly wasted. A hogshead of molasses burst Saturday and flooded Pruden's alley. It was the property of Voehl, the West Front street baker. It was a total loss.

BISMARCK STATUE UNVEILED.

German Emperor and Empress Present—Von Bulow Spoke.

BERLIN, June 17.—The Bismarck statue, facing the column of Victory in front of the reichstag building, was unveiled at midday yesterday in the presence of the emperor and empress, Prince Herbert Bismarck, Count von Bulow, Prince Hohenlohe, the ministers and the members of the legislative houses and the memorial committee. There was an imposing array of officers, officials, veterans' associations, students, etc., and an enormous gathering of people. Emperor William inspected the guard of honor and then took his place under the baldachin with the empress. A thousand school children sang in chorus, and Dr. von Levetzow, Conservative leader of the reichstag, delivered a brief eulogistic address. Count von Bulow, the imperial chancellor, then made a speech as follows:

"Among the whole German people there is no one but knows that no vestige of the Iron Chancellor's days upon earth will disappear, that the admiration and gratitude toward him will increase while German hearts beat or while German fists are clinched. Bismarck's was a leonine nature. Upon earth he stood amid the dust of battle. Battle brings with it just opposition, unjust misunderstanding, honorable enmity and blind hatred. When the dust is dispersed, there remains only the memory of unparalleled deeds and of peerless personality."

Count von Bulow then eloquently sketched Bismark's stupendous work in establishing the empire, that aspiration of centuries for which the noblest spirits had strived in vain and for which a long array of martyrs in the German cause had fought and suffered.

Continuing, Count von Bulow said: "In every respect we stand upon his shoulders, and not in sense only do we accept everything he said and did. Only fools and fanatics would maintain that Bismarck never made a mistake or that the maxims he laid down must be applied in all circumstances. Rigid dogmas do not hold either in political or economic life. Bismarck himself did not lay great stress upon the doctrine he taught us, that no personal fancies, transitory ideas or antiquated theory, but only the practical and enduring interest of the community, should govern the national policy.

"May the name of this great man always go before the German people as a pillar of fire on good as in evil days. May our German people face their future in peace, freedom, well being and strength under that leadership."

PEKING NEGOTIATIONS.

Ministers Say Matters Are Nearing a Satisfactory Conclusion.

PEKING, June 17.—The foreign ministers say that, although Saturday's meeting did not result in the settlement of matters, still things are working most satisfactorily toward a conclusion and that the amount of the indemnity and the 4 per cent rate of interest were almost agreed upon, the only hitch being with regard to Japan, which country cannot borrow money under 5 per cent. It is the desire on the part of most of the ministers to arrange this satisfactorily, as it is felt that Japan deserves special consideration. The probabilitity is that additional bonds will be given sufficient to cover the loss.

Special Commissioner Rockhill, on behalf of the United States, has agreed to add 5 per cent to the tariff provided China would agree to the widening and dredging of the Shansi and Peiho rivers and also to certain tariff reforms.

The ministers consider it certain that everything will be ended before July. All the troops except the legation guards will have left by the end of August.

The Germans today will turn over to the Chinese the winter palace for preparation for occupation by the court.

The director of the Pao-ting-fu railroad has been notified to have means of transportation ready to bring 3,000 Chinese troops to Peking.

Suburban Won by Alcedo.

NEW YORK, June 17.—Before a crowd of 20,000 persons, on one of the most disagreeable days the Suburban has ever been run, Alcedo came home a winner at Sheepshead Bay in time but two-fifths of a second more than when Salvator made the record 11 years ago. Toddy managed to hold second place till a few jumps from the wire, when Watercure passed him and left him third. The favorite, Ethelbert, badly beaten, was back in the ruck, another upset being recorded.

Boy Thought to Have Been Kidnaped

DALLAS, June 17.—E. D. Strong, a prominent man from Texarkana, has given his 7-year-old son up as a victim of kidnapers. The boy was put on a railroad train at Waco on June 1 to be sent home, a distance of 250 miles. Parents and friends have not heard from him since. The state has been quietly searched, but no trace of the boy has been discovered. The father of the boy is in Dallas consulting with the police and detectives.

Strange Death of Brothers.

NEWBURG, N. Y., June 17.—The Rev. Frederick H. Farrar of this city and his brother, Dr. Percival J. Farrar of Ridgeway, Pa., are dead within a few hours of each other. The Rev. Mr. Farrar was summoned to Ridgeway on Wednesday by news of his brother's serious illness, and he obeyed the call, little thinking that he would be the first of the two to die. Before his body could be sent home his brother, too, had passed away.

Pitcher Sold For $600.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., June 17.—Ed High, pitcher in the Virginia-North Carolina league, has been sold by Manager Ashenback to the New Orleans club for $600. This, it is claimed, is the largest sum ever paid for a player's release by one minor league team to another. High is a Baltimorean and a "south paw."

Thought They Had Blondin.

LYNN, Mass., June 17.—Domadid Megarian, a French-Canadian, was detained at police headquarters on suspicion of being Blondin, suspected of the murder of his wife, whose body was found at Chelmsford last Sunday. He proved his identity and was released, but the incident created great excitement.

Ex-Governor Pingree's Condition.

LONDON, June 17.—Dr. Thomas Barlow said last night that ex-Governor Pingree's condition was unchanged. The complications from which Mr. Pingree suffered Saturday continue, but his strength has not materially diminished. He is bearing up well under the most trying conditions.

CAILLES TO GIVE UP.

Insurgent General's Name Is Signed to Agreement.

HIS COMMAND ALSO TO YIELD.

This Is Supposed to Include About Five Hundred Men—Seventeen Judges Appointed—Valuable Timber Found In Islands.

MANILA, June 17.—Colonels Infante and Guivara, representatives of General Cailles, yesterday signed the name of their principal to an agreement to surrender.

Under the terms of this agreement General Cailles is to assemble his men at Santa Cruz, Laguna province, as quickly as possible and there surrender himself and his command to the American authorities. The exact number of his force is uncertain, but there will probably be more than 500.

For more than a year past General Cailles has commanded the insurgent forces operating on the east side of Bay lake, not far from Manila. He is said to be a French half caste, and during the last revolution he has acquired a reputation for vindictiveness and cruelty.

The society of Mando Ducats, whose practice it was to assassinate and bury alive those of their countrymen who accepted American sovereignty whenever the latter fell into their hands, operated with the cognizance if not the support of General Cailles. At one time Cailles offered a reward of $10 for the heads of all Americans brought to him, and more recently he offered a reward of $10,000 for the head of Captain Edward N. Jones, Jr., of the Eighth infantry.

Since the capture of Aguinaldo Cailles, who was one of the few insurgent leaders who did not surrender under the terms of amnesty, has been persistently pursued by the American troops. He was declared to have been wounded in one engagement last month, and negotiations for his surrender have been going on with General Sumner for some weeks past.

Seventeen judges have been appointed to the courts of first instance. Among these appointments there are 11 Americans, who have been given the most important circuits, as follows: Manila, Kincaid of Texas and Odlin of New Hampshire; Aparri, Blount of Georgia; Dagupan, Johnson of Michigan; Batangas, Linebarger of Illinois; Nueva Caceres, Carson of Virginia; Iloilo, Bates of Vermont; Negros, Norris of Nebraska; Cebu, Carlock of Illinois; Zamboanga, Ickis of Iowa, and Jolo, Whitsett of Missouri.

The chief of the forestry bureau of the Philippines, Captain Ahern, has just issued a circular which is applicable to those who are considering business ventures other than lumbering in the archipelago. The United states attorney general, it should be borne in mind, has construed that the inhibitions in the amendments to the Spooner act do not apply to timber cutting on government lands.

"Much of the valuable timber is inaccessible at present, due to the lack of roads. In time roads will be constructed and river driveways improved. Portable narrow gauge railways will be found feasible in many places. The great majority of the native timber will not float. Bamboo rafts are often used. The bamboo finds a ready sale in all the markets. There are 665 native tree species now known, including 11 species of oak, true ebony, some teak, camagon, an abundance of narra (Philippine mahogany), tindalo, calantas (Philippine cedar) and other woods suitable for veneering and finest cabinet work.

"There are more than 50 species of valuable gum trees, from which are extracted rubber, gutta percha and other gums."

Captain Ahern is about to leave for the United States and will exhibit samples of Philippine woods before furniture associations at Grand Rapids and elsewhere. The very great variety of rare and beautiful woods will doubtless surprise them and may create an American demand for Philippine timber.

Telegraph Operator Drugged.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., June 17.—Lawrence Hannan, a young telegraph operator, and Thomas Horan, a student in telegraphy, report that they were drugged in a block signal system tower at Big Mountain, on the Philadelphia and Reading railroad, one mile east of here, by two well dressed strangers, who slipped chloral hydrate into a glass of water of which they drank. The boys became stupefied and say the men took Horan's watch and disappeared. The boys were found in an unconscious condition two hours later by a freight crew, who brought them here. Physicians revived both with heart stimulants. Two suspicious tramps were arrested, but released upon failure of the operator to identify them.

No Danger From Indian Uprising.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., June 17.—Colonel Jesse M. Lee has returned to Fort Leavenworth from the scene of the recently reported Indian troubles in Wyoming. Colonel Lee fully investigated the reported killing of sheep herders by Indians on the Muddy and found it to be without foundation. The story had been started, according to Colonel Lee, by a man who said he had reported it "just to have some fun." Colonel Lee stated that there is no danger whatever of an Indian uprising in that section and no indications of trouble.

Newfoundland's Governor Arrives.

DEFEAT AND VICTORY

British Detachment Surprised and Captured.

DE WET LOSES HEAVILY NEAR REITZ

Victorian Rifles, Two Hundred and Fifty Men, Obliged to Yield to Superior Force of Boers—Sixty Killed and Wounded.

LONDON, June 17.—Lord Kitchener has cabled from Pretoria as follows:

"Near Welmansrust, 20 miles south of Middelburg, 250 Victorian mounted rifles from General Beaston's column were surprised in camp at Steenkoolspruit by a superior force of Boers at 7:30 p. m., June 2. The enemy crept up to within short range and poured a deadly fire into the camp, killing 2 officers and 16 men and wounding 4 officers and 38 men, of whom 28 were slightly wounded. Only 2 officers and 50 men escaped to General Beaston's camp. The remainder were taken prisoners and released. Two pompoms were captured by the enemy. Full details have not yet been received."

An earlier dispatch from Lord Kitchener reports as follows: "During the march from Vrede General Elliot's column engaged De Wet near Reitz June 6. After severe fighting Elliot captured 71 loaded wagons, 45 prisoners, 58 rifles, 10,000 rounds of ammunition and 4,000 cattle. The Boers left 17 killed and 3 wounded. Our casualties were 3 officers and 17 men killed and 1 officer and 24 men wounded."

The serious reverse which Lord Kitchener reports is the first accident of the kind that has happened to the Australian contingent, and it is supposed to be due to neglect of proper picketing. Although it is offset by the defeat inflicted upon De Wet, the loss of the guns is regarded as a serious matter, which will encourage the Boers to continue the struggle.

More or less fanciful accounts are published on the continent of alleged peace negotiations, but there is nothing in them, and nothing has come of the interview between Mrs. Botha and Mr. Kruger beyond revealing the fact that Mr. Kruger will listen to no proposals unless they are accompanied with a guarantee of the independence of the republics.

The Daily Mail's Cape Town correspondent says that Cecil Rhodes, speaking at Bulawayo Saturday, predicted that a federation of South African states would come in three or four years, but he contended that to grant self government to the republics before federation would render federation impossible.

Phillips Pays Dividends.

CHICAGO, June 17.—Checks for approximately $1,000,000 were sent out by the George E. Phillips company to points variously situated between Maine and Mexico. The disbursement was in the nature of a dividend on the celebrated May corn deal, the pool account having been written up to 48 cents, this being the average price which the leader of the campaign has been able to figure out up to this time. The checks go out to about 300 individuals who had an interest in the pool of approximately 15,000,000 bushels of corn. The "lowest" man bought at 35⅞ cents. The average profit so far delivered is about 8 cents per bushel. This may be increased when the cash corn now on hand in various positions is disposed of, or there may be no further profit. It will depend entirely on the state of the market when the cash corn is sold.

Wages of 3,600 Employees Raised.

EASTON, Pa., June 17.—Employees of the Lehigh Valley railroad in this vicinity have received their May wages. All the men employed in the shops and at cleaning and inspecting cars learned for the first time that their wages had been increased from 15 to 30 per cent. The increase dates from May 12. Company officials here say the increase affects all shopmen, car inspectors and cleaners along the entire system, 3,600 in number. The boiler makers who were employed in the local shops and who struck about a month ago are still out. When they were paid off, they, too, learned that their pay had been raised.

Barker on Trial.

JERSEY CITY, June 17.—In the Hudson county courthouse in this city today Thomas G. Barker of Arlington was placed on trial for shooting the Rev. John Keller in Arlington on Feb. 3 last. Barker is under three indictments—for assault with intent to kill, for atrocious assault and for simple assault. The case has been very sensational, and it is expected that the trial will be one of the most memorable in the history of Hudson county. The trial takes place before Judge John A. Blair and a struck jury.

Peters to Succeed Evans.

CHICAGO, June 17.—A dispatch to The Record-Herald from Topeka says that former Congressman S. R. Peters of Kansas has received a dispatch calling him to Washington, where he will be tendered the office of pension commissioner, succeeding H. Clay Evans. President McKinley has had under consideration the names of former Congressmen Blue and Peters for this position, and Mr. Peters' summons to the White House settles the appointment in his favor.

Shamrock II at the Clyde.

LONDON, June 17.—The Shamrock II arrived at the Clyde last evening and docked at Greenock. Her mast will be stepped and her spars fitted today. It has been arranged that the challenger shall sail in two races on the Clyde, one June 27 and the other July 6. Afterward the yacht's headquarters will be at Lamlash for a fortnight's daily racing against the Shamrock I.

Pearson Hall Dedicated.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., June 17.—The principal event of the commencement exercises at Drury college, where a large class was graduated, was the laying of the cornerstone of Pearson's hall, the new $50,000 science building that is being erected by Dr. D. K. Pearson of Chicago.

Cunarder Sends Wireless Message.

LONDON, June 17.—The steamer Lucania, the first of the Cunard vessels to be fitted with the Marconi system of wireless telegraphy, made communication with the shore when 20 miles from Liverpool.

Fire in Easton, Pa.

EASTON, Pa., June 17.—A supposed incendiary fire in this place destroyed the Wonderland theater, several stables, marble works and lumber yard.

HUSBAND'S TERRIBLE CRIME.

Brains His Wife and Fatally Injures Father-in-law.

ITHACA, N. Y., June 17.—James Churchill, a farm hand who worked near Ithaca, early yesterday morning murdered his wife, Minnie Churchill, at her father's home in Newfield, a village nine miles distant from this place. He mutilated her head with a heavy bar of iron while she slept peacefully beside her daughter, 7 years old. Her father, Daniel Minturn, who was over 80 years of age, also fell a victim to his son-in-law's wrath. Mrs. Churchill died two hours after the assault was committed. She was 30 years old. The old man still lives, but will survive but a few hours, it is thought, as his skull has been fractured.

Churchill himself attempted suicide by taking an ounce of carbolic acid, but he took it in such a way that he lived until assistance arrived. He was revived, and Sheriff C. S. Seaman arrested him and brought him to Ithaca.

The crime was the result of extreme jealousy. Mrs. Churchill separated from her husband two months ago. He left home and came to work for a farmer near Ithaca. Saturday night he had fully made up his mind to revenge himself. He first walked into Ithaca, where he secured the poison. He then walked out to Newfield, first arming himself with the iron bar. He gained admittance to the house of his father in-law through the cellar and attacked his wife before she could cry for help. The screams of the little girl, who escaped from the bedroom, awakened Minturn, who attempted to light a lamp in the kitchen. While he was engaged in this Churchill struck him several blows. The little girl ran to a neighbor's for help, and when the neighbor entered the house later the two victims were lying unconscious. Churchill was in a semiconscious state.

Sheriff Seaman, District Attorney Blood and Coroner Brown drove out to Newfield a few hours later. The murderer was brought into the city on a cot, but will fully recover. He admitted that the act was premeditated. He is 38 years old.

WATER FOR NEW YORK.

Scheme to Utilize Lake George as a Storage Reservoir.

ALBANY, June 17.—A scheme that contemplates the expenditure of $140,000,000 by the state to furnish New York city with water and which incidentally proposes the wiping out of Lake George as a summer resort by submerging all the islands and the shores to a depth of 30 feet is proposed by J. H. Ehrehart, confidential appraiser of the state board of tax commissioners.

Mr. Ehrehart's plan contemplates the damming of the Hudson and Schroon rivers and the conversion of Lake George into a mammoth storage reservoir by the building of an immense dam at the lower end of the lake.

In spite of the cost the originator of the scheme asserts that it will be a cheap investment in the long run. The plan contemplates state ownership and the furnishing of water to the various cities for just enough to reimburse the state for its outlay.

Mr. Ehrehart says that sooner or later New York city has got to go to northern New York or to the Housatonic valley for its water supply. The difficulties that would be encountered in going into another state to obtain rights on the Housatonic river and the doubtful quality of the water from that source, he says, makes the upper Hudson watershed the logical source of supply. Furthermore, he asserts, that the most economical and generally satisfactory method of securing that water is by converting Lake George into a storage reservoir and sending the water along to New York city by an aqueduct through the Hudson valley.

Righting the Ingalls.

NEW YORK, June 17.—A great steam crane and a large force of men are engaged in an attempt to right the army transport Ingalls, which was capsized in the drydock of the Robins company at the Erie basin Friday. The wreckers have the ship resting on an even keel. It is said that a hasty examination of the ship both outside and in the interior shows that no very serious damage is apparent. It is expected that the ship will be afloat in a week. Bert Miller of this city, a carpenter employed on the Ingalls when she sank, died last night of his injuries, being the second victim. Charles Williams of Brooklyn, another of those injured, is expected to die.

Commander Belknap Dead.

BALTIMORE, June 17.—Commander Charles Belknap, U. S. N., is dead at the Union Protestant infirmary from blood poisoning. He was in his fifty-fifth year. He was taken with an abscess on the arm some time ago and was brought to Baltimore about ten days ago and placed under the care of a physician, who ordered his removal to the infirmary. It was at first thought that an operation would save his life, but he grew rapidly worse, and in his weakened condition it could not be attempted. Commander Belknap's family came with him from Annapolis, and Mrs. Belknap was at her husband's bedside all through his illness.

Smallpox in a Jail.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., June 17.—Six cases of smallpox have developed in Goshen jail, two of which are of the confluent form. The patients have been removed to the pesthouse at Orange farm, the remaining 54 prisoners being quartered in the jailyard under a strong guard. The disease is believed to have originated from a prisoner who was a former member of a gypsy camp. Word was sent to Sing Sing to watch the prisoners recently taken there.

DOWIE FEARS KIDNAPING.

Declares There Is a Plot to Deprive Him of Reason.

CHICAGO, June 17.—John Alexander Dowie announced at his meeting in Zion tabernacle that certain physicians of this city had formed a plot to kidnap him, lock him in a detention hospital and beat him on the head and back till he should lose all his reasoning powers and become really insane.

He said that the kidnaping might take place last night, and after his service he called a special private meeting of the male members of Zion to take steps to help the Zion guard in protecting him. He also made threats against the physicians that he would do to them as he thought they were trying to do him unless they shall let him alone and stop calling him a paranoiac.

With all this Dowie repeated continually his pretensions to be Elijah reincarnated, making way for the end of the world, and he incidentally laid claim to immortality until such time as his work was accomplished.

"I have special information," shouted the general overseer to his followers, "that a law has just been juggled with special reference to me. These doctors have fixed it so that an insanity complaint does not have to come from a relative now, but may come from any man who says he acts in public interest.

"Do you know what this means? It comes from the same men who are calling me a paranoiac. It means that they are going to kidnap me. They will try to get me some night. Then they will beat me and torture me till they make me insane. That is what they will do—the fiends, the scoundrels! I say to Zion, 'On guard!' I want every member of Zion, and every male member especially, to remain after this service and plan with me how to protect ourselves from these scoundrels and thieves. The emergency is great."

DESTRUCTIVE CYCLONE.

South Dakota Has a Destructive Visitation.

HURON, S. D., June 17.—A cyclone has passed over the extreme southeast corner of Beadle county, injuring ten people and destroying much property. The two story house on the McCormack farm was demolished, and Mr. McCormack, his wife and three children were seriously injured. The father and his 7-year-old son may die. All were blown against a barbed wire fence and terribly cut and bruised. Every building on the farm was demolished.

A schoolhouse was also destroyed near by. The Gardiner residence, five miles distant, was destroyed, and Mrs. Gardiner was badly hurt. On the Palmer farm the house was unroofed and one person injured. Mr. Gillespie's house was wrecked, and two persons were injured, one man having his leg broken. The storm came suddenly and was accompanied by a tremendous downpour of rain and intense darkness. When the McCormack family was found, all were covered with mud and were either dazed or wholly unconscious. Dr. Foxton of this city was called to attend the injured. So complete was the destruction of the McCormack house that not a wagon box full of debris could be gathered up, and no vestige of furniture can be found.

Agricultural Importations.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Mr. Frank H. Hitchcock, chief of the section of foreign markets of the agricultural department, has prepared a bulletin showing the sources of the agricultural imports of the United States for the period from 1896 to 1900. It shows that the total value of all agricultural produce imported into the United States in 1900 was $420,139,288, that year being the record year of the five. The annual average was $376,369,368. Europe was decidedly our most important source of agricultural imports, we taking from there in 1900 $129,000,000 worth of farm products, being the largest in recent years except 1897, when we received $152,000,000. Asia in 1900 sent us $101,000,000 in agricultural produce, a rapid rise from $66,000,000 in 1896. Our farm produce imports from Oceania also rose rapidly, being $31,000,000 in 1900 against $22,000,000 in 1896, while, on the other hand, there was a falling off of $2,000,000 in our imports of farm produce from North American countries, there being $83,000,000 in 1900 against $85,000,000 in 1895. The imports, however, in the three years preceding 1900 were larger than this. There was a large falling off in agricultural imports from South America, they being $93,000,000 in 1896 and only $64,000,000 in 1899 and $66,000,000 in 1900.

Machinist Had Brass Knuckles.

KNOXVILLE, June 17.—Clem Ingelsing, expert machinist, was arrested here on a warrant sworn out by B. F. Henry, president of the local union of machinists, charging him with attempted assault and carrying brass knuckles. Ingelsing is a nonunion man who came from New York city. He had been working in the machine shop of the Southern railway, and B. F. Henry, H. E. Baum, A. D. Putnam and H. A. Michaels remonstrated with him. An argument ensued, and it is charged that Ingelsing removed the brass knuckles from his trousers pocket to his coat in order to have them convenient. A constable was called and arrested Ingelsing. Several hours later Superintendent C. L. Ewing of the Southern railway and Attorney W. L. Welcker secured bond for the prisoner.

A Murder Revealed.

COMPTON, R. I., June 17.—A boy who was fishing in the mill trench west of this village found a woman's body in the water. It proved to be the body of Mrs. Mary Kelly, a weaver employed at the Quidnick mills and whose husband is said to be now in Webster, Mass. She was last seen early Sunday morning, with another woman, near the Quidnick railroad station. Later the unfortunate's hat, covered with blood, was found in the bushes near the mill trench. The circumstances point to murder, and the medical examiner has ordered an inquest.

Gates Gets Control.

Gates and his associates have accomplished what they set out to secure by buying in the controlling interests of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company, and the disposal of the plant will be made in New York during the coming week. THE JURY DISAGREED

Third Trial of Dr. Kennedy Indecisive.

PRISONER'S RELEASE NOW PROBABLE

Once Sentenced to Be Electrocuted, the Dentist, Charged With Murdering Dolly Reynolds, Saved by a Narrow Margin.

NEW YORK, June 17.—After having been out just 22 hours, in which six ballots were taken, the jury in the case of Dr. Samuel J. Kennedy, on trial for the murder of Dolly Reynolds in the Grand Hotel three years ago, was discharged without having agreed upon a verdict. Knowing that the failure to agree was almost certain assurance that he would never be called upon to face the horror of the electric chair, the defendant smiled when he heard the simple announcement of the foreman, Joseph E. Aue. The last ballot taken showed eight of the jurors for acquittal and four for conviction.

Mrs. Kennedy, with her father and Dr. Kennedy's father, were in the matron's room on the floor below the general sessions court when Judge Newburger at 10 minutes after 10 o'clock entered the courtroom. It was generally known among those in the courtroom and building that the jury could not agree, so none of the defendant's ardent supporters had any hope for acquittal.

All this robbed the scene in the courtroom, so seldom opened on Sunday, of dramatic force, but every one waited in silent expectation as the jurors at 25 minutes after 10 o'clock filed into their seats.

From the jury all eyes in the well filled courtroom suddenly turned to the door leading from the prison pen. Through this door came Dr. Kennedy, who twice before had faced a jury when the possibility of life and death hung like a thread in their hands.

His step was resolute and his face smiling as he hurried along the passageway made for those who have fallen under the displeasure of the law, and in a moment he was standing at the gate of the inner inclosure, facing judge and jury.

"Mr. Foreman," Judge Newburger said, addressing Mr. Aue, "I understand you have failed to agree upon a verdict?"

With a nod of his head and "That is right" Mr. Aue signified that all the weary weeks of the trial, the efforts of counsel and the hope of the accused man had been in vain. The foreman's words were of tremendous significance to Dr. Kennedy, however, for he and his counsel, Cantwell & Moore, feel certain there will never be another trial.

"It is to be regretted," said the court, after hearing the foreman's announcement, "that you have not been able to reach an agreement, gentlemen of the jury, but I feel it would be cruel for you to be confined longer. You should be complimented for your industry in considering the evidence so carefully. You are dismissed for the term."

The court then added, "The defendant is remanded," and Kennedy, still smiling, was led back to the Tombs, which, with the deathhouse at Sing Sing, has for nearly three years barred him from liberty and communion with his fellow men.

None of the jurors would talk about their consideration of the case further than to repeat that they had disagreed. It was learned from a thoroughly trustworthy source, however, that six ballots had been taken since they retired at 25 minutes after 12 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, five on Saturday and one Sunday morning.

The first ballot showed three for acquittal, three for conviction and six blanks. On the next ballot, after a discussion of the evidence, the vote was six for acquittal and six for conviction. One man changed his vote the next time, and seven were for conviction and five for acquittal.

Then the sentiment changed, and only five voted for conviction. One more man was won over at the last ballot taken Saturday night, and when the jurors tried to get a little sleep on the tables and benches of the jury room they stood eight for acquittal and four for conviction. There was no change when the last ballot was taken.

Mrs. Kennedy, though her disappointment was almost more than she could bear, bore up bravely under the blow. She had expected yesterday, which was the sixth anniversary of her wedding, to be the happiest in her life. All her plans were made to take her husband back with her to the home in New Dorp and there celebrate the anniversary among the loyal friends and relatives who have never swerved in their belief in Dr. Kennedy's innocence.

"I am greatly disappointed," Mr. Moore, counsel for the defense, said after court had adjourned, "but I am satisfied the verdict was the next best thing to acquittal. Before this last trial began Assistant District Attorney Osborne intimated to me that my client would not be tried again in case of a disagreement, and I am confident he will never again be placed in jeopardy of his life."

Railway Employees Return.

DETROIT, June 17.—The machinists in the employ of the Pere Marquette system went back to work this morning after having been idle since May 20. This was agreed to at a conference Saturday between President Heald of the railroad and representatives of the striking machinists. The agreement affects all the machinists employed by the company, between 125 and 150, most of them being located at Saginaw, Ionia and Muskegon. President Heald declined to give out the terms of the agreement, saying he had promised the men he would not give them out.

Princeton Defeated Yale.

NEW YORK, June 17.—The blue of Yale was trailed in the dust at the Polo Grounds. The Princeton Tigers won the final baseball struggle by a score of 5 to 2. It was not the kind of a day that attracts a big crowd, still something like 5,000 graduates and undergraduates risked contracting all kinds of pulmonary diseases to see these two rival universities combat.

Collector Davis' Plan

If carried out, the plans which Collector Robert Davis, of Jersey City, has made public for a more direct communication by water between New York and Newark, promise to be of great importance to all New Jersey and New York as well. The scheme is to connect the upper New York bay with the upper end of Newark bay and the Passaic river with a new waterway, utilizing part of the Morris canal. While having no direct effect on Plainfield, such a plan would tend greatly to increase the commercial importance of Newark and other adjacent parts of New Jersey and provide for the development of the heretofore useless Hackensack meadows.

Collector Davis' plan, briefly summed up, is to construct a deep waterway by cutting away a portion of the land close to New York bay and more at the Newark bay end and then utilize the Morris Canal which it is expected will be abandoned with the consent of the Legislature next winter. It would reduce the distance some twenty miles and would not make the long trip around Constable Hook and through the Kill von Kull necessary. Mr. Davis believes that the United States Government would gladly take up the plan and thereby greatly increase the harbor facilities for Newark, Jersey City and the other New Jersey towns.

One of the very important features of this plan is the probable development of the Hackensack meadows which would follow. Now that the Hackensack Meadows Company, which J. P. Morgan is reported to be interested in, has secured control of 4,000 acres of the meadow land, it is said that all that is necessary to eventually make that a great commercial and manufacturing centre is a direct deep waterway to New York bay. Mr. Davis' plan would furnish the needed connection and enable steamships to reach the place without trouble.

The purchase of the Melick farm by the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club is only another evidence that the ancient and royal game of golf is no temporary sojourner in this part of the land. The club has heretofore leased the land for its golf course. Considerable money has been expended on the course to put it in proper condition, until it is fast becoming one of the best in the State. The finances of the club have been in such satisfactory condition that it was sometime ago deemed best to purchase the property outright, paying partially in cash and meeting the rest of the cost with a bond issue. The mere fact, however, that the land has been purchased shows that there is no diminution or prospect of any in the interest in golf among the Plainfielders who form the membership of the club.

While no report on the subject has yet been made, it is generally understood that nearly all of the local merchants have agreed to conform with the plan of closing their stores on week-day nights at 6 o'clock, except on days preceeding holidays. Several times an attempt to secure this decided end has been made but not with entire success. This time, the members of all the local labor organizations in the city have agreed to assist the clerks in securing the shorter hours. They hope to bring enough influence to bear on the merchants still holding out to induce them to close. As no merchant is particularly anxious to incur the displeasure of such a body of workingmen as form the local labor unions, the present attempt seems to have promise of greater success than previous efforts.

There has been a little criticism of both city and borough Boards of Education for making the local commencements strictly invitation affairs. This criticism does not seem proper, however. It is but just that the families and friends of the graduates should be given the first opportunity to witness the exercises and that the friends of the school should come next while those who have no special interest should come last. As the accommodations are limited for both commencements, it is but right that the first two classes mentioned should be given the prior right. As it is, there is hardly enough room to include all of them.

Never has Plainfield been so beautiful as it is this summer. The lawns have received unusual attention while the streets are well kept. Strangers who pass through here are amazed and delighted with the beauty of the city. There are many people from the great cities who are preparing to spend their summer in one of the suburban cities. Plainfield's great advantages and its unrivalled train service should be brought to their attention. The Plainfielder, who is accustomed to find fault with his native town, should be muzzled and not allowed to run at large.

The Philadelphia Record relates that Macaulay attacked book publishers for advertising books, although their announcements were modest. It was assumed that only storekeepers could advertise without a loss of dignity. That there has been a great change of sentiment since Macaulay's time is indicated not only by the bold display of book advertising, but also by the fact that such painters as Sir John Millais, Herkomer, Walter Crane, Linton, Marks, Leslie and other famous men are known to have taken orders for paintings to be used for advertising.

Although very little is heard about it, the people of Dunellen are watching the changes at the sewer disposal beds very closely. They are just as anxious as are the people of Plainfield that this attempt to relieve the old and unsatisfactory condition should be a success.

Householders and property owners in city and borough should see that the proper numbers are placed on every house in the two municipalities. Now that the street signs are up in the city and will soon be in position in the borough, the house numbers should receive attention.

The Central Railroad of New Jersey has just equipped one of the most important of the Plainfield expresses with fine new cars. The cars are the equal if they do not excell any used on any suburban traffic.

Did you ever notice how much better other people can manage your business than you yourself can? We are occasionally favored in that manner but they are perfectly harmless.

Many people learned the result of the big college baseball game Saturday from The Daily Press bulletin, which was the first to announce the news to the public of Plainfield.

A song by the school, "Sing Aloud, Jerusalem" was followed by an exercise, "The Gates of Zion," by Miss Nellie Manning, Miss Emma Faulks, John Linaberry, Ralph Eckert, Miss Bessie Soper, Miss Mildred Soper and Miss Georgie Brantingham. The Exercises Were in Charge of a Special Committee—Those Who Took Part.

Miss Florence Smalley represented the Love of God and the Misses Anna Clark, Margaret Ostrom, Susie Whitney, Alice Brown, Marjorie Brown, Mary Leveridge, Lillian Cuming and Bernice Swentzel took the part of Christians. Arthur Whitney, Irving VanWinkle, Walter VanWinkle, David Smalley and John Swentzel represented heathen nations. In the exercise the heathen were converted and the piece closed with the choir singing "Open Wide the Door."

"The Christian Soldier" was another exercise in which the following participated: Stuart Freeman, Arthur Whitney, Martin Stutzman, Augustus Nash, John Swentzel, Charles Hillyer and Irving VanWinkle. Stuart Freeman represented the warrior and the others each contributed to him a piece of armor.

The exercises of the primary department was under the supervision of Miss Adelaide Runyon. The first was an exercise "Summer's Message," by Arline Brown and twelve pupils. The parts were as follows: Robin redbreast, Miss Amy Conant; a mole, Miss Margaret Ostrom; violets, the Misses Lillian Cuming and Mildred Odam; forget-me-nots, the Misses Alice Brown and Elinor Stutzman; roses, the Misses Mary Leveridge and Autumn DeLaney; lilies, the Misses Anna Clark and Martha Soper, and grasses, the Misses Susie Whitney and Maude Harris.

Bernice Swentzel recited a selection entitled "A Short Sermon" and Mrs. Bennett, of Norristown, Pa, sang a solo.

"The Story of God's Love" was the next exercise. The story of Christ from His birth and His resurrection was told by six young women, while the choir sang appropriate selections. Those taking part were the Misses Marion Hall, Nellie Giles, Hazel Delaney, Ethel Marsh, Lillian Frey and Florence Cuming. Miss Cora Brokaw, represented "Destiny" in an exercise entitled "Flowers for Life's Bouquet." The others participating were the Misses Viola Hillyer, Violet VanWinkle, Lulu Stryker, Edna Randolph and Annie Conant. During the exercise the Misses Elsie Giles and Adelia Runyon sang a duet.

The concluding exercises was "A Wonderful Auction," in which the leading part was taken by Rev. J. W. Richardson. The others were: Infidelity, Harold Smalley; fashion, Miss Reignette Marsh; ambition, Miss Lizzie Van Winkle; wordly amusements, Miss Lillian Richardson; intemperence, Clinton Hall; wealth, Miss Elsie Giles; morality, Miss Emma Runyon, and Christianity, Miss Beesie Giles.

A Mountain Accident.

A serious-seeming accident with a fortunate termination is reported by a western exchange.

A man and his wife, while driving along a mountain road in Oregon, met with a curious mishap. The wagon was overturned and the occupants fell out. The woman dropped into the branches of a tree 50 feet below, and the man went, sliding and bumping, fully 300 feet to the bottom of a ravine.

When he recovered his senses he was comparatively unhurt, and went to his wife's rescue, but it was an hour before he could extricate her from where she hung by her skirts.

Strong Recommendation of Tobacco.

The war in South Africa has taught many things of greater and of less importance. Perhaps nothing that it has demonstrated has been more marked than the important part which tobacco plays in the soldier's existence. Whether this is to be reckoned as a great fact or a small one, there can be no doubt about the truth of it. We are inclined to believe that, used with due moderation, tobacco is of value second only to food itself when long privations and exertions are to be endured.--London Lancet

A DETECTIVE WHO DETECTED

By Philip G. Hubert, Jr.

Copyright, 1898 by J. P. Lippincott Co.

I.

It sometimes seems to me as if Nature had a keen sense of humor, and loved now and again to play little jokes upon her victims. We are apt to think of Nature as stern, majestic, unrelenting, pitiless. But is she really so? Animals have no sense of humor, so it is said, although I have seen a dog play tricks upon a cat that set a whole roomful of people in a roar of laughter. These, however, were clowns' farces, while Nature plays serious jokes. For instance, is it not an exquisite joke to implant in the bosom or the brain of a man born to play the melancholy Dane the notion that he is really fitted to do the comic policeman and convulse the audience by sitting down in his wife's pumpkin pies? That used to be the height of the comic man's comic achievements when I was a boy. I have seen even Warren do it at the Boston Museum I don't want to say how many years ago. Nature gives a man the physical and mental outfit for an undertaker, and at the same time a drop of poison which impels him to play the clown. This is her little joke. It is a despicable trick both upon the man and upon the community called upon to witness his misfortunes. I speak somewhat feelingly because I am only too sure that Nature played a little joke upon me when she filled me with the idea that I was born to be a detective, whereas, as a matter of fact—but that is my story.

I was still a very young man, as are most men when the detective fever seizes them, at the time I entered the employ of the Morning Gazette as reporter. I had no advertised and acknowledged specialty. I felt myself a journalist, and everything pertaining to journalism was my field. Nevertheless, if there was one thing I hoped and perhaps prayed for, it was that some tremendous crime might come to light through my exertions. When the police of New York, or perhaps of the country, or even of the continent, or of two or three continents, acknowledged themselves beaten and baffled, I should proceed to delve and think until the criminal was landed in jail solely through my delving and thinking. Such things had happened.

There was a reporter named Bangs on a Philadelphia paper who had achieved fame and fortune by tracking a supposed murderer for three months, night and day; that he nearly succeeded in getting the wrong man hanged was his—the reporter's—misfortune, and not his fault. His newspaper acknowledged his enterprise and rewarded it. He got it into his head that a certain man, who happened to be perfectly innocent, was a criminal, and having formulated a brilliant theory he worked it out so well, he piled his damning evidence so high and found so many facts to fit his theory, and if they didn't fit made them fit, that, as I say, he came near hanging his victim, and thereby won the admiration of the whole newspaper profession of his town. This splendid achievement led, of course, to emulation. For a long time all the Philadelphia reporters went about with the idea that every stranger they met was a deep-dyed villain, and worked upon the theory that all men were guilty until they had been proved innocent.

Another noted case occurs to me: that of a reporter—this time from Boston—who stood one day at the ticket window of a railway station buying a ticket for the suburb where he lived, when another person asked for a ticket for Quebec in so peculiar a voice that the reporter's detective instinct began to work. The man's hand shook so as he held it out to receive the ticket that the big diamond on his little finger gleamed all the more. Between his feet he hugged a fat valise. Everything pointed to the defalcation of at least a million—nervous man, ticket for Canada, big diamond, fat valise. The train was to start in six minutes. The reporter wrote a hurried note to his chief telling him that if a big bank defalcation came to light that evening he had the man and was going to track him to his lair.

He managed to get a berth near his victim, who snored for eight hours—probably a ruse—while the reporter remained on the alert. When they reached Quebec the man turned out to be the clerk of a big jewelry firm; he had been to Boston to buy diamonds, and was perhaps nervous about thieves. That reporter went home feeling that he had done his duty; for if there had been a defalcation that man must have been the defaulter. It is of such stuff that detectives—especially newspaper detectives—are made; men who stop at everything and can make something out of less than nothing.

To return to my own adventures in this exciting field, I was highly delighted when one day the managing editor of the Gazette called me into his room and closed the door.

"Mr. Seymour," he said, "you may not happen to know it, but the Gazette has recently been imposed upon in a most shameful manner. Did you read the story in last Sunday's supplement called 'Daisy's Quest'?"

"Of course," I returned. I made it a point never to omit a line of the Gazette. "I thought it was a first-rate story—the best we have had, to my thinking, in months."

"Just so, Mr. Seymour. Unfortunately, it was not new. It was stolen from an English magazine of 40 years ago. One of our old subscribers brought in the very book containing 'Daisy's Quest,' word for word, but with another title. Now, Mr. Seymour, we paid $50 for that story. That is not the worst of it. We have another story from the same scoundrel, accepted and paid for. As you know, we do not usually pay for stories until after they are published; but in this case the alleged writer said he was leaving the country and would sell both cheap if they were taken at once. We took him up, and he—took us in. Now, do you think you can find the rascal if he is still in this country?"

"Well, certainly I can try. What sort of a man was he?" I asked.

"Ah, that is another difficulty. I have never seen him. All our business was done by mail. Here is the address to which the letters and finally the money were sent. That is all you will have to work upon. Stop—here is one of the man's letters; you may need it; and here is the book from which 'Daisy's Quest' was copied. Report to me if you discover anything." And the great man, for managing editors are great men to reporters, rang his bell to signify that the interview was over.

My first detective job! I had had three years of journalism, and had found it commonplace work. Here was my reward. Fame was within my grasp. But was it? I read the letter in my hand:

"Sir—I beg to submit to you as editor of the Gazette the enclosed stories, in the hope that they will be found suitable for your columns. As I expect to leave soon for England, it would be a convenience could you pay in advance of publication for one or both of the papers here offered. The usual rate of compensation paid by the Gazette will be satisfactory. Very truly yours,

"JAMES G. DANDERS,
"318 East Thirteenth Street."

So much for the letter. The book was an odd volume, dated 1848, of an English magazine, the Londoner, long since dead. Such was my material.

Obviously my first lead was to go to the address given and inquire for James G. Danders. The place proved to be a cheap saloon. The barkeeper knew but little of Danders, who came there only for his mail and at long intervals; for the last fortnight he had not been there at all. Evidently Mr. Danders had covered his tracks. For all I knew, he might be sending out more stolen stories from the saloon on the next corner. I drank some beer, more because I wanted to pump the bartender than for inspiration.

"What sort of a man was Danders?" echoed the bartender, in answer to my question. "Well, not a man that you would take much notice of; small young fellow, perhaps 25 years old, reddish hair, chin-whiskers, rather seedy dress. When he came he'd sit there of an evening reading the papers till closing time. Never had much to say, and never made no friends. But he paid for his beer like a man."

This last comment may have been a reminder that I had not paid for my beer. I paid, and took a ten-mile walk to think the problem over. Surely some ideas would come in the course of ten miles. I went up Fifth avenue to the end of the park and down along the west side. It was a cold, blowy day in early May, and I felt chilled when I reached my own part of the town under the shadow of the Jefferson Market building. I knew that my own room would be chilly, and so cast about me for some warm and pleasant place where I might rest and turn over in my mind the few, very few, ideas that my ten-mile tramp had brought up. They hardly deserved to be called ideas; I was about as much in the dark as when I started out. So far as I could see, my only chance of finding Mr. Danders was to become an habitue of the saloon in Thirteenth street. The notion was not a pleasant one. It might be days or weeks before Danders appeared. Or, again, he might not appear at all. He might have been telling the truth when he wrote that he was about to sail for England. This detective business was not all it had been cracked up to be.

Somewhat disheartened, I turned into the second-hand book-shop of my old acquaintance Samuel Terrill, whose knowledge of books—old books—is, or rather was, for he passed over to the great majority last year, something extraordinary. He could do more wonderful things with books than Prof. Herrmann with a dozen eggs and a new silk hat. He professed to know 10,000 books by their shape and weight. That is, provided they were old books; for new books had no value in Terrill's eyes. New books, he was wont to say, lacked character.

"What sort of a man was Danders?"

One day a friend of mine who wasted his substance at book auctions was passing Terrill's shop, carrying under his arm some prize that he had just bought; it was rather a rare book—a copy of the first edition of Lamb's "Farewell to Tobacco," printed in London in 1828.

"Struck a prize?" growled Terrill, glancing up from his seat near the open door.

"Yes," said my friend; "and I 'll bet you a dollar you can't tell what; it's a book you don't often see."

"Ah!" said Terrill, taking the parcel and feeling the book inside. "Will you give me a dollar if I tell you the name in three guesses?"

"Done," said my friend.

Terrill turned it over, weighed it in his hand, squeezed it in all directions, smelt it. Finally:

"If it isn't the third edition of Bryon's 'Bride of Abydos,' it's the first edition of Lamb's 'Farewell to Tobacco.'"

Ever since I heard this remarkable story it had been one of my amusements to test Terrill's knowledge in a variety of ways, sometimes with success, sometimes without. The wizened old fellow now glanced at the book under [illegible]

STANDARD TIME.

Table of the Hour Reckonings Used by the Officials of Different Nations.

The difficulty of appreciating the difference in time that prevails between different countries is very general, and the following list is printed for the purpose of a ready reference guide by which to calculate the time of any occurrence in another country. All nations, except Spain, Portugal and Russia, calculate their time from the meridian of Greenwich, accepting as standard some even hour meridian, east or west, of Greenwich. For instance:

Western European time, or that of the meridian of Greenwich, is legal in England, Belgium, Holland and Luxemburg.

Central European time, or one hour east of Greenwich, is legal in Germany, Austria-Hungary, Bosnia and Herzegovina, the Congo Free State, Denmark, Italy, Servia, Sweden, Norway and Switzerland.

Eastern European time, or two hours east of Greenwich, is adopted by Bulgaria, Roumania, Natal and Turkey in Europe.

Eight hours east of Greenwich applies to the Philippines.

Nine hours east of Greenwich is adopted by Central Australia and Japan.

Ten hours east of Greenwich is official in Victoria, Queensland and Tasmania.

Eleven and a half hours east has been adopted by New Zealand.

The United States, Canada and Mexico have adopted the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth hours west of Greenwich.

The Hawaiian islands adopt the meridian of 10½ hours west.

In Spain the meridian of Madrid, 14 minutes 45 seconds west of Greenwich, is legal; in Portugal, that of Lisbon, or 36 minutes 39 seconds west, and in Russia that of St. Petersburg, or 2 hours 1 minute and 13 seconds east of Greenwich.

AN IMPARTIAL WOMAN.

Buried Two Husbands and Would Not Be Laid Beside Either One Herself.

"This is the grave of the most impartial woman on record," said the guide in Cave Hill cemetery to a party who visited the beautiful cemetery the other day, says the Louisville Courier-Journal. "Away over that second knoll there is a lot containing only two graves, and the headstone of each is marked 'Father.'

"The woman who is buried here was married twice, and the two graves in that lot are the graves of her two husbands. She tried her best to treat her second husband as she did the first, and even when he died she had no idea of showing any preference. But she was sick when the funeral service of her second husband was held. She directed that the partner of her second matrimonial venture be laid by the side of the first, but that enough space be left to bury her between the two.

"By some hook or crook, a mistake was made, and when she visited the cemetery she found that they were buried side by side, with no space between.

"Well, sir, she didn't know what to do. Argued that if she should be buried by the side of her first husband it would not be fair to the memory of her last spouse, and vice versa. What did she do? Why, when she died she left a request that she be buried in another lot, away from both of them. And it was heeded."

WHY WE NEED HOBBIES.

Our Daily Occupations Will Not Alone Keep Fresh the Springs of Life.

Business is not inseparable from higher things, says a writer in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Men may be born grocers, but need not live only as grocers. Solon and Thales, wise men of the Greeks, were merchants; Plato peddled oil; Spinzona, the philosopher, mended spectacles. Linnaeus was a cobbler as well as a botanist. Shakespeare prided himself more upon his success as a stage manager than as a dramatist. Spenser was a sheriff. It might require a rather strong wrench of the imagination to imagine sheriffs of to-day writing another "Faerie Queen"—but why? Milton taught school, as have almost all great men. Walter Scott, the wizard of the north, was circuit clerk and practical man of affairs; Grote was a London baker, Ricardo a stock jobber, and Sir Isaac Newton master of the English mint. Paul was a tent-maker and the Great Gentleman an apprentice at a carpenter's bench.

"I practice law simply to support myself," said one of the greatest of St. Louis attorneys—an attorney-at-law, not an attorney-at-politics—"but my real life is at home in my library." Thoroughly practical people need the help of hobbies to keep them from shriveling up.

The experience of a resident of Brooklyn, a bookkeeper, 25 years old, is similar to that of thousands of others who have testified to the good Ripans Tabules have done them. "About a year ago (says this gentleman) I commenced being troubled with dyspepsia. I would go to a meal with a splendid appetite and very hungry, but after a few mouthfuls I would begin to notice a fullness and pain in my stomach. I tried a great many so-called dyspepsia cures, but no sooner did I stop using them than I noticed the old trouble returning. About two months ago Ripans Tabules was first brought to my attention by a friend of mine. Noticing a Ripans Tabule card in the car, he informed me that it was the greatest thing for dyspepsia, as it had entirely cured him, and insisted upon my giving them a trial. I did so, and was quite satisfied with the result. I used them steadily after that, one before my meals, and found that they were much better than any of the other remedies I had tried. I stopped their use about two weeks ago and believe I am thoroughly cured. I can now enjoy a meal again as well as when I took Ripans Tabules. I, however, always keep a small bottle with me in case I should find need for them."

CHILDREN'S NERVES.

They Have a Marked Effect Both on Their Looks and Dispositions.

Nervousness is a childish ailment which masquerades under a variety of names, naughtiness being the one most in use. If the cases of any ten so called intractable children were to be investigated, long school hours, improper food or lack of outdoor exercise would be found the trouble with at least nine of them.

These things all affect the nerves, although the symptoms are different in different children. The high spirited ones indulge in mischievous pranks which drive their elders almost distracted. "I can't imagine what is the matter with Tommy," said a young schoolteacher. "He is tractable enough during the morning, but along toward the middle of the afternoon he begins to 'cut up' as if a demon of mischief possessed him." I remembered the case of another child. He also was considered unmanageable until the doctor suggested shorter school hours, less night study and a chance to indulge in out of door sports. After a month of the new order of affairs the change in his disposition surprised every one.

In girls nervousness shows itself differently. They bite their nails and their lips, and more than one girl student has spoiled her good looks for life by little tricks of this sort. A schoolmate of mine was in the habit of rolling down her lower lip with her pencil while she studied. As a result it acquired an ugly droop which she could never get rid of. Another girl found it impossible to study unless she twisted and pulled a short lock on her right temple. The result was peculiar. The lock turned a decided gray after a couple of years, and when she went to a specialist to find the reason why he traced it directly to her nervous trick.

OVERSTUDY.

As for the cases where children's nails and lips are daily bitten to the quick, they are so common that they are scarcely worth mentioning. It is noticeable, however, that the moment these girls begin their vacations their nervous habits cease completely and are only resumed when they go back to their overcrowded study hours.

A prominent doctor said recently, "If parents would think less of cramming their children with useless knowledge, which they forget in a few years, and would appreciate the value of giving them calm nerves and healthy bodies, which they retain through life, the human race would be vastly benefited not only in looks, but in character."

A Good Way to Furnish the Reception Room.

NOWADAYS a good many houses are being built with the door almost on a level with the street. When this happens, the front hall is practically done away with and the visitor enters immediately into a square room fitted with a large fireplace. This reception room is not treated like an ante chamber, but it is furnished in a cozy fashion, with easy chairs, palms, rugs and hangings.

Red is a favorite color for such rooms, and in the one illustrated it has been used in conjunction with Turkish blue. The woodwork, originally oak, has been stained a dark shade, and the settles and chairs match it. The red brick of the fireplace has been toned to harmonize with the walls, which have been painted instead of papered. In one corner there is a Turkish divan hung with dark blue goods, spangled. The pillows are of tapestry, leather and striped oriental silk in different shades of red, blue and yellow. Some of the leather pillows are ornamented with burnt work, others are coarsely embroidered with colored twine. Overhead there hangs a curious lamp of black twisted iron and ruby glass. Around the room are scattered deep red jardinieres holding palms. On the walls hang one or two good photographs and black and white prints framed to match the woodwork.

R. DE LA BAUME.

Glasgow Is Holding an International Exposition

It Is Attracting Considerable Attention from European Nations.

BUFFALO is not the only international exposition city of the world this year. Glasgow, Scotland, is holding a fair that is attracting much attention throughout England and the entire world.

The Glasgow exposition was completed and opened with elaborate ceremonies the 1st of May, and will continue until the first of November. It is intended mainly as an exposition of the mechanical and industrial development of the age, and in this it serves its purpose well. But the exhibits are not entirely along this line. They take in all fields that are usually found in the big international fairs, including manufactures, natural products, industries and the material resources of all the exhibiting nations. Something of its scope may be determined from the scheme of division of the exhibits as announced by the exposition managers. They comprise the following classes:

(1) Raw material, both agricultural and mineral; (2) Industrial design and manufacture; (3) Machinery of all sorts in motion, electricity and labor-saving devices; (4) Locomotion and transport; (5) Marine engineering and shipbuilding; (6) Lighting and heating; (7) Science and scientific instruments, education and music; (8) Sports and sporting appliances; (9) Women's industries; (10) Fine arts, Scottish history and archaeology.

The Glasgow exposition represents an expenditure of two and a half million dollars, aside from the expense incurred by the exhibitors. This fund was provided by the citizens of the old Scottish city. In addition to this expenditure, a large sum was provided by the citizens and the municipal government for the erection of permanent fine art galleries, which form a part of the exposition. These fine art galleries rival in beauty those of most of the great cities of Europe, and will prove one of the attractions of Glasgow in the future.

The site of the exposition is in Kelvingrove park, at the west end of the city, and adjoining the grounds of the Glasgow university, which will celebrate its four hundred and fiftieth anniversary during the progress of the exposition. The area of the exposition site covers 73 acres, and through it flows the Kelvin river, which adds much to its picturesqueness and utility, as upon it is being given an exhibit of shipbuilding and life-saving that would be impossible without the river or other body of water, and which forms an important part of the exposition. The exposition buildings cover an area of 20 acres, and are divided into three main groups exclusive of the fine arts galleries. The main group, designated the industrial section, is 700 feet long and 330 feet wide, and from the center of almost six acres of ground which it covers there rises a massive dome that forms a magnificent centerpiece of the entire fair. The feature of this great building is the main avenue which runs through the center of the building, and which is 60 feet wide and 70 feet high, covered by an arched steel roof. The great dome rising from the center of this magnificent building is 200 feet in height, 80 feet in diameter, and around it rise four massive white towers, each 160 feet from the ground. Running entirely around this dome and 100 feet from the ground is a balcony 25 feet wide and 400 feet in circumference. From this the best possible view of the entire exposition and the surrounding country is obtained.

The other two groups of buildings are the machinery hall and the grand hall for entertainments, both of which are magnificent but not constructed on so grand a scale as that devoted to the industrial section. There are a large number of smaller buildings, among which are those erected by different foreign governments, that have expended considerable sums in making a display of their resources and industries. Among these buildings erected by foreign governments, those of France, Russia, Japan, Canada, Persia and Morocco are most worthy of the visitor's attention. The United States is not represented by a special government building, but American exhibitors occupy a large section of the main exposition buildings, and especially of machinery hall. In this building the exhibitors from this country outrank those of any other nation excepting Great Britain, both in numbers and variety of exhibits.

Russia has taken a more prominent part in the exposition than any other of the foreign governments represented, and, next to Great Britain, is the largest exhibitor, all sections being considered. For the purpose of the exposition, a grant of $150,000 was made by the Russian government, and the individual exhibitors from Russia have expended probably as much more. The Glasgow exposition has the distinction of being the first held in the United Kingdom which ever attracted sufficient attention from Russia to cause that country to erect special government buildings. The Russian buildings cover more than two acres of ground, and are divided into four principal pavilions, which are devoted to agriculture, minerals, forestry and the products of the imperial estates. The four pavilions are designed in the old Russian style, and were erected by Russian workmen sent for the purpose from St. Petersburg. In addition to these four main pavilions, Russia has erected suitable buildings for a display of collections of grain from all the producing sections of the vast empire, another for the use of the Millers' association of Russia, and a grand reception hall for the entertainment of distinguished Russian visitors, of whom a number are expected during the summer. The country has also 11,000 square feet of space in the main exposition buildings, in which are shown various Russian industrial products. These things, in connection with a Russian restaurant, Russian band, Russian choir, etc., give to the exposition a remarkable display from the czar's country.

Among the other countries represented, Canada makes a fine display of her agricultural resources. From every one of the Canadian provinces is shown some distinguishing feature, but western Canada contributes the best of the agricultural display, by which it is hoped to attract a large number of immigrants. British Columbia leads in the exhibit of Canadian minerals, and the Kootenay gold and coal fields are given special attention.

Japan shows a magnificent display of the products of that far eastern country, and her buildings are of the picturesque Japanese architecture.

The main exposition buildings are constructed in the Spanish renaissance style of architecture, but have many striking oriental features, which add a brightness of color which is added to by the variety afforded by the construction of the various foreign government buildings, all following the peculiar style of architecture common to the country which they represent.

Wood and steel are both utilized in the construction of the main buildings. It was the original intention to construct them almost entirely of steel, but the rise in the price of that material necessitated a change to timber for considerable portions, which was done without detriment to the general effect in any way.

Increase in the National Debts of the World

The Past Century Has Been an Extravagant One with the Governments of Earth.

NATIONAL INDEBTEDNESS OF THE WORLD.

Years.	Dollars.
1793	2,423,250,000
1830	7,299,750,000
1848	8,419,045,000
1862	12,382,875,000
1872	22,410,232,500
1882	26,249,901,000
1900	31,201,759,000

THE national debts of the world aggregated more than $30,000,000,000 at the close of the nineteenth century, or ten times as much as in the closing years of the eighteenth century. In 1893, at the beginning of the Napoleonic wars, the national debt of the world amounted, as nearly as can be determined, to $2,500,000,000; in the year 1900 they were, according to the best information now obtainable, $31,000,000,000. While no accurate figures of the debts of the world for the precise date of 1800 are available, it may safely be said in general terms that the world's national debts in 1900 were ten times what they aggregated at the beginning of the century. Meantime population has increased but 150 per cent., and gold and silver, which form the basis of the money with which debt payments are paid, 300 per cent., though the proportion of the existing gold and silver which is turned into coin is now much greater than at the beginning of the nineteenth century, while the utilization of various forms of credit as currency may have increased the world's circulating medium quite in proportion to the increase in its national debts.

Whether national wealth has increased as rapidly as national indebtedness is equally difficult to determine, since official estimates of national wealth were only made at the beginning of the century in the case of a few nations. The wealth of the United Kingdom, France, Spain and the United States in 1800 is estimated at $20,244,640,000, while Mulhall in 1895 estimated their wealth at $195,759,829,000, or practically ten times that at the beginning of the century. The debts of these four nations in 1893 aggregated but $1,630,729,000, and in 1900 were $11,764,000,000, or seven times as much in 1793. This indicates that in the case of these four nations whose wealth in 1800 can be measured the wealth figures for 1900 are tenfold those of 1800 and the debt figures sevenfold those at the beginning of the century. If the rate of growth in wealth which has characterized the four nations whose growth during the century can be measured may be properly applied to the world at large, it may be said that the growth of the national wealth has about kept pace with that of national indebtedness, since national wealth in the cases where it can be measured is to-day ten times as great as that at the beginning of the century, and the national debts, where they can be measured, are also to-day about ten times what they were at the beginning of the century.

This enormous increase in national indebtedness is chiefly the result of wars, standing armies, and works of public utility. To this may be added a tendency in many cases to create an annual deficit by expenditures exceeding revenues made in deference to popular demand, which deficits ultimately take the form of funded or bonded indebtedness. But the bulk of the enormous debt which has been accumulated by the nations in the century is from war and war preparations and the construction of public works, such as railways, canals, harbors, and the improvement of waterways. Of the railways of the world, whose total cost has been estimated at $30,000,000,000, about one-third are owned by national governments, indicating that approximately one-third of the increase in indebtedness has been applied to works of this character; but the fact that great wars have compelled the nations engaged in them to instantly make enormous additions to their funded indebtedness clearly identifies this as the principal factor in the great increase in national indebtedness which has characterized the history of national finances in the nineteenth century.

In one particular the century is lightening the proportionate burden consequent upon public indebtedness through the reduction of rates of interest. The increased amount of money available for business purposes multiplied by the use of credit instruments has been followed by reduction of interest rates to nations as well as individuals. This is especially true in the last half of the century, and is illustrated in perhaps an exceptional degree by the fact that the government of the United States, which in 1865 was paying 7.3 per cent. on $830,000,000 of its securities, in 1900 issued over $300,000,000 of securities at two per cent. The interest charge upon the bulk of the national debts of the world to-day stands at from 2 to 3½ per cent., or probably about one-half that which the great nations were required to pay at the beginning of the century. The total appropriations by the governments of the world for interest and debt reduction, as nearly as can be estmiated, amounted in 1900 to $1,300,000,000, or slightly more than four per cent. upon the total indebtedness.

Debt reduction seems from a study of the history of national indebtedness during the century to be a subject almost foreign to that of debt accumulation. The history of the century shows, with only a few exceptions, a record of constant increases and comparatively little effort at debt reduction. In many cases the authorization of an issue of securities is accompanied by provisions for the creation of a sinking fund for the reduction of "amortization" of the debt, but too often the ready cash at hand in this fund proves apparently too great a temptation to legislators and it is frequently utilized for purposes foreign to those for which created; while it is usually the first in the list of annual requirements to feel the result of shortage in revenue, and in many cases the nominal sinking fund provided by the act authorizing the loan fails to produce the accumulations and actual debt reduction promised.

Indeed, the only instances in which a material reduction of public indebtedness has been recorded during the past quarter are the United Kingdom and the United States, though it is proper to add that certain of the European governments, notably Switzerland, Germany, Belgium, Netherlands, Sweden, Norway and Denmark, have so adjusted their indebtedness to railway ownership that the properties thus accumulated practically equal the value of the debt and produce sufficient revenue to meet most of the annual charges thereon. A study, however, of the nominal indebtedness of the world in 1870 and 1900 shows that, in general terms, the Latin-American nations have during that time increased their indebtedness 50 per cent.; the European nations, exclusive of the United Kingdom, 100 per cent.; those of Asia, 200 per cent.; the British colonies other than India, 400 per cent., while the United Kingdom has reduced her indebtedness about 25 per cent. and the United States 50 per cent.

Frozen Strawberries with Cream.

Put four tablespoonfuls of granulated sugar in a quart of water, and boil for half an hour. To this add two quarts of fine ripe strawberries, and cook gently for 20 minutes. Then set aside to cool. Then turn into a freezer and work until frozen. Remove dasher and stir into the frozen berries a pint of whipped cream. Serve at once.—Washington Star.

SPORTING.

ON THE DIAMOND.

Uncertainty as to the weather caused only seven of the Fleetwood A. C. baseball team, of New York, to come to Plainfield, Saturday, to play the St. Mary nine. The remainder of the team did not show up and the game was declared off

The first and second teams of Hope chapel crossed bats on the Plainfield avenue diamond, Saturday afternoon, and as a result the first nine won by a score of 31 to 7. The battery for the winning team was Hewitt and Hartfelder, and for the second team, Utzinger and Whitney.

The baseball nine of the city police force practices regularly every afternoon. While not in league form as yet the team does some heavy stunts on the diamond. The composition of the nine is as follows: Pitcher, Overbaugh; catcher, Conroy; first base, Charles Flynn; second base, John J. Flynn; third base, Higgins; shortstop, McCarthy; right field, Saffron; left field, Totten; centre field, Lunger; substitute, centre field, Myers. There will be little work for the outfield since the eagle eye of Plainfield's detective is depended upon to prevent any ball escaping from shortstop. "What do we have detectives for?" "Maurie" Higgins is expected to bat with a hatchet. "Kiely's kolts" will be in great form by Christmas.

GOLF.

In the final play Saturday on the Essex County Country Golf Club course, Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers was defeated by Miss Hecker. Mrs. Rogers did not play up to her standard, else she would have won easily. This week the women's championship play will engage the attention of golfers at Ardsley. Mrs. Rogers has entered for the tournament.

WHIST.

The last game for the Metropolitan trophy was played a week ago Saturday between the Knickerbocker Whist Club, holders, and the Brooklyn Whist Club, challengers, the former winning by a margin of three tricks. The trophy will now be held by the Knickerbocker Whist Club until the opening of the next whist season, September 15, 1901.

Successful Festival.

Mizpah Lodge, No. 1, U. O. of I. O. L., held a very successful strawberry festival Saturday evening at 114 West Second street. Considering the inclement weather the attendance was excellent and most everything was disposed of. All the members served on the committee of arrangements and were in charge at the festival. The proceeds are for the benefit of the lodge.

Arraigned Second Time.

James Simpson and Sarah Spiers, who were arrested for the Burnett fur robbery, made their second appearance in Jefferson Market police court yesterday. They were remanded by Magistrate Deuell until Thursday morning. Simpson will not submit to requisition without the necessary papers, and it will be some time yet before he will be brought to this county.

New Machinery Installed.

The work of installing new machinery at the electric light works is completed and everything is in satisfactory running order.

WALLACE ARRESTED.

Started to Clean House On Being Refused a Drink—Police Took a Hand.

After the usual struggle and resistance, Larry Wallace and his cousin, George Shea, of Scotch Plains, were placed in the city jail by Sergeant Frederickson and Roundsman Flynn, Saturday night. They were refused a drink in a local hotel and started to clean house, but were themselves thrown out.

In the city court this morning both pleaded guilty to charges of disorderly conduct and resisting arrest. Wallace was fined $15 or forty days and Shea $5 or twenty days. Both fines were paid.

Before Wallace was released he was informed by City Judge Runyon that the next time he appeaared in court, no matter on what charge, he would receive the heaviest sentence which could be imposed upon him.

AT THE POLO GROUNDS.

Quite a Number Of Plainfielders Saw Princeton-Yale Game.

Quite a number of Plainfielders were in evidence at the concluding game of baseball between Princeton and Yale Universities at the polo grounds in New York Saturday. Among others were noted F. O. Herring, J. T. Baker, W. C. Baker and wife, Howard Beebe, Lester Glenney, David Pond, Mr. and Mrs. Glenney and son, Lawrence Tweedy, Mellick Tweedy, Charles A King and the Misses Virginia Hegeman, Marjorie Fleming, Dorothy Fleming, Margaret Goddard, Helen Brown and Bessie Brown.

Perhaps the event of most interest to the younger Plainfield element was the entertainment given to the Leal's School baseball team by Charles B. Corwin, of Madison avenue and Ninth street. The party consisted of Geo. Dupee, F. L. Dupee, H. A. McGee, W. J. Schoonmaker, R. B. Schoonmaker, D. C. Griggs, S. W. Corwin, L. Whiteside, H. S. Rogers, H. Dollner, B. Abbott and A. Thompson.

Withheld the Sentence.

Michael Gleason, of Cottage place, was arraigned in the city court this morning charged with drunkenness and disorderly concert on Watchung avenue Saturday evening. Chief Kiely gave him a good recommendation and through this City Judge Runyon placed a sentence of $10 or forty days over his head which is to be imposed when he is arrested again.

Mary Luke in Trouble.

A too exuberant celebration over her release from the county jail, lead to the arrest of Mary Luke on West Front Srtreet Saturday afternoon. After being taken to the city jail she became ill and had to be removed to her old quarters at the Industrial Home. In all probability no charge will be made against her.

Ran Fish Hook in Finger.

Viola Casset, a ten year-old girl, living on West Third street, accidentally ran a fish-hook into one of her fingers Saturday morning. Her parents were unable to extricate it, and she was taken to the office of Dr. Anderson. The physician worked for some time before it was removed.

Enjoyed the Sea Breezes.

Mrs. Horace J. Martin, of Jackson avenue, chaperoned a party of thirteen young women of the borough on a trip to Seawarren Saturday afternoon. After spending an enjoyable time at the shore the party returned late in the evening.

WON FIVE GAMES.

Exhibition Of Simultaneous Blindfold Playing Against Five Local Players.

Julius Finn, of New York, gave an exhibition of simultaneous blindfold chess playing at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday evening. His opponents were: Board No. 1, H. D. Hibbard; No. 2, F. Miller; No. 3, Dr. Cregar; No. 4 Alexander Millar; No. 5, Paul Whitall.

Mr. Finn, although obliged to keep a mental picture of each game, dictated his moves with wonderful promptness, and won every game. A piece on board No. 3 became displaced during the progress of the game, and the only man to discover it was Mr. Finn, who wanted to use the square, and advised that it should be unoccupied. The game was looked over, Mr. Finn found to be right, and the game was resigned to him at once, the player seeing that it was hopelessly lost.

Board No. 1 was the strongest game, and it looked to a layman as if the blind-fold player might be defeated, but Mr. Finn stated that there was no advantage and that he could surely draw. He offered an exchange of queens and then offered to exchange his knight for a bishop, which was declined, and Mr. Finn then stated that he would win, which he did.

There was a large number of chess lovers out, and it is hoped to get Mr. Finn out again later on.

The family living in the house were away at the time and a fire left in the kitchen stove was responsible for the flames in the chimney.

THE WALL OF PEKING

How It Was Scaled and Captured by American Soldiers.

A Feat of Gallantry and Intrepidity Which Was Witnessed and Cheered by Thousands of Men of the Old World.

It was a Vinton (Ia.) soldier boy who first scaled the great wall of Peking and planted on the crest the American flag. It was American regular and volunteer soldiers who first showed the troops of the allied powers how the trooper of the "athletic west" gets over a wall. At home, says the Chicago Record-Herald, we have seen the Aurora zouaves do it on the stage—set up their imitation wall, give their cheer, go at it and over it.

But the boys before Peking did even better than the Aurora fellows. The Aurora boys scaled their mimic wall by raising one over the shoulders of the other until the top was reached. The American boys in Peking found a wall before them constructed of age-baked mud, irregularly placed rock and brick. Time had made a few slight openings in the face, openings in which a bird might hide, but to which no one would ever dream that a man could cling. From base to crest the height ran regularly. In places the wall was 80 and 100 feet high. In other spots it was as low as 30 feet.

No ladders rested against the great barrier; no scaling apparatus was at hand to aid the boys in blue in going over. They could either wait until the city gates were forced open and then go around and meekly walk through them after other troops had cleared the way, or they could defy Mongolian wall architecture and go over the obstacle in front of them. There was no waiting. A curly-headed boy, out of the far west, made a leap for the crevice in the wall.

AN EXCITING MOMENT.
(How the Americans Scaled the Walls at Peking, China.)

He dug his fingers into it, while his toes sought to break beneath. Then he begun to "shin." Did you ever "shin" up the sheer front of a great cliff or a high tree or a stone building? It's great exercise, and it requires the strongest kind of nerve and daring. You cling to the height as if you were a plaster. You pull yourself up from point to point by sheer strength. You never look down. You always look up. Your finger joints crack, the finger tips bleed, the knees are skinned, the toes ache and the instep acts as if it would break in two. But up you go, breathless you crawl over the top, sink panting to the level and wonder how you did it.

That's how the American boys went up the great wall of Peking, hand by hand, breathless, dauntless, conquering. The Vinton boy was first, and he flung out the stars and stripes, and he would have had a roar of cheers if any man in his party had had a breath left. Men of the old world standing by cheered, though. They had to. One of them snapped a kodak on the brave fellows as they went up. Such marvelous celerity and bravery was new to the orient, where the Chinese walls have been classed as unscalable save with special ladders.

The American boys did not think, though, that they had done so very much. Why should they? The great majority of the American troops in the orient have been drawn from western farms, forests and streams. As boys they were raised with the plow, the ax or in the village store. Their sports were strictly physicial. The nice, little and cleanly games played in city life, and excellent for perpetuating paresis in children, were unknown to them. They rode rough horses and battled with them for mastery. They swam rougher streams and laughed at wet clothes. They scaled cliffs like those at Winona, Minn.; Davenport, Rock Island, St. Paul, or far over to the Missouri, for birds, their eggs, flowers or the mere sport of defying nature.

Their fathers had done this sort of thing before them. Hence they were born fearless and with the great capacity of doing because they knew they could do. The old wall at Peking was nothing more to them than a great bluff on the Mississippi—the bluff at home up which they had gone time and time again or missed the hold and fell to the bottom, temporarily beaten, but not conquered.

The American soldier is a child of the wind, the plain, the song of streams and the savagery of cliff, land and mountains. That's why he reached the top wall of Peking first.

Checks Bad Things to Meddle With

"You can't monkey with a check," said a business man, "as a friend of mine has learned at the cost of three or four dollars for protest fees. He lives in Springfield, Mass., and to that point the other day I sent him a check for rent. In a couple of days I received a blank check from him on my bank, with the request that I would do him a favor to fill out my checks before sending them to him in payment for any obligations. I was certain I had filled the check out that I had intended for him but I thought possibly I had sent it off in some letter or other, so to prevent any future trouble I called at my bank and stopped payment on what I thought was a missing check. Two or three days later I got another letter, in which he explained that he was having fun with me, because in sending him my check I had torn off two from the pad and they were stuck together, and he thought it would be a joke to send the blank one back to me to have it filled It had cost him the fees, and he was sorry that he had been so funny, and he wouldn't do so any more."—N. ANNIVERSARY OF THE HOLY CROSS PARISH.

Thirty-two Years Have Passed by Since First Service Was Held There.

SHORT SKETCH OF PARISH.

SOMETHING ABOUT THE PRESENT RECTOR, REV. W. M. DOWNEY.

Time Also Marks Thirteenth Anniversary of the Vested Choir—How the Church Grew and Prospered.

Coincidental with the annual visit of Bishop Scarborough to the parish last week came the thirty-second anniversary of the first service held in the Church of the Holy Cross. Inasmuch as the Bishop was present to confirm a large class of candidates, no special anniversary service was held, though mention was made of the auspicious occasion by the rector, Rev. W. Montgomery Downey.

The history of the parish, though brief, is one of special interest The church edifice was erected at the corner of Washington and Mercer avenues in 1868, at the personal expense of Rev. Edmund Embury. When completed the cost of the building was $13,000, exclusive of an organ installed as the gift of Mrs. Eleanor Bronk, wife of H. P. Bronk. The estimated valuation of land at the time was $6,000.

Subsequently the parish was organized and the church was admitted to the Diocesan Convention. In the fall of 1870, Rev. Mr. Embury was elected rector, and later in the same year, Rev. Alfred Goldsborough was selected as his assistant. Rev. Charles W. Ward, who succeeded Rev. Mr. Goldsborough in 1872, was chosen rector after the resignation of Rev. Mr. Embury in March, 1873. He left, however, during the same year.

Following him came Rev. C. W. Camp, who was the incumbent for a very short time, and Rev. Charles C. Fisk. The latter resigned in 1876. While rector, Rev. Mr. Ward gave the church a handsome alms basin made of the melted silver from the wedding gifts of his wife who had died previously.

In the centennial year the construction of a parish building was commenced with money left for the purpose by Mrs. Jane E Spooner, a member of the parish. The corner stone was laid by the Bishop of the Diocese.

On Ash Wednesday in 1877, Rev. T. Logan Murphy entered upon his duties as rector. Shortly afterward the parish building was completed and a sweet toned bell placed in the tower of the church. A lecturn, pulpit and altar cross were given as memorials by parishioners. In 1881, the rectory was built. Five years later the interior of the church edifice was elaborately decorated.

Thirteen years ago, June 9, a vested choir, organized with Charles W. Kellogg as choirmaster, sang at the church services for the first time. A new organ was placed in the church in 1890, and a year later the parish building was enlarged to double its original capacity.

After serving as rector for twenty-two years, Rev. Mr. Murphy resigned in the spring of 1899. Subsequently the Church of the Redeemer, which had been organized five years previously, was consolidated with the church and Rev. W. Montgomery Downey, the incumbent of the former parish, became rector of the reunited congregation.

During its short existence the parish has prospered and especially so under the rectorship of the clergyman now in charge of the work. It had but fifty communicants in 1870, and today there are 300. Then it had only thirty pupils in its Sunday-school and now the roll contains the names of over 125. From a struggling parish it has become one of affluence A number of active church organizations are ever endeavoring to increase its numerical and spiritual strength. The Women's Guild of the parish is a model organization and has been the means of much good work. Above all the parish is fortunate in having a rector of scholarly attainments and affable manner.

Rev. Mr. Downey is a native of New York. He was graduated from St. Stephen's College, Annandale, N. Y., in 1886, and subsequently took the divinity course for two years at the Berkeley Divinity School, Middletown, Conn. In May, 1889, he was graduated from the General Theological Seminary, in New York city.

After serving as rector of the Church of the Redeemer, Middletown, Conn., for nearly three years, he resigned to become curate at Holy Trinity church, N Y. Later Rev. Mr Downey was rector of Trinity church, Seymour, Conn.

In November, 1897, he was elected rector of the church of the Redeemer, North Plainfield, succeeding Rev. Jocelyn Johnstone.

Two years later when the Church of the Redeemer and the Church of the Holy Cross united, Rev. Mr. Downey became the rector of the consolidated parish. The prospects of the parish were never so bright as they are at present.

The vestry is composed of the following: George P. Dupee and Dr. J. H. Carman, wardens; and Charles L. Nichols, E. C. Perkins, A. E. Faber, Jr., Thomas L. Pollard and Horsley Barker, vestrymen.

POLICEMAN ESCORTED NON-UNION MAN HOME.

Crowd Of Strikers Assembled To Meet Him And Violence Was Feared.

CROWD FOLLOWED HIM HOME

WARNED HIM THAT HE WOULD NOT FARE SO WELL NEXT TIME.

Clayton Ackerman, of Washington Street, Began Work At Pond's Yesterday—Strikers Heard Of It—Said They Wanted To Persuade Him

There is one non-union machinist in this city, at least, who realizes that the striking workmen from the local shops are a determined set and will, if possible, prevent any work from being carried on in the machine departments. He is Clayton Ackerman, of Washington street, who yesterday morning commenced work at the Pond shop.

Before night nearly every machinist in the city knew of the fact. When he quit at 6 o'clock last evening, a score of strikers met him at the door. Their only purpose in doing so, they declare, was to talk to him and, if possible, persuade him to remain away from the shop while the strike is in progress. It was thought by the officials of the works, however, that they intended doing him violence and for that reason, the police were notified. Patrolman Morris Higgins responded and when Ackerman emerged, he proceeded to escort him to his home.

Several of the strikers attempted to talk to Ackerman, but he positively refused to have anything to do with them. Not daunted by the first repulse, they trailed in the rear of the policeman and his charge, all the while hurling cries at the non-union man and by turns begging him to quit. To all of their urgings, Ackerman turned a deaf ear.

The procession went straight up town and as the main streets were traversed the crowd in the rear was constantly added to by stragglers picked up along the route, until by the time Ackerman's home was reached, it was quite large. Ackerman was permitted to enter without any demonstration, beyond the warning shouted by some of the strikers that the next time he would not probably fare as well.

Last evening the young men attended the Endeavor meeting in Trinity Reformed church and by their prayers and testimonies helped to make the meeting a helpful and interesting one. George Bolsterli, one of the members of the band, led the meeting, assisted by Ralph Bullman, another member of the band.

TOOK MONEY OUT OF SAFE.

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE OF $11 FROM PARK AVENUE STORE.

Was Included in Roll of Bills Amounting to $97—Safe was Locked—No Entrance Effected.

Richard Brown, manager of the New York Painting and Decorating Company, whose store is located on Park avenue, is greatly puzzled over the disappearance of $11 from his safe, sometime during last night. The amount was abstracted from a roll of bills amounting to $97, which was placed in the safe last evening. To Mr. Brown's knowledge, no one was in the store during the night, yet the amount was missing this morning although the safe was found locked.

It was thought at first that someone had entered through a rear window but a close investigation showed this to be impossible A small pane of glass had been broken sometime ago but the window had not been opened. The person who took the money was evidently familiar with the safe combination, but the mystery remains to be solved as to how entrance to the store was effected.

DOG CARRIED DISEASE.

Pet Dog Is Held Responsible For Spread Of Scarlet Fever In Borough.

A small pet dog is responsible for three cases of scarlet fever in the borough.

The Board of Health, after thoroughly investigating the cause of three cases of the dreaded contagion in the household of Bert MacDonald on Pearl street, has decided that no local conditions were primarily the cause. It was found that a pet dog was allowed to be caressed by Miss Lillian Woodland, of Grove street, who was ill with the fever.

Although the house was properly quarantined by the Board of Health the animal was permitted to leave the dwelling. In the course of its travels it wandered over to the MacDonald home on Pearl street, where it was fondled by the three children. Within eight days after the dog had been in the MacDonald house each of the three children were stricken with the disease.

The quarantine has now been raised at the Woodland home, on Grove street, and the house thoroughly fumigated by Inspector Wm. N Pangborn.

BABY CAMP TO OPEN.

Charitable Work of Local King's Daughters Will be Resumed as Soon as Repairs Can be Made.

The Baby Camp on the mountainside, conducted by the local City Union of the King's Daughters, will be opened for the season shortly. The committee in charge will visit the site of the camp Thursday for the purpose of getting everything in shape for the summer.

Since the camp was closed last year some scoundrels have maliciously injured the building. In their work of vandalism some of the glass in the windows has been smashed; a door lock broken and an outbuilding upset. This condition will necessitate repairs and consequently some delay in opening the camp

A very enjoyable illustrated lecture was given last evening at Monroe Avenue church under the auspices of the Women's Home Missionary Society entitled, "Aladdin's Lamp in the Sunny South" The lecture was given by Rev. J. Benson Hamilton, president of Walden University.

The many fine views of the south, showing the progress being made in the work of home missions, were of the greatest interest to the large number of persons present. Dr. Walden told particularly of the work done by the Methodist church, and this shows a marked improvement in every department.

CLASS DAY HELD AT CITY HIGH SCHOOL.

Merry "Roasts" for Teachers and Pupils Greatly Edified a Large Audience.

HELD IN FRANKLIN BUILDING

AT THE CLOSE OF THE ENTERTAINMENT A DANCE WAS HELD.

Harold Smalley Gave Class History—Class Poem Written by C. Ames Brooks—Many Local Hits in Prophecy—Class Legacy Also Read.

The Class Day exercises of the graduating class of the Plainfield High School were held in the assembly rooms of the Franklin School building last evening.

Friends, sweethearts and relatives of the happy young folk, comprising the membership of the graduating class, filled the room long before the appointed time for the programme to begin, and eagerly awaited for the fun to commence.

This occasion is the one time in the school life of a pupil when no check is put on the pranks that may be resorted to by those participating. It is the recognized time for the shortcomings and frailties of those in anywise connected with an institution of this kind to be presented to the audience in the most exaggerated form possible, and this idea was well carried out at the exercises last evening.

The affair commenced with a well-rendered overture by the orchestra and as soon as the closing strains of the selection had died away J. Hollywood Titus mounted the platform to announce the programme for the evening. There was no intention to make his speech at all a feature, but nevertheless his "effort" afforded much amusement to the audience.

Harold L Smalley delivered the class history He recounted particularly the weaknesses of the class of 1900 as individuals as well as a collective body, and his meaning references contained much humor. The sallies of wit which he cast at his own classmates were also very laughable. A humorous recitation was the enjoyable contribution of Miss Elsie Smith towards the evening's entertainment. The class poem, composed by C. Ames Brooks and read by Miss Ethel Titsworth, was especially good.

The class poem was as follows:

Poets may sing to us ever the deeds and the daring of heroes,
History tell and tradition repeat the lives of great men;
But we would flee from the shades of the past and dwell in the present,
And find a voice that shall speak to one in the prattle of children,
Telling the same fresh hopes that are born with each generation.

For, in the wintry night when the tale goes round and the firelight
Quivers and fades and reflects their wandering faces about us, While without the wind roars by and moans
in the tree tops,
Do we not see in them the self-same joy we have all known?
And behold in them the reflection of what we all have been?
And the world without is fairest in spring from the winter awaking.

So is our life the brightest when life in our souls is but budding,
So then the days of his youth let each of us ever remember!
For, when man groweth old, and beat, and weary with trouble,
Cometh, like balm to his soul, the hazy dream of his childhood;
And, with the thought, the dearth and disasters of life are forgotten.
Just as the swallow when winter is near seeks the isles to the southward,
And forgets, in his flight to the land where there ever is summer,
All, save the happy groves and fields of the land he is leaving.

Thus then we stand with that earlier life all dead and behind us:
Melted like morning mists that flee from the face of the ocean.
Leaving no golden tint and naught but the sweep of the billows.
Thus the bright mists have fled and the ocean of life is before us.
And we must sail while hope is yet bright and the day but dawning.
For far away must he be from hence by the twilight and evening
Yet, when the sun goes down and the mists arise and the twilight
Creeps over all the deep, we shall see, gazing earnestly backward,
Gleams of his glory illuming each slow fading
cliff and each headland
Of this fair land whence today we are ever departing.
All the haunts and hopes and the happiest dreams of our childhood.

After a piano selection had been rendered by Harold L. Smalley, the class prophecy was read by Miss Ella Lounsbury. The forecast she delivered was particularly good and received marked applause. Naturally its lines are best understood by those, who are more intimately acquainted with the "subjects," before the calcium light brought to bear by the young woman in her successful poetical venture.

The prophecy was in verse. In it the prediction was made that Miss Martha Anthony would be a musical composer; that Miss Mildred Greene would some day change her name; that "Horse" Pond would be a foot ball player, and that Miss Elizabeth Bowen would be a society woman. According to it, Miss Beulah Cline will be a womans' rights orator; "Freddie" Mason, whose time is spent in breaking Z us' rule, is cut out for a lawyer, and Mellick Tweedy for a parson, although he is to be an engineer. Mrs. Kizzie Eager will be a "walking encyclopedia," and Miss Lillian Maclay, who dislikes MacClay, will have her name changed. Miss Elsie Smith will be a professor of geometry; "Hollie" Titus, the adjutant who gives his orders in Greek, will be a civil engineer; Harold Smalley, a Sousa in the dim future, and Peter Ughetta will win success by his name. "you get her." Miss Madeline Evans is picked out as a future trained nurse and Miss Louise Evans, a future professor in Greek in the new High School, and she will find that Miss Travell will be the first new school graduate. Townsend Mason is going to be a soldier; Lawrence Tweedy, a doctor; Ames Brooks, a poet. Ned Janes is "Parson Janes" and "Oy" Kinsman, the "missing link." Miss Ethel Titsworth is pictured as the girl who lives on sweets.

Frederick Mason read the class legacy which was an unique feature. In the form of a will the class bequeathed all its possessions acquired the school.

This concluded the evening's entertainment so far as the special exercises were concerned. The remainder of the evening, however, was devoted to an enjoyable dance in which all the young folks participated.

The members of the class are the Misses Ella Lounsbury, Bessie Bowen, Madeline Evans, Mildred Green, Beulah Cline, Margaret Rand, Lillian Maclay, Elsie Smith, Louise Whitney, Martha Anthony and Mrs. Kizzie Yeager and J. Hollywood Titus, David S. Pond, Shepherd Randolph, Lawrence L Tweedy, Mellick Tweedy, Cyrus H. Kinsman, C. Ames Brooks, Peter L. Ughetta. Frederick Mason, Townsend Mason, Edward A. Janes and Harold Smalley.

RALPH CAMPBELL TO WED.

Will Marry a New York Young Woman Wednesday Evening, June 26.

Rev. B. H. Burch, of New York, has issued invitations to the marriage of his daughter, Miss Grace M. Burch, to Ralph Campbell, formerly of this city, but now of Yonkers, N. Y. The event will be celebrated Wednesday evening, June 26 at 7 o'clock, at the Mott Avenue M. E. church, New York City.

Mr. Campbell is well known in this city. He was graduated from the High School in 1893, after which he took a year's post-graduate course. He then entered in the University of New York, being graduated in 1898. The following summer he spent abroad in Germany completing his studies. Last year he took the place of Miss Cumming, as instructor in the Plainfield High School, during the illness of the latter. Last fall he accepted a position as instructor in the High School at Yonkers, which position he has held ever since. After an extended wedding trip the couple will reside at Mott avenue and 150th street, New York City.

Doings In Mattison's Court.

In Justice Mattison's court yesterday judgment was given in the case on contract of Boericke and Tafel against Alfred A. Marsh. The case on contract brought by Hand & Son against Samuel W. Doty was continued until September 5, on motion of Senator Charles A. Reed, counsel for the defendant, on account of the absence of an important witness.

No Board of Trade Meeting.

A counter attraction in the way of an illustrated lecture in the same building, proved too much for the few members of the Board of Trade who appeared last evening, and after waiting for a short time they left to witness the pictures. As a result, the regular meeting of the board was given up, it being impossible to secure a quorum.

PARTICIPANTS TOLD OF WAR IN PHILIPPINES

Interesting Lecture By Dr. M. S. Simpson On "The Philippines And Macabebe Scouts."

AT CAMERA CLUB ROOMS.

DR. SIMPSON WAS OFFICER OF THE MACABEBE SCOUTS.

Showed Pictures, Many Of Which Were Taken By Himself—Also Had Collection Of Curios He Brought Home

An audience, that completely filled the Plainfield Camera Club's large room in the Babcock building, assembled last evening to enjoy another one of the series of "lantern evenings," that have been given by the club during the past few months. Under the auspices of the club, Dr. M. S. Simpson, of LaGrande avenue, gave his highly interesting illustrated lecture on "The Philippines and Macabebe Scouts."

Dr. Simpson served with the Macabebe Scouts and his experience was thrilling in the extreme. The excellent service rendered by these scouts was of great value to the regular army and helped in no small degree to put down the rebellion in the islands.

In opening his lecture, Dr. Simpson exhibited two maps of the islands and explained in detail the situation at all the important points, thus making it far more easy to follow the speaker in his talk concerning the movements of the various troops about the island. The majority of the pictures shown were taken by Dr. Simpson and are valued much by him. They gave a clear conception of the campaign in the Philippines and showed the many difficulties that had to be met by the scouts in fighting the insurgents.

Dr. Simpson was the only original member of the scouts who remained from start to finish, the others being killed or being sent back with injuries, etc. The speaker praised the Macabebes and their work and of their loyalty. They fought like one man and did valiant service throughout. Some very beautiful views were shown, giving one an idea of the resources of the islands. Throughout the lecture the speaker told many interesting and exciting stories, all experienced by him and his son, and some of the escapes were almost miraculous.

The pictures also showed the life and habits of the natives and this proved very interesting, as explained by one who is thoroughly acquainted with every phase of life there. Dr. Simpson also had an exhibit of curios, including native hat, shoes, rain coat, shirt waist, bows and arrows, guns, etc., which were hung on the walls. These were examined by the audience at the close of the lecture.

John Neagle operated the lantern slides in an efficient manner and thus assisted in making the lecture the great success that it was.

SENIORS' TROUBLES.

Juniors Stole Graduating Class Banner And Hung It Up On Telegraph Pole.

In the North Plainfield High School the senior class is still being tormented by the juniors. Not content with appropriated some of the ice cream intended for the graduating class's luncheon last week, the lower class pupils connived yesterday to desecrate the senior class banner, the pride of the graduates.

This morning the banner was discovered dangling from the top of a nearby telegraph pole, but with some difficulty it was recaptured by the upper class boys. G. C. M. Smith is now wearing the banner as a vest.

RAILWAY WRECK.

Seaboard Air Line Special Jumps a Trestle—Many Injured.

HAMLET, N. C., June 18.—The north bound Seaboard Air line Atlanta special turned broadside off a trestle into a pond about a mile north of Rockingham.

There were on board about 25 or 30 passengers, all of whom were more or less injured, several very seriously, and two, a white man and a negro, probably fatally. There were three ladies and some children aboard, none of whom was seriously hurt.

The engine and two mail cars passed over in safety, but the combination baggage and second first class and two Pullmans turned over. On account of the rains the piers of the trestle gave way on the left side. At the first crash all the lights went out, and water rushed in waist deep through the windows.

Baggage Master Smith, though seriously hurt himself, at once thought of the freight following close behind. He crawled out and, seizing a lantern, hobbled down the track and flagged the freight, thereby preventing a second catastrophe. When the freight stopped, he was lying on the ground unable to rise, but still waving his lantern. He fell time and again before he succeeded in getting far enough back to flag the train. He had to be carried back on a stretcher.

The newsboy also did heroic work, crawling through the cars helping the almost drowned passengers to escape through the transom over a door.

Branded by Anarchists.

NEW YORK, June 18.—The Herald says this morning: "All through life one of the men who have composed the Paterson group of anarchists will carry upon the back of his right hand a livid "T," burned in the flesh and marking him as a traitor to the cause to which he swore devotion. The branding was done at a picnic in Liberty park, Ridgewood, on Long Island, Sunday afternoon. A steel instrument, heated to redness, was used upon the man who is believed to have betrayed his fellows, and the incident may be made the subject of an official investigation, based upon a complaint made by the Italian consul. Extreme reticence is observed by those who have absolute knowledge of the punishment of the alleged traitor. It is known that the man whose flesh was seared is named Reppo. Some say he has been employed in the office of an Italian newspaper, the columns of which are devoted largely to the cause of anarchy. Others assert that he is a spy in the pay of the Italian government and that Beppo is an assumed name.

There are about 150 men employed in the Plant system shops here. The men are now working nine hours and getting nine hours' pay. They gave the road until noon today to make answer to the demand. If the answer is not satisfactory, all the union men in the shop will go out.

THE CHILEAN CLAIMS

Last Case Decided by the Commission.

NINETEEN CASES ADJUDICATED.

Total American Claims Against Chile Were $3,400,000—Only $28,062 Awarded—Itata Claim Dismissed.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The United States and Chilean claims commission has completed its work. The last case to be decided was that involving the seizure in 1891 of the Chilean vessel Itata by the authorities of the United States on the grounds that she was carrying a cargo of contraband and arms to Chile. The claim was for $44,051, with interest, and was made by the South American Steamship company, which had chartered the ship to the Chilean government. The decision dismisses the case. Minister Pioda of Switzerland, president of the commission, and Mr. Gage, the American commissioner, agreed in this view, while Minister Vicuna of Chile dissented. The commission sums up its findings as follows:

"First.—That the damage alleged by the plaintiffs was not occasioned by any unjustifiable action on the part of the United States; that the Itata was not pursued by the naval authorities of the United States upon the high seas into Chilean waters, induced to surrender by display of superior force and brought back under duress.

"Second.—That the Itata was voluntarily placed at the disposal of the United States by the provisional government of Chile.

"Third.—That there was probable cause for the detention of the Itata at San Diego by the authorities of the United States, and therefore no wrong was done.

"Fourth.—That the claimant has brought suit in the courts of Chile against the government of Chile to recover damages upon the identical claim that is here set up against the United States, that the company has recovered judgment thereon and that these judgments have been paid to the company by the government of Chile. The case must therefore be dismissed."

Another important case decided was that of the Central and South American Telegraph company against Chile growing out of a tax of 2 cents a message levied during the uprising of 1891. The commission awarded $4,000 damages.

During the sessions of the commission there have been 17 cases against Chile and two against the United States. The total of American claims against Chile was $3,400,000, and of this $28,062, or .084 per cent, has been awarded by the commission. The two Chilean claims against this government were the Itata case disposed of yesterday and that of Richard Trumbull, who was awarded $3,000 for services to the United States legation in Chile in an extradition case some years ago.

Graffam Found Guilty.

PORTLAND, Me., June 18.—"Guilty of murder in the first degree" was the verdict returned by the jury against Edward Graffam, who for a fortnight has been on trial for the killing of Clifford Mosher of Gorham, after deliberating over two hours. For the first time since the trial began the defendant for a moment lost control of himself when he heard the verdict. His lips faltered, his limbs trembled, and his eyes filled with tears. This exhibition of weakness lasted only a moment, however, and then Graffam reassumed his defiant attitude. As soon as the verdict had been rendered the prisoner's counsel filed a motion for an arrest of judgment. The verdict, if not overthrown, will send Graffam to the Thomaston state prison for life, as Maine does not execute murderers.

Loomis Sent to Portugal.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—In view of the attitude of the Venezuelan government toward Francis B. Loomis, the present United States minister to that country, the president has appointed Mr. Loomis to be minister to Portugal, vice John N. Irwin, resigned. Herbert W. Bowen, now minister to Persia, has been transferred to Venezuela. Lloyd C. Griscom, first secretary of legation at Constantinople, has been appointed minister to Persia; Spencer S. Eddy, now second secretary of legation in Paris, to be first secretary at Constantinople, and A. R. Blanchard, third secretary at Paris, to be second secretary at Paris.

ALBANY, June 18.—The American Locomotive company of Schenectady, which was incorporated last week with a capital of $50,000, has filed a certificate of increase of capital stock to $50,000,000. The capital stock now consists of $25,000,000 of preferred and $25,000,000 common. The increase was authorized at a meeting held in New York Saturday. The certificate is signed by A. P. Bartlett and John T. Tracey. The state receives $24,775 as the tax upon the increase. Only $5,000 worth of the stock has been issued thus far.

Pingree's Condition Causes Alarm.

LONDON, June 18.—Ex-Governor Pingree's physician left him at midnight. There is continued apprehension as to his condition. The strongest drugs have failed to check the dysentery, and the only hopeful symptom is that the patient is enabled freely to partake of nourishment. Mrs. Pingree sails for London Wednesday, and the physicians hope that Mr. Pingree may at least be able to see his wife, as he remains perfectly rational.

Connecticut Legislature Adjourns.

HARTFORD, June 18.—Both houses of the Connecticut legislature adjourned finally yesterday after listening to an address by Governor McLean, who spoke hopefully of the prospects of the proposed constitutional convention as provided for by a bill recently passed. The senate passed a resolution permitting 50 Cuban teachers to enter the normal schools of the state.

APLEA FOR MOLINEUX

Court of Appeals Reopens the Celebrated Case.

MILBURN MAKES STRONG ARGUMENT

Introduction of the Barnet Evidence Declared to Have Been an Error—The Theory of Revenge Ridiculed.

BUFFALO, June 18.—The court of appeals yesterday heard the first argument for a new trial for Roland B. Molineux, the young New York clubman, athlete and chemist, under sentence of death for poisoning Mrs. Katherine J. Adams in December, 1898, who was the unintended victom of a plot veiled by the use of the American post to take the life of Harry Cornish, manager of athletic sports.

Judges Parker, Vann, Bartlett, Gray, O'Brien, Haight and Werner, grave in their gowns of black, sat upon the bench to hear the famous case, and down at the counsels' table were former United States Senator David Bennett Hill, who holds the brief of the people, and John G. Milburn, president of the Pan-American exposition, who espouses the cause of the young prisoner at Sing Sing.

With Hill sat Assistant District Attorney Lebarbier of New York, and grouped about Milburn were George Gordon Battle and Bartow S. Weeks, who defended Molineux at his trial; General Molineux, father of the prisoner, and David N. Carvalho, handwriting expert, who advised the defense.

Many more than the courtroom would hold crowded into the corridors to hear the story of the almost fascinating crime linked with the double mystery of the death of Henry C. Barnet, and the officers of the court barred the outer doors and admitted the favored ones by a rear entrance.

Milburn, for the appellant, talked during the entire session of the court, gaining a hearing at 10:30 o'clock, when a civil case closed, and speaking until 2 o'clock, when the court arose for the day.

Senator Hill sat through the entir speech without an interruption that called him to his feet. He smiled at times in a manner that suggested the thought sarcastic and made notes for his address.

Milburn's address of three and a half hours' duration was directed largely to the alleged error of the lower court in admitting evidence as to the death of Henry C. Barnet, and he spared neither Recorder Goff, the trial judge, for his rulings on evidence nor the district attorney's staff for its methods in securing the admission of evidence. He spent nearly two hours in a review of the known facts of the two cases, pregnant with doubt and mystery, and sought to show what he described as the flimsy fabric upon which the entire case rested. He ridiculed the idea that the Cornish theory of revenge and the Barnet theory of jealousy could be reconciled and, disclaiming a desire to cast suspicion in any direction, advanced the opinion that the man who poisoned Mrs. Adams had two accomplices.

Stinson Defeated Nelson.

BOSTON, June 18.—Will Stinson won the 30 mile motór paced race from John Nelson at Charles River park yesterday. Nelson was thrown early in the race, having at that time broken five world's competition records. Nelson was two miles behind Stinson at the finish. Stinson's time was 48m. 50 1-5s. A great crowd witnessed the race. The riding of both men was terrific. The result of the contest was somewhat unexpected, as many experts figured out that Stinson could not compare with Nelson as a speed merchant at the present time. Stinson will in all probability be now matched against Harry Elkes for the world's middle distance championship.

LL. D. For Cambon.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Embassador Cambon of France has gone to Chicago, where he will receive the degree of LL. D. from the University of Chicago. The honor is the more notable as it has been conferred by the university only on President McKinley. This is the second American university to give this high degree to the French embassador, Harvard having bestowed the doctorate upon him two years ago. The embassador will deliver an address at Chicago on the influence of the university in the development of national character.

Stole Five Hundred Cases of Tea.

NEW YORK, June 18.—The storage warehouse of Benjamin J. Hill, the tea merchant, at Metropolitan avenue and Berry street, Brooklyn, was robbed at 4 o'clock yesterday morning of 500 cases of tea valued at $10,000. The front door was pried open with a jimmy. When Policeman Owens saw some men working there, he was surprised, but they spoke to him familiarly and said they were employees. He thought nothing more of it and passed on. Four trucks were used to cart away the tea.

Foster's Slayer Still Free.

SHREVEPORT, La., June 18.—Prince Edwards, the murderer of John G. Foster, is still at liberty. The posse has not abandoned its efforts to locate him, and the search in northeast Texas is still in progress, but there does not seem to be any hope of immediate results. The rumor that the negro was captured between Jonesville and Scottsville is an error as well as the statement circulated that Edwards was caught at Monroe. No further attempt has been made to lynch the negroes at Benton.

New Regiments Nearly Completed.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The new regiments organized under the reorganization law are about completed. The two regiments farthest behind are the Thirteenth cavalry at Fort Meade and the Twenty-eighth infantry at Vancouver, but the enlistments of last week amounted to over 500, and it is expected that those of the present week will practically complete all the new regiments.

Chicago to San Francisco Awheel.

TOLEDO, June 18.—Edward Zahrly and Ed Miller, two wheelmen of this city, left for Chicago. They will leave that city next Friday on their wheels for San Francisco and will attempt to break the record which was established some time ago by Norman Deveaux of 27 days between Chicago and San Francisco. They expect to ride 12 hours each day.

Fortieth Volunteers Arrive.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18.—The transport Pennsylvania has arrived from Manila with 32 officers and 810 men of the Fortieth volunteer infantry.

A HARMONY MOVEMENT.

Federal Party In Porto Rico Resolves to Support the Government.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, June 18.—At a mass meeting of the Federal party held Sunday Francisco Acuna was elected party leader to succeed Munoz Rivera.

As a first step toward establishing harmonious relations between the Federal party and the American authorities a committee composed of Senores Acuna, Santiago Palmer and Diaz Navarro paid their respects to Governor Allen and offered him their co-operation in whatever measures would advance the best interests of Porto Rico. It is now thought that the time has come when party bickerings should cease and be overlooked and that all men should unite in a common desire to aid the government. The committee informed Governor Allen that they were satisfied the intentions of the administration had been for the best. Governor Allen received the visiting committee with the usual courtesies and, expressing his pleasure at their visit, said he had never for a moment doubted the result of the experiment the successful issue of which was retarded only by injudicious statements. He said the future contained much promise and that he looked and hoped for continued improvement. He intimated that the island would undoubtedly soon enjoy free trade with the United States and that as soon as Porto Rican and American markets were open to each other a great era of Porto Rican prosperity would ensue.

Yesterday's visit of the committee of three is the first instance wherein leaders of the Federal party have called upon the American governor, and it is taken as an indication of complete political harmony for the future.

Sunday's mass meeting was held in secret. It was understood during its session that the Federal party had resolved to support the government.

Philippine Commerce.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—An increase of 21 per cent in imports and 49 per cent in exports in the Philippine commerce is shown in a comparative statement just made public by the division of insular affairs, war department, setting forth the trade returns for the first ten months of 1900 as compared with the same period of the preceding year. The total value of merchandise imported into the Philippines from January to November of 1900 was $20,143,152 against $16,644,568 for the same period of 1899. The value of the exports from the Philippines during the 1900 period is set down at $19,372,830 against $12,975,605 in 1899.

Stonewall Jackson's Last Dispatch.

HAGERSTOWN, Md., June 18.—Mrs. Jacob Dellinger found among some old papers in a trunk at her home near Williamsport, this county, a copy of the last dispatch written by Stonewall Jackson to General Lee before the battle of Chancellorsville. The dispatch is dated May 2, 1863, at 3 o'clock p. m., and states that the enemy has made a stand at Chancellorsville and expresses the belief that a "kind Providence will bless us with success." The dispatch is signed "T. J. Jackson." It is supposed that the paper was left at Mr. Dellinger's house, which was occupied as a hospital during the war, by a Confederate soldier.

Professor Killed Principal.

DOTHAN, Ala., June 18.—Professor W. A. Rankin, until Saturday assistant to the principal of the Dothan public schools, shot and killed George R. McNeill, principal of the schools, and then turned the revolver upon himself with fatal effect. Professor Rankin was one of Principal McNeill's assistants last year, but on Saturday night, when a new faculty was elected, Professor Rankin was dropped from the list. Professor Rankin tried to have the matter reopened, but without success. Meeting Professor McNeill yesterday morning, Rankin killed him.

Mad Mullah Has Hard Fighting.

LONDON, June 18.—A dispatch to the foreign office from the consul general of Somaliland says that the Mad Mullah expedition had heavy fighting May 28. The flying column of mounted infantry under Captain Merewether struck the Mullah's supply camp during a night march and captured 5,000 head of cattle, killed one important chief and captured another, covered 100 miles, fought a sharp action and returned to its base, all in 24 hours.

A WONDERLAND.

Commissioner Johnston Pictures Uganda as a Hunter's Paradise.

LONDON, June 18.—Sir Harry Hamilton Johnston, special commissioner for the Uganda protectorate, has returned to London after an absence of two years. He brings stories of Uganda rivaling Henry M. Stanley's description of "Darkest Africa." Sir Harry relates that the country surrounding Moantelgon is totally depopulated as a result of intertribal wars and is consequently marvelously stocked with big game that are as tame as English park deer. Zebras and antelopes can be approached to within ten yards, and there is no sport in killing them.

Elephants and rhinoceroses are also abundant, and, according to Sir Harry, lions in Uganda are too busy eating hartebeste to notice a passing caravan. The prehistoric giraffe has been discovered in this country by the commissioner, who proposes to maintain the region referred to as a national park.

He photographed a race of beings in the Kongo forest differing entirely from Stanley's pygmies and secured phonograph records of their language and music. Sir Harry says that 12 varieties of rubber trees are found in this country in inexhaustible supply.

BUNKER HILL DAY.

Anniversary of the Battle Observed at the Exposition.

BUFFALO, June 18.—The anniversary of the battle of Bunker Hill was fittingly observed at the Pan-American exposition yesterday. New England's beautiful building erected by joint appropriation of the New England states and shared in common by them was dedicated. The structure is of colonial style, built of red brick effect, with tall white columns and massive facade. The interior finishings of halls and reception rooms are in green and white.

The ceremonies, which were under the auspices of the Massachusetts Daughters of the Revolution, were opened by a chorus of school children, singing "The Star Spangled Banner."

Watchman Kills a Boy.

NEW YORK, June 18.—Robert Becker, a private watchman employed by the Shore railroad in Hoboken, shot and instantly killed a youth about 18 years of age last night. The boy's identity has not yet been established. On the left arm are the letters "W. H." tattooed into the flesh. For some time past the Shore road has been suffering from thefts of brass journals and other train fittings. Becker's story of the affair is that while he was on guard last night he saw some one working about the cars and ordered him to come out from between two lines of cars standing on the tracks. The boy not only refused to come out, but began to bombard him with stones. He then drew his revolver and fired, not intending to hit the boy, but the shot struck him near the eye and killed him. Becker was arrested.

After Gold Thieves.

NEW YORK, June 18.—In search of two mysterious Americans who are believed to have been concerned in the theft of gold bars from the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse last April, Chief Carl of the Bremen police has arrived in this city. He will make every effort to trace the men, who are known to have escaped to America. At the time of the robbery the North German Lloyd officials offered $2,000 for the missing gold bars, which were worth about $20,000. Magers, a steward on the steamship, claimed to have discovered the bars secreted in the second cabin. He returned them and received the reward. Later he made conflicting statements to the police and was arrested on suspicion of being concerned in the robbery.

The Corn King's Corner.

NEW YORK, June 18.—George Phillips of Chicago, the "corn king," visited the Produce Exchange yesterday. He was given a great reception by the brokers. He predicted that September corn would sell at 50 and October at 32. He said: "I made over $1,000,000 for my customers in the 'corner' on May corn. There were 250 of them, and besides that thousands of farmers made millions out of that corner by selling their corn at the prices fixed by us. I did not use any of my money, but often put $700,000 a day as margins. I could thus swing 14,000,000 bushels at a time. My own profits amounted to about $250,000, but mine was all in the shape of commission."

Mormons Want Mexican Concession.

CITY OF MEXICO, June 18.—A Mormon agent, James M. Cannon, is here for the purpose of securing from the government a concession for settling 1,600 Mormon families in Sonora on the lands from which Yaqui Indians have been driven. Mr. Cannon says, "If the concession is obtained, a commissioner will be sent at once into the Yaqui territory by the Mormon church for the purpose of ascertaining the attitude of the Indians, and if peaceful a contract will be made and lands purchased from the Yaquis."

Fatal Explosion of Gasoline.

BALTIMORE, June 18.—Henry L. Lineweaver, aged 73, was suffocated to death while attempting to escape from a burning building at 739 West Mulberry street, and Robert Biwett, another old man, lies in the hospital so badly burned that his death is momentarily expected. The fire was caused by the explosion of gasoline which an occupant of the first floor of the house was pouring from one receptacle into another.

Maya Rebels Seek Employment.

MERIDA, Yucatan, June 18.—Many Maya rebels are flocking to British Honduras soliciting employment. The Indians say that the Mexican artillery played fearful havoc in their ranks. The peaceful zone inhabited by friendly Indians contains 32 pueblos and over 2,000 buildings, including a prison in each pueblo, two army barracks, two churches and 30 chapels. The inhabitants number some 10,000.

Fishing Schooner Lost.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., June 18.—Another fishing schooner bound for Labrador has been lost in the crushed ice in the strait of Belle Isle. The 47 persons on board were rescued. Two other fishing vessels have reached St. Anthony. Their crews were in a destitute condition, having lost everything they possessed.

American Trap Shooters Win.

LONDON, June 18.—The American trap shooters achieved a further success yesterday when W. R. Crosby of Illinois won a £100 cup, while the other American shooters carried off sweepstakes also aggregating £100.

THE BARKER TRIAL.

Famous Case Called at Jersey City.

A STRUCK JURY IN THE BOX.

Great Interest Manifested In the Opening Day's Proceedings—Rector Keller Led Into Court—Prisoner's Wife In Attendance.

JERSEY CITY, June 18.—Unenviable notoriety has been gained by New Jersey in the last year because of the criminal conduct of some of its citizens, and yesterday, for the second time in six months, all eyes in the country were turned to that state, where, in Jersey City, the trial of Thomas G. Barker of Arlington for shooting the Rev. John Keller of that town began. Jersey City showed its interest by turning out early in considerable numbers and besieging the little old courthouse in a hopeless effort to gain admission. The case was one which might or might not satisfy curiosity. It was bursting with mysteries.

Judge John A. Blair of the court of general sessions, who is trying the case, says that it should end in two or three days. Such celerity, not at all unlikely or impossible, could not help intensifying any dramatic features of the trial. There are many questions which have been asked regarding the case. There is no mystery about the offense charged. Barker has been at large under $5,000 bail, inflicted for assault with intent to kill. So far as anybody besides the defendant and his counsel, Marshall Van Winkle, knew before the trial the defense would be justification and not a denial.

There were women in the crowd that clamored for early admission to the courtroom. Many of these were allowed to enter. It was understood that they are Arlington friends and sympathizers with one side or the other. Some are witnesses. Several Episcopalian clergymen in the garb of the calling were early arrivals.

Mr. Keller was led in at 10 o'clock. He is a short, thickset man, while Barker is short and wiry. Mr. Keller's face was white. He wore dark glasses, and his right eyelids were closed. He was placed at the prosecutor's table, so near to Barker that Barker could have put out his hand and touched him. Mr. Keller's left cheek under the eye bore a patch of plaster to show where Barker's bullet had gone.

The process of selecting the jurors was simple. Each side had five peremptory challenges. Talesmen could also be excused for cause.

It was 11:40 o'clock when Mr. Erwin began the opening address. He said in part:

"This trial will have widespread celebrity. The facts are simply that there was a shooting which was seen by several witnesses. The Rev. John Keller was shot. All he knows is that he felt a sharp twinge and heard a report. He knew nothing more until he was assisted home. Barker fired that and the subsequent shots. Barker was lying in wait, and he shot Keller from behind. Mr. Keller and Barker had lived in Arlington for years. They have been friendly. When Barker was discovered, he ran away. Then he surrendered himself at the town hall."

The prosecutor's speech was a bold recital of the facts alleged. It was far from having any oratorical pretensions.

The examination of witnesses was then begun.

Lumber Yards Burned.

TORONTO, June 18.—Word has been received here that fire has destroyed all the lumber in the yard of the Ontario Lumber company at French River, on Georgian bay, amounting to 15,000,000 feet and valued at over $200,000. The fire started from an unknown cause on top of a pile of timber and, fanned by a high wind, swept across the whole yard, consuming every board. Two schooners were lying at the dock, and, though tugs immediately pulled them out into the lake, the tugs were sorched, so quick did the fire spread. A boarding house and three dwelling houses were burned, destroying nearly all the belongings of the occupants, who barely escaped with their lives.

A Mammoth Coal Deal.

FAIRMONT, W. Va., June 18.—The largest coal deal ever consummated in this state has been closed, the Watson coal operators having practically secured control of the entire Fairmont region. A new company with $12,000,000 capital has been organized and is known as the Fairmont Coal company. The Watsons have associated with them several New York capitalists, but they will retain the controlling interest. The mines absorbed in this deal comprise practically every mine in this district, a total of 37 plants. The annual output will be over 6,000,000 net tons of coal. Over 4,000 men are on the monthly pay roll.

Two Negroes Killed.

WELLBORN, Fla., June 18.—Moses Maxwell and Thomas Thomas, two negroes, threatened the life of W. B. O'Cain, a planter, and after shooting at him without effect at his house lay in wait on the road. Neighbors hearing of the ambuscade hastily assembled, and the two negroes were killed. The negroes were armed and drunk and would have killed O'Cain but for his friends' intervention.

Hawaiian National Guard Abolished.

HONOLULU, June 18.—The senate committee in the legislature has returned a report recommending the entire abolition of the national guard. The report suggested that the military paraphernalia be put aboard a scow, towed out to sea and dumped overboard.

After The Dogs.

Instead of waiting until some dog runs rampant about the city streets biting several people and causing general indignation, Chief Kiely, of the city police force, has decided to begin his campaign against unmuzzled dogs at once. In another column will be found the special notice given by the Chief of his intention to strictly enforce the ordinance which applies to dogs. After giving the local owners of dogs a chance to comply with the terms of the ordinance in question, the police will start on the warpath after such canines as have not been properly cared for.

When the temperature takes a run up among the nineties, it is a habit of some dogs to make trouble. When the fatal hydrophobia makes its appearance there is trouble for the dog and everyone else who happens to be in the same neighborhood. It is therefore but right that the community should be properly protected against any such danger.

There's an unusual number of homeless canines scattered about the city who form a menace to the people of the city as the "dog days" draw near. Something should be done with them and a strict enforcement of the ordinance promises to answer the problem satisfactorily. Owners of pet dogs should give this subject prompt attention and see that their pets are properly muzzled. If they forget there is likely to be mourning in more than one home.

The city of Philadelphia has been coming in for some deserved criticism for the romarkable manner in which its mayor has been disposing of valuable franchises for street railways. Even out in the rural districts, where the trolley carries with it great advantages for the community through which it passes, it is conceded that the franchise poseesses considerable value and the trolley company is generally compelled to give something in return. How much more valuable then is a trolley line on the main thoroughfares of a great city. Mayor Ashbridge, of Philadelphia, refused an offer of $2 500 000 for a few trolley line franchises and then distributed them for nothing to certain corporations. It certainly looks as if it was time for the people of Philadelphia to act.

The uniform examinations for college entrance began at the Plainfield High School yesterday morning and will continue throughout the week. There is no doubt but that this plan is a great advance on the old and will tend largely to keep up the entering standard for the colleges. While the New England colleges are not members of the association under the auspices of which these examinations are being conducted, several of the principal colleges of the New England States have agreed to accept the certificate issued by the association in lieu of regular entrance examinations.

A few years ago Mr. Larkin, the Buffalo soap man, began by making soap in his kitchen, carrying the materials in a wheelbarrow, relates the Philadelphia Record. Now his establishment is large, and he employs nearly a thousand men. He affirms that his success has been due to the "follow-up" system of advertising in the newspapers. He put as much money as he could in advertising, and kept his name constantly before the public

The Daily Press yesterday published a cut of the retiring officers of the Plainfield High School battalion. The likenesses were good. The battalion has achieved unusual prominence this year and these young men, who have been at the head of it, are deserving of much credit for what they have accomplished. So, too, is Albert B. Meredith, vice principal of the High School, who has been their drill master.

Once a year the members of the Knights of Pythias lodges gather at the cemeteries where their deceased members are buried and conduct ceremonies over the graves of these departed comrades. It tends to keep green the memory of those who have passed away. Last Sunday, the local Knights observed the day set apart by that fraternal organization, for that purpose.

It used to be the custom for the Plainfield Gas and Electic Light Company to paint its poles in the borough a dark green. It would be an excellent thing if that company, and the telephone company as well, returned to the old custom. While the poles are objectionable in any form, they certainly are improved in appearance by a coat of some dark-colored paint.

That popular summer hostelry, the Netherwood, is again open to the public. It promises to be one of the centres of summer social activity. In a short time, Plainfield's other summer resort, the Mountain Park Inn, will open under new management and will doubtless attract many summer guests.

Commencement is now the chief topic of interest to the exclusion of those of lesser importance. There was class day last evening by the city High School graduates while the commencements, city and borough, are scheduled for Thursday and Friday evenings of this week.

An Excellent Cure.

Now that the heated season has arrived, skin irritations have become a source of much discomfort. To relieve this troublesome condition, Druggist John P. Powers, of Somerset street, has placed on the market Royal Violet Borated Talcum, which is made of the purest talcum perfumed with English wood violets. It is invaluable when used to relieve chafing and irritation as well as a luxury after the bath or shave

The first will be that of Miss Millicent Edwards Vail to Albert Remsen Apgar, which takes place at 5:30 at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Vail. At 7 o'clock the second wedding will take place, when Miss Emma Frances Brokaw and John H. Van Middlesworth will plight their troth. This will also be a home affair, the scene of the wedding being the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William S Brokaw, of Front street.

While enjoying a sail on the Raritan near the Garretson farm, yesterday, Michael Moynihan, of the borough, underwent an impromptu bath by the capsizing of his boat. He was in the middle of the river at the time. But for the timely arrival of another boat, being hampered by his clothes, he might possibly have been drowned. Beyond a thorough drenching he was unharmed.

LITERARY.

The publishers of The Smart Set declare the July number of that magazine superior in many respects to all previous numbers, and the opinion is one in which readers will doubtless concur. The number begins with a novelette by Molly Elliot Seawell, entitled "Papa Bouchard." Since "The Sprightly Romance of Marsac" Miss Seawell has written no such humorous and delightful story as this. Elizabeth Duer (Mrs. James G. King Duer) contributes an amusing story entitled "In Loco Parentis," descriptive of the adventures of a young society man who fathers an orphaned infant. Julien Gordon (Mrs. Van-Rensselaer Cruger) has a little masterpiece of character study in "A Lost Line," and "According to Gibson" is a $100 prize story by Erin Graham. Other stories are "The Queen's Love," by Justus Miles Forman; "The Kisses of Arcady," by Richard Wilsted; "Mrs. Maitland's Correspondent," by Jane Brevoort Eddy; "A Deuce Game," by Mirian Cruikshank; "The Error of Her Ways," by May Austin Low, and "Paquita, the Dancer," by Mrs. Maraquita Bangs.

SCHOOL REPAIRS.

Borough Board Of Education Planned For Them At Last Evening's Meeting.

The final spring meeting of the Borough Board of Education was held at the Somerset street school building last evening.

The committee on buildings and school property presented detailed estimates on the cost of various improvements contemplated to the buildings during the summer months. It is intended to partly repaint the Somerset street building and also the Watchung school. An enclosed passage way will be constructed to connect the former building with the Charles W. McCutchen manual training building which is in the rear. Some improvements will be made to the manual training school building, the most important being the addition of ornate metallic ceilings in the several rooms.

Inasmuch as a large part of the annual appropriation is needed for other purposes, the fund to make the improvements with is more restricted than is desired.

Mr. Bowen is now on his way home to enjoy his summer vacation. He expects to spend July 4 with his brother in this city.

The New York Tribune, this morning, says of Mr. Bowen:

"Herbert W. Bowen has a most creditable record in the consular and diplomatic service. He became United States Consul at Barcelona in 1890, and his office at that port was raised to the rank of consulate general five years afterwards. Mr. Bowen remained at his post through the exciting days preceding the Spanish-American War as long as any American could have safely stayed on Spanish soil. At the close of the war he was about to return to his old post, but was appointed minister-resident and consul-general to Persia."

A DETECTIVE WHO DETECTED

By Philip G. Hubert, Jr.

Copyright, 1898 by J. P. Lippincott Co.

"It's not a find," I said, in answer to his glance. "It's only a bound volume of an old magazine."

"Ah, yes," said he, undoing the paper and looking at the book. "It's a rare book all the same; I didn't know there was another copy in the country outside the Manhattan library."

Some customers came in, and I passed out to think over this new lead. So the only other copy of this book was in the Manhattan library. Then whoever had copied "Daisy's Quest" must or may have done so at the Manhattan library, unless he or she had a private copy of the book, which was not likely.

In half an hour I was at the library, where my story was told to the head librarian, who was quite a friend of ours and more than willing to help the Gazette. The system pursued at the library made it easy to find out when a book had been used, and by whom. Every reader had to fill up a blank card with the name of the volume wanted and sign it. Each day's cards, several hundred in number, were preserved. It would be a matter of time and patience to wade through this mass, beginning a few days before Danders' letter to the Gazette and going back, but this was one of the tests of a born detective; he ought to shadow a man for months without complaint; go without food or sleep for a week—in fact, make a perfect martyr of himself and enjoy it.

The librarian was willing to allow me to search the cards for what I wanted, and I began work at once, sticking to it until the closing gong rang through the building. In the three hours so occupied I went over the cards of two weeks without finding that anyone had called for the Londoner. It was quite possible that there might be other volumes of that copy floating about the city; the rascal who called himself Danders might have picked one up for a few cents. I went home in a disconsolate mood, going a mile out of my way to stop at the saloon in Thirteenth street, where my barkeeping friend told me that Danders had not reappeared.

"I'll give five dollars to get a two-minutes' glance at Danders. There's my address. Send a messenger for me when Danders comes, and the money will be yours."

The man understood. Walking home an idea came to me. If the Manhattan library's copy of the Londoner for 1848 had been used within a month or two, the dust upon it would not be so thick as upon volumes that were never disturbed, say the volumes of that brilliant periodical, the Congressional Record.

A good night's sleep put new heart into me, and before the doors of the library opened I was there. So were eight or ten other eager workers, evidently professional readers, to whom the Manhattan's books were tools. One man, whom I recognized as a designer of theatrical costumes, told me he came to look for ideas in the great art works of France and Germany, and seldom came away from his day's work without sketches enough to provide a whole burlesque company with costumes; which, however, to those who know the sort of costumes affected by burlesquers, is not, perhaps, saying much. Several of my companions on the steps might have been students; one was a tramp, who wanted a day's rest in a comfortable chair; and another, with whom I scraped acquaintance a day or two later, was a clerk in a big publishing house.

One figure in the little group particularly interested me, that of a dark young girl, apparently not more than 18 or 19 years of age, who seemed out of place among these workers. There was nothing of the student about her, and not much of the worker; her dress was extremely neat, and, to my inexpert eyes, even fashionable. Slender, dark, quiet, decidedly pretty and decidedly a lady, her one idea seemed to be to get into the library as soon as possible and without attracting attention. It was something of a surprise to me to note later in the day that this young woman, instead of poring over a novel, was copying extracts from volumes almost as big as herself.

Nine o'clock struck, the big doors of the library swung open, and our little group, now numbering at least a score of persons, filed in and scattered. I took up my pile of cards where I had left off, and went at it pending the arrival of the librarian. That gentleman smiled at my suggestion to examine the copy of the Londoner for 1848, but good-naturedly led the way to an alcove in the second story. In the semi-darkness I almost ran over a young fellow carrying an armful of books, one of the attendants of the library. The particular copy of the Londoner was found, and no second glance was needed to show that it had been taken down more recently than any of its fellows upon the same shelf. Plainly it was worth while to keep on with my search among the cards.

When noon came I stopped, tired and hungry, having gone back a full month without finding what I sought. As I crossed the main hall of the library to leave for luncheon, the young girl I had noticed at the door was carrying one of her big books back to the desk. She staggered under the weight.

"Will you allow me to help you?" I whispered, for loud talk is forbidden inside the library. And, taking her smile as an answer, I took the book and carried it to the desk.

"Thank you," she whispered, and was gone.

I met her again on my way back from luncheon. I was so tired with my morning's work that I ventured upon a little stroll towards one of my favorite haunts in the Bowery, a book-stall where I had sometimes found treasures. Hope deferred, says the poet or somebody else, maketh the heart sick; and my hopes had been aroused and deferred several thousand times that morning. Upon every card I took up I had hoped to see "Londoner Magazine, 1848," and I had seen nothing of the kind. The sleuth-hound within me was tired out. Another day of it, and I should ask to have some one else detailed to find Mr. James G. Danders. It was in this despondent frame of mind that I began to turn over the pile of old books exposed upon a sidewalk stall, and it was only when I happened to interfere with the delvings of a neighbor in the same box that with a start of pleasure I recognized the girl whom I had helped in the library an hour before. She made no pretense of ignoring me; on the contrary, she smiled in the pleasantest manner, and in five minutes we were talking books with all the friendliness of old acquaintances. She was as clever and interesting as she was pretty. And she was almost as fond of old books as I was.

"I suppose you wonder why I work so hard there," she said, as we strolled back towards the library.

"Not at all," said I, wondering all the more, and waiting with some curiosity for the explanation that would now be forthcoming.

"My father is an invalid," she went on, with a sigh and the first shadow I had seen on her face. "He is almost blind, owing to an accident, and cannot see well enough to go about the streets. Nevertheless he writes a great deal. So that when he needs to consult a book at the library, which is about every day, I have to be his representative, copying what I think will be of value to him. Often I find that I have wasted my day, as I am not scholar enough to know exactly what my father wants and what he doesn't want. First I copy the table of contents of the book and take it to him. He goes over it and marks the chapters he wants. The library rule is not to allow a book to go outside of the building; if the directors knew how many hundreds and thousands of useless pages I have copied from their dusty old books in the last two years, and how many headaches their rule is responsible for, I really think they would make an exception in my favor."

"What particular field are you interested in?" I asked. This was deep upon my part, for with that information I could find out from the cards the name and address of this interesting young person. I had never laid eyes upon her before nine o'clock that morning, and yet, somehow, I felt a strong disinclination to lose sight of her. She might disappear and leave no more trace behind her than that wretch of a Danders had done.

"I read chiefly books concerning the Inquisition. My father is writing a book upon the history of the Spanish Inquisition."

We were at the library the next moment, but as we went in she gave me permission to carry back to her table the ponderous tome I had already helped her with. When that was done I went back to my work with redoubled interest. If the cards told me nothing about Danders, they would tell me something else I was equally eager to know. Before I had been at work for 20 minutes something happened that highly amazed me. Upon one and the same card was all the information I looked for. This card told me that on March 23 of that year Miss Ellen Robertson, of 118 West Thirtieth street, had taken out Limbroch's "History of the Inquisition," London, 1731; also Cardozo's "History of the Spanish Inquisition," Madrid, 1807; and also—could I trust my eyes—the Londoner for 1848!

A New Back for an Old One—How it is Done in Plainfield.

Sometimes the back aches with a dull indescribable feeling, making you weary and restless; sometimes pain shoots across the region of the kidneys, and again the loins are so lame to stoop is agony. No use plastering or rubbing the back in this condition. You cannot reach the cause. To exchange a bad back for a new and stronger one follow the example of this Plainfield citizen.

Mrs. R. A. Martin, of Jackson street, says: "I had pain in my back and loins for about a year or more, no doubt caused by my kidneys being out of order. I felt it more in the morning, just after getting up or if I did any stooping or lifting. Notwithstanding the fact that I took all kinds of medicines I never found anything which helped me until I got Doan's Kidney Pills at L. W. Randolph's drug store. They not only removed the pain, but they strengthened me in other ways."

HALIFAX, NOVA SCOTIA.

Soon to Pass from Control of British Military Authorities Into a Naval Station.

Halifax will soon cease to be a military station and pass exclusively under the control of the British admiralty. This statement was lately made in official quarters, says the Ottawa (Ont.) Citizen.

Halifax has been a military station since 1749, and it is now proposed to make the city one of the greatest naval stations in the world. In addition to the men of the fleet there will be a reserve consisting of about 2,000 soldiers and marines, of which 600 will be marine artillerymen. This naval reserve force will retained here. Information states also that royal engineers will be retained and continue under and in charge of the submarine department. The royal marine artillery belonging to the reserve force will be required to man the forts, and will, when necessary, be assisted by sailors. It is the intention to station in Halifax a regiment known as the royal garrison regiment. This will be recruited from time-expired men, who will be required to serve four years before going on regular service. The garrison will, of course, be under command of the admiralty, and the British admiral will replace the army general, who has hitherto commanded the station.

It is also stated that the works at Esquimault will also be transferred wholly to the admiralty department.

A military officer stated in conversation the other morning that he would not be surprised should announcement be made that the imperial government had decided to construct and operate a factory near Halifax for the manufacture of small arms and ammunition.

CHINESE PEANUTS.

They Are Nohing But the American "Goobers" Prepared by the Celestials.

The trans-American railways have their agents in all parts of the world—commercial agents, industrial agents, car service agents and oriental agents, as well as the regular assortment and variety of freight and passenger agents. The oriental agent of the Great Northern railway in this city, says the New York Press, is Mr. Moy Wu Yen, a highly interesting Chinaman, who carries in his pockets a handful of Chinese peanuts with which, from time to time, he regales his friends. In the midst of business he suddenly conceals his hand beneath his blouse and asks: "Will you try a Chinese peanut?" The hand, soft as that of a gentle maiden, reappears with the nuts, and you are tempted. You yield with pleasure, accepting one. It resembles the native "goober," which ex-Gov. Campbell failed to corner, but is the most delicious morsel in the nut shape that you ever tasted.

Mr. Moy laughingly tells you, when you ask where more nuts can be had, that they are not Chinese peanuts at all, but the familiar old Virginia "goober" prepared in the Chinese fashion. "We take the raw nut," he explains, "and dry it perfectly in the sun, leaving it many days on the housetop. Then we soak it in salt water—brine, you call it—for three days, after which we again dry it thoroughly. This may take a week. Then we put it in an oven in a pan of very hot sand, and continually stir until it is cooked well done. That is all. Nothing could be more simple. The peanuts the Italians roast in their sheet-iron cylinders—no Chinaman would torch one! We say Chinese peanuts to have fun with our friends. There are no Chinese peanuts."

TRANSPARENT MIRRORS.

Exceedingly Curious and Interesting Optical Effect of the New "Platinized Glass."

Mirrors that one can see through are a new invention already coming into use. They are of so-called "platinized glass," being backed with a compound made of 95 per cent. silver and five per cent. platinum, and, optically speaking, they are exceedingly curious and interesting. Looking into a glass of this kind, one finds a first-rate reflection; it is a mirror and nothing more. At the same time, a person on the other side can see directly through it, says the Saturday Evening Post.

For example, a glass of this sort placed in front of the prescription desk in an apothecary shop perfectly conceals the prescription clerk and his apparatus. Thus the privacy of that department is secured, while on his part the clerk is able to survey the shop and see everybody who comes in just as if the mirror were ordinary glass. It is transparent to him, but is like any common mirror from the viewpoint of people in front. It is easily seen that glass of this kind is likely to be useful for a good many purposes. It can be put in the doors of dark bathrooms, or of any other rooms where privacy is desirable and light is wanted. Anybody who has observed his own reflection in the plate-glass windows of shops will understand the principle well enough. The effect is merely enhanced by an extremely thin coat of the platinum silver, which allows light to pass through, and yet furnishes an excellent looking-glass. The process consists in pouring over plate-glass nitrate of silver and platinum, and then applying Rochelle salts.

Good for Stamp Collectors.

One pleasant thing about expositions, says the Chicago Record-Herald, is that they give the post office department a chance to vary the monotony of the stamps.

The New Woman

BY ELIZA ARCHARD CONNER

A BROAD smile must certainly be illuminating the collective countenance of this country over the common law marriage act passed by the New York legislature at its recent session. At least if there is not a broad smile there ought to be. Men complained that the old common law marriage gave opportunities to unprincipled women for blackmail. Thereupon the lawmakers at Albany put on their wisest spectacles and proceeded to remedy things. The law which is the combined result of their grave deliberations is in brief as follows: Any man and woman who, Quaker fashion, in the presence of witnesses, shall declare their intention to be husband and wife and shall thereafter live as such shall be so regarded by the law without further marriage rite if within six months of this ceremoniless union they file with the court a record, signed, sealed and witnessed, of their said intention to be man and wife. Now, look you, if before the expiration of the six months the record has not been filed then the marriage is null and void—is off, in short. The man may go free, so likewise may the woman, and both may take other partners as if they had never been married at all. If the man can get rid of the woman, so, on the other hand, can the woman also get rid of the man if she does not like him after six months' trial. In their wildest dreams social revolutionists and anarchists never perpetrated any more radical marital scheme than this which has just come out under the hands of the solons of New York, to this day one of the most difficult states of the Union in which to obtain divorce. When you wish to discover a perfectly awful bad break, watch men—men always.

Features of the modern American railway station in several of our large cities are a ladies' parlor and tearoom fitted up beautifully, private dressing rooms in case a woman wishes to change her gown on arriving in town and a neat bootblack stand, where she may have her shoes cleaned and shined to the queen's taste. If you were to tell this to the people of European countries, they could not believe you.

In many American cities women have opened bootblacking rooms for their own sex and for children and are making a good living. A young lady of excellent family, Miss Parkhurst, has established such a place in the most crowded part of New York's business section.

It is not worth while for commencement orators to recommend marriage as a life vocation for young ladies. They will go in for it fast enough, never fear.

In one court in one day recently in New York city there were 119 applications for divorce. Worst of all, a large majority of the cases were undefended, showing that one partner in the firm was as anxious to be free as the other.

Best of all means to bring to time the man who deserts his family is that law proposed by the Illinois board of associated charities. It recommends that such a husband and father be sentenced to hard labor at some trade in the state prison. Wages shall be allowed for his work meantime, the wages to be turned over in every instance for the support of his wife and children. Excellently well done, Illinois board of charities! A woman has a perfect right to earn her own living, but she cannot do it with little children to take care of.

Harvard university has a woman professor in all but the name. She is Miss Ethel Puffer, teacher and lecturer in psychology. So far as anybody knows anything about psychology, Miss Puffer is up with the best.

A lady in Illinois at home on a farm clears $60 a month from eggs and chickens. She has studied the natural habits of the fowls and provided conditions accordingly in her poultry runs. I told you so! Hens and women flourish and prosper together.

Among other things to which the twentieth century will point with pride will be the improved physical status of civilized women. The consumptive, protected female heroine is already rapidly giving place to the heroine who can protect herself. Woman's physical weakness is a gigantic blunder to be blamed not on the Creator, but on woman herself and on man, who has encouraged her in it. While man has moved heaven and earth to develop and improve himself physically woman has simply let herself slump along, flabby of muscle and growing flabbier. Now the tide is the other way, the gods be praised, and woman has discovered she, too, has muscles and mind. It was the great discovery of the nineteenth century, and one great achievement of the twentieth century will be the development of these woman muscles.

NAMING THE STREETS

A Task That Is Puzzling Washington City Officials.

They Are in Favor of Euphonious Nomenclature, But the "Old Settlers" Protest Against Aesthetic Innovations.

[Special Washington Letter.]

WE RECENTLY had a talk about the development of Greater Washington, according to plans and purposes of the executive and legislative branches of the federal government; and this is supplementary to that statement of current history.

The citizens who have opportunity to visit the capital city of this republic take occasion always to express their pride in its beauty, but they do not realize the fact that its grandeur is due primarily to the genius of L'Enfant, the man whose brain conceived and whose skilled fingers drafted the plan upon which it has been builded.

As a matter of fact, this city has been a gradual growth, from decade to decade, and but for the commands of Washington, requiring that every development should be in accordance with the original designs of L'Enfant, this city would be as zig-zag and unsymmetrical as cow-paths could have made it. But every city government has carefully adhered to the original plans, so that out of domestic conditions symmetry has resulted. Within the memory of the writer, farm lands have been invaded, subdivided and builded upon, by street and avenue extension of the plans made so many, many years ago.

Now that the congress has authorized a complete system of extension of the highways, in accordance with L'Enfant's plan, the gentlemen in charge in the work, which will stand for a century of city development, are bothered by street and locality nomenclature. The people have heretofore paid little attention to this subject, but it is very interesting.

In its beginning every town is more or less crude and uncouth. Only as it grows into pretentious proportions the civic pride of its people develops. Early conditions and events have a way of leaving their traces in names; this being apparently the principal means of linking past with present conditions and environments. History shows us that many secrets are unraveled in names of locations and individuals.

There is no other way probably in which people put themselves on record in a more spontaneous manner than the names they give to things about them. So it happens that the residents of new towns sum up many of the picturesque, unhappy, ludicrous or grotesque incidents and conditions of the early days by the names which they give their cities, streets, buildings and environs.

As a town grows older its early names are replaced by new ones, frequently much more euphonious and conventional, but seldom as full of meaning. Thus it seems that people who have been content to have their mail addressed Dead Man's Gulch, Snakeville, Cowtown or Windy Gap, eventually begin to feel an aesthetic longing in their souls which leads them to have the names of their post offices changed to Buena Vista, Lakeside, Glendower or Idlewild. This is usually accomplished against the wishes of the "old-timers," who feel it a sacrilege to dishonor local traditions.

STUDYING THE PLANS.

But although the name of a town be changed, and its streets rechristened, the old traditions will be kept up in the names of its alleys, and of particular localities of doubtful desirability. The reason for this is because the progress which sweeps the old things away elsewhere doesn't penetrate these places. Hence in every large city, where the landmarks of its founding are annually disappearing, many of the old traditions will be found preserved in the names of its alleys and less improved localities.

Washington is no exception in this, and a study of the names of its alleys must convince one that this is a matter in which very little interest has been taken by the citizens. In almost every section of the city alleys are to be found with amusing and surprising names, behind many of which there is doubtless a wealth of local history, while in others nothing more than a vagrant whim or a passing fancy is expressed.

It was not without meaning that a certain section of Washington between the capitol and the Potomac river came to be known, and is still called "Bloodfield." The name is less deserved now than it once was, but in the popular mind it will live on long after the reason for it has lapsed; just as few people could reconcile themselves to speaking of the stream that used to flow from the north of Washington down past the capitol by its official name. That noble stream, which was turned into a sewer some years ago, stood on the maps since the city was laid out as the Tiber river, but thoughtless people were always letting the cat out of the bag, and revealing the plebeian origin of the sparkling waters by referring to it as "Goose creek."

Few people who know much about Washington have failed to hear of "Hell's bottom," although the conditions which gave rise to that unkind designation passed away years ago. Without question, however, the immediate neighborhood where the notorious Triangle saloon used to stand will go down among the policemen of Washington as "Hell's bottom," and the stories that the name recalls will serve to keep fresh a chapter in Washington history which might otherwise be forgotten. There is a surprising tenacity about names. Long after they have left the plate on the front door, they lead a contented and impersonal life on the alley door.

The officials who are rejuvenating Greater Washington in this matter of street and avenue extension are bothered with the names of the thoroughfares which are being extended. They have concluded that "Blood alley" should be called "Broad alley," and that "Fighting alley," "Ambush alley" and "Savage alley" shall be named after less disreputable historic events of their localities, and they are to be called streets instead of alleys.

THEY FAVOR THE OLD NAMES.

It has been decided that there shall be no change made in the paved alleys, which will continue to be known as Methodist, Presbyterian, Baptist, Catholic and Grace alleys; because their names are suggestive of good things and good people. Moreover, their denizens are typical of the religious beliefs indicated by their appellations.

There are two Pig alleys, three Hog alleys and five Bacon alleys, which will keep their names, just as Cow alley will be allowed to hold its own. The porcines and bovines whose peregrinations to the sledge and knife of the butcher gave names to their highways no longer reach the tables of epicures in that way; but the names of the pathways will be retained by these wise officials who think that a growing city should retain, for at least a time, a part of its local traditions. Parenthetically, it might be said, that if it is a pity Chicago might not retain some of the names of its cow paths and pigpaths, instead of the names of presidents which have been assumed during these later years, since "The fire fiend threw back his red mantle,

From off his big blood-dappled vest,
And jeered in the face of Chicago,
The queen of the north and the west."

But this is not a talk about Chicago, although a reference to that capital city of the commercial center of our republic is not out of place by way of illustration of this street nomenclature theme concerning the capital city of the republic in which all of us are intently and intensely interested.

The officials charged with responsibility in this work for greater Washington are bending over their desks studying the plans and maps. They have already decided upon certain streets and avenues which shall bear the names of presidents, cities and momentous events. It is quite likely that they will manifest sufficient acumen and comprehension to take care of these alleys also; albeit there are scores of gray-haired and bald-headed old men who are making their lives a burden by clamors in vehement behalf of the retention of the names of hitherto almost unheard-of obscure paths which are open according to the common law as "commons of way."

Greater Washington is following in the footsteps of Greater New York and Greater Chicago; but it is toddling along with its difficulties and household troubles, as herein slightly indicated.

SMITH D. FRY.

Caught a White Muskrat.

George Archer Brown, whose house is close to the Canoga marshes, in the town of Fayette, Seneca county, N. Y., has in his possession a white muskrat. Like the white deer, the white robin and the white blackbird, this is a very rare animal, tradition having it that but once before has one been seen in central New York waters. Mr. Brown captured the rat, a full-grown one, during the high-water period upon the submerged Montezuma marshes, where it had been drowned out of its usual haunts by the flood. He succeeded in capturing it alive, and values it highly. It differs from the common muskrat only in color, having instead of a ruddy or dark brown fur almost a pure white.

The X-Ray Slot Machine.

Chicago capital and inventive genius have succeeded in harnessing the X-rays to the nickel-in-the-slot machine, so that for five cents one can subject his hands or arms to the penetrating rays. For that matter, however, he can turn the light on almost any subject he pleases that can be placed in the aperture in the machine.

LOVE SONG.

O come with me, my darling,
We'll stroll upon the sand,
And I'll quote verses to you,
And lead you by the hand;
We'll gaze across the water
And see it gleam, Janet,
For Morgan hasn't gobled
Up
the moonlight
yet.

The pathway through the meadow
Still leads down to the shore,
And shadows fall across it
E'en as they fell of yore;
The wind sighs through the rushes,
The tender grass is wet,
And Morgan hasn't gobbled
the moonlight
yet.

The busy day is ended,
The city's work is done,
And over in the marshes
Sweet revels have begun;
'Tis Love's own happy hour,
For let us not forget
That Morgan hasn't gobbled
the moonlight
yet.

O come with me, my sweetheart,
And let us fare away
To where the blithesome ripples
Among the pebbles play;
The world is still for lovers,
My beautiful Janet,
For Morgan hasn't gobbled
the moonlight
yet.

The Counter Irritant

MRS. DUNN-WEST was a woman with theories—not purposes; but theories upon essentially feminine topics. She reasoned out everything which puzzled her, and she was more often right than wrong—as is the way of women. She always held that the theory of counter-irritants was sound; and now, having convinced herself that something was wrong with her friend Betty Clinton, she desired to set it right, for she loved to unravel the tangled skeins of love affairs.

"Have you seen Tom Renston lately?" she asked the girl, who was sitting with her in her pretty boudoir.

"Not very lately," replied her companion, in a tone of the most exaggerated indifference.

"Ah! I thought so," mused Mrs. Dunn-West, "there has been a quarrel!"

Mrs. Dunn-West was one of the few women who possess men friends. That is to say, she had plenty of friends, but not one of them would have thought of making love to her; and she had a knack of learning women's troubles as well as men's. So, putting the two together, she was a useful member of society, for she possessed a large share of that valuable adjunct, discretion.

"Poor Tom!" sighed Mrs. Dunn-West. "He is not a bad sort of fellow."

The girl's face became stony, but she did not utter a word.

"I hope he will marry soon," continued Mrs. Dunn-West. "I was speaking to him about his future—I really feel quite a motherly interest in him, you know—and I told him what I thought. I told him he should give up fluttering from blossom to blossom—for Tom is a shocking flirt, my dear Betty—and settle down into respectable double harness."

"Your advice was very sound," said Betty Clinton, icily, "and doubtless Mr. Renston will act upon it."

Mrs. Dunn-West smiled into her daintily scented handkerchief.

"Tom Renston," she thought, "you will owe me something before I've finished."

"And what do you think the conceited fellow said?" laughed the diplomatist.

"I'm sure I don't know," replied Betty. "I can't imagine he would say anything very original or brilliant."

"Oh, Tom is not either original or brilliant," said Mrs. Dunn-West. "But he is simply delightfully conceited."

Miss Clinton felt annoyed. She felt that it was her privilege to run down Tom Renston, but she did not like to hear others do it.

"I never thought he was very conceited," she said, frigidly.

"Oh, but he is, my dear," persisted Mrs. Dunn-West. "Simply devoured with it."

"If you think so," replied Betty, "I wonder you think his remarks worth repeating."

Mrs. Dunn-West again sought the aid of her handkerchief to conceal a smile.

"Things are going nicely," she thought, "and Tom will be here presently."

"It's just his conceit," she said, "which makes him amusing. If you knew him as well as I do, you would have discovered that I am right."

Miss Clinton bit her lips to suppress an incriminating outburst. The idea of this woman claiming to know Tom Renston better than she did! It was preposterous!

"In fact," added Mrs. Dunn-West, "poor Tom has nothing except his conceit to carry him through."

"I really don't agree with you," interposed Betty, hotly.

"No? Then what do you claim for Tom?" asked Mrs. Dunn-West.

Betty Clinton was furious with herself for speaking with feeling, and still more furious with Mrs. Dunn-West for having trapped her.

"Oh," she said, contemptuously, "I claim nothing for Mr. Renston. I do not in the least wish to constitute myself his champion."

"Naturally you don't," replied Mrs. Dunn-West; "of course I would be loth to speak disparagingly of a man in whom you felt any interest."

"I don't see why one should speak disparagingly of anyone," said Miss Clinton, trying to speak in a tone of indifference.

"Certainly not," said Mrs. Dunn-West. "And I am not the one to speak ill of poor Tom Renston, in whom I tell you I feel quite a motherly interest. Still it would interest me to hear what other attributes, besides conceit, you think he possesses. Not brains, surely?"

Betty Clinton's face flushed. Was there no escape from this subject, she wondered? But she had seen enough of the world to know that a studied avoidance of the subject is the surest way to move the surface interest in it—especially if there happens to be a man and a woman in the case—so she determined not to betray herself in this way.

"Well," she said, thoughtfully, "I don't know. I think a man who can write a book like "His Divinity" must have a small supply of that quality."

"Knack, my dear Betty," replied Mrs. Dunn-West, scornfully. "Only knack, conceit and judicious plagiarism."

Miss Elizabeth Clinton blazed with wrath for a moment.

"What a very uncharitable speech," she said. "I am sure Mr. Renston would be incapable of such disgraceful methods."

"You never know what a man is capable of until you are married to him," said Mrs. Dunn-West, who was well pleased with her success; "and then in nine cases out of every ten the woman is disillusioned."

"Of course you know more about that than I do," said Betty, spitefully.

But Mrs. Dunn-West liked her for her spite on this occasion.

"She has a heart all right," she thought.

"Of course, my dear," she said, sadly. "But suppose we say Tom Renston has a little brains, what else do you claim for him?"

"I really wish you wouldn't put things in this way," replied Betty. "I have no ambition to pose as Mr. Renston's champion."

"Of course not, my dear Betty," persisted Mrs. Dunn-West. "But just for the sake of argument. He has no money?"

"He is none the worse for that," said Betty. "Money is such a sordid standard of worth. I hate the very sound of the word, and everything connected with it."

"You would hate the want of it more, my dear," said Mrs. Dunn-West, with profound sagacity.

While Mrs. Dunn-West had been conducting this campaign she had been attentively listening for the knock she expected. Suddenly a smile came over her features as she heard it, but her face immediately afterwards changed.

"HE IS NONE THE WORSE FOR THAT."

"Oh, bother, Betty," she said, "there is some one! Do run into the drawing-room, like an angel, and if you know the visitor be nice until I come; if not, sit and glare at each other as society dictates. We can resume our discussion about Tom Renston another time. But, believe me, Betty, he is not a bad fellow; and I think he has a heart worth winning."

Miss Elizabeth Clinton was not sorry to escape from this somewhat trying conversation, and she mentally vowed that the topic should not be renewed again, as she passed into the drawing-room.

Hardly had Miss Clinton entered by the door leading from Mrs. Dunn-West's boudoir than the other door was thrown open and Tom Renston was announced. For an instant the idea of flight was uppermost in Betty's mind; then, realizing the indignity of such a course, she stood her ground and bowed to the intruder in a very frigid way.

"It's all a trick," she thought, angrily; "a horrible plot."

But Tom Renston, being either more sensible or less diplomatic than Miss Clinton, came forward and held out his hand.

"How do you do?" he said, his voice trembling with genuine pleasure. "This is an unexpected pleasure."

And he had the impertinence to sit down beside her on the sofa.

It was really an inconceivable time before Mrs. Dunn-West made her appearance, smiling sweetly. The distance between Miss Clinton and Mr. Renston had very considerably diminished by that time—their heads, too, were rather suspiciously close together—and as Mrs. Dunn-West kissed the girl she whispered in her ear: "I am so glad, Betty! Won't you forgive me about being so hasty about poor Tom? He is, really, quite a clever fellow, and not a bit conceited."—Lady's Pictorial.

SPORTING.

GOLF.

Morris J. Dumont, one of the best players in the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, will not be able to play the game until July 1. After that date he will follow the game closely to the end of the season.

The second match in the Class A team championship series of the Women's Metropolitan Association, was played yesterday at Ardsley between the Baltusrol and the home teams. As usual the counting was on the three-point system, the visitors winning by 8 to 0. The record now stands: Baltusrol, 1; Essex county, 1; Ardsley, 0; Morris county, 0; while the Shinnecock Hills and Nassau county teams have not played any matches as yet. The next matches will be on June 26 when Ardsley plays at Essex county and Baltusrol at Shinnecock Hills. Mrs. N. P. Rogers, of this city, played with the Baltusrol team, finishing even up with Mrs. A. DeWitt Cochrane.

The drawing for the women's Metropolitan championship tournament which opens today at Nassau, shows that Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers will play with Mrs. Walter Gibb, of Nassau Country. Yesterday's New York Tribune publishes a picture of Mrs. Rogers, together with those of several prominent women golfers, and pays the following compliment to this energetic and successful contestant: "Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers, of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, of Plainfield, is another whose play last week at Essex county should entitle her to consideration. Though beaten by Mrs. Hecker, she survived to the finals, where she showed herself capable of a strong, consistent and finished game. While it cannot be said that similar success will follow her at Nassau, she is likely to qualify for the match play, where, if the draw proves favorable, she may develope unexpected strength."

CYCLING COMMENT.

Alexander Lyngaard, of Stone street, won a silver medal in a century run Saturday. The run started from Bedford Rent, L. I., to Rockaway and return by a circuitous route to the starting point. Mr. Lyngaard with others beat the time record. He covered the distance in 11 hours and 5 minutes including stops, or 9 hours exclusive of stops. A handsome silver medal was awarded to him by the New York Journal.

IN ERRORS AND APPEALS.

JUNE TERM OPENED AT TRENTON THIS MORNING.

There Are Sixty Cases on the Calendar For This Term—Only One Murder Case.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, June 18—There are over sixty cases on the calendar of the June term of the Court of Errors and Appeals, which opened at 11 o'clock this morning.

The first case on the list is that of Robert Henson, the negro murderer, convicted in Mercer court of killing Mrs. Mary E. VanLieu and her young son, Willie, and sentenced to be hanged.

This is the only murder case on the calendar, a rather unusual occurrence in the Court of Errors and Appeals. The case will probably be reached this afternoon. It will be argued by Prosecutor Crossley for the State and Beasley & Walker for Henson.

The case of Gen. S. Meredith Dickinson against Archibald Updyke, which was not argued at the last term, again appears on the calendar. The suit was brought on account of alleged fraud in connection with the sale of a property belonging to General Dickinson by Mr. Updyke. The decision in Chancery was in favor of Mr. Updyke. E. R. Walker appears for General Dickinson and Judge Woodruff for Mr. Updyke.

Among the cases of general interest are the suits instituted by William A. Lewis and Walter L McDermott against the Board of Education of Jersey City. These suits involve the constitutionality of the Stokes school law of 1900, amended last winter, in which a pro forma judgment was entered by consent in the Supreme Court sustaining the law.

PROPOSED WEIGHTS AND MEASURES ORDINANCE

Substance Of The Ordinance Now Before The Council On First Reading.

MANY PENALTIES NAMED.

CHARGES MADE BY CITY SEALERS OF WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.

Ordinances Makes a New City Official—Gets His Pay From Fees He Collects—Must Examine All Weights And Measures.

The proposed ordinance relating to the regulation of weights and measures, which was passed on first reading at the last meeting of the Common Council, has caused much discussion.

The ordinance is designed to prevent mistakes being made by merchants and others in measuring and weighing commodities. Should it be passed by Council, the office of city sealer of weights and measurs will be established. The official will assume his duties at once and will hold office until January 1, next. Thereafter the sealer will hold office from year to year.

The duties of the city sealer are amply set forth in the ordinance. He is authorized to examine, at least once a year, all weights, measures, scalebeams, patent balances, steelyards and all other instruments used in weighing and measuring articles purchased and sold in this city.

All persons using weights, measures and other instruments intended for similar purposes shall cause the same to be sealed and properly marked by the official. Measures of extension used on counters or other fixtures are required to be marked by brass headed nails or other conspicuous distinguishing marks.

The standard to be used will conform to that in vogue in the State. On each weight, measure and the like will be stamped the initials of the sealer together with the year in which the examination is made. According to the provision of the proposed ordinance the inspection and examination will be made in the store or other place where the instrument is in use. Should the result of the examination prove that the weights or measures do not conform to the standard of this State the sealer is empowered to compel the owner to send the particular instrument to the office of the sealer for the purpose of being properly sealed and marked.

It is made mandatory for the sealer to register in a book provided for the purpose all examinations made by him. The facts to be recorded, in this particular book, are the name of the owner of the instrument and the result of the examination. The ordinance, as framed, fails to provide for the entry of the date on which the inspection and examination is made.

The city sealer of weights and measures will be the custodian of all the standard beams, weights and measures belonging to the city.

A feature connected with the ordinance is the numerous penalties provided for violations of the particular provisions. A fine of $20 is provided for the use of any weights and measures after October 1, which are not properly sealed and marked. For the use of any of them, which are not in conformity with the State standard, the penalty is also $20. For refusal to exhibit weights and and measures to the inspector the fine is $20, and a like penalty is provided in cases of obstructing the sealer from performing his duties.

All peddlers of kindling wood must use as a measure, a barrel having a capacity of two and one half bushels, and for a violation of this provision a fine of $20 will be imposed. Under penalty of $50 for each offence, the sealer is prohibited from selling, or offering for sale, weights or measures of any description.

The following fees for the sealer are provided: For inspecting and examining every weight of fourteen pounds, three cents; for every weight of a small denomination, one and one-half cents; for every liquid measure, two cents; for every yard and dry measure, three cents and for every scalebeam, patent balance, steelyard or other instrument used for weighing, three cents.

For sealing and marking a scale beam or other weighing instrument the fees are as follows: If gauged to weigh one hundred pounds and under, twelve cents; if gauged for over one hundred pounds and less than two hundred and fifty pounds, twenty-five cents; from two hundred and fifty pounds to five hundred pounds, fifty cents; from five hundred to one thousand pounds, seventy-five cents; from one thousand to fifteen hundred pounds, $1; from fifteen hundred to two thousand pounds, $1 50, and from two thousand pounds upwards, $2.

Other fees are: For sealing and marking measures, for one yard, twenty-five cents and for every additional yard twelve cents. For sealing and marking all other measures of extension, twelve cents per yard is charged. The fee for sealing and marking every weight, three cents is the fee; for liquid and dry measures, under one gallon, three cents, and for one gallon or over, five cents; for every measure of half a bushel, ten cents, and for one bushel or over, twenty-five cents.

The sealer is also entitled to a reasonable compensation for making such weights and measures conformable to the standard established by law. All the fees of the sealer are to be paid by the owner or persons possessing the weights or measures being used at the time the inspection and examination or sealing and marking is made. To recover his fees the sealer in empowered to bring action in a court of competent jurisdiction.

This is the substance of the proposed ordinance which is now before the Council.

Mrs. Mary E. Hart, Injured in Accident at Westfield, Has Begun Suit For $15,000.

Suit for $15,000 has been filed in the Supreme Court by Alfred V. Hart and Mrs. Mary E. Hart, of Cranford, against the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Railway Company, for injuries received by the latter in the accident on the company's line at Westfield last spring. The suit was instituted by Lawyer R. M. Clark, of this city, who has already successfully conducted the cases of a number of other victims.

Mrs. Hart was among the number who received severe injuries, but so far it is alleged the company has steadfastly refused to make any settlement. Altogether fifteen suits against the railway company resulted from the accident, which was the most serious one occurring since the opening of the through line.

HOLY CROSS' FESTIVAL HELD ON THE LAWN.

Ideal Surrroundings for Annual Affair of Woman's Guild of Holy Cross Church.

AT J. O. STEVENS' RESIDENCE

MINIATURE PAN-AMERICAN EXPOSITION WAS A GREAT SUCCESS.

Booths Were Located on the Lawn—Those in Charge—Concert and Entertainment in the House—The Programme.

With a very large number in attendance, and almost perfect night for its holding and with ideal surroundings, the annual lawn party and strawberry festival, of the Woman's Guild of the Church of the Holy Cross, passed off in a pleasant manner last evening. As usual, it was held on the spacious lawn surrounding the residence of Mrs. J. O. Stevens, of Clinton avenue, which is admirably fitted for the purpose.

Already adorned with numerous pretty bits of shrubbery and stately trees with overhanging branches, the addition of fancy booths in nooks and corners and the stringing of innumerable paper lanterns, makes the scene one long to be remembered. This year was no exception to the rule and the subsequent success of the fete more than repaid the women for their painstaking arrangement of the minutest detail.

Under the deft hands of a decorating committee, consisting of Miss Ida W. Davis, Miss Gertrude Bulkley, Mrs. Herman Keese, Mrs. James W. Davis and Miss Cynthia Davis, the premises were transformed into a miniature fairyland. Many new and novel features were used in completing the work and many complimentary remarks were passed when it was viewed by the attendants

Among the original ideas was one brought into use at the entrance to the grounds, where one of the large gate posts stands. This had been trimmed most artistically, while facing the street was a frying pan with the word "American" beneath it, meant to suggest the exposition at Buffalo on a small scale. This was conceived by Mrs. James Davis and Miss Cynthia Davis.

The booths and tables, where various refreshments were for sale, each presided over by a corps of obliging young women, were distributed all over the lawn. They consisted of a lemonade booth in charge of Miss Iola Moore, chairman, assisted by Miss Florence Burr and Miss DeMezier; a cake table, in charge of Mrs. Norman Rhodes, Mrs. W. E. MacClymont and Miss Burr, and an ice cream department, where the frozen delicacy was disposed of by Mrs. A. E. Faber, Jr., and Miss Rogers. All were patronized liberally and the revenue from this source will be a generous sum.

Inside the palatial residence, those who preferred were served with a delicious supper, from 6 until 8 o'clock. No better proof of its excellence can be offered beyond the fact that over one-hundred persons were provided with this meal. It was served by a committee, consisting of Mrs. L. A. Davis, chairman, assisted by Mrs. P. W. Brakeley, Mrs. J. W. Davis and Miss Cynthia Davis, Mrs. Mary Pearson and the following waitresses: The Misses Florence and Frances Burr, Anna Harford, Grace Pearson, Louise Brakeley, Iola Moore, Edna Moore, Ida W. Davis and Miss DeMezier. Mrs. Frank Brown and Mrs. I. S. Murray poured tea and coffee.

During the evening, concerts were held at frequent intervals in the parlor at which the following talent appeared: Vocal selections, Miss Gertrude Bulkley; vocal duets, Miss Florence A. Stevens and Miss Grace Phillips; songs and humorous selections, George O. Stevens and Dr. Frank Hallock; banjo solos, George Dupee; violin selections, Miss May Bryen and Miss Louise Bryan, of Brooklyn, and witticisms and mirth provoking recitations by George Stevens, of Mount Vernon, N. Y., who is more familiarly known by the nom de plume of "Wade Whipple." Every number was longly applauded and encores were frequent This part of the affair was arranged by Miss Florence Stevens and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Keese, the latter two of Brooklyn.

While the success of the festival was due to all the women of the guild who lent their individual efforts, the entire affair was arranged and superintended by Mrs. J. O. Stevens and to her untiring work special mention is due. The many little details were planned and carried out under her personal supervision and the assured social success as well as financial, attest to her careful management.

ORGANIZED EFFORT IN BEHALF OF CHARITY.

Report Of National Conference Of Charities And Correction By Miss Van Boskerck.

OF MUCH LOCAL INTEREST.

GIVEN AT SPECIAL MEETING OF ORGANIZED AID ASSOCIATION.

Preceding The Report Some Business Of Interest Was Transacted—Many Deserting Husbands In Plainfield—Other Interesting Facts Brought Out.

An interesting special meeting of the Charity Organized Aid Association was held last evening in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church, chiefly for the purpose of hearing the report of Miss Van Boskerck, agent, who attended the National Conference of Charities and Correction held in Washington last month. The constitution was also amended so as to abolish the two meetings held during the year, and instead hold one meeting in or about October at the discretion of the executive committee.

Rev. G. Kennedy Newell, president, and W. S. Tyler, secretary, occupied their respective positions. After the reading of the minutes of the last annual meeting, Mr. Newell asked D. P. Hall to read an expression of the appreciation of the services of Col. Mason W. Tyler, who retired as president at the last annual meeting. It was drawn by Alex. Gilbert and D. P. Hall at the request of the association and will form a part of the minutes of the last meeting. It praised Col. Tyler for his untiring efforts on behalf of the association in so wisely directing the work. After the reading of the minute, it was approved and ordered placed on the minute book

Mrs. Tiffany, as chairman of the committee on co-operation, reported that of the twenty-three churches and twelve societies in Plainfield, sixteen churches and nine societies were represented in the association She told of several conferences held when there was a discussion as to the manner of relief and this proved mutually helpful.

One of the most interesting reports presented was that by Rev. A. C. Nickerson, chairman of the district committee. He reported especially concerning the applications for aid during last March, April and May, there being forty-five, forty-six and forty-seven respectively. Quite a sensation was caused when Mr Nickerson reported the fact that there have been many deserting husbands in Plainfield. They drift away and do not seem to feel any sense of responsibility. One husband followed a circus to Florida. Many wives are left with little children and they of necessity have to appeal for aid.

On the other hand Mr. Nickerson reported that there are many disorderly wives who leave helpless children to be cared for by the State Board of Childrens' Guardians. He also spoke of many people who have become poor through no fault of their own. These people appreciate what is done for them and they try to support themselves as best they can. He cited a case of where a young woman eighteen years of age has assumed the responsibilities of a home, and another when a young married couple have taken a cripple to live with them. Mr. Nickerson advised people to press charges of abuse of children when they are made in the police court.

In the absence of H. P. Reynolds, Mr. Newell made a few remarks concerning the Relief Association rooms, stating that there is a telephone there free for all charitable business. There is also helpful literature there for the perusal of people interested in the work.

Boardman Wright, treasurer, presented his report. This showed that when he took the office after the last annual meeting there was a balance of $374 41 in the treasury. The total receipts have been $116.75. There was expended $273.45, leaving at present a balance of $169 71. Within the last few days bills to the amount of $48 have been received.

Mr. Wright also reported that there are sixty-nine subscribers at $2 a year, fifteen at $5, twelve at $10, nine at $25, and one at $20. He urged the securing of 300 subscribers at $2 a year, believing that this would fully meet the expenses of the association.

The business of the evening being concluded, Mr. Newell introduced Miss Van Boskerck and she presented her report of the conference held at Washington last month. This was the twenty-eighth conference of the National Association and was attended by 590 members and delegates, including five from Canada, nine from Cuba, one each from Mexico, Scotland and Japan. She told of Minister Wu attending the conference and expressing his pleasure at such a gathering. He quoted the Golden Rule so generally known in this country, and then the Chinese version which is: "Do not do unto us what you do not want us to do unto you."

Miss VanBoskerck then gave a general outline of the many helpful suggestions given at the conference. It was conceded that people might continually give material aid to poor persons without obtaining the desired results. The true meaning of charity is "love of humanity," and by applying this in a practical sense the true purpose for which charity organizations are intended will not be misapplied. More energy is needed in the work and the assistance of real interested friends. It is not a question of "tempering the winds to the shorn lamb," but one of making the lamb strong enough to stand the blasts. The poor want real sympathy, not pity. Giving money is a poor plan and often misdirects the aims of true charity.

Miss VanBoskerck quoted Jacob Riis, of New York, who said at the conference that what is needed is a vast deal more material aid. "A man cannot live like a pig and vote like a man." Mr. Riis told much of the slum work in New York, and of the great benefit derived from playgrounds, where boys and girls can work off their natural energy He strongly advised against the practice of putting boys in jail, and praised highly the work of the college settlements.

In speaking of the work for children, Miss VanBoskerck stated that New Jersey leads all other states in the matter of caring for them, it being the first State to have a State Board of Childrens' Guardians, which aims to place children in private homes so far as possible. Boston leads in the work of charity, there being 1,000 volunteer visitors to the poor of that city. It was deemed best that in drawing the line between private and public charity it is best to favor private charity. It was also stated at the conference that Montreal has no public charity. It is all private. Last year $35,000 was contributed for this purpose

Five strong obstacles against charity work were presented at the conference: The politician, insurance agent, chattel mortgage agent, those who give at the door and the deserting husband. But in spite of these objections and the fact that there has never been so much poverty, there are many encouraging signs.

At the conclusion of Miss VanBoskerck's report, Mr. Newell took occasion to remark that, although a park is not needed at present in the West End, he has his eye on a fine site for one, which he thinks will be needed ten years from now. He said he would like to show the site to the city officials if they care to entertain the proposition. After giving a unanimous vote of thanks to Miss VanBoskerck for her able and interesting report, the meeting adjourned.

BRUTALLY ASSAULTED.

A Resident of "Little Italy," Bound Brook, was Beaten With a Brick.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, June 19—Because he threw a stone at a dog which was annoying him, Fernando Plumbo was brutally assaulted yesterday morning by Gaetano and Mary Marino. All the parties concerned are residents of "Little Italy."

While passing the home of the Marinos, Plumbo was attacked by a large dog belonging to them. In order to protect himself he threw a stone at the animal and went on. On his return, a few minutes later, he was seized by Gaetano and securely held while his wife, it is alleged, hit him several times with a brick.

He received surgical treatment from Dr. Fisher, and hopes are entertained for his recovery although he is yet in a precarious condition. The Marinos have been arrested.

COURT HELD FOREMAN TRAYNOR RESPONSIBLE

Charles J. O'Brien Secured $350 Damages for Injuries Received at Pond's.

FIRST CASE OF ITS KIND.

CLAIMED INJURY WAS DUE TO NEGLIGENCE ON PART OF FOREMAN.

That Question of Fact Was Decided by Jury at Elizabeth Yesterday—Craig A. Marsh Appeared for Plaintiff—Decision of Court.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 19.—The case of Charles J. O'Brien against John Traynor, both of Plainfield, brought in the Union County Circuit Court, and which yesterday resulted in a verdict in favor of the plaintiff, was a case without precedent in the history of litigation in New Jersey.

The plaintiff, O'Brien, was injured in consequence, as he claimed, of the negligence of the foreman of one of the departments of the Pond Machine Tool Company's Works at Plainfield. He submitted his claim to Craig A. Marsh and was advised that he had no cause of action against the Pond Tool Machine Company, because he received his injuries in consequence of the negligence of a fellow servant, and under the law of this State he took the risk of such injuries when he accepted work in the company's factory. Mr. Marsh advised, however, that O'Brien did have a cause of action against foreman Traynor, although the point had never been decided in this State.

The suit was brought accordingly and was defended by George Holmes, of New York, and Former Judge Francis Child, of Newark. Judge Child contended that not only was there no precedent for the suit in New Jersey, but that there was no precedent in England, and he maintained that the very fact that no such suit had ever been brought in Great Britian or in this State, was quite sufficient evidence that there was no cause of action.

Mr. Marsh replied that the rule of law which exempted an employer from liability to his servant for injuries caused by the negligence of a fellow servant was based upon the principle that the servant by his contract of hiring impliedly agreed to assume the risks of any injuries so far as the master's liability is concerned; but that such agreement was solely for the benefit of the master and not for the benefit of the fellow servant with whom the plaintiff has no contract whatever. He insisted that every workman owes a duty to every fellow workman to exercise ordinary care to prevent injury to the latter, and that for a violation of that duty a cause of action arose just as clearly as it arises from the actionable negligence of a stranger. He pointed out that while the contrary doctrine was at one time held in Massachusetts, the case so holding had been overruled in that State.

After hearing the arguments of counsel pro and con Judge Vail decided in favor of the plaintiff and refused to grant the motion to non-suit. After Mr. Taynor had put in his defense, which was a denial that he had been in any wise negligent, the question of fact as to whether he was or was not negligent was left with the jury under the charge of the court that if the jury found that the defendant was negligent and that the plaintiff was not guilty of contributory negligence, it was their duty to find a verdict in favor of the plaintiff.

The injury in this case was merely to the index finger of the right hand of plaintiff and the jury awarded to the plaintiff $350 damages. The principle, however, is far reaching and is now settled so far as the Union County Circuit Court is concerned, for the first time. The case naturally has excited profound interest among lawyers, accident insurance companies and workmen in the machine shops and factories of this State.

Chester Denton, of Washington avenue, has just completed a small automobile, just large enough for short trips. He gets about with it handily and it attracts considerable attention.

AT THE THEATRES.

Something About the Attractions Which Plainfield Theatre-Goers May Care to Witness.

"Delightfully cool" was the expression used by a patron of Keith's Theatre as she entered the auditorium to witness the entertainment one of the hottest days this past week. The expression was pat, for Keith's is always cool. Alan Dale, the renowned theatrical critic, has said over his signature that Keith's was the coolest place in New York. And it is. It is made so artificially by iced air. This is where Mr. Keith scores one on the roof gardens, which are out in the open, and whose temperature cannot be regulated by artificial devices. Mr. Keith presents an excellent programme this week, headed by the great coons, Williams & Walker, who are presenting an entirely new sketch, "The Cakewalk Carnival." Second on the bill is the comic sketch, "A Proper Impropriety," written by Augustus Thomas, and presented by Louise Thorndyke-Boucicault, assisted by James Horne. Another excellent number is Horace Goldin, the world's greatest illusionist and conjurer. There are many other good acts deserving of mention on the long programme. Next week Mr. Keith will present Monroe, Mack & Lawrence in a screaming comedy sketch; also the Four Emperors of Music; Hal Stephens, the impersonator; Three Rio Brothers and fifteen other excellent acts. Best seats 50 cents. Delightfully cool—continuous performance.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

The prevailing impression among North Jersey Democrats appears to be, however, that Mayor Seymour, of Newark, is the coming Democratic nominee for governor, although, as has been said before, many of them express doubt as to his ability to secure the united delegation from Essex county.—Newark News.

It must be a Republican, and not a Democrat, up in Somerset county, who is trying to make the honest voters of his section believe that "Quick Lunch" Childs, of Basking Ridge, is the man whom the Democratic party is talking of nominating for governor. This is all the more cruel, as a joke even, because S. S. Childs has twice run for office in Somerset county, and has been defeated each time. Moreover, he is too good a man and citizen to be subjected to such jokes. The man who is talked about—only talked about—for the Democratic nomination for governor is ex-Judge Child, of Morris and Essex. But neither will get the nomination, for the coming campaign is to be no Child's play.—Elizabeth Journal.

It is to the credit of the Hunterdon County Board of Freeholders that it has had the strength and courage to resist the reactionary element in that county which is opposed to local taxation for road improvement. Several weeks ago the board appropriated $20,000 for the construction of good roads. This was Hunterdon's initial step toward taking advantage of the State Road act, and it was the signal for a howl of denunciation from a lot of close-fisted back-numbers, who insisted that the roads that were good enough for their grandfathers were good enough for them, and that if the State wanted better roads in Hunterdon the State should bear all the expense. This sentiment found voice through two of the leading Democratic newspapers of the county, and there was grave apprehension lest it might be sufficient to terrify the freeholders into reversing their action. Fortunately this fear has proved groundless. At last week's meeting of the board a motion to reconsider the previous action was voted down and the freeholders made it evident that they would take no backward step. It cannot be doubted that in this resolution they represent that public sentiment in the county which alone is worthy of respect, and that their action will redound to the material prosperity of a section which has heretofore suffered from the effects of an ultra-conservatism.—Newark News.

WENT ABROAD TO DIE

Former Governor Pingree Passes Away In London.

SOUTH AFRICAN TRIP PLANNED.

Deceased Was Four Times Mayor of Detroit and Twice Governor of Michigan—Author of Many Municipal Reforms.

LONDON, June 19.—Ex-Governor H. S. Pingree of Michigan died here last night at 11:35.

His son was the only one present at the time of his death. The attending doctor left Mr. Pingree's bedside at about 11:15, promising to return shortly. H. S. Pingree, Jr., who had been watching at his father's side for four days and who had not removed his clothes during that time, noticed a sudden change in his father's condition. He had hardly reached the patient's bedside when his father died peacefully, without warning and without speaking one word.

Young Mr. Pingree has wired his mother and his uncle in the United States not to come to London.

The body of the late Mr. Pingree will be embalmed and taken to his home.

The diagnosis made by London specialists of the cancerous affection of the intestines from which Mr. Pingree suffered left practically no hope for the patient's recovery.

HAZEN S. PINGREE.

Toward the end of his illness Mr. Pingree suffered great pain and weakened rapidly. He was unable to retain nourishment. His mind, however, remained fairly clear. During the whole of Tuesday he was practically kept alive by injections of strychnine and drugs administered to lessen his pain.

Hazen Senter Pingree was born at Denmark, Me., in 1840. In 1862 he enlisted in the First Massachusetts heavy artillery and served until the end of the war, when he located in Detroit, embarking in the manufacturing of shoes.

In 1889 the Republican party nominated ex-Governor Pingree for mayor of Detroit, and he was elected by over 2,000 majority. He was re-elected three times, by an increased majority each time. In 1896 Mr. Pingree was selected as governor of Michigan by 83,000 plurality, running ahead of the national ticket by 26,000 votes. He was re-elected governor in 1898 by about 100,000 plurality and served out his term, which expired in 1900. Last March he started on the trip to South Africa which resulted in his death in London.

Ex-Governor Pingree while he was mayor accomplished many municipal reforms, among others forcing the gas company to lower their rates 50 cents per 1,000, establishing the public lighting plant, organizing the Detroit railway on a 3 cent fare basis, lowering telephone rates and breaking up a number of sewer and paving rings that were thriving when he came into office. His potato patch scheme for the relief of the poor of the city was extensively copied and brought him much fame. While governor Mr. Pingree devoted his energies toward securing the passage of a law taxing railroads and other corporation property on an ad valorem basis instead of specifically on their earnings.

Homeopathists In Convention.

RICHFIELD SPRINGS, N. Y., June 19.—The formal opening of the American Institute of Homeopathy was attended here by about 500 members, 25 of whom are professional women, and several hundred visitors. More than 100 new members were received. The reports of committees were received and discussed. The report of the interstate committee stated that Senator Dietrick while governor of Nebraska put three institutions of that state under homeopathic control and urged concerted action toward securing equal recognition of the schools of homeopathy with the old regular school of medicine in all state institutions. There is a good deal of feeling over the failure of the United States government to make provision in the army for homeopathic surgeons.

A BLOW FOR BARKER

His Story and Wife's Testimony Ruled Out.

RECTOR KELLER ON THE STAND.

Could Not Identify His Assailant. Attorneys For the Defense Fought Hard to Get Client's Story of Arlington Shooting Admitted.

NEW YORK, June 19.—The second day of the trial at Jersey City of Thomas G. Barker for the shooting of the Rev. John Keller at Arlington proved an interesting one. It was full of objections by counsel and clear cut, cold and sharp rulings by the presiding judge. Both principals went on the stand during the day. Mr. Keller told his story straightforwardly.

The story of Barker was not told and may never be on the witness stand. Under the rulings of Judge Blair it seemed at the close as if the defense must abandon the line of contention it had proposed to follow. The court held that Barker could not testify to his own state of mind on the morning of the shooting or, as Prosecutor Erwin put it, "testify to his own insanity." The object of the defense from the moment Barker was called was to introduce the alleged conversation between Barker and his wife which it is claimed led up to the shooting. Mr. Van Winkle and Mr. Wall struggled hard to get in something that would leave an opening for this. They fought hard and long, but at each tack were met with defeat. Again and again they sought to introduce something that would lead up to the telling of what took place before the shooting, but always the strict rule and practice of New Jersey barred them. Then they went straight at the question and sought to bring in the whole story boldly and plainly, but always met defeat. The struggle was long and interesting, but at its end Barker was withdrawn from the stand without having added anything to the known facts of the case and practically without testifying to anything material. He was withdrawn temporarily, but unless some basis is laid later for his testimony he may not be replaced.

Following quick and fast upon this defeat came another, when Dr. Evans of the Morris Plains asylum was practically debarred from testifying and had to be withdrawn. Dr. Evans was to testify to what might be the case under given circumstances, but the circumstances not having been established the doctor had to step aside to be called later if a foundation is laid for his testimony. The court rose as soon as Dr. Evans was withdrawn.

The story of Mrs. Barker may not be told either now unless counsel finds some way which has not yet suggested itself to introduce it. The ruling of the court in every instance was pronounced quickly, and Jersey lawyers were generally of the opinion that the exceptions Mr. Van Winkle filed with a lavish hand were not such as would upset the result if there was a conviction. It was Jersey justice, they said, and the court was simply following the rules and laws.

If Barker shot Keller, he had but two lines of defense—self defense and insanity. Jersey law admits of nothing else. There is nothing admitting of the taking of a life except self defense and insanity, and in Jersey an attempt to take a life is as serious a crime, except for the penalty, as the actual taking.

Mr. Keller was the last witness for the state. He showed the jury his scarred face and blinded and injured eyes. He insisted in a mild way under cross examination that the shot which entered his head was fired from behind. He said he had spoken to no one and inferentially that there had been no quarrel.

There was a larger attendance than on the first day.

Russia Threatens Tariff War.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The Russian government has served notice on the state department that it had applied the maximum duty on bicycles and naval stores imported into Russia from the United States. This action is in retaliation for the application by the United States of the full duty on Russian petroleum, which was formerly free. This action, an addition to the retaliatory proceeding of the Russian government on account of the imposition by the United States of countervailing duties on Russian beet sugar, indicates that the government of the czar intends to precipitate a tariff war between the two countries.

Chicago Postoffice Changes.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The postoffice department has allowed Postmaster Coyne of Chicago 100 additional clerks, 50 of whom were put on duty June 13, and also has granted him 500 promotions among lower grade clerks. A fund of $10,000 is allowed for emergency clerk hire, and 40 additional substations are provided for, effective July 1. It also was decided that the carrier stations in Chicago, which now close at 6 p. m., will hereafter remain open until at least 8 o'clock.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 19.—President Eliot of Harvard university is authority for the statement that it will be necessary for President McKinley to be present at commencement June 26 in order to receive the degree of LL. D. voted by the university. President Eliot says that formerly degrees were conferred upon absent persons, but of late years it has been required that the one who is to receive the honor be present himself at commencement.

CUBAN SCHOOLS.

Report of Acting Commissioner Hanna Shows Great Progress.

HAVANA, June 19.—The report of Lieutenant Hanna, acting commissioner of schools in Cuba, treats of the four months ended December, 1900. Beginning in September, 1900, the Cuban schools were put under direct military supervision, and army officers commenced making quarterly inspections of each school province. The work of the school commissioners has consisted largely in perfecting organization under the new school law, which is modeled after the school laws of Ohio. It was found that many changes were necessary to meet existing conditions, and at present the system is working excellently.

There are 3,567 schools in Cuba and 3,583 schoolteachers, of whom 3,468 are white and 115 are colored. There are 2,127 women and 1,456 men teachers. The number of pupils is 172,273, and the average attendance per school is 34. The cost per pupil per month is $1.83.

Lieutenant Hanna recommends that the municipalities pay a portion of the school expenses now borne wholly by the state. The total annual expenditure on account of schools now exceeds $4,000,000 and will probably soon reach $6,000,000. The commissioner says that the present salaries paid to teachers are from 20 to 30 per cent higher than those paid in the United States and recommends that they be decreased.

The summer schools open in July, and the attending teachers are to receive their regular salary. The invitation extended by President Eliot of Harvard university to 100 Cuban teachers to attend the summer school there has been accepted by 100 women instructors who understand English and who will sail for the United States the latter part of June. Fifty teachers will also attend the New York State Normal school.

Wood Reports Favorably.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Secretary Root laid before the cabinet reports from Governor General Wood showing a most satisfactory condition of affairs in the island. These related mainly to the progress that has been made in the matters of municipal government, establishing the schools, general improvements, sanitation and the bettered condition of the inhabitants of the island.

Hall Caught at Last.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., June 19.—Luther Hall, a fugitive from justice, has just been arrested at Morrisburg, a few miles below here on the Canadian side, charged with attempting to blow up John McPhee's house Nov. 10, 1899. A stick of dynamite was thrown through the window into the kitchen stove, the explosion following blowing the end of the house out and shattering the whole building. Six persons were in the house, all escaping serious injury except a child. Hall crossed to this side and went into the Adirondacks. He was located last summer by the United States marshal of Ogdensburg and a detective of Toronto in a shanty with his brother and another, but escaped by jumping through a window. His brother was arrested and brought here for extradition, when the mistake was learned and the prisoner released. Hall was returning to the scene of the crime when arrested.

The Independence Performs Well.

BOSTON, June 19.—In a smooth sea and under a southeast breeze varying from 10 knots at the start to 18 at the finish the Independence was given her sixth trial in Massachusetts bay. On form she certainly seemed better than during her previous trials, and she showed fine speed, at one time fully 14 knots, when reaching the lightship to Thieves' ledge. The Independence was given considerable windward work, this being the principal point of sailing on which she was tried. There was little reaching and nothing before the wind. In the windward work she pointed high and footed very fast. The sails set to perfection.

Constitution Out Again.

NEWPORT, R. I., June 19.—After being laid up two weeks for repairs to her broken steel mast the Constitution resumed her tuning up work, going outside in a light southeast breeze and sailing back and forth between Brenton's reef lightship and Point Judith for about four hours. The trial yesterday, while testing the repaired mast and rigging to some extent, was more especially for the benefit of the crew, for during the time the yacht was out practically every sail in the locker was set and taken in.

Pledged to Three Cent Fares.

PHILADELPHIA, June 19.—Congressman Robert H. Foerderer, who will probably be the head of the street railway companies recently granted rights in this city, has made a statement in which he practically pledges the companies to 3 cent fares if it is demonstrated that dividends can be earned with fares at that low figure. Mr. Foerderer devotes much space to a criticism of John Wanamaker's motive in offering $2,500,000 for the franchises and says his offer was not a sincere business proposition.

Italian Anarchists Arrested.

BERLIN, June 19.—Special dispatches from Meissen, Saxony, say that three Italian anarchists have been arrested in the Senftenberg Mires upon evidence that they had been connected with Bresci in the assassination of King Humbert. The three anarchists were delivered over to the Italian authorities. Seven anarchists were arrested last Sunday in Hanover in connection with Emperor William's visit there. Two of the men arrested were Austrians and were expelled from the country.

COLICKY FRETTY TEETHING BABIES NEED LAXAKOLA

The Great Tonic Laxative

WATCH the children carefully. Their health, perhaps their lives, depend on keeping their bowels regular. Many parents make a mistake by giving their little children the old-fashioned, violent purgatives which are racking and griping, and are therefore not only unpleasant, but dangerous.

Laxakola does not gripe nor irritate. It is a pure, gentle and painless liquid laxative. It is not only a sure laxative, but it contains valuable tonic properties which not only act upon the bowels, but tone up the entire system and purify the blood. A few drops can be given with safety to very young babies, and will often relieve colic by expelling the wind and gas that cause it. Great relief is experienced when administered to young children suffering from diarrhœa, accompanied with white or green evacuations, as LAXAKOLA neutralizes the acidity of the bowels and carries out the cause of the fermentation. It will aid digestion, relieve restlessness, assist nature, and induce sleep. For constipation, simple fevers, coated tongue, or any infantile troubles arising from a disordered condition of the stomach it is invaluable. At druggists, 25c. and 50c., or send for free sample to LAXAKOLA CO., 132 Nassau Street, New York, or 356 Dearborn Street, Chicago.

ISLAND SELF MAINTAINING.

Governor Allen Will Call Extra Session of Porto Rican Legislature.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, June 19.—After a careful study of the report submitted by J. H. Hollander Governor Allen is satisfied that the present system of insular taxation produces sufficient revenue for Porto Rico's needs and that consequently the island maintains itself without the use of customs duties on trade with the United States.

Governor Allen has decided to call the Porto Rican assembly in extra session for the sole purpose of passing a resolution to this effect and according to section 3 of the Foraker law. The call for the extra session will probably be issued this week and not later than June 24. The session will be held July 4. The assembly will take no other legislative action other than that herein referred to.

It is announced that the present supply of sugar will probably be held until the establishment of free trade with the United States.

A committee from the San Juan Chamber of Commerce has requested Governor Allen to effect the transfer of the Porto Rican exhibits at the Pan-American exposition from Buffalo to the Charleston exposition.

FIGHT FOR MOLINEUX

Milburn Finishes His Plea Before Appeals Court.

EX-SENATOR HILL OPPOSES RETRIAL

The Course of Recorder Goff and Assistant District Attorney Osborne Defended—Weight of Evidence Decidedly Against Accused.

BUFFALO, June 19.—The final direct verbal plea for another chance before a jury for Roland B. Molineux, the alleged poisoner of Mrs. Katherine J. Adams and Henry C. Barnet, and the first half of the arraignment of the people in resistance were heard by the court of appeals yesterday. John G. Milburn, champion of the cause of young Molineux, spoke from 10 o'clock until 11:40 and was succeeded by former United States Senator David B. Hill, who held the attention of the court until it arose for the day at 2 o'clock in an address in opposition to the retrial of the case. Hill will close today, and with a brief reply for the appellant the case will be submitted to the judgment of the court.

It was a day of oratory, stirred at times to the thrilling point with touches of invective. Milburn's close was vigorous. He began with a second attack upon the admissibility of the Barnet evidence, spent half an hour in ridiculing "tremous," "serriations," "lapses of energy" and the other things developed by the scientific study of penmanship and closed with a direct attack upon the policy throughout the trial of Recorder Goff. He charged the latter with favoritism toward Assistant District Attorney James Osborne, whose methods he also questioned, and prejudice against Attorney Bartow S. Weeks, and to support his contention read the stenographic notes of the recorder's examination of Mary Melando and Nicholas Heckman. He dramatically described the examination of Mary Melando and denied that the recorder had a right to mention her creed to her or admit several portions of her testimony as evidence.

JOHN G. MILBURN.

Senator Hill, fresh from the leash of nearly two days' silence, was equally vigorous. After explaining his connection with the appeal he plunged into a review of the case which was an argument tending to show the guilt of the defendant. He strongly defended the course of Recorder Goff and Assistant District Attorney Osborne and amply justified the theory and policy of the prosecution in their entirety. Starting with the theories of the people as to the killing of Mrs. Adams and Barnet, he followed them through their lines of reasoning and contended for their stability and acceptance. He insisted that the people had the right to show how Barnet died and insisted that a complete reconciliation of the two cases was possible. He avowed that the prosecution was within its rights in showing the relations of Molineux and his wife prior to their marriage and asserted that it was the people who had suffered when the recorder ordered the evidence stricken out. He said Mrs. Molineux had called her marriage a romance. He called it a tragedy.

Mr. Hill took up successively the various mysterious letters written under the names of Cornish and Barnet upon the blue paper crested with interlaced crescents and, forcefully adjusting them in their places in the theory of the prosecution, dramatically proclaimed the alleged guilt of the prisoner and insisted that the state had conclusively proved its charge. He dwelt upon the description of himself given by the writer of the Marsdon diagnosis blank and assented that the person described was Molineux. He pronounced the weight of evidence against the accused as overwhelming and said that no defense had been made because none was possible.

City Weights and Measures.

In another column will be found the substance of Councilman Lee's proposed ordinance, regulating weights and measures in the city. It will probably come up for second reading at the meeting of the Common Council tomorrow evening. Just what its fate will be, it is impossible to say, but it seems quite likely that it will be amended before passage.

There are some minor features to the ordinance which could be improved to prevent any possible misinterpretation of the ordinance. The object of the ordinance is to properly regulate the weights and measures used by the local dealers in all kinds of goods. It is directly contrary to the intention of the authors to make it a means for the annoyance of private individuals. There are several points in which there is a question as to whether or not it would affect private individuals and thus be a source of great annoyance should the new city official, therein provided for, desire to make it so.

The chief objection to the ordinance is likely to be raised regarding the method of payment of the sealer of weights and measures, which is provided for by the ordinance. According to its provisions, the sealer is to derive his income from the various fees collected in connection with his official duties. It is questioned as to whether it would not be a better plan to pay him, if he is deemed necessary, a regular salary. The objection to the other way is that he would be likely to make no end of trouble for many in his efforts to increase his income. Of course the other argument is that it would spur him on to greater effort if his income was dependent on his work.

There has been a disposition shown on the part of several of the Councilmen to go slow in this matter and look the ordinance over carefully before passing it. There are no members of the Council so superior to their fellow beings that they can draw an ordinance without a mistake, and it will be well for one of such importance as this to be very carefully examined before it is passed, provided a majority of the members of the Council are in favor of it.

Tomorrow will see the close of the Plainfield public schools for the long vacation. The Grammar School holds its closing exercises this afternoon and tomorrow evening will be the occasion for the commencement of the High School at the First Baptist church. A class of twenty-four will then receive diplomas and there will be the usual presentation of awards. For the first time, admittance to these exercises will be by ticket only. Tickets are decidedly in demand in consequence. Following the exercises, the usual alumni reception will be held at the Casino where the friends of the graduates will assemble to wish them the best of success in their venture out into the world.

While many of the unsightly telephone and telegraph poles in the city and borough have been removed by the putting underground of the wires, there are a number that still remain. To put it mildly, they are not an ornament to the community, but, for the present at least, they are necessary evils. As long as they have to remain, however, it will be well to make them as inoffensive as possible. A good coat of dark green paint will greatly assist in that good work. Let both city and borough authorities look into the subject. It has been done before, why not again?

The experience of the directors of successful enterprises is a profitable study in every business man, remarks the Philadelphia Record. The head of the India Food Company of New York has told in a few words how his enterprise was pushed. "From the start," he said, "we advertised extensively, using the newspapers chiefly. We did no demonstrating, and did not depart from direct advertising—gave away no novelties, and used no sensational methods. The advertising mainly accounts for the success of our salesmen."

One of the most stable parishes in the Diocese of New Jersey is that located at the corner of Washington and Mercer avenues, North Plainfield. It was only a short time ago that the parish quietly celebrated its thirty-second anniversary, as was told in yesterday's Daily Press. An excellent picture of the Church of the Holy Cross was published yesterday in connection with a brief history of the parish.

Every few days somebody comes forward with some new and startling gossip concerning the coming gubernatorial campaign. Although no end of stories are flying about the State concering possible rival candidates, the situation has not changed from where it was a month ago. A month or two more, however, will see something doing in the ranks of both of the principal political parties of the State.

It is too bad that the members of the Board of Trade cannot take enough interest in that organization to get out a quorum for a meeting once a month. It does not look well for the enterprise of the town to have it currently reported through the State that the local Board of Trade could not hold a meeting owing to the lack of a quorum being present.

The weather man this month has been somewhat out of sorts. Here it is commencement week and the weather has positively been cool. The graduates will not feel that they have been properly remembered unless the mercury takes another run up toward the top of the tube.

The fact that a dog was responsible for the spread of a contagious disease in the borough is only an evidence of the care needed in such cases.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence.)

Dunellen, June 19—The early closing of the local stores for the past two evenings has made a change in the appearance of the streets after dark, and has also been the means of having a great deal of shopping done during the afternoon. So far no one has complained of the change, while on the other hand the clerks and employers themselves appreciate the change greatly. Heretofore their evening was nearly gone before the work was over, but with the new schedule they have ample time to prepare for several hours of pleasure.

S. S. Vermeule, an old resident of the borough and once the leading clothier of the borough, talks of going west next week to spend the remainder of his days. His family and friends are all dead or have removed to other parts, but he has several relatives in the west who wish him to live with them.

The young men's class of the Presbyterian church will close its recreation room Friday evening. The event will be marked by a reception to the relatives and friends of the members, which it is expected will be an enjoyable occasion. The room will be reopened in the fall.

Short and Gossipy Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

The Pan-American two-color stamps issued by the postoffice department in commemoration of the exposition at Buffalo have proved a great success. The first issue of the new stamps was made on April 27 last and for the past month the average number requested by all the 76,000 postoffices in the country has been 5 000 000 per day. But the bureau of engraving and printing has only been able to supply one-half the demand. This is in part due to the fine work done on the stamps which requires them to be printed on hand instead of steam processes.

Replication Filed.

In the case in the Supreme Court brought by John F. Wilson against Charlotte Fritz and Adam Fritz, to recover the amount of a promissory note sued upon, a replication has been filed to the plea made by Hetfield & Hetfield, representing the defendants.

FEAR FOUL PLAY FOR COOK.

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE OF A BOUND BROOK MAN.

Was Last Seen Sunday Night on New Brunswick Trolley Car—Man of Excellent Habits.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, June 19.—The family and many friends of A. B. Cook, a well known business man of this place, are much alarmed over his mysterious disappearance Sunday evening.

He had spent the day quietly at home. At about 6 o'clock he left the house, saying he intended taking short walk to rid himself of a severe headache. That was the last his family have seen of him. He was noticed shortly after on a trolley car bound towards New Brunswick. It is not known where he left the car or anything regarding his actions afterward.

He came here from Hunterdon county a few years ago, and has been for some time the right hand man of Ralph L. Reed, a leading grocer. He was a hard worker, was a man of regular habits, and was highly regarded by his acquaintances. He has two small children, in whom he took great delight, and was a member of the Congregational church.

His late employer says his accounts are all in good shape and can assign no reason for Cook's action. As far as known his family life was happy and it is not supposed that he has deserted them. It is thought that he is suffering from temporary abberation, or else that he has met with foul play.

Throughout the day, systematic search has been made and the police of neighboring cities notified, but up to the present time nothing has been heard of the missing man.

NO TRACE OF STOLEN HORSE.

DOUGLASS DARBY OFFERS REWARD FOR ITS RECOVERY.

Description of Animal Taken From Church Shed at Westfield Sunday Morning.

As yet Douglass L Darby has heard nothing about his horse and wagon which was stolen from the Presbyterian church shed, Westfield, Sunday morning, and he now offers a reward of $25 for the return of the stolen property or information leading to the capture and conviction of the thieves.

Mr. Darby prizes the animal very much. She is described as a black mare, fifteen and one half hands high, two saddle galls on the back, white. She was raised by Mr. Darby and has always been in the family. She is nineteen years old and three years ago won a silver cup at the Plainfield Driving Park. Her name is "Minnie" and is generally known among lovers of horses in this vicinity. The owner has never placed a price on her, as he never intended to sell her

The harness comprises an open bridle, no check; nickle saddle, no check hook nor check seat; dutch collar. The buggy is rubber tire, end spring top, three bowed.

Mr. Darby has been told that two young men went away with the rig, but not a trace of the runaways has been found. Any information about the rig should be given to the local police or the Westfield police or Mr. Darby himself.

At a special meeting of the Young Men's Association of Hope chapel, held last evening, H. D. Thompson was unanimously elected manager of the Hope baseball team in the place made vacant by the resignation of Charles Lawrence Smith.

Mr. Thompson has had considerable experience in this capacity throughout the country and is perfectly competent to conduct the affairs of the team for the remainder of the season in a satisfactory manner The retiring officer, Charles L. CLUB DISBANDS.

Membership of Westfield Social Club Has Dwindled So It Decides to End Career.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, June 19.—The Westfield Social Club, one of the prominent clubs of this place which has been foremost in the various social functions of this town, voted to disband last night at a meeting of the club members called for that purpose.

The club has been in existence seven years and has been noted in this part of the county for its annual masquerades. In 1896, the club moved into new quarters in the Standard building and had a slate bowling alley built at a large expense.

The reason assigned for this step is that although the club has no debts and is in good financial standing the membership has dwindled so that it is impossible to continue.

DELEGATES RETURNED.

Members of Mt Olive Church Have Returned From Bridgeport, Conn.

Pastor E. E. Jackson and the delegates from the Mount Olive Baptist church, returned home yesterday from Bridgeport, Conn., where they have been for the past five days attending the Sunday-school and New England convention. The delegates were Mrs. P. H. Brown, Mrs. S. W. Fields, Miss Lillia Iverson, Miss Lulu Reede, Mrs. Anna Binn, Mrs. Fred Mitchell, Mrs. Kate Kingslow, Mrs. Louisa Taylor. Mrs. E. E. Jackson represented the Sunday-school.

All took part in and enjoyed the proceedings. On Wednesday last, Pastor Jackson preached the sermon to the Sunday-school convention and was re-elected trustee of the widow's fund of the convention. The convention will meet June 13, 1902, with the Baptist church at Tarrytown, N.Y.

A DETECTIVE WHO DETECTED

By Philip G. Hubert, Jr.

Copyright, 1898 by J. P. Lippincott Co.

II.

For a few moments I sat dazed at my discovery. That, however, was no state of mind for a detective, especially for a detective who had detected something. What was I to do? Denounce this young girl as a possible thief to the library authorities? Such a course would put an end to her chances for copying any more English stories for American newspapers; but it would mean disgrace, and in all probability it would not result in recovering the $100 that the Gazette had lost. Moreover, the more I thought of the girl and her pleasant ways, the less I liked the idea of accusing her of wrongdoing. I pondered the problem for a good hour. Danders' note was in my pocket. It was some encouragement to find that the handwriting was not a bit like the fine feminine scrawl of Miss Ellen Robertson. It was perfectly possible that this copy of the Londoner might have been taken out by another person, Danders, for instance, as well as by Miss Robertson. With this theory in view I went manfully to work at my cards again, and so thoroughly convinced myself that such must be the case that when my friend, the librarian, passed my desk at closing time, and asked me whether I had found my man, I was weak enough to say, No. According to the strict terms of the inquiry, I had not found my man; it was a woman. I came across several more cards bearing Miss Robertson's signature and a request for the Londoner of 1848; evidently she had used the volume almost every day for a week. That evening I kept away from the Gazette office in order to avoid the questions I should have met there, for I had reported that I was examining the cards in the Manhattan library. Thus does conscience make cowards even of successful detectives.

The next day I put in eight hours of work at my bundles of cards, going back half a year. Apparently no one else had touched that number of the Londoner or any other number of that magazine. I reviewed the evidence as detectives are wont to do in books. Here was a young woman engaged from morning till night in copying from the Londoner of June, 1848. "Daisy's Quest" had been stolen from this book, and according to Terrill, an expert, it was unlikely that there was another copy outside of that library to be found in the country. No other person had taken the book out.

Nevertheless, before any accusation could be made, it would certainly be necessary to connect Miss Robertson with Danders. That might not be easy. Puzzled and sick at heart, I was leaving the library at four o'clock, when at the door I found Miss Robertson gazing out into the rain with dismay. I had purposely avoided her during the day, contenting myself with making sure that she was at work as usual. It was impossible to avoid her now, for I had an umbrella and she had none. Perhaps, after all, a detective ought not to neglect this opportunity to know more of Miss Robertson. So I offered to take her to the car. Her manner was a trifle stiff; perhaps she had noted and resented my studied avoidance.

"Let me see—you will have to take a Sixth avenue car," said this particular detective, in his stupid way.

"Why, yes; but how did you know that?" said Miss Robertson, her curiosity getting the best of her displeasure, if there had been any displeasure. Perhaps it was only my conceit that gave birth to this latter fancy.

I have always been considered a fairly ready liar, but for a few seconds I stumbled. I could not tell her that I had her address carefully copied into my note book. I suppose it was newspaper instinct that prompted me to say:

"I happened to see you take a Sixth avenue car last night as I was going home."

"That's very strange," said the girl, looking up at me with a twinkle that even the shadow of the umbrella could not eclipse, "for I walked all the way home last night."

I was enough of a liar to see my way clear now.

"Really! Then it must have been some one very much like you, and some one who came from the library. Then perhaps you do not take the Sixth avenue car after all?"

"Yes, I do. I live in Thirtieth street. But before I take my car I have to stop on Sixth avenue at a book-store where I ordered some writing-paper for my father last night. The rain has stopped, so that I needn't trouble you to go out of your way any farther."

"It is not out of my way. Besides, it might rain again."

So we went on towards Sixth avenue and then turned uptown. In less time than I can write it, and by what magic I hardly know, I had wholly forgotten that Miss Robertson was probably a criminal of a mild type and I the sleuth-hound on her track, the avenger. She had very pretty ways—for a criminal. And she talked more to my liking than any other girl I had met in years, or before that.

"There's the sort of rain costume you ought to have," I said, pointing to a draped wax figure in the brilliantly lighted show-window of a great shop—a woman in a long mackintosh, holding an open umbrella in the face of a supposititious rainstorm. It was the regular rainy-day exhibition of that particular shop.

Miss Robertson paused and looked at the display with interest. There were also costly gowns and fine furs in the same window showcase, which was as big as some drawing-rooms.

"Yes, that is very nice," she said, with something of a sigh. Evidently the sight of so much silk and satin made her envious.

"Why," I asked, "does every woman sigh deeply as she turns away from such a display or from a jeweler's window? Five women turned away from that window in the last three minutes, and every one of them gave a deep sigh as she did so."

"Did I sigh too?"

"You were the fifth."

"It was not covetousness that made me sigh," she said. "It was the sight of that umbrella held against what was supposed to be a driving storm. Have you ever noticed how easy it is to run into a lamppost or into another person when you carry an umbrella in that way? Of course you have. My poor father made that observation several years ago, and was unfortunate enough to devise a remedy."

"Unfortunate?"

"Yes. Do you remember my mentioning, the day we first met, that my father's eyesight had been almost destroyed by an accident? One night during a storm, when people staggered blindly along, their umbrellas held straight in front of them, a woman put the point of her umbrella into my father's eye. At the time he thought but little of the matter, but some nerve was injured, and he has been almost blind ever since. That is nearly three years ago. While laid up, he invented a way to prevent such accidents. He proposed to sew an eyeglass into the umbrella, so that a person could look ahead and avoid any obstruction."

"Not a bad idea, I should think. I suppose he patented it and lost a pile of money; inventors always do."

"Yes, he lost more money than we could afford, making experiments, and I did my best to spoil a dozen fine umbrellas—we had quite a lot of them—by cutting holes in them and sewing in bits of glass that wouldn't stay in place after all."

"But the patent? Why couldn't he sell that for lots of money?"

"The patent? Oh, he never got a patent. It seems that some one took a patent on the same idea more than 40 years ago. It cost papa about $400 to find that out. Patent lawyers are expensive. Poor papa! Between the Spanish Inquisition and his patent umbrella—" And a sigh finished the sentence.

"Did he show his idea to any umbrella makers?"

"Oh, yes. But when he found that he couldn't get a patent he lost heart and put the dozen umbrellas away in a corner, each umbrella with a big hole but with no glass as yet. That's why I have no umbrella to-day."

"Blessed invention!" I ventured, and I really meant it.

Miss Robertson flushed slightly.

"You wouldn't say so if you knew what it has cost us."

"I know an umbrella maker," I went on. "He's an intimate friend of mine. Do you think your father would object to my taking one of his sample umbrellas to my friend? Patent or no patent, it might be worth something. You might at least get your $400 back again."

"You are very kind. I will speak to him about it. Here is my street; good-night, and thank you."

I was loath to let her go.

"Suppose I ask your father at once; would that do any harm?"

A JUNE LUNCHEON.

Some Hints For the Woman With a Country Home.

This is the time of the year when the woman who lives out of town rejoices. Her broad verandas and well kept lawn are a source of envy to her city friends, who have to put up with roof gardens, front door stoops and such poor substitutes. If she is a wise woman, she will repay her social obligations and make friends for the coming winter by giving a lunch or two served in a dainty manner.

She will not make the mistake of having this little feast indoors, but it will be spread in a cool corner of the veranda where the sunlight flickers through a screen of vines or a gayly striped awning. Instead of one large table several small round ones should be used. In the center of each there should be a big bowl of roses drooping gracefully over a mat of ferns. Highly polished tables should be left bare, with the exception of individual doilies under each plate. A dainty touch would be to have these embroidered in the popular strawberry design. As much as possible the pink idea should be carried out.

The following menu will be found both appetizing and not too difficult to prepare:

Pineapple Cups Filled with Fruit.
Asparagus Soup.
Deviled Crabs.
Broiled Chicken. Creamed Peas.
Potatoes Fried in Fancy Shapes.
Iced Tomatoes, Mayonnaise Dressing.
Cherry Tarts. Strawberry Mousse.
Pink Bonbons.
Iced Tea.

For the first course cut a pineapple into halves, remove the inside neatly, chop it into bits and add to it small pieces of oranges, strawberries and whole cherries. Put this back into the pineapple halves and add a small quantity of claret and cracked ice. The deviled crabs can be prepared the day before, and the shells can be given a deeper shade of pink by using vegetable dye. The strawberry mousse is stiff whipped cream flavored and tinted a delicate pink with strawberries. It is served in small glass cups and dotted here and there with bits of green pistachio nuts. The bonbons can be held in pink crape paper boxes, with the covers formed in imitation of a rose, and if possible the iced tea should be poured into long stemmed pink glasses.

ATHLETICS AND APPETITE.

Explain Why the Girl of Today Is So Divinely Tall.

IT is a certain fact that modern maidens are much taller and better developed than were their predecessors, and the general idea is that it is because they take so much more outdoor exercise and go in so largely for physical training. That, at any rate, is a very gratifying supposition and probably the true one, though certain prosaic people declare that the physical superiority of modern maids over those who went before is simply because they eat more.

Formerly a gently nurtured damsel was ashamed of acknowledging that she was really hungry and reckoned a small appetite a "genteel" possession. Nowadays a girl no more pretends to be able to live upon air than a man does, and she frankly shows her appreciation of a good dinner. That she is the better for a sufficiency of food no one doubts or that it is a very important factor in her splendid development. Nevertheless I think those people are right who maintain that the "divinely tall" maidens of today owe their superiority in height to physical exercise, for, though a large amount of food has gone to build up those inches, still it is mainly thanks to outdoor sports that girls have acquired such healthy appetites—and satisfy them they must.

DR. KENNEDY HOME AGAIN.

Dentist Accused of Murder and Thrice Tried Out on Bail.

NEW YORK, June 19.—Dr. Samuel J. Kennedy arrived at his home in New Dorp at an early hour last evening. There was a large crowd of friends and relatives at the railway station when the train with Dr. Kennedy and his wife aboard rolled in.

As Dr. Kennedy alighted from the train his 7-year-old son Clarence ran to him, and Dr. Kennedy lifted the boy and kissed him. Kennedy's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Eaton, Mrs. Kennedy's parents, and John P. Pursell welcomed him to his home.

Dr. Kennedy, with his son seated on his shoulder and his wife leaning on his arm, started for his home, followed by about a thousand persons. Cheer after cheer was given, and Dr. Kennedy, smiling, bowed and doffed his hat.

The party arrived at his home in a very short time, where another crowd awaited him. Cheers were repeatedly given.

Friends and relatives gathered in the Kennedy home to celebrate the return of one who left them three years ago.

Dr. Samuel J. Kennedy, who passed through the ordeal of three trials for murder in the first degree and who a year ago was confined in the deathhouse at Sing Sing sentenced to die for the murder of Dolly Reynolds, was set at liberty at 2:50 o'clock yesterday afternoon under $10,000 bail by Judge Cowing. Bail was fixed by Judge Newburger, and Mrs. Eleanor M. Hand, wife of former Lieutenant Elmer E. Hand of the United States navy, qualified as bondsman after her husband had been rejected.

Bryan to Head a New Party.

KANSAS CITY, June 19.—Definite steps toward the organization of a new "third party" which is proposed to embrace Missouri and to form the nucleus for a national growth were taken yesterday in Kansas City at a conference of the members of the Populist state committee and a few silver Republicans. The movement is said to have the expressed sympathy if not the avowed support of William J. Bryan, who, it is further hinted, is to be the new party's candidate for president in 1904. Lee Merriwether of St. Louis and 22 other leaders in the Public Ownership party of St. Louis arrived in Kansas City during the morning, after having spent the whole of Monday in consultation with Mr. Bryan at Lincoln. They are guarded in statements concerning Bryan, but say if the latter does not support the present movement he is at any rate in sympathy with its purpose.

Georgia Crops Ruined.

ATLANTA, June 19.—According to State Entomologist Scott, peaches in south and middle Georgia are rotting very fast as a result of excessive rain for the past three weeks. Assistant Commissioner of Agriculture Wright said: "We have received reports from every county in the state, and the peach crop is said to be nearly ruined. Not only is the peach crop in poor condition, but cotton, melons and canteloupes are also in bad shape. Lice have infested the cotton, and the heavy rains have caused it to turn yellow. The outlook now is the worst seen in Georgia in a number of years."

Mexican Murderer Still at Large.

AUSTIN, June 19.—The Mexican murderer of Sheriffs Morris and Glover is still at large, with the American posse in pursuit. Sheriff Davis of this county, who has returned, says he does not believe the Mexican is in this part of the country. Captain Joe Shelley of the state rangers took Tomaso Cortez, a brother of the fugitive murderer, to Karnes county on a charge of horse thieving and of being implicated in the murder. He has been in jail here several days with another man who is believed to be connected with the gang. The excitement here over the affair is intense.

The Copper Trust Floored.

BUTTE, Mon., June 19.—Judge Harney in the district court yesterday awarded the Minnie Healy mine, valued at $10,000,000, to F. August Heinze, deciding against Miles Finelan and the copper trust. Heinze bought the property from Finelan, who, after spending $54,000 in working the property, became discouraged and offered it to Heinze for the amount expended. Heinze struck a rich copper vein within a short time, and Finelan tried to get the property back and was assisted in the fight by the so called trust.

A Whipping Post Proposed.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 19.—Among the ordinances introduced in the constitutional convention yesterday were one by Williams of Marengo, to establish a whipping post; by Pettus of Limestone, to prevent miscegenation; by Cofer of Calhoun, to elect solicitors by vote of the people and fixing the salary at $2,000 instead of $2,500, as now, and by Greer of Calhoun, fixing all municipal elections on the same day as state elections.

Killed by Lightning Bolt.

NEW YORK, June 19.—When a heavy rainstorm came up yesterday, James Shannon, a well to do farmer of Mount Washington, drove his team to the barn. While tying the horses a bolt of lightning entered the barn and struck Mr. Shannon, killing him instantly. When his wife went to call him for dinner, she found him dead in the horses' stall. He was 47 years of age.

HARD FIGHT NOW ON

New Yorkers Will Attempt to Knock Out Tammany Hall.

It Will Be a Struggle Against the Most Complete Political Organization the World Has Ever Known.

[Special New York Letter.]

THE biggest political battle ever fought in any city of the world is to be waged next fall against "Tammany Hall" in New York. It will be a house divided against itself, for in this great contest a new organization, which is known as the

RICHARD CROKER.
(Supreme Head of the Tammany Hall Organization.)

Greater New York Democracy, will unite with the republicans in a supreme effort to wrest from Tammany the city government.

For 100 years Tammany Hall has stood together, gaining strength and power. At times it has met defeat, but never before has it been so threatened from without and within as it is in the coming struggle. It is a crisis that must result in victory, or the downfall of the ancient institution may follow. In the fights of former years Tammany has been arrayed against an outside foe. It has been a battle of the ballots. In the coming contest there are enemies within its own ranks. It is this that causes fear to the leaders and gives the anti-Tammany organizations hope.

Without question Tammany Hall is the strongest and most perfectly organized association in the world. Whether a man be a republican or a democrat, he cannot but admire the system that has made possible the holding together of such a vast body of voting men who are trained with the discipline of an army to do without question the bidding of their leaders.

Leaving aside altogether the political points at issue, a glance at this perfectly-working machine will prove an interesting study to one who appreciates system, order and discipline.

The last election returns showed there were 180,000 democratic voters in the old city of New York, comprising the boroughs of the Bronx and Manhattan. When it is said that out of this number Tammany Hall controls absolutely 110,000 it will be seen that the new fusion organization must map out for itself a long and hard campaign. When we consider that this vast army is under the direction of one man we can understand the power possessed by Richard Croker, the supreme head of Tammany Hall. Croker holds no public office. His only position in the organization is chairman of the finance committee, yet he is as thoroughly recognized as chief as if he wore a robe and crown and sat upon a throne in the old headquarters in East Fourteenth street, instead of modestly taking his place behind the time-honored table known as John Kelly's desk. But by a wave of the hand Richard Croker can cast those 110,000 votes with as much certainty as he can deposit his own ballot in the box on election day. Within a few hours every one of these voters can be reached personally without the aid of printer's ink. Any one of the Tammany leaders can on short notice fill the biggest hall in New York, and every one of the voters who is not disabled physically is ready to turn out in parade, no matter what the state of the weather may be.

JOHN F. CARROLL.
(Croker's Deputy and Second in Command of Tammany.)

How was this wonderful discipline brought about and how it is maintained?

The Tammany general committee is composed of about 14,000 members, who are elected from the districts in New York county. There are 35 of these political divisions, called assembly districts. One member of the general committee is selected from each district to serve on the executive committee, and is known as the district leader. The assembly district takes the place of the ward in some cities. It is divided into election districts, which in other places are known as precincts. Each election district has a captain. It is his business to get votes. Over him is the district leader, who is responsible to the chief for the conduct of his territory.

Richard Croker began his political rise as the captain of an election district. Next in command to Croker is John F. Carroll. He, too, was captain of a district. When the chief is not in the city Carroll occupies the desk at Tammany hall. All but two of the 35 district leaders have been election precinct captains. The most powerful of the district leaders is State Senator Timothy D. Sullivan, known as "Dry Dollar" Sullivan. He controls the Sixth district, in the East side of New York, the largest in number of inhabitants and the most thoroughly organized in the city. It is said that Sullivan gives away from $20,000 to $30,000 a year, and that his public patronage amounts to fully $200,000 a year.

Twenty-nine of the district leaders hold public offices with salaries ranging from $1,500 to $9,000 a year. In addition to the private work done by its leaders on their own account, Tammany Hall disburses an enormous amount of patronage annually—reaching, it is said on good authority, not less than $40,000,000.

But where Tammany shows its great strength is keeping in personal touch with every one of its members. The name of every voter is known to its officers. Every time a tenement house dweller moves it is known to the organization. Strange as it may seem, the very relatives of a man are known. His personal habits and his business are made the subjects of study. All this is the work of the captains of the election districts. If he cannot perform it satisfactorily, his place is soon filled by a competent man. These private details of the voter's life help to whip him into line if he becomes refractory. One would be surprised to know the odd methods that are sometimes employed to gain votes. The vast municipal machinery controlled by Tammany forces many men in business to bring their employes into line. Any man who has vessel interests or shipping interests knows what a force the dock department is. And so it is in nearly all business which the city can control or regulate.

But compulsion is not the only method that Tammany resorts to. The captain of the election district

SENATOR TIMOTHY SULLIVAN.
(Leader of the Most Populous Election District in New York.)

is personally acquainted with not only the men in his territory, but the women and the children also. He is the one—especially in the poorer districts—to whom his constituents go for advice and assistance. If a boy is arrested for some minor offense, like breaking a window, the mother seeks the captain. If the father should get into trouble the captain comes to his relief. When the difficulty is of a serious nature the captain goes to headquarters and the matter is adjusted there. Lawyers are furnished free of cost to Tammany men. The district assembly leaders amuse their followers with picnics in the summer and balls in the winter and everything is done for their entertainment and their comfort. But the greatest inducement for voters to stick closely to the party ranks is the patronage that is given to them in the way of work. Besides the great number of public works in New York there are many corporations, like the street railroads and the street paving companies, that are more or less beholden to the city government. They cannot afford to run counter to the expressed wish of a Tammany leader that certain gangs of men be given employment as laborers. The result is that all good organization men are never without work. One of the most significant remarks ever made by Richard Croker was: "You never see Tammany men walking the street."

Tammany gives away thousands of dollars every year in charity, but every penny of it is judiciously invested. No good Tammany man has ever been dispossessed for nonpayment of rent, nor applies for aid to the organization in vain. The poor are cared for that they or their friends will vote as Tammany directs.

It is believed by many that Tammany Hall is in serious danger. Many things, they say, have apparently lessened its power. The change in the election laws have taken away from it many opportunities of holding the great vote of the city. Croker holds his place by his ability as a political fighter and his strength of character. But his downfall would not necessarily mean the end of Tammany Hall. Nor would defeat in the mayoralty contest next fall mean the disintegration of the big organization. Thousands of democrats—members of Tammany Hall—who, it is said, will join the fusion movement do so for the purpose of forming a new Tammany.

But whatever the motive may be a powerful organization is now being formed to fight Croker and Tammany, It will be a battle royal. No one realizes this better than Richard Croker. It will be the fight of his life.

NEW PROPELLER.

Invention Just Patented By Jeremiah Brown, Of Lafayette Place.

Jeremiah Brown, of Lafayette place, has recently been granted a patent on a propeller for any kind of a boat. Although it can be used on any craft that floats, it is especially designed for ocean steamers, and it is claimed that it will reduce the time of crossing the ocean several hours. Mr. Brown has received several flattering letters from interested persons at Washington and in New York, and they claim that the device he has patented is likely to revolutionize steamship travel. It is the purpose of Mr. Brown, if possible, to form a stock company and manufacture the device he has patented.

COURT APPROVED SETTLEMENT

CASE OF ANDREW R. SCULLY AGAINST CENTRAL RAILROAD.

Settlement for $3,050 Was Agreed to by Counsel and Court Accepted Their Decision.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 19—The case of Andrew R. Scully against the Jersey Central Railroad Company presented some novel features in the Union County Circuit Court yesterday.

Mr. Scully, of Somerville, who is only eighteen years of age, was injured a year ago in an accident at Bayonne. He did not appear to be much injured at the time but subsequently deafness developed in his right ear. Suit was brought against the railroad company and preliminary testimony was taken by way of interrogatories served upon the company, and by medical examination of Mr. Scully at the office of his counsel, Craig A. Marsh. Dr. F. C. Ard was the expert chosen by Mr. Marsh, and Doctors Wilson and Greir, of Elizabeth, the experts chosen by the railroad company. The result of the preliminary proceedings referred to was that the counsel agreed on a settlement of the case by which the railroad company should pay to Mr. Scully $3,050 damages.

When the case was moved in court yesterday morning, the plaintiff's counsel stated to the court and jury the fact above mentioned and added that because the plaintiff was a minor, it was deemed necessary to submit the proposed settlement to the court for its approval, and in case the court gave its approval, it was further necessary to have the jury render a verdict and have judgment entered upon the records of the court.

Mr. Scully was called to the witness stand and gave a detailed account of his injuries. Some further testimony was taken and the plaintiff's counsel then stated to the court that the amount of the proposed settlement was, in the judgment of counsel, liberal compensation, but it was for the court to decide. The court decided that the settlement was favorable to the plaintiff and directed the jury to render a verdict for the amount named. The jury conformed to these directions, judgment was entered, and in less than five minutes the judgment was paid.

READY FOR THE FOURTH.

Washington Camp Ground Association To Celebrate The Day.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, June 19—The officers of the Washington Camp Ground Association have held several meetings of late in order to make preparation for the usual celebration of Independence Day on the historic camp ground, north of Bound Brook.

As already announced, the services of Hugh Gordon Miller, for orator of the day, have been secured. Mr. Miller is the talented speaker who appeared here last fall and captivated the town with his oratory. He is coming all the way from Norfolk, Va., where he lives, expressly to make this speech.

Other attractions have, however, been provided. Rev. T. E. Davis, the Association's Historian, will give a sketch of local interest. He may select for his subject "The Revolutionary Defences of Bound Brook," telling of the fortifications in this vicinity, some of which are still well preserved. President Whiting has engaged Sweet's concert band, of Newark, which has an enviable reputation.

It is proposed to have a short concert in town early in the afternoon of the Fourth, and then the band will play on the Camp Ground, and in the evening will furnish music for the fireworks at the lower house of the Middlebrook Country Club, within easy access of all who want to enjoy it.

HOE'S STRIKE ENDED; NO SETTLEMENT HERE.

Gang Bosses at Pond Tool Works Have Decided to Return to Work Tomorrow.

OTHER MEN ARE INDIGNANT.

GENERALLY BELIEVED THAT LOCAL WORKS WOULD FOLLOW HOE'S.

D. E. Titsworth, of Potter Press Works, Says Situation There is Not Changed—Mr. Scott is Out of Town—Strikers Met Today.

After several false reports have been circulated during the past week, the striking machinists in this city received positive word yesterday that the employes of R. Hoe & Co., New York printing press manufacturers, would return to work on a fifty four hour schedule with no reduction in pay. All other concessions asked for by the men were waived.

From the outset of the present trouble, Mr. Hoe informed his employes that he would allow them ten hours' pay for nine hours' work, but he insisted on maintaining the right to hire whom he pleased and allow his shop to remain an independent concern. This was really the bone of contention in the strike and at the settlement yesterday the machinists gave it up, but in return were granted several other small demands. Thus the matter stands and the factory begins work tomorrow.

The local strikers have all along contended that the settlement of the Hoe troubles would result in the Plainfield and other printing press concerns falling into line. At Potter's this morning, however, it was declared that the situation, as far as they were concerned, had not changed a trifle. Mr. Scott was said to be in New York.

D. E. Titsworth, of the Potter Company, stated that his employes had always worked but fifty-four hours per week and were paid for fifty-five. As far as granting any further terms was concerned, he said it would not be done.

At a meeting of the strikers held in Trades' Union Hall this morning, it was learned that a meeting of the Pond gang bosses held last evening, they had decided to return to work at the old schedule and terms Thursday morning. This was indignantly resented by the other men and much animosity was shown. Their resentment is based on the action of the gang bosses who, since the strike began, it is said, have been receiving benefits from the union and stated that they were in sympathy with the Internationals. The officials of the union were very much averse to the return and freely expressed their opinion in regard to it.

The only other business transacted at the meeting was the unceremoniously hustling out of a non-union man who was discovered in their midst and the announcement that M. Weinburger, of the New York Clothing Co., had, unsolicited, contributed $10 to the strike fund.

Superintendent MacMurray, of the Pond shop, said today that out of 311 machinists and apprentices employed at the Bement shop in Philadelphia, 250 returned to work today at the old schedule.

Varnish Factory Running.

The new plant of Price, Bond, Woolston Company, manufacturers of varnish, filler and Japan, was put in operation today for the first, when the first varnish was made. This plant was formerly operated by Mr. Naylor and is located on Rock avenue. Price & Bond, of Newark, which firm has been merged into the above firm name, have given up their plant in Newark and all the work will be done at the Plainfield plant.

Found an Officer.

Julia O'Sullivan, of the West End, was fined $10 for drunkenness by Borough Recorder Doud at a hearing given her yesterday afternoon. The woman searched for a marshal Monday evening to have her husband locked up for maltreatment, as she alleged. She was placed in the lockup and allowed to sober up.

ATTEMPED TO BURN SCHOOL.

POLICE DISCOVERED SMALL BOYS RESPONSIBLE FOR THE BLAZE.

Poured Oil On Cotton And Set Fire To It In Parochial School Building Monday Afternoon

William Doyle, Thomas Murphy, Charles and Patrick Snyder, all of West Fourth street, and Adolphus Davis, colored, of West Third street, have been apprehended by the police for attempting to set fire to St. Mary's Parochial School Monday afternoon.

All the boys but Davis went into the school after study hours and started a small blaze which, but for its timely discovery by Janitor William Harding, would have resulted disastrously. At first the origin of the fire was a mystery, but the above named boys were seen running away from the building. On being brought before Chief Kiely yesterday afternoon, they admitted their guilt and signed a confession.

After being closely questioned, it was found that all were implicated but that Murphy proposed starting the fire and applied the match, Davis secured the oil, Doyle supplied cotton and Murphy and Charles Snyder poured oil on it. Then they ran away. Davis waited outside. Nothing has been done with the boys as yet, but, in all probability, warrants will be issued for their arrest.

GRADUATION EXERCISES AT GRAMMAR SCHOOL

Held in Assembly Hall of Franklin School Building Yesterday Afternoon.

INTERESTING ADDRESSES.

DIPLOMAS PRESENTED BY PRESIDENT PROBASCO OF BOARD OF EDUCATION

Addresses Were Made by Dr. Louis Bevier, Jr., of Rutgers College, and Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards, of Plainfield—Recitations by Graduates

Frequently commencement day programmes are dull and uninteresting, but such was not the case at the graduation exercises of the Plainfield Grammar School department held yesterday afternoon in the Franklin School assembly hall.

The standard of the exercises as a whole would be hard to excel. Interspersing the parts taken by the pupils of the department, there were two addresses of a most timely and instructive character delivered by distinguished speakers.

It was a happy and bright occasion all around. The hall had been prettily decorated with the class colors, blue and white, and with palms and ferns. On the wall in the rear of the platform had been conspicuously arranged on a blue background, the figures 1905 formed of daisies.

Rev. Dr. W. R Richards, pastor of the Crescent Avenue church and a member of the Board of Education, opened the exercises by invoking the Divine blessing on the auspicious occasion. Under the leadership of Charles L. Lewis, the instructor in music, the graduates sang several selections, which served to exhibit the knowledge and ability they have acquired in this branch of education. The numbers rendered were: "The Lord Is My Shepherd," by Koschat; "Up, Quit Thy Bower," by Schnecker; "Swedish Peasant's Wedding March," by Soderman, and "Country Fair Walzes," by Abt. In all these Mrs. C. L. Lewis ably acted as accompanist. Miss Minnie Boorne Serrell, one of the graduates, dramatically recited "Herve Riel," by Browning, and Miss Nellie St. John recited very effectively, "Song of the Chattahoochee." Dramatic power and elocutionary ability to an unusual degree was displayed by Miss Ada Westphal, who vividly recited "The Victory of the Bairns," by S. R. Crokett. This fair young graduate, as well as the two who preceded her, received much applause from the appreciative audience.

Dr. Louis Bevier, Jr., of Rutgers College, delivered an address, which was exceedingly opportune in its nature. "We are all graduating all the time," said he. The end of one thing is, but the beginning of another. The old year closes only to usher in the new. The days, years and life of a person follow the same principle. Graduation is looked upon as a goal. The graduation is from one sphere to another. The speakers illustrated the gradual ascent of the scale of learning by the story of a small boy who feared that the horse hitched to the wagon in which he was riding would not be able to climb a hill ahead. The lad's attention was detracted for a time and when he gave the subject another thought he was able to gaze on the plain below. The ascent was so gradual that it was impossible to tell where the plain ended and the hill began. In study, said Dr. Bevier, it is the same. One should not borrow trouble by gazing far ahead.

Another danger of youth, said the speaker, is in the assumption that everything can be done. The duties of life are not easy and the reality of the visions of youth are not so radiant as they seem. Life is full of responsibilities.

Rev. Dr. Richards made the address to the graduates. As could be expected it was a scholarly speech. He began by bringing to the attention of the graduates, as well as to the audience, the importance of education in the present age. Each epoch of history is distinguished by some great movement. In one age the crusades occupied the attention of the world, he said. In another period, he said, the fight for political liberty was all important, and at another time the military spirit prevailed. There are two great movements in this age. One grows out of scientific discovery and mechanical invention, which has made possible the aggregation of great wealth. The temptation of the day, he pointed out, is to be mislead Graduation Exercises Of Plainfield High School Will Be Held In First Baptist Church.

THE EVENING'S PROGRAMME.

ADDRESS WILL BE MADE BY DR. A. E. WINSHIP.

Presentation Of Rewards—The Young People In Graduating Class—Admission To Exercises By Ticket Only.

The commencement exercises of the class of 1901 of the Plainfield High School will be held in the First Baptist church this evening.

The occasion will mark the first time of holding the exercises elsewhere than Music Hall since the doors of that structure were thrown open seventeen years ago. As soon as it became known that the hall could not be used for the purpose this year, the Board of Education sought for an appropriate and convenient place to hold the exercises. As a result the First Baptist church was settled upon as being the most desirable by reason of its central location and commodious size.

The exercises will begin at 7:45 o'clock, "sharp," on account of the length of the programme which is, as usual, an especially interesting one. Admission to the church can be gained only by those holding tickets. The white cards admit to the floor of the edifice, while the blue ones entitle the holder to a seat in the gallery. Dr. A. E. Winship, editor of the New England Journal of Education, has consented to deliver the address of the evening.

By a resolution of the Board of Education the graduates will not be allowed to receive any flowers at the commencement and by an agreement of the young women of the class no flowers will be worn by them. The music will be furnished by Frank's New York orchestra. The programme is as follows:

REPORT MADE OF Y. M. C. A. CONVENTION AT BOSTON.

A. C LaBoyteaux Spoke at Midweek Service in Congregational Church Last Evening.

At the midweek meeting of the Congregational church, held last night, a report of the great Y. M. C. A. convention just held in Boston was given by Anthony C. LaBoyteaux, who was a delegate to the convention. Mr. La Boyteaux gave a very vivid and interesting report, and imparted to his hearers some of the enthusiasm he had himself received in the great meetings.

The speaker first told how thoroughly the convention emphasized the fact that the Y. M. C. A. is first of all a Christian organization. The work of Christ for men was always in the minds of those present.

The convention was a very representative gathering, Mr. LaBoyteaux went on to say, men from all walks of life, from all denominations, from all parts of the country, and from many nationalities, were included among the delegates, gathered in sympathy and unity of purpose.

Many noted men were among the convention speakers, and Mr. La Boyteaux spoke briefly of some of them, quoting a few strong words from their addresses. Some of the most important lines of work discussed were the boys' department of the association; the Bible study department with its many classes for different forms of study; the work in colleges, which was spoken of in the highest terms by several college presidents; the work among colored men, which was well described by Booker T. Washington, and the work among the Indians.

The report closed with an account of the magnificent meetings held on Sunday. The inspiring singing, with Sankey and Stebbins as leaders, the strong addresses, the manifest presence of the Holy Spirit, and the turning to God of hundreds of men and boys, were impressively described. The missionary rallies held in the evening were spoken of by Mr. La Boyteaux as especially inspiring, with their strong appeals and their generous offerings for the work of missions.

The guests were each the recipient of a handsome bouquet of roses.

The afternoon was devoted to the playing of whist and this afforded all a pleasant means of spending a few hours in a genuine social manner. Mrs. Marion L. Heath won the first prize and Mrs. H. S. WEDDED IN DUNELLEN HOME.

MISS MILLICENT VAIL MARRIED TO ALBERT R. APGAR, YESTERDAY.

Both Live in Dunellen—Couple Were Unattended—Roses and Honeysuckle Formed Decorations.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, June 20—A very pretty home wedding took place in the borough at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when Miss Millicent Edwards Vail, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Vail, and Albert Remsen Apgar, also of the borough, were united in marriage. Rev. S. K. Doolittle, pastor of the Methodist church, was the officiating clergyman.

The ceremony took place in the parlor of the bride's home which was very prettily trimmed with banks of roses and long lengths of fragrant honeysuckle. There was no bridemaid or best man, the young people standing alone before the clergyman. Miss Vail wore a traveling gown of castor colored cloth in which she appeared exceedingly attractive. She carried a bouquet of bridal roses

The happy event was witnessed by fifty friends from Plainfield, Westfield, Flemington, Bound Brook, Hasbrouck Heights, New Market and Dunellen, who accorded the couple a pleasant reception. After partaking of a wedding supper, Mr. and Mrs. Apgar departed for a wedding trip which will embrace a visit to the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo. On returning they will take up their residence in the borough.

The groom is a trusted employe of a New York bank and is very popular in the borough where the bride is also very well-known. They were the recipients of a large number of beautiful presents which included silverware, china, cut-glass and other useful as well as pretty articles.

YOUTHFUL ARTISTS.

Excellent Work Accomplished by the Pupils of Miss Edith Gilbert at Franklin School.

A decidedly interesting exhibit of color and form work was shown by Miss Edith Gilbert's pupils at the Franklin School yesterday. Although the children have had lessons for a perion less than three months, their work attests the fact that under the able instruction of Miss Gilbert marked improvement has been made by the pupils during this short time.

The subjects of the sketches are much varied. Some are studies from fruits, some from flowers, objects and vegetables, and others are from life. Those in colors are particularly fascinating.

A pleasant feature in connection with this work by the pupils has been the study of the lives of the famous painters, including Millais, Saudseer, Rosa Bonheur, Raphael and others equally well-known.

Not a little fine blackboard work has been done by the pupils. The colored chalk has been used with much effect in making designs.

While all the work is well done, there are some specimens that stand out as remarkable work. Among these is a Chinese lantern in water colors, which was painted by Joseph Miller, aged of ten years of age, and a few dainty designs of flowers by Miss Cora Wilcox.

The contributors to the exhibit are Sayre Slauson, Leslie Leland, Lawrence Edgar, Morris Timpson, Joseph Miller, James Fleming, and the Misses Harriet Knox, Frances Hyde, Helen Timpson, Ruth Wheeler, Nettie Robinson, Anna Clark, Barbara Fleming and Constance Wilcox.

SUING TROLLEY COMPANY.

F. J. Blatz Retained By North Plainfield Milkman Who Claims Damages.

Francis J. Blatz, of the firm of Murphy & Blatz, has been retained by Charles O. Smith, a borough milkman, in his suit against the Middlesex and Somerset Traction Company for $200 damages. The suit has been brought in Justice Warden's court at Dunellen.

The plaintiff claims that while he was getting a supply of milk at Lincoln, April 20, a trolley car ran into his rig, wrecking his wagon and injuring his horse so that he was unfit for use for some time. A date for the trial will be fixed in a few days.

Lawn Fete.

All arrangements have been completed for the lawn fete to be held on the grounds of the Park Avenue Baptist church Saturday afternoon and evening. In addition to the sale of ice cream, cake, strawberries and candy, provision has been made for the children in the way of pony riding, mystery tent and other features. It promises to be a pleasant and successful affair.

GANG BOSSES RESUMED WORK AT POND'S SHOP

Crowd of Strikers Watched Them Enter Factory—Did Not Offer Any Objection.

THE POLICE WERE ON DUTY.

STATEMENT FROM LOCAL MANUFACTURERS WILL BE PUBLISHED.

Will State Their Position—Number of Local Machinists Secured Jobs at Hoe's Press Works—No Change in Local Situation.

According to the decision reached by them, at the private meeting held Tuesday evening, eight gang bosses of the Pond Tool Works returned to work this morning, despite the protests of the remainder of the machinists, not only of their own shop, but those of the others as well.

A crowd of the strikers, numbering one hundred, assembled at the factory gates at starting time to see the "deserters," as they called them, enter the yard. It was thought possible that some of the machinists might try to interfere so a squad of policemen, composed of Chief Kiely, Roundsman Flynn and Patrolmen McCarthy, Higgins, Overbaugh and Lunger patrolled the vicinity. The bosses were, however, permitted to enter without the least demonstration beyond a few shouts.

The men who returned were Albert Brintle, John Thompson, James Bell, Alfred Spangenberg, Robert Gow, George Schuck and William Sullivan. None of the ordinary machinists returned, despite rumors to the contrary, and the shop will be run with the above force.

At the printing press shops matters are quiet and there is no intimation of the factories resuming, although it was confidently expected by the strikers that they would do so as soon as the trouble at Hoe's was settled. The manufacturers have had nothing to say as yet, but have informed The Daily Press a lengthy statement is being prepared which will be given in full in tomorrow's issue.

When the Hoe factory resumed work this morning the old force was largely decreased, owing to employes securing positions in other cities while the strike was in progress. This fact was known to the Plainfield men and a large number of them visited the works yesterday and secured good positions.

At noon, a crowd of several hundred, including many women, watched the gang bosses leave the shop. No attempts were made to interfere with them. Some of the crowd followed Robert Gow to his home and flung a few adjectives at him. Patrolmen Higgins and McCarthy were on duty in that neighborhood, but there was no call for their services save to keep the crowd moving.

GIFTS FOR MR. MEREDITH.

Retiring Vice-Principal and Science Instructor Remembered by Teachers and Pupils.

Albert B. Meredith, the retiring vice-principal and instructor in science in the Plainfield High School, has been presented with a handsome leather and oak arm chair by a number of the pupils. The gift came as a surprise to Mr. Meredith, who expressed his keen appreciation of the kind and thoughtful remembrance of his pupils at morning exercises yesterday.

This morning the teachers, who have been associated with him in High School work, placed on his desk a beautiful bouquet of red roses. Mr. Meredith is very popular and all are sorry to have him sever his connection with the school. He will assume his duties as superintendent of the schools at Nutley, N. J., in the fall.

AT THE THEATRES.

Something About the Attractions Which Plainfield Theatre-Goers May Care to Witness.

Summer theatricals in New York city are conspicuous for the boom in stock companies for which F. F. Proctor is responsible in maintaining the six divisions of his big stock, numbering in all 150 excellent artists, who are under the stage direction of Frederic Bond. In looking forward to the advent of a stock aggregation, one naturally thinks of a leading man, a leading woman, the heavy, the character, the soubrette and so on. There is none of this in the Proctor Company. If the public had not been told that it was a stock company, it could easily have been taken for a Frohman Comedy Company. It works with all the harmony of an old combination performance and the entertainment provided can only be spoken of in the highest terms of praise.

All the modern appliances for cooling theatre auditoriums are in vogue at the Proctor houses and what with electric fans and blowers for iced air, a delightfully comfortable temperature is maintained at all times Every seat is supplied with a special big palm leaf fan and ice water is constantly passed in the audience. It is therefore safe to say that the four Proctor theatres in New York city are as cool as it is possible to make them by artificial means. With the combination of the very necessary requisites; an excellent company, a capital play and extremely cool and comfortable auditoriums, it is natural that the Proctor houses are unusually well filled this summer. At the various Proctor playhouses the coming week, are these atractions: At Proctor's Twenty-third Street Theatre, Section B of the F. F. Proctor Big Stock Company will present the three act comedy, "The Nominee," in which Nat Goodwin starred in several seasons ago. The curtain raiser to "The Nominee" will be a farcial comedietta, "To Oblige Benson." Performances are given twice daily at 1:30 and 7:30 p. m. and the prices are always the same, 15c, 25c and 50c.

At Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre, Broadway and Twelfth-eighth street, Section A of the Proctor Stock Company will revive H. A. DuSouchet's hilarious three act farce, "The Man From Mexico." "The Cape Mail," a drama by Clement Scott, will precede "The Man From Mexico" and should prove a most pleasing curtain raiser to the many laughs that are bound to follow. The performances are continuous at Proctor's Broadway house—from 1 to 10:30 p. m., and the prices are 25 and 50 cents. At Proctor's Fifty-eighth Street Theatre, Fifty-eighth street and Third avenue, the Section E of the F. F. Proctor Stock Company will offer Gillett's famous act comedy, "All The Comforts of Home." Bargain prices prevail at the daily matinees, 15 and 25 cents, and the evening prices are 15, 25 and 50 cents.

CAMBON AT CHICAGO.

Says Education Rather Than Business Makes For Peace.

CHICAGO, June 20.—"I do not believe the man who tells me that trade relations and business exigency will prevent future wars among the civilized nations. It is intellect that will stop them and intellect alone. Education makes for peace more than all the business in the world." Embassador Jules Cambon made this statement at a luncheon given in his honor at the Chicago club, at which he had listened to a eulogistic toast praising him for his services in conducting the negotiations that led up to the treaty which ended the Spanish-American war. M. Cambon in the course of his remarks discussed many interesting subjects, principal among which was his horror of war and the best means of avoiding it.

"I am not disclosing any state secret," he continued, "when I say that my experiences among the diplomatists of many lands has strengthened the belief I have always held that arbitration boards not swayed by business or sentiment, but by intellect alone, must of a surety bring about a peaceful solution of the most difficult questions.

"The educational advantages that America possesses and that are constantly leading her along the path of intellect must make her a great factor in the conservation of the peace of the world. I leave for France on a vacation next month and will then present a report to my government advocating the further combination of the branches of the Alliance Francaise with American universities.

"The time has come when the two great republics of the world should know each other better. I still find among your people the idea that Paris is France. You must get that impression out of your heads. We prefer to turn some of the tide of the American student travel to Europe away from the German universities and toward our own. I do not deprecate the wonderful educational advantages of Germany, but we want Americans to realize that fo the artistic, the philosophical and the natural they must turn to France."

M. Cambon left here today on a trip to Sault Ste. Marie and from there will return to Washington.

BARKER STORY TOLD

Defendant and Wife Finally Put on the Stand.

WITNESSES MAKE STRONG SHOWING

Testimony For the Defense In Celebrated Jersey City Case Nearly Closed—Trial May End Today.

NEW YORK, June 20.—The fate of Thomas G. Barker will be left with the jury before the day closes, according to the prospects. The defense had practically finished last night when the court rose for the day, and it is not thought Prosecutor Erwin will take long in rebuttal. The defense yesterday put Barker and his wife upon the stand, and they told their story.

Although the record does not show it, Mr. Van Winkle got some of the alleged assault matter before the jury in one way and another. The witnesses answered so promptly that Mr. Erwin's objections came a shade late. In this way "the outrage" was referred to several times during the day. The state had it stricken out each time, but the impression went to the jury. It was quick, sharp fighting all day, and the witnesses were a little too much for the prosecutor. The moment Mr. Van Winkle or Mr. Wall asked a question it was answered like a flash. Judge Blair cautioned the witnesses not to answer so quickly, but after an answer or so they returned to the old practice.

Barker on the stand told his version of the shooting. He claimed to have met Keller and that Keller spoke to him. This was in direct contradiction of Keller's testimony on the stand, as he claimed not to have met any one. Barker claimed he responded by calling Keller a villain and charging him with outraging Mrs. Barker and then began firing. Mr. Keller swore there was not a word spoken and that he saw no one.

Mrs. Barker was expected to break down and become hysterical on the witness stand, but a cooler woman has seldom occupied the chair. She was a little nervous at first, but this quickly wore off, and she sailed along smoothly, answering the questions of her husband's lawyers and by the time she was put under cross examination appeared to have herself under perfect control.

Both witnesses were not at all weakened under cross examination. Mr. Keller sat through it all without betraying the slightest emotion. It is doubtful if he heard much of the testimony, as most of it was in a subdued tone, and his hearing is far from good. Great stress was laid upon the fact that Mr. Keller had borrowed money from Mrs. Barker, and then counsel sought to show this was not the cause of the shooting.

Shot His Little Sister.

ROCHESTER, June 20. — Hattie Hincher, 8 years old, was shot and killed by her 14-year-old brother, Ward Hincher, in the town of Greece. The father and mother were absent from home when the fatality took place. It seems that a young man named Charles Mills and a young woman named Miss Hadlock called at the Hincher home and asked the direction to the Hogan house. The boy became frightened, ran and secured a .38 caliber revolver. In handling the weapon it was discharged, and his little sister received the bullet in her back just above the hip, the ball passing through the body.

Mellen Not to Resign.

NEW YORK, June 20.—President Mellen of the Northern Pacific railroad, who is in the city, denied that he contemplated resigning from the presidency of the company. Mr. Mellen said regarding the report of his resignation that unless conditions changed in a way that could not be foreseen he did not expect to resign from the presidency. He had received no intimation, he said, from the directors that his services were unsatisfactory, his resignation had not been asked for, and he had no thought of resigning.

American Crooks Abroad.

BERLIN, June 20.—A number of American crooks are now awaiting trial in Berlin jails. A man named Bowne, alias Davidson, who is held for a series of big hotel swindles and jewelry thefts and who is also wanted in Vienna and Paris, is among the number, as is Richdeende, alias Johnstone, alias Herbert, who is held for big jewelry thefts in Berlin, Copenhagen, New York and London.

Uproar In Italian Chamber.

ROME, June 20.—During the budget debate in the chamber of deputies Baron Sennico, former minister of the treasury, severely attacked the cabinet on the subject of the recent strikes in Italy and attributed the appalling economic condition existing today in the country to the government's attitude in this matter. The uproar which followed this attack forced a temporary suspension of the sitting.

A Gigantic Scheme.

DENVER, June 20.—The Times says that a gigantic scheme is under way to transfer the railroads of the United States to the government. A western financier declares that within a few years the Rockefeller, Harriman, Vanderbilt, Gould and Morgan interests would turn over to the government every line of railroads in the country, the government to pay the total value of $10,000,000,000.

Have Counterfeited $10,000.

CITY OF MEXICO, June 20.—It is estimated that Jose Frias, the alleged counterfeiter of American silver dollars now in custody, and his associates have counterfeited $10,000 and sold them at heavy advances over their intrinsic value. It is also reported that great numbers of American dollars have been coined in a secret mint in Chihuahua and circulated in the United States.

Smokeless Powder For Coast Service

WASHINGTON, June 20.—The ordnance bureau of the war department is to contract soon for 373,000 pounds of smokeless powder for the seacoast guns. Especial attention will be given to the selection of this powder owing to trouble that has occurred recently at San Francisco with smokeless powder of the navy.

Striking Machinists Dismissed.

PROMOTERS ARE OF ALL PERSUASIONS

The Dissatisfied of All Parties to Be Taken In—Mr. Bryan Said to Be In Sympathy With the Movement.

KANSAS CITY, June 20.—The allied third party movement, which its promoters hope will result before 1904 in a national organization strong enough to name a presidential nominee, has been launched here. It was the outcome of a conference of reformers from the ranks of the old parties, and its principles are said by some to have been adopted with a view to fitting the views of William J. Bryan.

The conference was called by Lee Merriwether of St. Louis, who, with 22 other St. Louis leaders in the Public Ownership party of that city, came to Kansas City from a visit to Mr. Bryan at Lincoln, where the intentions of the delegation had been laid before the Nebraska statesman. Mr. Bryan, it was stated, had expressed sympathy with the movement, if he had not gone so far as to support it. At the conference there were represented Populists of all persuasions, public ownership was advocated, and free silver Republicans, Socialists, Single Taxers and Bryan Democrats were in attendance. It was stated that it was proposed to form a third party in Missouri, which should finally be taken up by the dissatisfied in the old parties from other states. A committee on organization was appointed and made a report yesterday. The committee, which represented each element present, submitted a set of resolutions as the new party's principles, and they were adopted.

The meeting organized by electing J. H. Cook, fusion Populist, chairman; J. H. Hillis, middle of the road Populist, vice president, and F. S. Kowalski, public ownership member, secretary. The committee, besides deciding on the name for the movement, decided to call a state convention for some time next fall. In the meantime the members will prepare an address to the people of the state.

Headquarters will be established both at Carthage and St. Louis, and the committee will appoint a chairman of each county in the state, whose duty it will be to enlist members and organize them into county clubs. The time for holding the convention will be fixed later.

Mr. Merriwether at the conclusion of the conference was asked, "Will not your movement only result in turning the state over to the Republicans?"

"I do not know, but I would a little rather the Republicans would win than the present organization of Democrats. As Mr. Bryan said to me last Monday, 'I like an enemy under his own colors better than one who steals my colors.'"

Accused of Poisoning.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 20.—Fred Darling and his wife Jennie were sent to jail on suspicion of poisoning Thomas Samuels of Buffalo, an animal trainer in the dog, pony and monkey show owned by the Darlings. Half an hour after breakfast Samuels was taken sick. He suffered with arsenical poisoning and accused the Darlings, saying that they owed him $130 and wanted to get him out of the way so he could not attend a suit in court he has against them and which was to have been called for yesterday morning. They declare they are not guilty. They come from Unadilla, N. Y. Samuels is in a precarious condition.

A Three Cent Car Fare.

CLEVELAND, June 20.—The Lorain Street Car company will put a 3 cent fare in operation on Friday of this week. The reduction from 5 cents, the directors state, is in the nature of an experiment, and it can be restored to 5 cents again if so desired. The road is one in which Mayor Tom L. Johnson was interested, but Mayor Johnson said that he holds but one share of stock in the company and is not entitled to credit for the reduction further than to approve of it.

Americans at Henley.

LONDON, June 20.—The Pennsylvanians arrived at midnight last night. They were tired after their long journey, but otherwise well. They were met at Henley by Mr. J. F. Cooper, secretary of the Henley regatta committee, and a number of spectators, who loudly cheered the American oarsmen as they drove in brakes to the Five Horseshoes inn, where they have taken up their quarters. The Pennsylvanians have brought their boats with them and propose to take their first spin Thursday afternoon.

Shot Former Lover, Killed Herself.

WALPOLE, Mass., June 20.—Actuated by jealousy, Annie Peitze, a German girl of 20 years, attempted to kill Harvey C. Blanchard, who had formerly been attentive to her, then sent a bullet into her own brain, killing herself instantly. Blanchard is a blacksmith in the mills at East Walpole. About a year ago Miss Peitze came to East Walpole as a restaurant waitress, and Blanchard paid her much attention. Recently he discontinued his attentions.

Nome Prisoners Escape.

NOME CITY, Alaska, June 20.—One of the most daring and successful jail deliveries that has taken place in Alaska occurred May 20, when seven prisoners in the federal jail escaped. At last advices four were still at large. Those who got away were named Bowers, Davis, Miller and Landes. The others, Smith, Libby and May, were recaptured.

Very Cold Abroad.

LONDON, June 20.—Reports received here from the chief cities of the continent chronicle the return of semiwinter weather, which has a serious effect upon crops. Very cold weather and heavy rains and snow are reported from Switzerland and Hungary, and the snow is a foot deep at Teplitz, in the latter country.

A Record Broken by Nelson.

BALTIMORE, June 20.—Johnny Nelson, the Swede, won a 25 mile motor paced race at the Coliseum last night from Burns Pierce, the Canadian, by 1 mile and 70 yards in 1m. 8s. The one mile record of 1m. 30s. was lowered two-fifths of a second.

Deadlock Still On.

SARATOGA, June 20.—The deadlock in the Fourth judicial district Republican convention still continues. Fifty informal ballots have been taken with no result. The fiftieth ballot stood: Spencer, 3; Palmer, 3; Gilbert, 2; Paris, 2; Potter, 1.

PINGREE'S SCHEMES.

Former Governor's Object In Going Abroad Was to Benefit Michigan.

DETROIT, June 20.—In an interview with a staff correspondent of the Detroit Journal Colonel Eli R. Sutton of this city, who was the traveling companion of ex-Governor Pingree during his trip through South Africa, said:

"Hazen S. Pingree went to South Africa largely for the purpose of putting into practical effect three gigantic schemes for the benefit of the people of Michigan.

"First.—The reclamation of the immense pine waste in Michigan by planting trees. He went to the Bavarian Black forest to expand this idea and overworked so much that he hastened his death.

"Second.—The rotation of crops in Michigan. In pursuit of this scheme he went to Egypt, where such a system is enforced by the government.

"Third.—The transportation of every patriot Boer and his family who desired to come to the United States. He quizzed British officials on this subject, gained their approval of it and had an appointment to consult with Kruger about it, which was only prevented by the governor's illness.

"It was his idea to interest some Michigan capitalists in the plan and provide lands for the Boers among the railroad systems. He thought that these capitalists could secure very low transportation rates from the seaboard to the farms, and he proposed to let the British government in some roundabout way provide the ships for the Boers' transportation from Africa to this country. A number of English officers now in South Africa and some eminent public men in England took this plan seriously and thought well of it, provided it could be carried out without the British government's aid in the matter becoming known.

"While studying the Black forest in the interest of his reforestization idea Governor Pingree even secured the names of a number of keepers who were willing to emigrate to Michigan and assume care of the forests he proposed to plant."

In the matter of the 150 civil employees in Manila who protested to General MacArthur against the fact that the civil service board had not as yet announced whether it will or will not require examinations of old employees before these can continue definitely in the civil service, Chief Examiner Kiggins has answered Colonel Crowder, the military secretary, by citing the law under which he requested a list of the present civil service employees and statements as to their qualifications to continue in their present employ. This action was taken preparatory to settling the question of examinations.

The department of the military governor regards the action taken by Mr. Kiggins as insufficient unless a rule in regard to examinations be promulgated. Mr. Kiggins says that the civil service board is ascertaining the general character of present employees before promulgating the rule in question.

Explosions Shook Shadyside.

NEW YORK, June 20.—Early yesterday the village of Shadyside, N. J., a few miles from this city on the Hudson, was shaken by a series of explosions which took place at the works of the Barrett Manufacturing company as the result of a fire. Several of the buildings owned by the company were blown to atoms, and most of the houses in the village near by were more or less seriously damaged by flying metal and bricks. While the fire was in progress terror reigned in the village and vicinity. Terrific explosions occurred, making houses fairly rock on their foundations. Pieces of iron were scattered through the air with the velocity of bullets, endangering the lives of the firemen and lookers on. The shock of the explosions were plainly felt in Guttenberg. The origin of the conflagration, it is believed, was due to a leak of water from a pipe on to lime stored in the sheds on the dock. There were 200 barrels of lime. The explosions were caused by 25 high pressure ammonia tanks bursting from the intense heat.

Canal Business Brisk.

ALBANY, June 20.—The great increase in canal traffic over that of last year continues, and the report of operations for the second week of June shows an increase of over 20,000 tons in the amount of freight carried. The report for each week since the opening of navigation shows large increases, and although the canal opened two weeks later this year than last year the total for the period today is larger than it was at this date last year. From the experience to date and from the indications for the future there is every reason to believe, according to the officials of the state department of public works, that the canals will experience one of the most prosperous seasons in their history.

COURT HAS CASE.

Molineux's Fate Will Not Be Decided Soon.

BUFFALO, June 20.—The fate of Roland B. Molineux, convicted of murder as the poisoner of Mrs. Katherine J. Adams at New York in December, 1898, is in the keeping of the seven judges of the court of appeals, who for three days past have been listening to the arguments for and against a new trial. The appeal was finally submitted at 1:35 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and the decision will not be announced until some months hence when the court sits at Albany for the fall term.

The strange crime, with its complicated plot and manifold mystery, retains a strong hold upon popular interest, and the crowds that sought admission to the courtroom in the morning were larger and more determined than ever. Excited men fought for places near the glass doors where they might see the actions if they missed the words of the closing scenes of the notable argument, and the bailiffs had to resort to force to restrain them. The principal speaker was former United States Senator David B. Hill, advocate of the cause of the people, who still had 3 hours and 15 minutes of his allotted time left when court opened at 10 o'clock. He spoke until 1:15, and John G. Milburn, attorney for Molineux, was heard for 20 minutes in concise reply.

Hill was again forceful and eloquent and devoted his best effort to convincing the court of the alleged guilt of the accused. He declared that the question of guilt was the main issue in the case and warned the court not to heed a plea that dealt in technicality and urged objections to acts and rulings that had not substantially affected the rights of the accused. If the courts were to be thus swerved from the pathway of duty, he suggested that the murderers might organize a trust and all enjoy freedom. In a dissertation on the law as to the admission of testimony as to another crime and the use of conceded and disputed writing for the purposes of comparison he led the court down a long line of authorities and decisions, all aimed at sustaining the use of the Barnet evidence and the policy of the lower court toward the exhibits of handwriting at the trial. He dwelt lengthily upon the failure of the prisoner to offer a defense and reiterated his assertion that he had none to offer.

Mr. Milburn's reply was largely devoted to an answer to personal criticism and particularly to Mr. Hill's allusion to the fact that throughout all his speech he had not once expressed his personal conviction of the innocence of the man for whom he pleaded, but its strongest feature was the indication of three points of weakness in the case of the people. He drew attention to the fact that the claim that Henry C. Barnet had received poison rested solely upon the hearsay testimony of Dr. Douglas, who swore that Barnet said the poisoned Kutnow powder had come to him by mail. That fact unestablished or broken down and the chain of circumstantial evidence was parted. He also directed attention to the facts that Molineux had not bought the bottle holder and had not been identified as the man who hired the Koch letter box, without which it was impossible to fix guilt upon him. He again asserted that seven-eighths of the record was made up of testimony that was entirely incompetent and inadmissible.

A conspicuous figure during the argument was General Molineux, the aged father of the prisoner, whose face told of the strain that the always spirited and at times bitter review of the case had been to him.

Mrs. Hillsinger Guilty.

ONEONTA, N. Y., June 20.—Mrs. Clarissa Hillsinger of Oneonta was at Cooperstown found guilty of murder in the second degree and sentenced by Judge Lyon of Binghamton to imprisonment for life at hard labor in Auburn prison. The trial has been held for the last ten days. Her crime was the murder of Anna White, a young woman who she brought into the family to do housework and later accused of being too intimate with Mr. Hillsinger. The murdered woman was found in the Hillsinger home with three bullet wounds in the body, and Mrs. Hillsinger alleged that she committed suicide.

Mine Fire Quenched.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., June 20.—Officials descended to the bottom of Luke Fidler shaft and paddled a raft along the submerged tunnel to No. 4 slope, which was accidentally set on fire some time ago. The slope was found full of water to the second level and the fire extinguished. The water hoist was at once set to work to empty the shaft, so that work for 600 of the 1,000 employees will begin Friday. When the slope is emptied, the remainder of the employees will resume work. The shaft is owned by the Mineral Railroad and Mining company.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Consul General Guenther, at Frankfort, Germany, reports to the state department the existence in tropical Africa of an ideal food of the bean family, which the chemists say is the only fruit found in a natural state that shows all the chemical properties of a perfect nutriment. BOER TALK IN LONDON

Big Mass Meeting Passes Resolutions of Sympathy.

A TURBULENT DEMONSTRATION.

Labouchere Presides Over a Gathering Which Packed Queen's Hall From Floor to Ceiling—Independence For Boers Asked.

LONDON, June 20.—Thousands of people began collecting outside of Queen's hall two hours before the advertised time of the pro-Boer meeting held here last night. When the doors finally opened, the pressure of the surging mob was so great that many people fainted. There was considerable disturbance, and windows were broken during the attempts made by persons without tickets to gain admission. Some of these were expelled.

In spite of the vigilance of the promoters of the meeting many jingoes gained an entrance to the hall, which was crammed from floor to ceiling. Much hooting, mingled with cheers, greeted the delegates upon their arrival, and during the evening the delivery of speeches was attended with some difficulty from the same cause.

Mr. Henry Labouchere presided at the meeting, and besides J. W. Sauer, ex-commissioner of public works of Cape Colony, many prominent pro-Boers, including Mr. John Dillon, leader of the Nationalist party; Mr. David Lloyd-George, Welsh Nationalist; Mr. James Keir Hardie, socialist, and Sir Wilfrid Lawson, were present.

During the meeting fully 10,000 jingoes who had gathered outside Queen's hall in Regent street blocked traffic and necessitated relays of policemen to keep a semblance of order in the crowd. Several men mounted the parapet of the Langham hotel and, waving union jacks, proposed resolutions against the pro-Boer agitation, which they declared to have been carried when the meeting in Queen's hall terminated.

The usual speeches were made and the usual resolutions were carried amid much commotion and excitement. The resolutions included an amendment in favor of the complete independence of the Boer republics, proposed by Baron Battersea for the radicals, which did not meet with the approval of the Labouchere party. The meeting ended with the singing of the "Marseillaise."

J. X. Merriman, ex-treasurer of Cape Colony and now a representative of the Afrikander bund in England, wrote a letter to the promoters of the meeting apologizing for his absence.

Several collisions occurred between the crowd outside the hall and the police, and the latter had the greatest difficulty in handling the assemblage. No casualties were reported.

Balfour Denounces Radicals.

LONDON, June 20.—Mr. A. J. Balfour, first lord of the treasury, in a speech at a Conservative banquet in London made a strong protest against the action of the Bannerman party in countenancing the pro-Boer movement, thereby prolonging the war and adding to the already great difficulties and sufferings. "It is a scandalous and shocking thing," said Mr. Balfour, "that such men should, before the whole world, accuse their fellow countrymen and soldiers of carrying on war by barbarous methods."

Following are the names of those selected: Miss Letta B. Burns, Lawrence, Nassau county; Miss V. Louise Herrick, Madalin, Dutchess county; Miss Fanny Groat, Seward, Schoharie county; Miss May B. One Slayer Caught, Another Killed.

GONZALES, Tex., June 20.—A dispatch has just been received from Deputy United States Marshal William Hanson stating that one of the slayers of Sheriff Glover has been captured and one killed and that a posse of five officers is close on the trail of Gregoria Cortez. This is probably a confirmation of the battle and captures reported. Officers here are of the opinion that the dead man belongs to the gang wanted for killing Sheriff Glover of Gonzales. John W. Glover of Colorado City, Tex., an uncle of Sheriff Glover, has offered a reward of $300 for the arrest and conviction of the slayers of that official.

Rumors From Denmark.

LONDON, June 20.—The Copenhagen correspondent of The Daily Mail cables his paper saying that the United States has sent another note to Denmark in the matter of the sale of the Danish West Indies to the effect that if Denmark is not willing to sell the islands the United States must demand that Denmark fortify and garrison the islands of St. Thomas and St. John, which would command the Nicaraguan canal. The situation is regarded seriously here, as Denmark cannot dream of undertaking the erection of fortifications and the maintenance of garrisons, which would cost several millions.

Will Build a Monument to Blaine.

PITTSBURG, June 20.—Andrew Carnegie will erect a monument to James G. Blaine. A personal friendship of many years and a warm admiration for the great champion of American industries inspire the philanthropist in this his latest undertaking. A site for the monument, it is believed, will be chosen in Schenley park, near the Carnegie institute. It was learned from an authoritative source that Mr. Carnegie has had the erection of the memorial in mind for some time, but as yet definite plans have not been formulated.

Buried by Landslide.

CUMBERLAND, Md., June 20.—Thousands of tons of forest trees, immense rocks and earth from the mountain side for nearly a mile came down, burying the home of Mrs. Andrew Ours, a widow. Her house was completely wrecked, and every article of furniture was broken besides instantly killing her 22-year-old daughter. Mrs. Ours is now in a dying condition.

Plainfield's Schools.

Tonight twenty-four young people will receive formal recognition of their completion of the course of study required at the Plainfield High School. For them school days will be over and they will enter upon a new career, either in the home, in business or at one of the higher institutions of learning.

While the public in general has a dim idea that the local public schools stand well in comparison with those of the rest of the country, there are comparatively few who fully appreciate the excellent school system which Plainfield possesses. There are few cities which can boast of having its equal and very few, indeed, which are better equipped to educate their children. Plainfield's schools have deservedly earned a reputation in State and national educational circles that is very enviable

This state of affairs has not been accomplished in a moment. It is the careful work of years. School trustees, superintendents, principals and teachers have labored hard toward the desired end. Since Superintendent H. M. Maxson has been in charge of the schools, the work of improving the system has made even greater strides. Mr. Maxson possesses unusual ability in organization and in controlling both teachers and children. Under his wise and considerate direction, Plainfield's schools have steadily advanced, and he is entitled to much credit for the earnest and untiring labors which he has put forth so successfully.

While nobody doubts the honesty and integrity of the Board of Education, there has been considerable criticism as to the methods which the board has adopted to gain some of the wished for ends, no matter how much desired. The members of the board are public servants and, as such, should show no hesitancy in keeping the public fully informed as to their work. When great secrecy is shown, it is the most natural thing in the world for the public to infer that the acts thus hidden would not bear the test of publicity. While the board has shown, of late, a greater willingness to keep the public informed as to its acts, there should be the same publicity about the actions of the board as about those of the Council.

If the members of the Common Council are called upon this evening to act on Councilman's Lee's ordinance providing for city weights and measures, it will be well if the members of that honorable body carefully consider the subject before they act. There is undoubtedly considerable feeling against the proposed ordinance. How great it is, it is impossible to say without giving the opponents of the measure some opportunity of expressing themselves. Public hearings are, as a general thing, something of a farce, but the Council will do well to get some expression of public opinion on this radical change before forcing it upon the people of Plainfield. There seems to be a question as to whether there is really any great demand for such a public official as a city sealer of weights and measures. Whether he is paid a regular salary or his compensation is dependent on the fees which he collects, he will be an additional expense to the taxpayers. While the Plainfield taxpayers have shown themselves willing to pay for public improvements, it is a question as to whether the majority would consider Councilman Lee's plan either necessary or desirable.

Altogether fifteen damage suits have resulted from the accident on the trolley line of the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway Company near Westfield last winter. It was the only trolley car disaster of moment that has ever occurred in this immediate vicinity. Compared with the number of that occur in other cities, Plainfield has been remarkably free from catastrophes of that nature.

Heretofore the employe in the factory has felt that he must meet any accident while at work without the possibility of redress. The decision of the Union County Circuit Court makes it possible, however, for the employe to collect damages from a fellow-employe, if the latter is directly responsible for the accident owing to negligence. This decision is apt to have an important bearing in the future.

The Pan-American Exposition seems to be getting the lion's share of the summer visitors this year despite the fact that the exposition is not fully complete. The seaside resorts will have to bestir themselves if they hope to retain the patronage that the last few years have brought them. While so much cool weather is to be found, all summer resorts will feel the effects.

The owners of automobiles in Plainfield are fast making an excellent reputation for themselves in the careful way in which they navigate the city streets. Occasionally, some stranger whirls through the Plainfield streets at a high speed, but the local automobilists are uniformly careful to obey the provisions of the local ordinance governing their vehicles.

The weather appears to begin doing its best to aid in the success of the local commencements. The weather man has announced that the day will be fair and warmer.

Miss Kate Biglow, of Central avenue, will return tomorrow from Lebanon, Hunterdon county, and next week will sail for Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. S P. T. Wilbur, of Westervelt avenue, returned yesterday from Lake Hopatcong, where they have been spending a few days.

—Now is the time to can strawberries and Neuman Bros. have the berries.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence.)

Dunellen, June 20—A number of boroughites were the witnesses yesterday morning of one of the queerest battles on record. The combatants were a young maltese cat, belonging to Mrs. William Doty, and an ugly flat-headed adder. The reptile was crawling across the Doty yard when "tabby" discovered it, and in a spirit of fun, tapped it on the back. With an ugly hiss the snake coiled and struck back, but the cat was too quick and avoided the fangs. Both then became angered and the fight was on, the cat striking the snake again and again with its claws, but jumping out of the adder's way every time it struck. The cat was in a fair way to win, but fearing the reptile would eventually catch and crush it, one of the bystanders despatched the adder which measured a trifle over two feet in length.

With the passing of every car, the borough merchants on North avenue bewail the fact that there is no clause in the Somerset and Middlesex Traction Company's charter which compels the company to sprinkle the streets over which its tracks passes. The dust at times is almost unbearable, and it is made all the worse at times by the thought that there is no relief save that afforded by a stray shower.

The baseball game, which Frank Rinehart has in prospect, will take place on July 4. The original boroughteam will have as opponents, a formidable nine picked from the ranks of the railroad employes living in this vicinity. It will be captained by John McMahon, who promises to have his men in the best of shape on the date named. The game will be played on the Lincoln avenue grounds.

Employes of the Watchung Water Company were in the borough yesterday, making a number of much needed improvements to the water mains.

by the idea that obtaining an abundance of riches is the aim of life.

The other movement is that for popular education, which makes one submit to privations to share its benefits. He cited Booker T. Washington as a man who would rather know than have and would rather learn than get. Through education the aggregation of wealth can be ameliorated. One should stand up and resist the temptation of making the accumulation of wealth the aim of life. When Dr. Richards had concluded his remarks, Dr. J. B Probasco, the president of the Board of Education, presented the diplomas to the graduates.

The pupils who, having completed their studies in the department, received diplomas are:

Mena Bock, Harry R Brokaw, Martin Bowman, Carro Adelia Bird, Chester H. Briggs, May Gertrude Brown, Ruth Bullock, Harold Alexander Brownell, George Lewis Bentley, Mabel Denton Cronce, Florence Jane Cuming, Robert Newton Crane, Howard Hunter Craig, Florence Disbrow, Edna Florence Derby, Elwin M. GREAT SHOW.

Youthful Talent Conducted An Enterprise On Duer Street Last Night.

Pedestrians along Duer street last evening were attracted by the sight of a brightly lighted tent from which eminated shouts of laughter and applause. Following the crowd a Plainfielder ventured into the yard of F. W. Bailey, where a combined performance, including a concert and magic lantern show, was being given all under one tent.

Being tempted by the "Barker" the price of admission, one cent, was paid, and the visitor crowded in like a sardine. Pierson Bailey, the manager, and Harry Young, the magic lantern exhibitor, fixed the proceeds at twenty-nine cents, which does not represent the countless "deadheads."

Club Fell on Lad's Head.

Pierson Bailey, a young son of F. W. Bailey, of 86 Duer street, narrowly escaped a severe injury yesterday. While the lad was standing beneath a cherry tree in a neighbor's yard, a companion threw a club into the branches, which fell heavily on young Pierson's head. Blood flowed freely from a scalp wound which resulted, but otherwise the boy was uninjured.

Red Men Nominated.

The following officers were nominated at the meeting of Paughcaughnaughsinque Tribe, No. 193, Improved Order of Red Men, last evening: Sachem, Peter McClusky; senior sagamore, John Schneider; junior sagamore, Thomas Kenney; prophet, Lawrence F. Doyle. The election will take place next week.

Librarian's Report.

The report of the librarian of the public library for the year ending May 31 shows a circulation of 46,873, an increase of nearly 9,000 over that of the previous year. The report also shows that 2,644 books have been added during the year, the total number in the library being 22 707.

A DETECTIVE WHO DETECTED

By Philip G. Hubert, Jr.

Copyright, 1898 by J. P. Lippincott Co.

Miss Robertson's pretty brow contracted for a few seconds. "I think not," she said, finally, and we went on. "My father is a little peculiar. Illness has made him so; if he is a trifle brusque, you must put it down to the whim of an invalid."

We stopped at an old-fashioned, comfortable house of the plainer sort, and

"My book on the Spanish Inquisition."

Miss Robertson opened the door with a latch-key. After climbing two flights of stairs I was ushered into a plainly furnished but exquisitely neat and clean room. There was a lamp on the table, under the light of which an old woman sat sewing. Before a grate fire sat a man who must have been an exceedingly handsome fellow in his youth. Even at 65 his white hair and bushy beard and eyebrows gave no sign of illness, for his complexion was as rosy as that of a child, and as his keen ears detected the step of a stranger there was almost the elasticity of youth in the way he stood up and, holding to the arm of his chair, waited for explanations.

Miss Robertson nodded to the old woman and kissed her father.

"Papa dear, here is a gentleman who wants to talk to you about your work. By the way, it has just occurred to me that I do not know your name. This is terribly improper, is it not?" She smiled as she took her father's hand in hers and gently patted it. The old man waited silently.

"You see, papa dear, this gentleman has been very kind in helping me at the library; and to-night, as I had no umbrella and as it was raining, he insisted upon bringing me home."

"You are welcome, sir. Ellen, has the gentleman a chair?" And until he heard me sit down the old man remained standing. "You wish to see me about my book on the Spanish Inquisition. Are you a publisher?"

"No, no, papa dear. It's about the umbrella that Mr.—" and again she paused.

"Seymour," I said—"James Seymour."

"—that Mr. Seymour wishes to see you. On the way home we happened to see something that suggested our patent to me, and Mr. Seymour knows an umbrella manufacturer who might be interested in the matter, even if nothing more came of it."

While her father pondered she said to me: "We speak of it as our patent, although, as I told you, we have no patent."

"I could take my friend one of your umbrellas this evening," I said. What awful lies we detectives have to tell!

Miss Robertson looked at her father.

"You are very kind," said the father. "The trouble is, Mr.—Mr.—"

"Seymour," the girl prompted.

"Ah, yes, thank you, dear—Mr. Seymour—you are very kind, but we have not one umbrella fit to show. My daughter has not succeeded in sewing the eye-glass piece in so that it holds its place when the umbrella is opened and closed."

"I can easily finish the one I began last," said Miss Robertson, "if Mr. Seymour could wait for a few moments."

"Most certainly I can," said I, perfectly happy, and willing to wait all night if necessary, "and—"

Here I stopped to listen to a queer noise or succession of noises coming through the half-closed door of the next room. It was the sort of sound that is made by a pump when sucking air instead of water, or by a person in great distress from asthma.

"That's Mrs. Wiggins," said Miss Robertson, jumping up. "Please excuse me for a moment." She left the room, closing the door after her. I had hardly begun to talk with Mr. Robertson before she came back.

"Mrs. Wiggins says that supper will be spoiled unless it is eaten at once—this minute. And, as it will take me a good many minutes to make that umbrella presentable to a real umbrella manufacturer, may I ask Mr. Seymour to take supper with us?"

Before the father could add his request I had assented, without attempt to hide my pleasure.

"It is ready now, and on the table," she went on, ushering me into the next room, which proved to be a tiny room even for three persons—so small, in fact, that every time Mrs. Wiggins appeared from the kitchen Miss Ellen had to rise and move her chair to let her in.

"This room often reminds me," said Miss Robertson, "of the lady who closed her first visit to a New York flat with the remark: 'Well, now that I have seen all the closets, where are the rooms?' She must have come from Virginia, our old home; we have big houses there. But if it is a closet or no better, it's our own. With Mrs. Wiggins"—here the same curious sound of a pump in distress made itself heard—"that's Mrs. Wiggins now;" and Miss Ellen jumped up to allow that singular old woman to come in with a dish of roasted rabbit.

When the door closed after her, "Mrs. Wiggins has her peculiarities, as you may observe," said Miss Robertson, laughing. "That peculiar snort of hers is something I can't understand, except as a signal to open the door. You see, I have to get up every time the door is opened; and, as Mrs. Wiggins usually has her hands full of plates or carries a tray, she cannot knock."

"And to kick she is ashamed; or perhaps she feels that it would be undignified," added Mr. Robertson, with a smile.

"So she snorts," said Miss Ellen.

"And she can also cook," said I, for the rabbit was excellent and cooked to perfection. Roast rabbit was something I had not tasted since I came from the country.

"I really don't know what we should do without her, papa, dear. You see," turning to me, "she stays in the room with my father a great deal of the time while I am away, so that she can get him whatever he requires."

And so we chatted throughout the meal, with but one shadow upon the feast. I felt that I was a traitor. Here I was eating and enjoying the bread of these good people and meanwhile plotting their ruin. Another week's acquaintance with the Robertson family, and I should be ready to throw the Gazette overboard and help the criminals to escape. After the meal was over and Mrs. Wiggins had snorted at the kitchen door for the last time and gone home, we sat down by the fire, and while Mr. Robertson gave me a somewhat rambling account of his researches upon the Spanish Inquisition—at least it seemed rambling to me, perhaps because of a disturbing vision upon the other side of the fireplace—Miss Ellen worked deftly at one of the famous umbrellas, and I talked as cleverly as I knew how, trying to divide my remarks between the Spanish Inquisition and the patent umbrella. Very much too soon those deft and dainty fingers had finished their task.

"There," exclaimed Miss Robertson, with an accent of triumph, interrupting her father's graphic description of the persuasive effects of thumbscrews as manipulated by the Spanish Inquisitors, "I do believe practice makes perfect. If that eye-glass falls out, I shall be surprised. Nevertheless, Mr. Seymour, you can tell your friend that this is the work of a beginner. By the way, it's my old school umbrella."

I tested the work and shook the umbrella up and down. It had been so long since I had had a taste of anything like home life, and this little glimpse of a home had been so grateful to me, that I was sorry to find that the glass held in place. It might be a long time before I was invited to sit before that fire again. Half-past eight rang out from the little clock on the mantelshelf. I had no further excuse for staying.

"Whether or not I succeed in convincing my friend of the value of this great invention," I said, getting up, "I must thank you both for a pleasant evening." And I told them something of my boarding house life, the only one open to a young man who comes from the country to make his way in the great city. In return they told me something of their old home in Virginia.

"Come again as soon as you can and let us know the result," said the old man, rising to bid me good-by. Miss Robertson said nothing, but her dark eyes beamed kindly.

"I suppose that you are in business here," continued the father, "although you are neither a publisher nor an umbrella-maker."

He paused, and during the pause an idea came to me. Suppose I told them that I was upon the staff of the Gazette. If they had any guilty knowledge of "Daisy's Quest," surely something of the guilt would show. It was an idea worth acting upon, but even as I determined to carry it out I also resolved that rather than bring trouble into that home I would throw the whole business up and report that the man who stole "Daisy's Quest" had gone to Australia.

"You are neither a publisher nor an umbrella-maker?" he repeated. I gathered myself for the blow.

"No," I said as calmly as I could, gazing at the fire, "I am simply a reporter for the New York Gazette." Then I watched to see how they took the blow. Neither father nor daughter seemed to be in the least impressed. Not a muscle of the old gentleman's face moved. The daughter raised her eyebrows and said: "Ah!" with a smile. That was all.

Probably the late M. Vidocq would have discerned black guilt and the writhing of a guilty conscience in this behavior, or at least the hardihood of the brazen criminal. But decidedly I was no Vidocq, for I saw nothing but innocence. I was very young.

WHAT WOMEN ARE WEARING

SOME women can take a potato sack and make a stylish dress out of it and have all the other women looking at it with envious eyes, and others look dowdy in the handsomest material made. Some take a handful of flowers and a little of nothing and make it all into a dream of beauty, and others could take ever so much more valuable things and the result would be a nightmare. The art of good dressing seems thus to be born in one rather than acquired. So the only thing one can do in this case is to find a conscientious dressmaker and trust to her judgment. These sage reflections are the result of seeing too many women in one day.

I sat beside one lady in a public place, and she had a hat that I immediately made a note of. It was a large round hat, made of alternate rows of black neapolitan and fine yellow straw braid as narrow as the finest soutache. The crown was high and the brim wide. In the back the brim was bent down and fastened to the hair by several fine fancy pins. The whole front of the hat was covered with an immense bunch of small white daisies interspersed with grasses and many loops of narrow black ribbon wired to stand up in irregularly shaped true lovers' knots. In the back of the hat the flowers dwindled down to sprays and the ribbon to loose ends.

It is not very easy for a middle aged woman to find a hat which will not accentuate the fact that she is verging on the forbidden ground. But the black straw and lace effects in the bolero or English walking hats are very good if proper care be taken in the trimming of them.

So much black and white is worn that many a woman adopts this color scheme for not only hats, but for everything else this summer. I have seen some black hats—and very becoming ones they were, too—and there was not one note of color about them, nor did they in the least suggest mourning.

In spite of the attempt to force upon the American women the styles of 1862 and thereabout, the nearest approach has been the hat of the period so far as the shape is concerned, but with quite different trimming, and the flowing sleeves with their accompanying undersleeves—yes, and a few flounces. But, then, we always had more or less flounces. The plaited skirts where the loosened plait is let to form a fullness around the bottom of the skirt is one of the prettiest styles. This causes the skirt to fit easily around the hips and fall full and free at the bottom. Still there are several distinct flounces, among them being the plain, straight one set on with gathers and generally trimmed. The Dewey flounce has taken a strong hold and is seen frequently bordered with ribbon or velvet or lace in some cases. Some dresses have from 10 to 15 tiny ruffles not over an inch wide set around the bottom. Others show two rows of lace or fine embroidery as flounces, but these are only for thin summer dresses. There are graduated flounces where the back part is much deeper than the front. Some have flounces set on others at the edge. This always was a favorite way. Even the children have them, and I remember a little French long waisted dress which was shown me today where the whole skirt was made of narrow flounces. Babies and women's bathing and cycling suits do not show flounces, and that is about all that is exempt. But all these are different.

This is almost the time for surf bathing, and so it is in order to say a few words about the latest in bathing dresses. These vary in length and finish, according to the pleasure of the wearer. The time has gone by when the bather carries her outfit in her locket, and no one can find fault with the present style. Black silk warp henrietta is the best of all materials for this kind of costume, as it sheds water so well and is light and does not cling to the body to impede the movements. As soon as one is out of the water it is in shape again, which is a great consideration for the modest woman. Serge and silk are also used, and seersucker, too, but the old heavy flannel is seldom seen. White serge makes a pretty and useful suit. The way it is made or trimmed is optional with the wearer.

HENRIETTE ROUSSEAU.

GEN. GRANT HOPEFUL

Finds the Filipinos Worthy of Praise and Commendation.

And Reports Growing Fondness on Their Part for American Institutions—Eager to Learn English and Fond of Dress.

Gen. Frederick Dent Grant, after two years of active campaigning in the Philippines, is spending a short leave of absence in the United States.

As he grows older Gen. Grant more closely resembles his distinguished father. There is the same forceful chin, the same determined face, and as he sat in the parlor of the Palmer residence at Chicago, his full beard liberally streaked with gray, the resemblance was most striking.

The general is a confirmed optimist as regards the Philippine situation, and declared the Filipinos to be a much better class of people than they have been painted, with a rapidly growing liking for American people and methods. It was in response to the question whether after all there was not a deep-seated racial prejudice against Americans, as has been frequently alleged, that the general said:

"No; on the contrary, I think they are really becoming fond of our people and institutions. They are an impulsive lot, much like children, and they have reminded me of a lot of youngsters trying to show conclusively they were good. As an evidence of their growing patriotism I may say they celebrated Washington's birthday with much gusto, and when I left they were preparing even then to celebrate the forthcoming Fourth of July.

"More significant than this, however, is the universal eagerness they show in displaying the American flag and testifying their allegiance to it. It is a common sight to see flags of different sizes and makes floating from every house in a village, no matter how humble. It is the make-up of some of these flags which is especially significant. Some of the people are too poor to buy flags, and so they have made them, some with the oddest looking stripes and stars, but they are the flags of this country just the same.

COL. FREDERICK D. GRANT.
(Until recently in Command of Pampango Province, Luzon.)

"In other ways the people are showing their growing fondness for American ways. There is a feverish eagerness to learn English, and I was waited on once by two little Filipino boys who said they wanted to learn my language. American teachers are in great demand for this reason, and I frequently have detailed soldiers to teach the natives our tongue. This is stimulating interest in the schools, which are rapidly increasing in number. Another gratifying evidence of American control is the steady betterment of the people in a material way.

"Peaceful conditions now obtain in most parts of the island to a greater extent than for many years. I have traveled all over my province, accompanied only by an orderly, and on one occasion I dined at a hacienda where the owner told me that for the first time in five years he had dared bring his wife out there. Another of the party informed me he was not carrying arms, something he had not done for years.

"I do not believe there is any reason for apprehension that Malabar, who is reported to have declared himself dictator since the capture of Aguinaldo, is likely to cause any serious revolt. He may prove to be a troublesome fellow, such as road agents in our western country, but he will not be dangerous.

"As for the commercial feature of the islands, I can only say at present that they are productive and that our commerce going both ways must of necessity increase. Especially is this true of manufactured goods coming from the United States, for the natives are getting a rage for that sort of thing. I have been amused to notice that all the women in my district are wearing stockings, and in the Corpus Christi festivals of this year every little girl wore a hat, a small slip of a dress and shoes."

While he takes no credit for himself in the capture of Aguinaldo, the general referred with pride to the fact that it was a company of his own Macabebe scouts who did the work with Gen. Funston. Gen. Grant until recently was in command of the volunteer forces in Pampango province, Luzon.

Fed His Cow on Money.

An interesting cow case lately came to light in Hicksville, N. Y. Edward Settle, a farmer of that place, sold a cow to a Brooklyn butcher for $45. After the butcher had slaughtered the animal he found in its stomach a leather wallet containing $72 in bills and three five-dollar gold pieces. The farmers now think of examining the interiors of their cows by means of the X-rays before selling them.

North-American Saenger-Bund

Its Members Will Meet in Buffalo June 24-29

THREE thousand lusty singers, all members of the North American Saenger-Bund, will gather at Buffalo, N. Y., June 24 to participate in the thirtieth saengerfest of their organization. When Director John Lund waves his baton as a signal for the orchestral accompaniment to open the first concert of the bund the big new armory of the Seventy-fourth regiment New York national guard, kindly loaned to the singers for their accommodation while in Buffalo, will resound with harmony. Ten thousand people will throng the hall, it is estimated by the officers of the bund, and the stage will be so arranged for the reception of the 3,000 singers that there will be no poor accoustics to blame for a lack of harmony.

According to the custom of the bund, the saengerfest is quadriannual, but to afford the thousands of members an opportunity to see the Buffalo exposition, it was decided to move ahead the date for the thirtieth saengerfest to 1901. Buffalo has promised to be a splendid host for the "massenchor." After the regular programme of the fest is concluded, the entire membership represented by the Buffalo throng will go to the exposition grounds and sing as a compliment for the management of the Pan-American exhibition.

Three days are to be occupied by the session of the bund and the delivering of the concerts. The regular election of officers for the ensuing four years and the selection of the next place of meeting will be routine matters that will consume little time. Prof. Hono Deiler, of New Orleans, has been such an admirable executive that there will be no other candidate mentioned for the office of president. It is not unlikely that some delegate will sing a toast to the retiring president, and immediately the refrain will be taken up by singers from all parts of the United States—"Long live our new president."

"We are rather informal, you know," said Franz Amberg, the president of the Chicago Society of Singers, that will send 600 members representing 20 well-known mannerchor and societies, to the big saengerfest. "When I was president of the national body in 1881, the election was practically over before it was begun. We will reelect President Deiler in a hurry. Secretary O. Schmidt, of St. Louis, doubtless will be reelected unless he cares to give way to some other good natured man who likes to write letters.

"I am looking for the greatest meeting we ever had, at Buffalo. The programme for Monday, June 24; Tuesday, June 25, and Wednesday, June 26, has just been sent broadcast in the United States by the bund, and shows what elaborate plans Robert H. Heuszler, chairman of the Buffalo music committee, and the officials of Buffalo have made for the entertainment of the visiting singers."

Monday afternoon the introductory concert will be opened by the mayor of Buffalo. Tuesday there will be two concerts, one in the afternoon, and Wednesday there will also be two concerts. Mme. Schumann-Heink, William Bartels, the tenor, and D. F. Davies will be the soloists.

Officers of the North American Saenger-Bund are loud in their praises for the Buffalo men who obtained the use of the new militia armory for the national gathering. In order to appropriately lay out the seating accommodations and arrange for the installation of 3,000 singers on the temporary stage, it was necessary to have full control of the armory. State soldier leaders soon made light of difficulties by giving the bund 20 days' possession of the hall, free of charge. In many respects the programme for the concerts are of widespread interest. That for the final concert shows the character of the music. It must be taken into consideration that the chorus—the "massenchor"—will be sung by 3,000 trained singers. Following is the programme for the last concert:

Les Prelude.....Liszt
Waldesgruss.....Wagner
Santa Claus.....Shelley
Abschied hat der Tag genommen.....Nessler
(Massenchor.)
Scene from the "Flying Dutchman."
Soloists, D. Williams and Mme. Blauvelt.
Massenchor and Orchestra.

Chorus, 250 voices of the singers of St. Louis.

MAX OWEN.

homes. The correspondence was mainly social, not demanding promptness of delivery, and only farmers living near the post office took daily papers. "The importance of the average farmer's mail," he said, "is not such as to make rural free delivery essential." The fact that the farmers near the post office took daily papers seemed to give no intimation to this inspector that free delivery would cause farmers all along the route to do the same thing.

Congress without hesitation supplied the additional funds called for by the unexpectedly rapid growth of the service, and the installation of new routes went speedily forward.

Up to this point the service had been fragmentary and detached. It was Postmaster General Smith who developed the idea of putting the service to a test of practicability by extending rural delivery over an entire county, superseding all other service, and then striking a balance sheet of profit and loss.

Four lines of investigation were laid down:

(1) To what extent can rural free delivery supersede fourth-class post offices and star routes?

(2) To what extent can it be used as a channel through which to extend to the farmer all other postal facilities, as money orders, etc?

(3) What will be the effect on the postal revenues?

(4) What the net cost to the government as compared with that of the old system?

It seemed essential that such an experiment should be made in a strictly farming community, presenting many of the topographical and other physical conditions and obstacles likely to be encountered in a general introduction of the service elsewhere, so that its successful operation under such circumstances might be looked upon as a guarantee of its success in any other average rural locality in which it might be established.

Carroll county, Md., was selected, with the third-class post office of Westminster as the distributing point. The results of the experiment are thus described in official reports of the post office department:

On December 20, 1899, when winter weather and snowstorms had put the roads in their worst condition, the practicability of establishing rural free delivery to extend over a wide area, to the exclusion of all other service, was put to a test in Carroll county, Md. By order of the postmaster general 63 minor post offices and 26 services by star route contractors and mail messengers were discontinued, all in one day, and rural free delivery substituted in their place.

A detailed report of this service from the superintendent of the free delivery system, under whose direct supervision the experiment was started, was laid before congress on the 23d of April, 1900. It was shown by this report that during the first three months the cost of the service was $4,543; the saving by service superseded was $2,806; the increase of postal receipts directly resulting from the increased accommodation was $1,501.75, thus leaving the net cost of carrying the postal service practically to, or near to, the homes of all the people in Carroll county for one-quarter of a year only $263.

On April 12, 1900, an important advance took place. Rural carriers were authorized to receive and deliver registered mail. As the law requires such matter to be delivered personally, the carriers are obliged to go to the houses instead of dropping the letters or packages in the farm box. Rural carriers are also authorized to receipt for applications for money orders, and while they cannot yet issue the orders, they can save the farmer the trip to the office by acting as his agent.

Another most satisfactory change was made on July 26, 1900, when an order was made under which postage on drop letters on rural free delivery routes was fixed at two cents per ounce and carriers were required to cancel stamps on all letters collected by them. This order carried with it authority to deliver drop letters without passing them through the hands of a postmaster.

The effort in the incipiency of the institution of rural free delivery to put the matter to the test under as diverse conditions as possible resulted early in showing that the new way could be adapted to any section not altogether too sparsely settled. It was found possible to deliver the mails in the coldest winter of any part of this country and in the driest and hottest summer with very little interruption, scarcely more than occurs in cities by reason of snowdrifts and washouts on railways. When a heavy snow blocks the way of the rural carrier it is customary for the farmers to turn out and break the roads, and this is done several days earlier than would be the case ordinarily. In this way communication throughout neighborhoods and with the outside world is opened up promptly. In consequence the farmer is able to take advantage of good markets and the townspeople are not cut off from the supply of fresh country produce, as often has happened in severe storms. Also cases of distress in isolated farm homes are sooner reached and relieved.

The carriers' outfit is modified to suit the conditions under which his work is done, a light vehicle being used in one section while a heavier wagon is preferred in another. The Washington officials have been surprised at the rapidity of the growth of the system in remote and comparatively sparsely settled regions in the west and south.

A Novelty in Coffins.

Paper coffins are the latest novelty. They are the invention of a Brooklyn physician, who declares they can be made to resemble mahogany, rosewood or oak, and in any desirable shape. They are said to be waterproof and acid-proof, and can be burnished at one-half the cost of even pine coffins.

GOLF.

The events at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course Saturday will be the weekly competitions for the Mellick and Golf Committee cups and play for the Gilbert cup, mixed foursomes, handicap, for active, associate and junior associate members, 18 holes, medal play.

The list of competitors for the Golf Committee cup at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course is increasing rapidly. The interest is also growing. As there are so many good players contesting for first honors, there is sure to be much interest before the close of the season. Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers still leads the field, although she did not play last week in this competition. It is a matter of much interest to know how long she will keep her present standing against the many golfers who are after the honors.

LEAL'S BOYS GAVE DANCE.

TOOK THE PLACE OF COMMENCEMENT LAST NIGHT.

Successful Affair Was Held In Casino —There Were Pretty Decorations.

Contrary to the usual custom, the commencement exercises at John Leal's school were not held this year, but instead, informal exercises were held at the school yesterday. The programme was presented by the juniors taught by Miss Garrison and Miss Fawcett, and they gave readings and recitations. Mr. Leal made a short address to the school, and later he gave an interesting talk to the senior class, after which the school closed for the summer.

In view of the fact that the graduating exercises were dispensed with, the senior class arranged a most successful dance which was held at the Casino last evening. There was fully two hundred guests present to enjoy the affair, and many took occasion to congratulate the members of the senior class upon their success. There were twenty-four dances, the last of which was enjoyed in the small hours of the morning. Music was furnished by Rogers.

The decorations were very attractive. In the centre of the stage was placed a large Leal flag, the colors of which are maroon and old gold. Surrounding this was a beautiful display of flowers. Directly in front of the stage, the various colleges to which the seniors are going next fall, were represented by initials.

The division is as follows: Columbia, Charles King, Harry Schwed, Phillip Nieder and Ralph Schoonmaker; Princeton, Frederick Brown and David Griggs; Yale, Robert Tilney; Lehigh, Herbert S. Rogers.

During the evening there were many social features, and the committee, comprising the whole class with Charles King as chairman, received many compliments for the pleasant time given to all.

A PLAINFIELD GROOM.

William C. Illsley Wedded to Miss Hannah K. Deprez, of Elizabeth, Last Evening.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 20.—The home of former Councilman John Deprez, on Martin street, this city, was the scene of a brilliant gathering last evening when his daughter, Miss Hannah K. Deprez, was united in marriage to William G. Illsley, of South Second street, Plainfield. Guests to the number of sixty witnessed the happy event. The house was lavishly decorated for the occasion, the predominating colors being pink and white.

Rev. Frederick Knaps, pastor of the English Holy Trinity Lutheran church, of which the bride has always been a member, was the officiating clergyman. The bride was very prettily gowned and was attended by her cousin, Miss May Salsman and Miss Stella Illsley, sister of the groom. Following the ceremony the guests partook of an elaborate wedding supper. After receiving congratulations, Mr. and Mrs. Illsley took their departure for a wedding trip of two weeks' duration, which will include viewing the sights of the Pan-American Exposition.

On returning they will make their home in this city. The groom is connected with the wholesale linen house of Erskine, Beveridge & Co., of White street, New York.

PLAYED FLIM-FLAM GAME.

Two Sharpers Successfully Worked Their Trade In Plainfield.

The flim-flam game was successfully worked in this city by two sharpers yesterday.

The pair hired a rig at Roberts' and were driven to the East End, where they victimized a woman out of $5. She, winning a a prize on the first draw, bought the whole bunch of envelopes only to find, after the men had departed that the envelopes were empty.

After working the same game at Scotch Plains the men stopped for dinner at Springfield. Leaving the rig with the driver they promised to return shortly but have not been heard from since.

TWENTY-FOUR YOUNG PEOPLE FORMALLY COMPLETED COURSE IN HIGH SCHOOL.

Commencement Exercises of Plainfield Public Schools Were Held at First Baptist Church Last Evening.

THE YEARLY AWARD OF PRIZES WAS ANNOUNCED.

ADDRESS OF THE EVENING WAS MADE BY DR. A. E. WINSHIP, OF BOSTON.

Salutatory by Miss Madeline Evans and Valedictory by Mrs. Kizzie Eager—Diplomas Presented to Twelve Young Men and Twelve Young Women—Two First Prizes Won by C. Ames Brooks—Cyril Brown Awarded Three.

With bright, expectant faces and with mingled regrets and hopes for the future, twenty-four young people, comprising the class of 1901 of the Plainfield High School, bade adieu last evening to their school life and prepared to enter a new one with the world as their field. The occasion was the thirty-first annual school commencement which took place in the First Baptist church.

The exercises began promptly at 8 o'clock with an opening selection by Frank's New York orchestra, which was stationed in the rear of the gallery. While it was being played, the graduates with Principal Travell at their head, entered from the right side of the platform and took their places amid applause. Occupying seats on the platform also were Dr. J. B. Probasco, Leander N. Lovell, F. O. Lounsbury, Charles F. Abbott and Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards, of the Board of Education, and Dr. A. E. Winship, of Boston

After an invocation by Rev. Cornelius Schenck, in which he asked the Divine blessing, Miss Madeline Evans arose to deliver the salutatory and essay. Her subject was "College Settlements." It was as follows:

Mr. President and Gentlemen of the Board of Education—It is with great pleasure that the class of 1901 welcome you to its commencement exercises this evening. Mingled with this pleasure is a feeling of regret that we are no longer to share in the educational advantages which are so ably and wisely administered by you. We appreciate these opportunities, second to none in New Jersey, and we shall feel honored to be enrolled among the alumni of the Plainfield High School.

Mr. Speaker of the Evening—We are happy to have with us tonight one who is so widely known in educational circles, one from New England, that birthplace of poets and scholars, the home of culture, the source of literary and educational inspiration. We give you a warm welcome. Though we shall not attempt to dissuade you from the opinion that Boston is the "hub of the universe," yet we hope that you will go away convinced that Plainfield is not upon the remotest circumference of the wheel.

Mr. Principal and Teachers of the High School—We greet you heartily on this evening of our graduation. We take this as a most fitting occasion to thank you publicly for your patient interest and untiring efforts during the past four years in helping us to grow into strong men and women, and in opening to us the world's store of knowledge. It is our sincere regret that our genial and beloved superintendent is unable to be present this evening that he might receive our personal and heartfelt thanks for all his kindness and attention to us.

Citizens of Plainfield—In greeting you we wish to express our gratitude to you for your hearty co-operation and support in maintenance of our public school system, of which we may justly be proud. We feel happy that we are soon to take our places by your side and unite our influence and efforts with yours in enabling our schools to keep abreast with others to the progressive spirit of the age.

The great movement of social settlements lies within the lifetime of the present generation. In the year 1860, a few Oxford students became deeply interested in the needs of the poor and the best methods of ministering to them. Someone has described popular socialism as saying, "What is thine is mine," and Christian socialism replying, "No, what is mine is thine." Imbued with this idea of Christian socialism, these young men sought, by giving themselves to the poor and living right among them, to lift them out of their degradation, and bring joy into their darkened lives. One of these enthusiastic workers was Arnold Toynbee, and two years after his death in 1883, there was established in his memory in the slums of London Toynbee Hall, the first social settlement in the world.

In this respect as well as others less creditable to us, we Americans have followed the example set by our English cousins—a fact which they fully appreciate. Our English writer says that only twenty or thirty out of the seventy "so-called" settlements in the United States deserve to bear that name. Notwithstanding this rather disparaging remark, America has done her part nobly in settlement work.

The fundamental principle of social settlements is expressed in George MacDonald's words, "Those who would do good to the poor must attempt it in the way in which they could best do good to people of their own standing," that is by living right among them and treating them as equals. A settlement has been described as something which "turns an organization which might be a mere machine into a living human force." It is charity, but not so much with the meaning that term sometimes suggests as in its original and true sense—of love—real heart-love for one's fellow-beings, love which moves men and women in the highest ranks of society to sacrifice their brilliant worldly prospects for the sake of their poverty-striken and morally-degraded brothers and sisters.

With this as their underlying principle, the aim of all settlement workers stated more definitely, is, by example, by instruction, by sympathy and help in every possible way, to better the mental, moral, and physical condition of those less fortunate than themselves. There are many different branches of the work, and it serves many different purposes, according to the various needs of the individuals for whose benefit it is carried on; some need harmless recreation; some advice or assistance in legal matters; others educational advantages. There are dozens of men and boys who frequent the saloons mere for the sake of the social intercourse which they can obtain nowhere else in a poor neighborhood, and who gladly make use of an attractive substitute during their leasure moments.

To the more respectable families which are found in almost every wretched district, the settlement is a great blessing, and to the recently-landed immigrants a veritable refuge where he may find all the information he desires. The settlement also makes valuable investigations in regard to civic affairs, often obtaining most satisfactory results. By them arbitration is secured in a small strike, privileges are gained for shop girls, or a hard-hearted landlord, ready to turn an afflicted family out of doors, is won over.

In the line of instruction there are classes in cooking, sewing, dress-making, millinery, music, dancing, elocution, parliamentary law, kindergartening, etc., beside literature, history, stenography, typewriting, mathematics, Latin and German. Although the pupils take great pleasure in these classes, there are furnished other enjoyment in the various clubs which themselves conduct, in the lecture or other means of entertainment which take place every week except during the summer months. At this time as many as possible are sent away somewhere into the country for or two or three weeks, as the case many be Nearly every settlement has its gymnasium and library, and though it seems as if hard-working people had very little time to read, there is a constant demand for more books.

By all these methods and others, and by their own quiet, orderly mode of life, for they believe that, as Chas. King puts it, nothing is so infectious as example, the settlement workers strive to direct the interest and attention of those among whom they live into other purer channels. In this way they hope that in time something may be done toward solving the great social problem which at present is perplexing the minds of so many deep thinkers.

After this glance at the aim and general work of social settlements, it may be interesting to see a little of the pratical side. A few minutes walk from the Pensylvania station in Jersey City will bring us to Whittier House, which is surely worthy of our notice and interest. It was founded in 1893, and is in a very respectable neighborhood but within easy access of the worst parts of this city. It boasts ten resident beside many semi-resident and non-resident helpers, and differs from some settlements in having several gentlemen in this corps. There are the usual clubs and classes, for each of which a tuition of fifty cents is charged. This is done for the purpose of defraying incidental expenses, but more particular to give the pupils a certain feeling of independence. Whittier House co-operates, as do all settlements, with other charitable institutions, so that there may not be a superfluity of activities in one directions, and lack in another.

Walking along Rivington street, one of the most densely populated quarters of New York city, one comes suddenly upon a bow-window filled with flourishing plants, an unusual sight among the Jewish tenements of that district. On closer observation, however, this window is found to belong, not to a tenement, but to one of those old stone houses which in days gone by may have been the residence of some dignified aristocrat. Such is the Rivington Street College settlement, surrounded on all sides by poverty and wretchedness. In this neighborhood the family, consisting of from five to ten persons, lives in three rooms, and the streets are so crowded with tiny children that one has fairly to pick his way among them. Many of the tenements are handsome and imposing on the outside and one would not think to look at them that there was such misery and squalor within.

Not more than five blocks from the settlement is the great Jewish market, where almost everything imaginable is to be bought—fruit, vegetables, dry groceries, fish, lace, ribbon, ready-made garments, shoes, hats—all displayed side by side on small push-carts which stand close to the sidewalk. It is said that the yolk or white of one egg, or a chicken's leg or wing is often sold. The street for three or four blocks is full of these jabbering vendors and their customers, while the din and confusion is increased by the clatter of wheels, the noise of shouting drivers and the screams of quarreling children. This may give some slight idea of the class of people and the neighborhood with which the settlement workers have to deal.

The dignity of the exterior of the house is intensified by a glimpse at the interior, for the ceilings are royally high and the doors of the finest mahogany. The furnishing, though very simple, displays the most excellent taste; the wall-paper, the rugs, the pictures and hangings are all in perfect harmony. This home of itself has a great influence, and no wonder, for in contrast to the small, dingy, overcrowded rooms of the tenements, its large and airy chambers seem the personification of comfort and delight. Even the children appreciate the quiet beauty and abundance of space. One little girl, upon entering the house, exclaimed, "Oh, this is a pretty house!" and when asked why she thought so, replied, after prolonged meditation, "Because there's not much in it."

Not far from Rivington street is one of the Nurses' Settlements, where ten resident trained nurses make three thousand professional calls a month, besides carrying on clubs and classes like other settlements. Surely this is a most noble work, for there is nothing of which the poor of a great city are more ignorant than the relief of physical suffering.

These are but a very few out of the many settlements in the United States.

CROWD FOLLOWED MEN; DISPERSED BY POLICE

Mayor and Strike Leaders Ask Striking Machinists to Keep Away Hereafter.

NO DEMONSTRATION TODAY.

TWENTY-FIVE SPECIAL OFFICERS BROUGHT FROM NEWARK.

Crowd Was Following Machinist Ackerman When Police Charged Them—No One Hurt, But Plenty of Excitement—Deplored By All.

While there has yet been no actual violence, the local strike situation has assumed a more serious aspect than has existed since the strike first commenced five weeks ago. The gang bosses at the Pond Tool Works returned to work yesterday. One machanist has been working since Monday. As a result, great crowds assembled about the works yesterday noon and night and started to follow some of the workers home. In the evening, a battalion of police charged the crowd of a thousand people and dispersed them. No one was hurt, although one woman fainted in the excitement, but there was wild excitement.

This morning, Mayor Jenkins has issued a proclamation asking all good citizens to refrain from any acts which may result in any breach of the peace. They are asked not to mingle with street crowds and are warned not to interfere in any manner with the free use of the thoroughfares. Their attention is called to the fact that it is the duty of the city officials to enforce the law without regard to personal feelings or sympathies. The full text of the proclamation will be found in another column.

Twenty-five special policemen were brought here from Newark this morning for use in case of emergency They were sworn in at once.

The strikers held a meeting this morning and voted to keep away from the Pond Tool Works at the hour of closing.

Following the demonstration at the Pond Tool Machine Works yesterday noon, when men, women and children assembled, the officials of the works deemed it wise to ask for police protection, and this was promptly given. Eight bosses returned to work yesterday morning. While the striking machinists had no particular grudge against them, they did have against Clayton Ackerman, a machinist, who returned to work Monday morning. He has ever since been the object of derision, although no violence has been resorted to. He has been escorted between his home and the works by police.

Late yesterday afternoon a crowd assembled in the vicinity of the Pond Tool Machine Works for the purpose of meeting the workmen when they quit work at 6 o'clock. It was estimated that there were fully one thousand people in the crowd when the 6 o'clock whistle blew. Chief Kiely, Sergeant Frederickson, Roundsmen Flynn and Mattox and ten patrolmen were on hand early to preserve order and quiet. An occasional hoot of "scab" or "coward" was heard, but considering the number of people, including many women, as well as men and children, the order was good. The police were kept busy moving the crowd along and not allowing them to congregate at any one place.

Chief Kiely and a few officers were stationed at the entrance to the works, while the other officers were stationed at different points. When the whistle blew, the bosses were first to leave the works, most of them riding wheels. Aside from a few jeers, they were not noticed to any extent, but when Ackerman appeared in company with Patrolman Watson and Detective McCarthy, the crowd at once began to close in and follow him. Here and there was a crowd of men and women and an occasional cry of "scab" or "coward" was heard. When a short distance from the works, Ackerman was escorted across lots to the Grant Avenue station and then to West Front street, where he and the policemen got on a trolley car and came to town.

While Ackerman was going across lots, Chief Kiely summoned his men about him and they followed closely behind the lone machinist. A majority of those in the crowd went through Grant avenue to Front street, while a few followed the police over the railroad.

When the crowd approached the corner of Grant avenue and Front street Chief Kiely and his men made a charge on the crowd and scattered the people in all directions. The police waved their long clubs as the crowd fell back in a hurry. A few who did not move fast enough felt the officers' clubs. There were many with bicycles and they added to the entanglement of the crowd in their hurry.

Mrs. James McGinnis, who was hysterical in her enthusiasm in support of the strikers, was assisted from the street to the railroad bank by Patrolman Overbaugh, after which she fainted. She was taken home and Dr. Currie was called. She was not struck by anyone, although reported as having three ribs fractured. There were many wild and exaggerated reports of violence, but eye-witnesses of the affair failed to see any of it.

In the wild scramble four arrests were made. They were James Miles, James Greenhalge, John Hawley and James McConnell. In the opinion of the police, who took them into custody, they were considered disorderly by crying "scab" and "coward." The men are all striking machinists. They went along quietly with the police and made no resistance.

This concluded the trouble for the night. The police and their prisoners were brought to police headquarters on the trolley. Later they were released under $200 bail each to appear for a hearing Monday morning before City Judge Runyon. M. Weinberger acted as bondeman.

As soon as the police left the scene of the trouble the crowd dispersed and went home. Later in the evening a crowd of machinists assembled about police headquarters and when their colleagues were released they gave a cheer. There was no disorder.

Councilman J. F. Buckle, chairman of the Police Board, was seen by a reporter of The Daily Press, last night and he said that the order and quiet of the city must be preserved if one hundred extra men have to be pressed into service to accomplish the purpose.

One noticeable feature of last night's demonstration was that there were a comparatively small number of striking machinists in the crowd. A very large majority of the machinists remained away and refused to countenance any such demonstration.

This morning a fair-sized crowd of strikers assembled at the Pond shop at starting time, but there was not the slightest attempt at disorder. The gang bosses and the one machinist, Clayton Ackerman, entered the works amid silence. A force of police patrolled the vicinity, but there was no call for their services. Robert Gow, one of the gang bosses, who remained away from the shop yesterday afternoon, was among those to resume work.

There was no semblence of disorder at the Pond Tool Works when the few foremen and machnists, now working, passed out from the shop at the dinner hour today. Although there were a number of men, women and children curiously awaiting possible developments, there was a noticeable absence of striking machinists.

Chief Kiely was on hand with a special detail of officers and with Francis J. Gregory, the manager of the New Jersey Detective Agency, who had on duty a corps of twenty-five special officers.

J. T. MacMurray, of the Pond Tool Machine Works, informed a representative of the Daily Press, last evening, that fifty seven additional machinists returned to work yesterday at the Niles-Bement Tool Works in Philadelphia, making 306 in all now working there.

At a meeting of the machinists held in Trades Union Hall this morning, the men were addressed by the leaders of their organization, who greatly deplored last evening's occurrence. They were unanimous in their disapproval of the police's action, in bringing into the city, this morning, twenty five men to be used as special deputies. The strikers were also asked to stay away from the vicinity of the shops while the present trouble continues. The men readily gave their consent and are positive no more trouble like that of last evening will follow.

A vocal and instrumental concert was given by the Opportunity Circle of the King's Daughters of the Mt. Olive church last evening. SPECIAL LICENSE FOR THE HOTEL NETHERWOOD

Granted At Council Meeting Last Evening After Some Changes Were Made.

TROLLEY CO. HEARD FROM.

DECLARED ALL NUISANCES COMPLAINED OF WOULD BE ABATED.

Questions Regarding Hours For Meals At Hotel Was Debated—Granted Under New Ordinance Costing $100—Can Serve Liquors At Meals Only.

The only bone of contention at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council last evening was the liquor license which the Council finally granted to F. W. Coleman of the Hotel Netherwood. Two licenses were granted to Mr. Coleman, one of which was a special one giving him the privilege of serving liquors at meals for the consideration of $100.

The thing objected to in this license by Mr. Lee and other members was the hours for meals, which would virtually be a continuous meal from 6 o'clock in the morning until 11 o'clock at night. Mr. Lee strongly objected to this on account of the late supper hour. When a vote was taken, he and Messrs. Craig and Randolph voted against the license, while Messrs. Dumont, Tolles, Buckle, Gloak and vanHerwerden voted for it. This not being a majority vote for it, the license was not granted with those privileges.

A recess was held later and amendments were made in the application as follows: Breakfast, 6 a. m. to 10 a. m.; lunch, 12 noon to 4 p. m; dinner, 6 p. m. to 10 p. m. This proved satisfactory and the license was granted, all but Mr. Craig voting for it.

Among the petitions received was one from residents of Netherwood asking that sidewalks be laid on Belvidere avenue between Watchung and Woodland avenues and on Woodland avenue; also that a crosswalk be laid at the corner of Belvidere and Woodland avenues. Theodore G. Smith complained that he does not own a dog and asked to have his tax bill corrected accordingly.

The Board of Directors of the Public Library submitted its annual report concerning the library and the same was filed. Immediately afterward Mayor Jenkins re appointed Alex. Gilbert, J. W. Yates and William M. Stillman as directors of the Public Library for three years.

Letters were read from C. W. Riker and Col. Hine, of the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway Company, replying to a letter from Mayor Jenkins concerning certain infractions of the ordinance under which the company operates the trolley cars. The Council was assured that the matters complained about would be promptly attended to. The officials also stated that arrangements are being made for a suitable place to store cars when not in use, thus taking them off of Fourth street where the company has allowed them to stand.

On the recommendation of Mr. Van-Herwerden, a dog tax was erased from Byron E. Young's tax bill, because he does not own a dog, and taxes for 1897 and 1898 were assessed on the property in the rear of 226 Leland avenue, instead of 228 Leland avenue, there being a double assessment.

Mr. Tolles reported that the matter complained of by John Henesey, regarding stagnant water on Netherwood avenue, had been attended to and there is no further cause for complaint. This concluded the business and the meeting adjourned.

Special Sermon to Knights.

The members of Cypress Commandery, Knights Templar, have received and accepted an invitation to attend the services at the Calvary Baptist church, Sunday evening, when a sermon will be preached to them by Rev. Scott Wallace. It is expected a large number will be in attendance.

LOCAL MANUFACTURERS MAKE A STATEMENT

Give the Public Their View of the Strike Situation in Plainfied.

WHAT WAS CAUSE OF IT ALL.

FIRST SIGNED STATEMENT GIVEN OUT BY LOCAL EMPLOYERS.

Say That Most of the Men Did Not Want to Strike But Were Compelled To—No Organized War Against Labor Unions.

For the first time since the strike of the local machinists began, the local manufacturers have prepared a statement for the public. It outlines their view of the situation, the causes of the strike and their present position. It is signed by representatives of the Pond Machine Tool Company, the Potter Press Company, the Aluminum Plate and Press Company and Walter Scott & Company. It is as follows:

President O'Connell, of the International Association of Machinists, is reported to have charged that "the manufacturers have determined to fight all organized labor, and that he accepts the challenge." How charmingly he assumes the role of the injured party. The Plainfield manufacturers resent the implication that they precipitated or in any way brought on the fight.

A few weeks ago shops were busy, all men at work and more wanted, the hum of industry made music for both employer and employed, and it sung the song of expanding trade, enlarged production and widening markets to the one and steady employment and well filled pay envelopes to the other. Now, instead of industrious mechanics we have the throng of idlers; instead of expanding trade we have throttled industries; hands which before were used in producing are now grasping the wheels of industry, stilling the hum of labor into the hush of inactivity. The weekly wage has given way to the occasional dole, grudgingly paid, if paid at all, from scant treasuries, to meet only the most pressing needs. Mothers and children feel the pinch of reducing resources. Merchants are keenly alive to the absence of the weekly pay-roll, amounting to over $12,000 per week, most of which went into local trade.

What has wrought the change? Have manufacturers suddenly become grasping? Have conditions become oppressive? Has the severance of friendly relations between employer and employe, which have existed in many cases for over two decades, been because of local grievances? Unqualifiedly, no, the workmen themselves being the witnesses. What are the manufacturers asked to do? Give up one-tenth of their production, put out of use one-tenth of their capital, and besides the shortened production, give an additional percentage in wages greater in amount in many instances than they are earning.

The Plainfield manufacturers have never waged war of any kind upon organized labor or Trades' Unions. Union men and free men have been employed without a question as to whether or not they belonged to any organization, even though the manufacturer knew that an influence was at work in their shops which sought to repress an ambitious workman who strove to rise above mediocrity and do more than a prescribed days work. They are, however, a unit in their opposition to those principles which attempt in any way to wrest from their management the industries under their control, and they are the unequivocal foes of that spirit which abridges the right of any workman, however humble, to sell his labor, his only capital, at any price, on any terms and in any market which he may choose.

There are hundreds of men in Plainfield who would far rather be at their work providing for their families, but who are deterred from this by threats of ostracism, of ignominy and even of personal violence. Men, whose families, much as they need the fruits of the bread winner's labor, beg them not to risk happiness, and even life itself, by going contrary to the behest of the most tyrannous trust the world has ever known, The Labor Trust. There are many men who freely say, "I have no grievance, but I am ordered out, and must obey" and who at the behest of some hired agent, not only go contrary to the dictates of their own judgment and consciences, but who use their influence to induce even apprentices to break faith with employers and be untrue to their

An employe of an East Front street plumber unintentionally played the part of a horse thief the other night. While finishing a job on that thoroughfare he hitched his horse and wagon in front of the place. Later some one came along and conveniently tied a horse, hitched to another wagon, to the rear end of the plumbers' cart. The plumbers' employe subsequently jumped in his own wagon and drove around to East Second street and there discovered that he had an extra horse and wagon with him. The speedy return of the animal he did not own straightened out matters.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

The War Department proposes to spend a million and a half on the enlargement and improvement of Governor's Island. The changes include a sea wall, storehouses, piers and deeper channels so that larger steamers may be docked. The Government has but one pier in New York Harbor, and it is a rented pier and inadequate.

An army storehouse should not be in the harbor. It will be in the way. It would be better to establish the storehouse up the Hudson on a part of the Palisades.

Governor's Island is useless as a fort. It is too near the city to be used for defense because shot fired at it would damage the city. A fleet that could be attacked from Governor's Island would already be in command of the city.

In commenting on the proposed changes, the Brooklyn Eagle says:

"It has been suggested to the government already that it would be the part of wisdom to acquire property on the Hudson, including a part of the Palisades, and convert that into a military station. There is room for unlimited spread of construction; it is in touch with the most important rail lines in the country, the ocean steamers dock within a short distance, the troops would be an assurance against farther depredations among the cliffs, and the Palisades would be kept practically as they are."

This would be the wisest change that could be made. It would preserve the Palisades. It would prevent trouble in the harbor by the docking of warships and transports, and it would remove the army stores from danger in case of an attack on the city, and would leave the island as it is, or would provide a site for a park that would be a boon to the people living in lower New York and Brooklyn.—Jersey City Journal.

Government Positions.

Comparatively few people know that about 10,000 appointments are made each year to the government service or how these appointments are made. Most every one knows that for appointments to many positions a civil service examination is required. What positions require an examination, what kind of an examination must be passed, what salaries are paid in the different offices, what prospect there is of appointment to certain positions, etc., is not known possibly by one person in 50,000. All this information is contained in the announcement of the department of civil service examinations of the National Correspondence Institute of Washington, D. C., a copy of which has been received by this office. This handsome booklet is sent free by the institute to all who request it.

Making Sewer Connections.

A gang of Italians are busily engaged in making the sewer connection to the new glove factory on Washington avenue. A line of pipe is being run from Front street to the building.

—Dyspeptics cannot be long lived because to live requires nourishment. Food is not nourishing until it is digested. A disordered stomach cannot digest food, it must have assistance. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests all kinds of food without aid from the stomach, allowing it to rest and regain its natural functions. Its elements are exactly the same as the natural digestive fluids and it simply can't help but do you good. L. W. Randolph.

JULY 4 NAMED.

Civil Government to Be Established In the Philippines on That Date.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—It has been decided that a civil government will be established in the Philippine Islands on July 4. Judge William H. Taft will be designated as civil governor. He will remain at the head of the Philippine commission, which is to be continued. The order creating him civil governor will be issued by the president through the secretary of war.

Further details regarding the new government are yet to be worked out. The 4th of July is not selected with a view of having an extraordinary inauguration of the new government, but simply because that is the great American holiday and is deemed by the administration a good day upon which to locate what is believed to be an auspicious event in the history of the Philippines. It is probable that members of the Philippine commission will have charge of the different departments of the government.

The Kiel Regatta.

KIEL, June 21.—The Kiel regatta opened with fair weather and a light wind. Emperor William's sloop yacht Samoa II was fourth in the contest for the City of Kiel cup. Twenty yachts took part in the race, and among these were the French yacht Arcachon, the English yacht Cis and the Danish yacht Navana. Regatta week in Kiel this year will be more interesting than it was in 1900, because the empress of Germany will also attend the racing. Ninety-four vessels are now present at Kiel for the regatta, and 22 sailing clubs are represented. Vessels from Great Britain, the United States, Russia, Denmark, Norway, Sweden and France as well as from all parts of Germany, even from so far inland as Munich and Berlin, are at Kiel this week.

Mrs. McKinley Steadily Gaining.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Though very slow, the improvement in Mrs. McKinley's condition continues steadily and each day shows her to be a little stronger than the preceding one. Dr. Rixey as he left the White House said while there was nothing new in her case she continued to improve and was able to sit in her rolling chair and see a few friends.

NUTMEG STATE DAY.

Connecticut's Governor and Prominent Citizens at Fair.

SENATOR HAWLEY DELIVERS ADDRESS

Chinese Minister Among the Prominent Arrivals at the Pan-American Exposition—Mammoth Diamond on Exhibit.

BUFFALO, June 21.—Yesterday was Connecticut day at the Pan-American exposition. Most of the day was spent by the visitors from the east in sightseeing, especially on the Midway, but they found time to dedicate their section of the New England building in the afternoon. The brief exercises in connection with the dedication were the only formal things on the programme, and they were very simple.

The exercises began at 3 o'clock. Hon. Benjamin H. Lee, commissioner from Conecticut, introduced Governor McLean. The governor made a short address that was very earnest and cordial.

"We are here to show our loyalty to the Empire State," he said, "and especially to the city of Buffalo and its magnificent exposition which so well expresses the universal desire of us all to bring closer together the peoples of the Americas."

Senator Hawley was introduced by Chairman Lee. "This collection of fine buildings is a wonderful thing," said the senator. "I never before saw and never again expect to see what I saw last night, a firmament of electricity. It was a grand display of the power which you have in the mighty river which flows so ceaselessly by your doors."

Director General Buchanan followed in a cordial pleasant address. Governor McLean held an informal reception for half an hour, and the crowd then dispersed.

Wu Ting Fang, Chinese minister to Washington, who will address the meeting of state bankers, arrived in the city and was a visitor at the exposition grounds.

An excursion got up by the board of aldermen of Milwaukee also arrived. There are over 100 in the party.

The next special day will be Smith college day, June 22. Two days later will come Sangerfest day. From June 24 to June 29 the exposition will be owned by the singers and music lovers attending the great sangerfest of the North American sangerbund. Upon the close of the sangerfest will come Dominion day, July 1. The sangerfest programme is complete, and the various organizations preparing for the visit of the musical societies from abroad are busy making final arrangements for their entertainment.

Leopold Stern of New York city, one of the New York state commissioners to the Pan-American exposition, placed on exhibition in the liberal arts building what is claimed to be the largest diamond in the world. The stone is from the mines near Kimberley, South Africa. It has been in this country for about three weeks and has never been exhibited before. In color it is what is known as the canary tint and weighs 207¾ carats. The Kohinoor diamond, the property of the British crown, long known as the largest diamond in the world, weighs 106 carats.

Deadly Storm In Indiana.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 21.—Three persons were killed and several injured by lightning during a severe electrical storm which passed over Indiana. The storm took on cyclonic aspects at several places. At Marion the First Presbyterian church was struck by lightning and badly damaged, and Rowan's saloon was struck and partially destroyed. Five men who were in the saloon were knocked senseless. At Greentown trees were uprooted and fruit and growing crops badly damaged by hail. Three hundred windows were broken. Several barns were burned. The loss in and around Greentown will probably reach $40,000. At Roachdale the building occupied by the Roachdale News was entirely destroyed. The machinery and fixtures are badly damaged. At Monticello the barn of Bert Hathaway was struck by a bolt of lightning, and Hathaway, who had taken refuge from the storm in the building, was instantly killed. The barn and contents, including seven valuable horses, were entirely consumed, causing a loss of $5,000. Hartford City was visited by terrible hail and wind storms. Fifty oil derricks were blown down, and several buildings were destroyed, causing a loss of $25,000.

General Byron Laflin Dead.

HUDSON, N. Y., June 21.—General Byron Laflin is dead. He was a native of Lee, Mass. Before the civil war he was an extensive paper manufacturer and enlisted as captain of the Thirty-fourth New York volunteers and was promoted to the colonelcy. He was brevetted a major general and became provisional governor of North Carolina. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Dawes of Chicago and Miss Eliza Laflin of Watertown, N. Y. The interment will be in Herkimer, N. Y.

Four Injured by Railway Accident.

GREENVILLE, Pa., June 21.—By the ditching of the Erie and Pittsburg passenger flier at Transfer last evening four passengers were hurt, but none of them seriously. Just after leaving the station the rear axle of the tender broke, throwing the tender, baggage car, express car and vestibuled coaches from the track and turning them over. It was at first thought many were killed, but it was soon learned that the four were the only victims.

Another Northfield Victim.

NEW YORK, June 21.—The body of General Charles G. Bartlett, the fourth victim so far recorded in the Northfield disaster, was discovered by a longshoreman yesterday floating a short distance off Pier 7, East river. General Bartlett leaves a widow and two grown sons. He was born at West Point in 1839 and was the son of the late Professor William H. Bartlett, LL. D., of West Point.

BOSTON, June 21.—The directors of the Mexican Central railroad at a meeting held here authorized the purchase of the Monterey and Mexican Gulf road, 390 miles in length.

OUTLAW SURROUNDED.

Cortez, Alleged Slayer of Two Sheriffs, Said to Be at Bay.

COTULLA, Tex., June 21.—Cortez, the alleged slayer of Sheriffs Morris and Glover, it is said, is now within a few miles of Cotulla, but has not yet been captured. Tuesday information was received that the Mexican outlaw was headed this way from Campbellton. That evening Sheriff Vann of Kerr county, with his posse on a special train, arrived here and was joined by Sheriff Hill and posse. They went to Twohig and from there down the river to cut off his escape. Wednesday night Sheriff Kinsel wired Deputy Maltzberger that his posse was on a hot trail near Millett and that Cortez had been seen, but had escaped.

Maltzberger and W. C. Campbell struck his trail about five miles from Cotulla yesterday morning and followed him where he had cut several wire fences. Blood stains showed that Cortez's horse was about exhausted and unable to jump. About 10 o'clock the pursuing party found the little brown mare that Cortez had been riding. She was badly fagged. Cortez's trail then led into a dense thicket covering hundreds of acres. No trail was found leading from there, and the bandit is supposed to be hiding in the thicket. A large posse headed by Sheriffs Avant, Kinsel and others arrived here last evening by train and left for this thicket. Cortez's clothing is in tatters, and he has thrown away his rifle, retaining only his pistols.

Bloodhounds have been sent for to send into the thicket to rout the outlaw.

A Probable Safe Robbery.

TOLEDO, June 21.—Several fishermen while strolling along the river two miles south of the city discovered a large iron safe on which was the name of the Pacific Express company. The door had apparently been battered in with a hammer such as is used in cutting large pieces of iron. On the inside were a number of empty money bags and waybills. The men at once reported it to the police, and the local officers of the express company were also notified. The agent, Frank G. Benedict, was out of the city, and the clerks refused to make any statement. However, they identified the safe as being the property of the company. They stated that such a safe was sent out of this city Tuesday night in a through car on the Wabash for St. Louis and Omaha, but declined to say anything as to what it contained. There were six money bags in the safe when found, and four of them were marked St. Louis and the other two marked Omaha.

Two Fatally Burned.

PITTSBURG, June 21.—A peculiar accident yesterday at Turtle Creek, a suburb, will result in two deaths. Mrs. William Ferguson undertook to soften a can of furniture polish on the kitchen stove. To facilitate matters she added half a pint of turpentine. In a second the can was ablaze, and Mrs. Ferguson in her effort to save the house caught up the flaming can, threw it out of the window and struck the 3-year-old son of William McWilliams, who was playing on the porch. Seeing the result, the woman rushed to the aid of the child, who was then all ablaze, and in the fight for life both were so badly burned that they cannot live.

General Nugent Dying of a Wound.

NEW YORK, June 21.—General Robert Nugent is dying at his home in Brooklyn as a result of a bullet wound in his stomach received at the battle of Fredericksburg, Va., Dec. 13, 1862, while he was charging at the head of Meagher's Irish brigade. This wound has troubled General Nugent ever since, and he has suffered from chronic dyspepsia for 17 years. He has been confined to his bed for two days. His son said yesterday that his life had been despaired of and that death was a matter of a few hours.

Heavy Storm In Western New York.

LYONS, N. Y., June 21.—Wayne county was struck by an electrical, wind and rain storm yesterday afternoon. The water fell in torrents, thought to be due to a cloudburst. Considerable damage is reported in all parts of the country, and telephonic communication is cut off. The storm was especially severe along Lake Ontario. The damage here is chiefly from water washing out the roads and crops and the flooding of cellars, the sewers not being able to carry off the flood.

Another Oil Gusher.

SOUR LAKE, Tex., June 21.—The well recently bored by the Guffey Petroleum company developed into a gusher unexpectedly yesterday. At 5 o'clock the cap was blown from the well, and the oil shot 40 feet in the air. The well is within plain view of a big hotel, and the galleries are crowded with people watching it. The oil is of the heavy variety and about the same quality as that found at Beaumont.

St. Lawrence Island Bought.

SYRACUSE, June 21.—A special to The Post-Standard from Clayton says that J. Walter Wood, Jr., of L. Von Hoffman & Co. of New York yesterday purchased Hickory island, at the head of Grindstone island, in the St. Lawrence. It contains 80 acres in Canadian waters. The consideration is said to be $15,000. Mr. Wood will erect a palatial summer home on the island.

The New Party Slurred.

KANSAS CITY, June 21.—William J. Stone, vice chairman of the Democratic national committee and national committeeman for Missouri, said of the "allied third party movement" started in Kansas City: "I don't think it amounts to anything. For the most part it is made up of men who have been disappointed in political ambitions, men who have a grievance or who crave leadership."

Attempt to Shoot Shepard.

CHIHUAHUA, Mexico, June 21.—There is some truth in the report of an attempt to kill A. R. ("Boss") Shepard, formerly of Washington. Mr. W. F. Mills, United States consul here, says that an angry discharged employee presented a shotgun at Mr. Shepard and threatened to shoot. No one was hurt.

CUBAN ELECTION FRAUDS.

Still Counting the Votes at Cienfuegos.

HAVANA, June 21.—Lieutenant Colonel Scott, who went to Cienfuegos to settle difficulties growing out of the recent elections, has returned and reports that the counting of the ballots is not yet finished and is being continued under the direction of a military board. Colonel Scott further reports that many fraudulent ballots have been thrown out. Cienfuegos is quiet, and the majority of its citizens are apparently not interested in the result of the electoral contest. Colonel Scott does not believe there will be any disturbance, no matter which candidate is eventually counted in.

The conservative element in the Cuban constitutional convention is trying to influence the electoral commission to report against universal suffrage. The majority of the commission, however, are in favor of universal suffrage, arguing that it is impossible to avoid it as the convention embodied the idea in the Cuban constitution.

The electoral commission expects to finish its work July 1.

Robbers Arrested.

ALTOONA, Pa., June 21.—Charged with robbing and torturing William Jackson and wife near Derry last month, John Devine was arrested here, and his brother Charles was arrested in Pittsburg. Their sister was living with the Jacksons, having been taken from a protectory, and when the brothers visited her May 5 she told them that $1,260 was kept in a room up stairs. May 9 Jackson deposited in the bank near his home $1,000 of the money, retaining the $260 in the house. That night four men entered the house, tied the old people and went directly to the bed where the money was kept hidden and secured the sum there. Disappointed in not finding the whole amount, they tortured the man and his wife in order to make them disclose where the $1,000 was put, but could get no answer out of Jackson save that he had deposited the money in bank. Foiled in their efforts, the quartet left without releasing their prisoners.

A Monument to Pingree.

DETROIT, June 21.—The committee of citizens which was to have arranged a welcome for ex-Governor Pingree on his return from South Africa has resolved itself into a committee to arrange for a permanent memorial to the ex-governor, and preliminary steps to this end were taken at a meeting of the members. It was decided to accept subscriptions from 10 cents up from all parts of the state and erect a heroic statue of Mr. Pingree in some central spot in Detroit. The subscription list was headed with $1,000 by Police Commissioner Andrews.

New Mast on Shamrock II.

GLASGOW, June 21.—Shamrock II's new mast was stepped yesterday. The new spar consists of a hollow steel pole 100 feet long, built in a single piece from step to truck. It is the first spar of its kind ever made. The advantage is claimed for the new mast that it saves top weight and also presents a smaller wind surface. It permits of dispensing with gear for the hoisting and lowering of the topmast, and it is believed that a single spar can be braced more rigidly than a spliced, telescopic mast.

Teachers to Sail In July.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The transport Thomas, carrying teachers to Manila, will sail on July 23. Judge Taft cabled approving the request of Superintendent Atkinson, who has charge of the schools of the Philippines, that ten additional teachers be designated from Yale, Harvard, Cornell, University of California and University of Michigan. These teachers are paid $1,200 a year. Their appointment lies wholly with the Philippine commission.

May Wear the Badges.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The attorney general has decided that direct descendants of participants in the war of the Revolution, the Mexican war, the war of 1812 and the war of the rebellion may wear the badges of the various patriotic societies which their forefathers were entitled to wear. The war department already has admitted that right, but the navy department took the contrary view, and the attorney general's opinion was called for.

Convicted of Murder.

PITTSBURG, June 21.—Edward Biddle has been convicted of murder in the first degree for the killing of Thomas D. Kahney, the Mount Washington grocer. The crime occurred in Kahney's home in Albert street early in the morning of April 12 last. John Biddle, a brother of Edward, was convicted on the same charge last week. Walter Dorman, the third member of the gang, pleaded guilty. The jury was out 50 minutes.

Patrolman Killed.

ATLANTA, June 21.—Patrolman E. H. Debray was shot and instantly killed at 10 o'clock last night at the corner of Holderness and Gordon streets, the extreme limits of the city on the west. His assassin is not known. A wagon load of reserves left the central station at 10:15 p. m. for the scene of the crime.

Oil Tank Struck by Lightning.

TOLEDO, June 21.—During a severe electrical storm a 35,000 barrel oil tank in the Wood county oilfield belonging to the Standard Oil company was struck by lightning. It was filled, and the oil burned for several hours, entailing a loss of $40,000.

TRIAL NEARING END.

Testimony Closed and Summing Up and Charge Today.

MR. KELLER DENIES EVERYTHING.

Never Borrowed of or Owed the Barkers, but Admits One Payment of Money—Hard Day For Mrs. Barker.

NEW YORK, June 21.—With the evidence all in, the fag ends gathered together, the Barker trial came to an end late yesterday afternoon except for the argument by counsel and the charge by Judge Blair. The jury will have the case by 3 o'clock this afternoon and, if it does not disagree, should be ready to render its verdict before evening.

There is much gossip and speculation relative to the outcome, but it is all useless until after the judge has charged. Judge Blair is expected to speak almost an hour, although he may speak at less length. Each of the counsel will be allowed 75 minutes in which to close.

Mr. Keller was once more upon the stand. He seemed to have been aroused for the first time from the lethargic state which marked his conduct and action when he testified on direct examination. Then he spoke in a low, tired voice. Yesterday his denials of the allegations of Mr. and Mrs. Barker were spoken in a loud, firm tone, and when he replied in the negative when asked if the alleged outrage was the reason Mrs. Barker left the church he shouted out the "no" so that it rang through the courtroom and through the corridors. He denied Barker spoke to him or he to Barker when they came together on the morning of the shooting. His denials were strong, positive, absolute. He denied he ever borrowed money from Mrs. Barker. He admitted he had paid her one of the sums mentioned. He was not allowed to tell why he paid it to her or what the debt was, but was allowed to say it was not a personal one. When on the stand before Keller showed no spirit, but yesterday as he denied the truth of the statements of the Barkers he was more like the Keller of a year ago, his friends said, than he has been at any time since the shooting.

It was a hard day for Mrs. Barker, harder than for her husband, for neighbor after neighbor went on the stand and swore that her reputation for truth and veracity was bad. Some even said it was very bad. Then later her husband's counsel tried to overcome this, the witnesses, however, saying they had never heard anything against her reputation for truth until the witnesses had testified just before them.

The battle of the insanity experts was another feature of the day. Those for the state swore Barker had not been insane when he shot Keller and was sane now. The hypothetical question detailing the case in a general way was answered by the state's experts to the effect that the circumstances indicated the actions were those of a sane man. The sight of the blood, the instant regret and the fleeing before a crowd could gather were made much of by the experts as showing Barker was sane on the morning of the shooting. The fact that his memory was perfectly clear as to the details of the event was made much of. Then the defense put other witnesses on the stand to show Barker was insane at the time of the shooting, but sane now.

There is much speculation as to whether Mr. Keller and his friends will seek any further vindication for him. The publication of what purports to be the detailed statement of Mrs. Barker relative to the alleged assault which she has claimed led to the shooting may cause him to seek to refute his accusers. He claims to have an alibi as to the date mentioned in the statement, but Mr. Van Winkle says the date mentioned in the published statement is not correct. The statement is liable to cause trouble for some one. Judge Blair was evidently annoyed over it. He said in court he would deal with those responsible for causing it to be published. He said the intent was plain to influence the jury and that in charging the jury he would touch upon the matter. Contempt of court is a serious thing for Jerseymen, as in punishing it the courts come about as near to having absolute power as can be without violating the constitution. Only recently a man who refused to obey the mandate of the chancery court was held in jail until released while he takes an appeal. If the appeal goes against him, he is liable to go back to jail and stay there as long as he lives if he refuses to obey the order.

Notorious Criminal Caught.

BOSTON, June 21.—A letter and photograph which came to Chief Inspector Watts from the Chicago police created an unusual stir because the chief had no sooner looked at the picture than he identified it as the likeness of a noted forger and swindler and a man who on one occasion at least in a desperate attempt to escape from custody shot an officer. The letter from Chicago said that the man was arrested in that city under the name of Chester Melville, Jr., and he said his home was in Boston. He is known here, however, as Jordan Hall, who is wanted for swindling merchants by means of bogus drafts. It is said he is also wanted in Philadelphia, New York, Denver and elsewhere.

Must Not Go Through Hell Gate.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The navy department has taken cognizance of the action of the commander of the battleship Massachusetts in going through Hell Gate yesterday on his way from New York to Newburyport. This course is regarded as extremely dangerous for a ship of the dimensions of the Massachusetts, and as a result Secretary Long issued a stringent order last night that hereafter no battleship shall go through Hell Gate except under conditions of exceptional emergency.

Boer Independence Impossible.

LONDON, June 21.—Herbert H. Asquith, the former Liberal home secretary, speaking at a Liberal dinner, protested against the pro-Boer resolutions adopted at Queen's hall being accepted as a pronouncement of the Liberal party. He declared that Boer independence was impossible and said the Liberals favored a free, federated South Africa on the lines of Canada and Australia.

Embassador Choate Ill.

LONDON, June 21.—United States Embassador Choate is confined to his bed by a summer cold which has proved somewhat irritating. His physicians report a material improvement in his condition.

The Strike.

For the first time since the strike among the local machinists began, the local manufacturers have prepared a statement for publication. It is published in The Daily Press today in another column. It presents the manufacturers' view of the situation and practically outlines their stand and their reasons therefor. It will consequently be read with much interest by the public in general and the strikers in particular. It has been the policy of The Daily Press, since the strike started, to give the plain facts concerning the strike, treating both sides alike. While the strikers have appointed a press committee to keep the newspapers posted regarding their acts, it has been extremely difficult to get any statement from the employers. Several short interviews with the superintendents have been given but they have dealt chiefly with some particular happening and were not of a broad scope to include the general situation.

The Daily Press is glad to print this statements from the manufacturers as it has been glad to give publicity to the statement made by the striking machinists. As we feel that the perplexing problem of labor and wages is one that no one at the present day is qualified to solve, we have not attempted to touch on the rights and wrongs of the present strike which is only one small phase of that great question. We greatly regret any break in the cordial relations which formerly existed between the local employers and employes and deprecate the injury to the city and its merchants which a strike of any magnitude is bound to cause. As a very small part of a very large organization, however, the Plainfield machinists simply obeyed the orders of their officers when they laid down their tools and quit.

The strike has now continued many weeks and a settlement seems as far off as ever. The relations between employer and employe lack today the pleasantness that existed before the strike began and there is a powerful undercurrent among the men which some fear will break out in trouble. Such a thing is to be counteracted if possible and the leaders among the men should do everything in their power to restrain them from any signs or acts of violence which will forfeit the good opinion which they won by their orderly behavior since the strike started. The leaders should also use their influence toward keeping the crowd away from the immediate neighborhood of the factories so that incidents, like that of last evening, which contain so many possibilities of serious trouble, shall be avoided in the future.

There was one face missing at the commencement exercises which is usually to be seen in the foreground at graduation time. Superintendent H. M. Maxson was unable to be present on account of ill health. Mr. Maxson entered a New York hospital several weeks ago to undergo an operation. He was desirous of postponing it until after commencement but his physicians insisted and so he was unable to attend, not having recovered sufficiently to withstand the strain of such an affair.

Nothing was done with Councilman Lee's weights and measures ordinance at the Council meeting last evening. It was decided best to discuss the various provisions of the proposed ordinance before bringing the ordinance to a vote. The members were also desirous of seeing to what an extent the opposition to its provisions has reached. It will not be considered before the July meeting, if then.

Twenty young people from the Plainfield High School will enter college in the fall. They are not all graduates of this year, six of them having completed their studies at the High School a year ago. Out of the twenty-four members of this year's class, fourteen will enter some higher institution of learning. This is an excellent record.

The city officials, to a man, are determined that the peace and good order of the city shall be preserved under any circumstances.

Scotch Plains, June 21—The last sad rites over the body of Wm. Klemser, who died at his home at Murray Hill Tuesday, were held from the Baptist church yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. G. M. Shott officiated, assisted by Rev. Mr. Japp, of Summit, who had attended the deceased during his last illness. Mr. Shott took for his text, "It is of the Lord's mercies that we are not consumed, because His compassion fails not." Rev. Mr. Japp followed with a short address, reminescent of the deceased as he had met him during his illness. Before closing he offered words of sympathy to the bereaved family and sorrowing friends and pointed to the hope their loved one had expressed to him of a Saviour and asked all to accept this same Saviour as their hope for the future. At the close those present were given a chance for a last look at the departed one. Several very pretty wreaths and other flowers, tokens of love from relatives and friends, nearly covered the casket. Interment was made in the family plot in the cemetery adjoining the church.

obligations, and who shut the door of opportunity in their fellows' faces.

If the result of organizing labor is thus to repress ambition by bringing the plane of workmanship to the level of the indifferent and inferior workman, rather than to that of the industrious and aspiring mechanic—if it is to compel the sacrifice of personal and family interests at the behest of the organizer, if it is to stand in the way of any man's exercise of his constitutional right of freedom of action, if it is to say to men who have risked the accumulations of a life time in business, "you shall employ only such men as we dictate on such terms as we approve, and they shall produce only so much as we allow" then the very existence of manufacturying demands that all employers shall set themselves in unbroken ranks against any spirit or any condition which thus attacks the manhood of the employed and the business of the employer, and if this be "war on organized labor," let every manufacturer enlist, not merely in defence of property rights, but also in the true interests of labor itself, but we earnestly long for the day when labor and capital, twin sisters of industry, shall walk hand in hand in peaceful accord, sharing in just and equitable proportion the results of their united and harmonious efforts.

TWENTY-FOUR YOUNG PEOPLE GRADUATED.

Since 1887, when Neighborhood Guild, our first settlement, was established in New York, twenty-seven others have sprung up in that city alone. Hull House, Chicago, has acquired a wide reputation; the Philadelphia House, also, is noted for its work among the Jews and negroes. Indeed, almost every large city of the east has taken up the work with remarkable enthusiasm and has accomplished wonders.

The benefit of settlements is not all one sided, as it sometimes seems. Henry Ward Beecher says: "There was never a person who did anything worth doing who did not receive more than he gave," and such is the feeling of all settlement workers. Surely by the close study of human nature in all its various forms their views are broadened, and by their self-sacrifice their characters strengthened and developed. Settlements are non-sectarian, welcoming alike Jew, Catholic, or Protestant, but certainly in ministering to the needs of those about them they are working in a truly Christ-like spirit. Indeed the meaning of their work might be expressed by the words of G. MacDonald: "If I can," said he, "put one touch of a rosy sunset into the life of any man or woman, I shall feel that I have worked with God."

Following Miss Evans, a selection from "Fiorodora" was rendered by the orchestra. Dr. A. E. Winship, of Boston, editor of the New England Journal, was announced by Dr. Probasco as the speaker of the evening. The address, which he delivered, will long be remembered as one of the most interesting heard in this city in recent years. His subject dealt with "The Problems of Life."

At the beginning, he stated that there were three nations in the world, whose permanency is never questioned. These are England, Germany and France. American is not economic in the sense England is, intellectual as Germany nor social as France, yet she is destined to exceed them all in the future as she has selected as her mission, the solving of the problem of humanity. No one can look into the future and see what it has in store, but young men and young women can be fitted by proper methods of education to solve the problems of life as they are met. They do not necessarily have to go through a college or university, but they must be imbued with enough intelligence to enter the world with the feeling that they are not to be overcome by difficulties. In closing, Mr. Winship stated that the possibilities of young people were unlimited and for that reason he was confident the class of 1901 of the Plainfield High School was competent to go out into the world and combat with any contingencies which might confront it.

At the conclusion of Mr. Winship's admirable address, was the distribution of rewards. The complete list of prize winners follows:

United States History—Given by Rev. Dr. Wm. R. Richards, prize—Green's History of the English People, four volumes Lucia Towne; honorable mention, Florence Derby.

The essay and valedictory was delivered by Miss Kizzie Eager. Her essay was on "The Influence of Reading." It was very well written and viewed the reading of good books from a thinking standpoint. The influence of good, wholesome literature upon thoughtful people has much to do with their character and for this reason books should be chosen as carefully as associates, for they are really good friends. The remarkable cheapness of printed matter at the present time places good reading in the reach of all, but whether it proves a blessing or not depends upon the manner in which it is studied.

Mrs. Eager concluded by addressing her classmates for the last time. The time had come, she said, when their paths must diverge and new fields must be tried. But no matter where their destination or what their vocation she expressed the wish that all might look back upon their school days as the happiest of their lives.

The last number on the order of exercises was the distribution of diplomas by President Probasco, of the Board of Education. As their names were called the following graduates arose and were presented with the certificate which represented years of study and perseverance:

Mrs. Kizzie Eager, the Misses Martha Remsen Anthony, Elizabeth Bowen, Beulah Salome Cline, Madeline Evans, Anna Mildred Greene, Ella Louise Lounsbury, Lillian Maclay, Margaret Rand, Elsie Townsend Smith, Ethel Lucile Titsworth and Ella Louise Whitney, and Charles Ames Brooks, Edward Allyn Janes, Cyrus Hillman Kinsman, David Townsend Mason, Fred Ramsay Mason, David Stirling Pond, William Sheppard Fitz-Randolph, Harold Leigh Smalley, Wetmore Holloway Titus, Andrew Mellick Tweedy, Lawrence Leslie Tweedy and Peter Louis Ughetta.

Too Much Drink.

Hugh Roper, more familiarly known as "Oscar Wilde," was arrested in the West End last night for parading the streets and acting in a disorderly manner. His indiscretion was due to a well developed state of intoxication. As City Judge Runyon was unable to be in court this morning, he will be tried this afternoon.

Trolley Party To Plainfield.

A delegation, including forty women, members of the Reformed church, of Jersey City, took a trolley trip to this city yesterday. After dining at the Hotel Kensington and viewing the beautiful parts of Plainfield, the women returned home.

Drill Of Firemen.

The city firemen held a truck drill in front of the academy on Martine avenue Wednesday evening. The larger and smaller extension ladders were raised. The work of the men was very quickly performed.

A DETECTIVE WHO DETECTED

By Philip G. Hubert, Jr.

Copyright, 1898 by J. P. Lippincott Co.

III.

I had not told an unblushing falsehood when I had said that I knew a man who made umbrellas. To be precise, I knew a man who sold umbrellas, for I had bought umbrellas from him, and for aught I knew he might make them himself or at least have them made for him. But it was too late to hunt him up that night. I went home hugging that precious umbrella, her umbrella and her work, and laid it on the table in my little room while I thought over the situation. Within the last six hours the situation had altered with a vengeance. Six hours before that I had been intent upon running down the person who had victimized the Gazette to the extent of $100. And now I was intent upon shielding that person, or some one whom I supposed to be that person, from the results of her misdemeanor.

At times I could not bring myself to the belief that she could be the guilty one. Looking at that umbrella, her umbrella, her school umbrella, I cudgeled my brains for explanations and excuses. They were rather unsophisticated people, this father and daughter, and perhaps they had done this wretched thing when hard pushed for money, and without a realization of its heinousness. Some excellent people, women especially, saw nothing wrong in cheating the government by smuggling in laces and gloves—rather the contrary; they boasted to their friends of their success. Perhaps Miss Robertson saw nothing worse in getting the best of a newspaper. Such an achievement gave evidence of moral bluntness which I could not associate with her; and yet—and yet—the evidence was certainly against her. But was it? After all, what did my precious evidence amount to? It was not enough to convict a professional thief, to say nothing of this young girl. With this comforting reflection I went to bed, to dream that the heavens rained fire and brimstone and that my only defense against the downpour was that umbrella—her umbrella.

As it would be necessary to have some sort of story ready for Miss Robertson when I met her at the library the next morning, I left my boarding house early and stopped at the shop of my umbrella dealer. In a dozen words I told him the story and showed him the umbrella. He smiled good naturedly.

"It doesn't seem a bad idea to you, Mr. Seymour," said he, "but to anyone in the trade it's absurd, for a number of reasons. In the first place, you never could make a water-tight joint where that glass is fitted in; there would always be a leak there. If that was not enough to damn it, people would not carry such an umbrella, because other people would look after them and perhaps laugh; then the glass would prevent the umbrella being furled up into the tight thin roll that fashion demands; finally, no one would pay a penny more for an umbrella with an eye-glass in it than for one without. If anyone wants to sell you the patent, avoid it as you would the plague. It's a capital idea—to let alone."

There was nothing more to be said, and I walked on to the library hugging that umbrella. With all its faults, it was still precious. At the doors I met Miss Robertson, who had evidently been on the watch for me.

"Well," she said, her eyes dancing with eagerness, "was your friend enthusiastic?" How could I dash her hopes?

"He said it was a capital idea," I replied. She saw that I was not full of hope. "But he suggested weak points," I went on. And gradually I told her the whole story. She made a brave show about it, but her eyes were dim with a suspicion of tears.

"What does one man's verdict amount to?" I said, as cheerfully as I could. "Probably this particular manufacturer is an idiot."

"You said that he is an intimate friend of yours, didn't you?" and there was a ghost of a smile.

"Of course," I said, only too happy to see the mist of tears disappear; "but he may be an idiot all the same."

"Oh, I'm afraid not. You see, two umbrella dealers to whom papa spoke said about the same thing, and declined to go into the matter even to the extent of making a few such umbrellas. To tell the truth, I had no very great hopes, and it is better to know the facts. Poor papa! I must do a good day's copying to console him; he was more sanguine than I. Thank you all the same, Mr. Seymour. I'm sure you have done your best."

With her sunniest smile she tripped into the library, and was soon engrossed in her work. There was a boy from the Gazette office waiting for me with a note from my chief. Another bother was in store for me. I was needed for a hurried expedition to a political convention in Boston, and Burton, the managing editor, wrote that he had decided to put a professional detective on the matter of "Daisy's Quest" and release me from the job. Would I be so good as to write out what I had accomplished in running down the thief, if anything, and turn it into the office before I left town? It might be useful to the detective in question.

Here was a pretty pickle! Unfortunately, I had told Burton that I was searching the cards of the Manhattan library for any person who might have taken out a copy of the Londoner for 1848. My friend, the librarian, would give the detective the same information. Without a doubt the man would go over those cards again, would find Miss Robertson's name, and she might be accused of the theft. What was to be done? I pretended to read a book while I thought it over. Luncheon time came and I had decided upon a course. I should tell Miss Robertson the whole story. On their returning the $100, the Gazette would, with my influence, take no further steps in the matter. If she could not return the money, I could and would.

When the noon bell rang I carried Miss Robertson's books to the desk for her and begged for a few words with her on her way to lunch.

"About the umbrella?" she whispered.

"No; about a more serious matter."

Miss Robertson looked startled, but said nothing.

It was an ideal spring day, and the air was like a breath of heaven after the tomb-like atmosphere of the library. We strolled along the old-fashioned street in which the library is situated. It was a hard matter to begin. Miss Robertson said but little, waiting, somewhat uneasily, for me. I plunged in, and I take some credit to myself for the delicacy with which I did it. I began the story just as if she had nothing to do with it. I told her how I had been asked to trace the person who had palmed off an old story upon the Gazette, how I had heard of a copy of the Londoner in the Manhattan library, and had finally discovered the card bearing the name of the person who had last taken out that copy of the magazine. Miss Robertson had the valuable faculty of assuming interest in a story whether or not she felt any; her eyes grew big with excitement as I reached the climax. We had forgotten all about luncheon. What an actress she was! Not a tremor of fear, not even a blush!

"And you actually found the card, Mr. Seymour! Well, do go on; what was the name upon the card?"

"Yours," I said, slowly. I had to be cruel, to be kind.

"Mine," she exclaimed, with a puzzled smile.

"Unfortunately, yes." My manner was grave. Her smile flickered and died out. Then a suspicion of the truth dawned upon her.

"Well—but—then if my name was upon that card—then you suspect—that I cheated your newspaper!"

She had stopped walking, and was very pale. But her dark eyes flashed.

"Oh!" she went on, without giving me time to answer, "how could anyone suspect me of such a thing? You don't know me, but you might have known that I— This comes of making acquaintances in the street!"

Her tone was bitter, and her eyes flashed scorn. She grasped the iron railing in front of a house, as if to keep from falling. I began inwardly to curse myself for having even dared to suggest her guilt by my looks, if not by my words. But I found my tongue.

Her tone was bitter.

"Miss Robertson," I said, hurriedly, "you say that I do not know you. I know you well enough to have wished with all my heart and soul to be of help to you. I have not said that I thought you guilty of any wrong, or that I even suspected you. But here is your name coupled with this wretched case. In another hour I shall have left the city and a professional detective will be placed upon the case. He will find this peculiar evidence. You can imagine what you might have to face and what I wanted to spare you. You may have made my acquaintance in the street, but, believe me, I have done you no harm. Everything I have seen about you I have liked—very much—too much for my own peace of mind. If we meet again—"

"Will you kindly leave me?" she said, coldly. "I must go back to my work. I—never want to see you again."

"I am going," I said, "and it is not probable that we shall meet again. I am not given to intruding myself. But if we do meet again, try to believe that the young man whom you met in the street did his best to do you a kindness. I may be a fool, but I wanted to help you. Good-by, and forgive me."

I had not gone a dozen steps when she stopped me.

"Mr. Seymour," she said, quietly, and with a vast dignity for so young a girl, "you may be right; perhaps I ought to thank you. But I can't—you ought"—here there was a suspicion of a sob—"you ought to have known. I can forgive you only when you find the thief you are looking for. My father will never forgive you."

She turned away with the air of an offended queen. But I fancied I caught the echo of another faint sob, and that fancy was of extraordinary comfort to me for the next fortnight.

BEEKEEPING.

An Occupation For Women In Which There Is Profit.

Bees, did you say? I see again in memory my grandmother's house in the country long ago. Outside the windows of the big room where we girls slept was a porch, its pillars covered with honeysuckle vines so thick you could not see the posts at all. In the early summer thousands of blossoms opened and poured upon the air sweetest, richest fragrance. I used to lie on my bed of summer mornings, those odors of paradise floating over me, listening to the bz-z-z, wz-z-z, hm-m-m of bee, humming bird and bumblebee that haunted those honey blossoms. I was listening to the great, mysterious keynote of the universe, the note of industry and harmony, of perseverance and of a skill the finest and most delicate that mind of man can conceive.

Can women earn money at beekeeping? I rather think my grandmother earned money at it. Even with the primitive methods in vogue in those days every year she sold great jars of honey and mounds of beeswax, besides supplying her 11 children and her numerous grandchildren with all the sweet ambrosia they could eat, and they were not slow. She had the temperament of the natural beekeeper—strong, calm and gentle. She was a master hand with bees. While they stung her snappy tempered little husband almost whenever he went near them, it was the rarest for them to trouble her. She was a bee queen, that grandmother—could do anything she liked with the insects. I learned then an important lesson in keeping bees, which was that they are not apt to sting a calm, good tempered person who is not afraid of them.

Wild flowers are not so abundant now in the older parts of the country as they used to be, and in these localities it is necessary to plant buckwheat and white clover in fields and patches for the bees to store honey from. White clover honey is very fair and delicate. Buckwheat honey is dark and rich, with a spicy flavor which some persons do not like, but which those who do like it consider unsurpassed. The red clover blossom our bees cannot get their tongues into, though it is claimed that the giant bee of the orient, which our agricultural department proposes to import from the Philippines, is so long tongued that it can lap the sweets even from red clover. At present these sweets are monopolized by the bumblebee. In California the abundant wild sage furnishes the exquisitely perfumed white honey so prized in eastern markets.

Even with the need of planting flowers for the bees in the older portion of the country, however, the wax and honey industry pays well. There are twice as many honey eaters in the land as there were 20 years ago, and beekeeping methods are twice as skillful and economical. The invention of the honey extractor enables the same comb to be used over and over again without making the little bee waste her substance and the time of her one season of life in secreting wax. The improved hives prevent the freezing out in winter that used to be so fatal in the northern states, and the bee moth, with its repulsive progeny, can also be routed by the keeper who knows.

The industry is one especially adapted to women. I know of a young lady in a section of country not particularly favorable who is paying her way through college off the proceeds of her apiary. She is fortunate enough to have mechanical talent, so that she can make her own hives, which is a saving. Any intelligent woman in the country who is favorably situated can add materially to her income from the sale of bees, honey and wax. The price of beeswax is steadily rising, and it is becoming more scarce.

What should a woman do who wishes to go into beekeeping? First let her consider whether there is near by a sufficient market for her product; next whether transportation is not so expensive that it will eat up her profits; then, if she knows nothing of the business, let her get a reliable book on beekeeping. It and its advertising pages will tell her all that is necessary for her to know, and intelligence and perseverance will do the rest. Good luck to her!

JANE STORY.

A simple way to clean knives is to take a small piece of old Brussels carpet, sprinkle it well with either bath brick or emery powder and slightly moisten it with methylated spirit. Then double it and rub the knives backward and forward, using the left hand to steady the carpet. After a few passes the knives will have acquired a brilliant polish.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning June 23, "How Temperance Would Help Transform the Earth." Text, Rev. xxi, 1-7.

"There shall in nowise enter into it anything that defileth."

John's vision and description of the holy city are strikingly unlike the best municipalities we now have or the finest we have ever known. Yet his account is eminently practical and attractive in its adaptability to human needs. What transformations are within reach of consecrated human ability! The possibilities of advancement are almost limitless. Progress is painfully slow, but there is some uplift.

The condition of the liquor problem is a good index of human conditions in general. The interests involved are vast and inconceivably complicated. The whole world is implicated, and no small section can rise far above the general average. All must be lifted or none will advance far. The task is no less than the renovation of society by the regeneration of men. The pure city can come only as rapidly as pure men are made for its citizens.

No sorrow, no crying! That means no hunger, no nakedness, no cruelty and no brutal lust. That should not be a difficult reform to bring about. How much of all the want and crime of the present directly due to drunkenness and drink habits? Alcohol, morphine, cocoaine and all related drugs and poisons which are used as intoxicants are responsible for a large part of the distress of the present time in our own land. Wealth, health, thrift, happiness and love cannot withstand the deadly effect of intoxication and the thirst for its influence. All good goes under when it gets control.

The effect on the individual and a community when rescued from drinking habits is marvelous. All the good things of life spring afresh. Health is better; all material conditions improve; work is done more skillfully and at greater profit; wealth increases; mental and moral conditions become higher; the graces and courtesies of life and refinements of society, which contribute so much to well being and happiness, begin to flourish; homes have conveniences, schools and churches do their work and business prospers; reformatories and penitentiaries are closed because unnecessary; love and friendship have more opportunity, and the kingdom of God replaces the kingdom of evil.

How shall the transformation be brought about? We must work with the Spirit of God. The power is His; the practical work is ours. Laws must be made in the interests of righteousness. Then they must be enforced. Greed and love of ease, coupled with lust of pleasure, are the great obstacles. Greed of gold keeps the manufactories and saloons making and distributing the stuff. Apathy and love of ease keep the moral forces from aggressive work more largely even than lack of knowledge how to grapple with the evil. Good men do not and often will not mix in politics and will suffer all the evils of a rum cursed neighborhood rather than exert themselves to drive out the foul thing. Cowardice is chargeable upon many who fear personal loss of property or violence if they oppose the liquor power. Such ones deserve to suffer, but their lack of moral courage afflicts many besides themselves.

The social drinking of intelligent people should be discontinued. Stand firm yourself and use your influence to induce others to do the same.

Deserters.

In the army during the late war of all base characters the deserter was regarded as the basest. He received slender sympathy, and upon his head were heaped the heaviest anathemas. Likewise in the church of all men they are the most to be denounced and are the most hopelessly fallen who have publicly and solemnly as in the presence of God vowed fealty and loyalty to Jesus and His cause and then have gone forth only to perjure their souls by willful desertion of Christ and His people. They heap dishonor upon Christianity, cause grief to the true followers of the Most High, wound the Saviour in the house of His friends and give occasion for infidels to scoff and the world to sneer.—Christian Intelligencer, Baptist.

The Life of Faith.

The life of faith follows the life of obedience; it is a step within and a step higher toward the celestial state. It is character by the recognized presence of the Lord in all that one thinks and feels and does. To describe it, therefore, is not so much to describe certain acts either done or not done in the outer life as to describe an interior state which comes from the recognition of the Lord's presence. This is the life of faith.—Helper.

Those Who Do the Most Work.

The people in all lines of duty who do the most work are the calmest, most unhurried people in the community. Duties never wildly chase each other in their lives. One task never turns another out nor ever compels hurried and therefore imperfect doing. The calm spirit works methodically, doing one thing at a time and doing it well, and it therefore works swiftly, though never appearing to be in haste.—Rev. Dr. J. R. Miller.

Conscience Dethroned.

"Goodby," I said to my conscience;
"Goodby for aye and aye,"
And I put her hands off firmly
And turned my face away,
And conscience, smitten sorely,
Returned not from that day.

But a time came when my spirit
Grew weary of its pace,
And I cried, "Come back, my conscience;
I long to see thy face."
But conscience cried, "I cannot.
Remorse sits in my place."

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning June 23—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—How temperance would help transform the earth.—Rev. xxi, 1-7. (A temperance meeting.)

There is scarcely a phase of life that would not be transformed by temperance—temperance in all things, in words, in deeds, but especially temperance in alcoholic drinks and a temperance that would mean abstinence, so far as alcohol as a beverage is concerned. The state would be purified and blessed. Society would be relieved of one of its most blighting curses. The homes of millions would be transformed, and countless multitudes of individuals would have their lives changed from despair to hope, from darkness to light, from midnight sorrow to noonday joy. The contemplation of such a picture only helps us to realize what a curse and blight intemperance is.

If all men were sober, if there were no drunkards in the world, surely this old world would be a new world to millions. Truly in myriads of cases from this cause there "would be no more death, neither sorrow nor crying nor any more pain." For former things—death, tears, heartaches, separations, blighted hopes, ruined homes, wrecked lives—would be no more, and all things would be made new. The desert would blossom like the rose.

That such a condition would follow universal sobriety is easily proved by the fact that intemperance causes a vast amount of the sorrow and unhappiness of the world. In the evil influence is seen in the state. It ruins statesmen, leads to the corruption of legislators and produces many of the vicious laws that find their way upon our statute books. Its curse is a blight upon society. Social life everywhere is corrupted and degraded as a result of intemperance in alcoholic drinks. Its damning shadow falls darkest of all perhaps upon the home. It turns the husband into a demon and the father to a brutal tyrant. It clothes in rags and feeds with crusts. It produces widows and orphans and conditions that are often worse than widowhood and orphanage. It wrecks and ruins individual lives and crushes hopes for time and for eternity. What a demon! What a curse! And yet to think that it is permitted under the law and made light of by many who profess to have the best interests of mankind at heart!

The awful conditions that result from intemperance and the happy conditions that would follow the dethronement of King Alcohol should inspire every Christian Endeavorer to toil on against this great foe of the state, society, the home and the individual. Temperance is right, and right must prevail. The new heaven and the new earth are coming, and with them will come relief from the curses of drink and the joys of their absence.

BIBLE READINGS.

Lev. x, 9, 10; Isa. v, 11; Joel i, 5; Prov. xx, 1; xxiii, 20, 21, 29-35; Rom. xiii, 12-14; I Cor. vi, 10; Gal. v, 19-26; I Pet. iv, 1-5; Rev. xxii, 12-15.

Deliverance From Sin.

Deliverance from sin means the transformation of life, the awakening or renewal of holy purpose, the control of pure, high, noble motive. The Scriptures express the fact felicitously when they speak of the converted person as a new man. He seems so to himself. He appears so to others. Life takes on a new and brighter aspect. He makes a fresh beginning and goes forth in a new spirit along the path of daily duty, which, however familiar, has become new all at once in its appearance, its opportunities and its responsibilities. He feels that he never before understood aright what it means to be one of God's children and active in God's world. Deliverance from sin has not placed him where sin cannot assail him, but has given him such additional power of resistance and victory that he no longer feels helpless before it.—Congregationalist.

Honor the Son of Man.

In the power of His fellowship we cease to be contemptible. By the heart of His great love for us we can be warmed into love for our poor brethren. In the might of His forgiveness we, too, can forgive. Look to Him when you are tempted to despise your fellows. Look upon the face of His agony when men break your heart. Recall His unconquerable pity when bitterness and wrath and harsh judgment clamor in you for utterance. You cannot deride or wound or hate those for love of whom He died. Recall the pure dignity of His manhood, the beauty of His human days. And, in order that still you may be able with a full conviction to honor all men, honor the Son of Man, honor Jesus Christ.—Church Standard.

Responsibility For the Young.

The pastor of a congregation is not the only man who occupies a position of responsibility. Write the names of all the children in your own or in other homes who are being influenced by your walk and conversation and then say whether your position is a responsible one or not. There are dozens of little eyes watching your life and conduct, and their lives are going to be influenced by you, whether you will or not. In the interest of their welfare see that you walk circumspectly, not as fools, but as wise.—United Presbyterian.

The Power of Prayer.

More things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of,
For what are men better than sheep or goats
That nourish a blind life within the brain
If, knowing God, they lift not hands of pray and natural ice taken from stagnant ponds or other bodies of impure water. But the people who have used both know there's a difference and they're the people who are now using Hygeia. We'll deliver the Hygeia Ice to you upon receipt of order.

SPORTING.

GOLF.

W. L. Glenny, Willard Wadsworth, J. W. Baker, J. H. P. Wharton, F. O. Reinhart and Dr. F. C. Ard will comprise the members of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club who will compete in the championship tournament at golf to be played at Englewood Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week.

Although Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers failed to win out in the Woman's Championship tournament at Nassau, this week, she played a strong game and came near landing at the top. Her opponent, Miss Oliver, finished with a score of 92, which was a record for the course. Mrs. Rogers made a score of 97. In nearly all of the Metropolitan papers Mrs. Rogers was referred to most pleasantly and her playing was the cause of much favorable comment. She will undoubtedly visit the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course tomorrow and renew her determined effort to keep in the lead for the Golf Committee cup. She now has six points to her credit, but C. C. Burke, Jr., is very close to her with five points. Then follow four contestants with three points each. W. L. Glenny follows with 2½ points. He is sure to get nearer the top before long and there are many members who will soon be home from college and they will without a doubt infuse much interest in the various events now being played on the course.

VARIOUS SPORTS

A number of entries has been received for the track and field sports which are to be held on Willow and Sycamore avenues tomorrow afternoon. In the half mile and mile bicycle races Reginald Roome and Douglas Waring will be in the contests. Clarence Smalley, Harold Hegeman, Tracy Howard and Reginald Roome are the prospective contestants in the 100 yard dash. The other entries are: Fifty yard dash, George Hooley, Harold Hegeman, Reginald Roome and Ralph Hallock; high jump, Frank Curtis, Douglas Waring, John Valiant and Reginald Roome; putting the shot, Reginald Roome and Leslie Brokaw; half mile run, George Hooley and Reginald Roome; running broad jump, Frank Curtis and Harold Hegeman. Residents of the Park are requested to keep their traps at a safe distance from the course. A request will likely be made to the police department to detail officers to keep the spectators back from crowding in on the athletes.

ON THE DIAMOND.

The Westfields defeated the Bayonne Field Club last Saturday in a close and exciting game, 7 to 6. Saturday's game will be against the strong Loyola team of New York.

The batting order of the Prospect Park Y. M. C. A., which is to play the St. Mary team tomorrow on the Fourth street grounds, will be as follows: Bennett, lf; Donovan, ss; Brackett, 1b; Bower, 3b; Nichols, 2b; Moore and Marshall, cf; Pierson, c; Stevenson, rf; Brock, p. "Doc" Doyle, the latest addition to the St. Mary force of twirlers, will be in the box for his first game with this team. The game will be called at 3:30.

BOULEVARDERS FOUGHT.

Two More Objected to Their Friends Being Carted Away and Were Locked up as Well.

James McCann, Phillip Sheridan, Thomas Sheridan and John Newman, a quartette of celebrities from the Boulevard, were arrested yesterday for fighting and acting in a disorderly manner at the corner of Park avenue and Second street. They were locked up but were later released on $100 bail to appear for trial Monday afternoon.

McCann and Thomas Sheridan became involved in a dispute which ended in the former being knocked in the gutter. The two were captured by Patrolmen Overbaugh and Higgins and were about to be placed in a wagon, as they resisted arrest, when Newman and Phillip Sheridan upbraided the driver for giving the use of his vehicle. The driver made complaint against them and they, too, were placed under arrest. Phillip Sheridan would not submit and had to be handcuffed before he could be taken to jail.

WEDDED IN BROOKLYN.

Rev. Orrin W. Snodgrass Married Last Evening to Miss Charlotte J. Remsen.

Rev. Orrin Wilmer Snodgrass, of the Knickerbocker Avenue Methodist church, Brooklyn, and son of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Snodgrass, of this city, was married last evening to Miss Charlotte Judith Remsen, at the home of the bride's parents in Brooklyn. The ceremony was performed by Dr. Snodgrass, father of the groom.

The maid of honor was Miss Rosetta D McNaughton, of Morristown. Miss Persis Snodgrass, sister of the groom, and Miss Jessie H. Taggart, were the bridemaids. Rhey T. Snodgrass, brother of the groom, was the best man.

Friends Honored Her Birthday.

In honor of her fifty-eighth birthday the Ladies Society of the Gesang and Turn Verein gave a party to Mrs. Fred Bechtle, of Duer street, last evening. The evening was spent in dancing. Songs of the fatherland were sung in chorus by the forty guests. The birthday gift of the society was a handsome rug.

ANOTHER JUNE WEDDING HELD.

MISS EMMA C. WIKOFF MARRIED TO GEORGE B. LINDABERY.

Ceremony Took Place at the Bride's Home on Richmond Street Yesterday Afternoon.

One of the pretty weddings of June was that of yesterday afternoon when Miss Emma Cora Wikoff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Wikoff, of 817 Richmond street, was married to George B Lindabery, of 505 Watchung avenue, at the bride's home at 5 o'clock. Those present to witness the happy event included immediate relatives and friends. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of Trinity Reformed church. It was a simple, but pretty one.

The bride's gown was of white silk, trimmed with lace and ribbons. She carried a bouquet of bride roses. Miss Hazel May Runyon, niece of the bride, and Robert Becket, the little nephew of the groom, attended the bride and groom. Both were in white and carried flowers.

The house was attractively decorated in pink and green. In the parlor there was an arch of green, beneath which the couple stood when married.

Following the ceremony a reception was held. During the evening the bride and groom left the city to enjoy a wedding trip. Upon their return they will reside in this city, where the groom has a position as clerk at the Pond Tool Machine Works. Many very handsome and useful presents were received by Mr. and Mrs. Lindabery. The bride was formerly a saleswoman at Woodhull & Martin's store.

BROWN'S CASE DISMISSED.

Important Witness Was Absent And So No Trial Could Be Held.

On motion of Craig A. Marsh, the corporation counsel of this city, the case against James Brown, charged with selling liquor without a license, was dismissed by City Judge Runyon yesterday afternoon.

The hearing was to have been held in the Council Chamber and an exceptional class of men were summoned to form the jury. Court Stenographer Herbert Knight, of Elizabeth, was present to take down the testimony.

The principal witness for the prosecution, Demetrius M. Lavaratt, of Jersey City, who, it is alleged, bought a bottle of liquor Easter Sunday, which constituted the case against Brown, was absent, however. As the court cannot adjourn a case beyond thirty days after the return is made to the warrant in such cases without the consent of the opposing parties in the cause, Hetfield & Hetfield, representing the defendant, were asked to agree to another continuance. This request was declined, because the case had been postponed several times previously and accordingly the proceedings were dismissed.

ABOUT PUBLIC FOUNTAIN.

Why It Has Not Been Put Into Service This Summer.

A great many persons have been inquiring about the fountain at the corner of Front and Somerset streets, and they have been wondering why it is not in operation. Inquiry at the water company's office discloses the knowledge that last season the business men objected to the continual sloppy condition of things about the fountain. It was then suggested that an automatic device be placed on the fountain so that the water would not run continuously. As yet this has not been done. When the device is adjusted the water will be turned on. The fountain on North avenue is now in operation.

To the citizens of Plainfield: The law abiding citizens of Plainfield are called upon to assist the Executive by their conduct and influence in perserving good order and maintaining the fair name of this city. Recent occurrences make it imparative that every good citizen should, by strict observance of the laws of the State and the ordinances of the City and the exertion of his influence to induce like conduct on the part of others, aid in preventing any act which may lead to breach of the peace, unlawful assembly, or other illegal proceedings.

All persons are warned against leaving the customary pursuits to mingle with street crowds and against interfering in any manner with the free use of thoroughfares so as to deprive any person or persons of the right to use such thoroughfares without molestation.

The sworn officers of the City have no alternative but to conscientiously endeavor to enforce the law without regard to personal feelings or sympathies. The reputation of the City and the protection of the rights of persons and property alike demand, at this time, the utmost vigilance and decorum on the part of all citizens, and I confidently rely upon the assistance of all good citizens in upholding the duly constituted authorities.

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., SATURDAY, JUNE 22, 1901. TWO CENTS A COPY—$5 A YEAR.

CLASS OF 1901 BIDS FAREWELL TO THE NORTH PLAINFIELD HIGH SCHOOL.

The Borough School Commencement Exercises At Y. M. C. A. Hall Last Evening Were Very Largely Attended

SENATOR E. C. STOKES DELIVERED THE ADDRESS.

TWELVE OF THE THIRTEEN GRADUATES WERE PRESENT TO RECEIVE DIPLOMAS.

Salutatory By Miss Maude L. Honeyman And Valedictory By Miss Mary E. Valiant — Kerro Knox And Miss Bessie Hackett Won The Valiant Prizes For Mathematics—The Programme.

Gathered together on the ornately decorated platform and before a happy audience, composed of relatives and friends as well as those interested in all that pertains to educational affairs, the members of the class of 1901 of the North Plainfield High School joined in holding a brilliant commencement last evening in the Y. M. C. A. Hall. Joyful and light-hearted were the young graduates who participated in the exercises, which marked the close of school days which can be looked back upon with fond remembrances. The air of gladness and brightness was omnipotent for the time. The stage of the hall was tastefully ornamented with large ferns and stately palms placed about in a manner that was exceedingly effective. High up from the centre of the arch of the platform there fell streamers of bunting, alternating in maroon and gold, the class colors, which were fastened to the rear wall, just above the class motto "Non finitum sed coeptum," which shone in letters of gold.

On the platform there sat twelve of the thirteen graduates, Kerro Knox, one of the number, being absent. With them were Senator E. C. Stokes, of Cumberland county, who was present to make the address of the evening; Samuel St. John McCutchen, president of the Borough Board of Education; Homer J. Wightman, superintendent of the schools; Miss Susie E. Glass, the principal of the High School, and Rev. G. W. Gardner, pastor of Grace M. E. church. There was a noticeable absence of flowers, it being the wish of the graduates that this feature of commencements, which is often undesirable, should be eliminated.

As soon as the young men and young women filled in and took their seats, Rev. Mr. Gardner arose and invoked the Divine blessing on the auspicious occasion. An arrangement of Donizetti's "When the Sun in Splendor Rising" was rendered as a chorus. For this vocal selection as well as those which followed. The singers were the Misses Winifred Carroll, Bessie Hackett, Clyde Slater, Bessie Martin, Agnes LaBoyteaux, Nettie Bauersachs, Lizzie Ryan, Jessie Stites, Mary Seal and Carrie Pangborn and Fred Emmel, Walter Hamilton, Leslie Hallock, Morgan T. Townsend and George C. M. Smith.

Miss Maude L. Honeyman in a pleasing manner delivered the salutatory. Her remarks were greeted with much applause. In full, her address was as follows:

Schoolmates, teachers and friends:

The class of 1901 extends to you a most cordial welcome. We meet here tonight for the last time before parting from one another. As we pause for a moment, and look back upon the varied experiences of our school life, we cannot avoid a feeling of sadness that now comes with the thought of parting, and yet we come not with regrets for the past. Days like these should not be marred by regrets; such days are the milestones marking our progress towards the goal we seek. Rather should we rejoice because of the privileges we have enjoyed and those we are to enter upon in the near future.

We look forward with pleasant anticipation towards the future as it promises the fulfillment of our brightest hopes. Yet we have no false conceptions of our powers, but we covet for ourselves all those experiences which shall give us insight into life and which shall help us to grasp its larger meanings.

"The glories of the Possible are ours," says Bayard Taylor, yet dreaming and aspiring will not make these glories ours. Who yet has attained his greatest hopes or the fulfillment of his highest aspirations without ceaseless struggle and many a fall!

"The heights of great men reached and kept
Were not attained by sudden flight,
But they, while their companions slept,
Were toiling upward in the night."

He who thinks eight years all the time spent by Milton upon "Paradise Lost" greatly errs. When he was but a youth the conception dawned upon him, remained with him during the busy days of the Commonwealth and then in his blind old age required eight years for its execution. "Faust," that marvel of German literature, was carried in the mind of Goethe sixty-two years before he pronounced it complete; and before Bayard Taylor would venture his genius even upon its translation, gave it a careful study of twenty years. Whichever way we turn, we find this truth verified. He who would win must labor for the prize.

If in future years we lead useful and successful lives, if some of us should attain distinction in our chosen vocations, we shall often reflect that this High School of North Plainfield gave us the winning elements of our good fortunes. You have bound your lives to ours with cords that shall not break asunder and though our debt of gratitude may be feebly expressed now, yet, as we take our place in the ranks of humanity, we will remember we are debtors and must pay to the world what has been given us. For the life-giving power of education was intended to fit us not for cultured leisure but for active service, and we trust your influence will go with us, helping us to transmute thought into action.

A traveler in the east entered at nightfall a Christian church. Within there was no sound, no light, only a waiting and expectant company. Then from the inner sanctuary came the priest, who held aloft a flaming torch. A hundred torches were quickly stretched out towards the light. These lighted a hundred more, and so the light was passed from hand to hand until the whole vast building was ablaze. Out into the city they went and other torches caught up the flame and all Jerusalem was filled with glory.

You, teachers, have been our priest, entering for us the inner sanctuary, where the light of truth forever burns. We, the class of 1901, whose torches you have kindled, must pass on the light you have bestowed upon us.

Once more we give you all our warmest greeting.

Mr. McCutchen introduced the speaker of the evening, Hon. E. C. Stokes, whom he declared to be a most ardent advocate of all legislative measures, which had for their object the betterment of educational advantages. He is also, said Mr. McCutchen, a valiant foe of the enemies of educational progress.

Senator Stokes took occasion at the outset of his remarks to pay a tribute to Mr. McCutchen. His time and talent are given to the great cause of education and his services are second to none in this State, declared the speaker. He also referred in complimentary terms to Superintendent Wightman. Launching forth into his discourse, the Senator referred to the fact that ninety-five per cent. of the children of the land are educated in the public schools, where they receive the proper training for the duties of life.

Both a personal and public interest is taken in their welfare; personal because they will succeed those, who are now active in life, and public because in them rests the hope of this country. If Europe depends on standing armies for greatness, America relies on its public schools.

Under the banner of education 15,000,000 children of the land are marching onward today. Kings and queens come from royal birth in Europe, but here they come from the school house.

In this free land, said Senator Stokes, no such distinctions are recognized as in Europe. Once, said he, when an American man o'war was anchored in European waters, it was visited by a royal party, all arrayed in gold lace and handsome uniforms. All the visitors looked alike in the eyes of a Yankee tar. A hatchway had been left open and one of the party fell through it. "Please sir," said one of the sailors to a superior "one of 'em 'er kings has fallen down the hatchway." There are no social, religious or political distinctions in this country. High school diplomas are not hereditary; they are given to those by whom they are earned.

You may send a substitute to war, said the speaker, but you can't send one to school.

The complaint today is that children are too ambitious. Instead of beginning where their fathers did they want to begin where their fathers left off. Improvements, discoveries and inventions are intended for the youth of today to build upon.

As the world grows older it accumulates more knowledge and consequently there is more to teach than there was fifty years ago. A youth who studies only what was taught fifty years ago would be fifty years behind the times. All studies taught can be measured in dollars and cents and those that are regarded as ornamental are of the highest importance. By sending the child to school it learns there what otherwise it would learn in the bitter school of experience.

The average school life in this country is three and three quarters years, but in Massachusetts it is seven years. Massachusetts today produces twice as much per capita as any other State. Education pays big dividends. It adds to one's comfort, increases producing capacity and multiplies wealth.

Senator Stokes in conclusion said that he had dwelt upon the value of education only from a commercial standpoint, but that this was but one of its many advantages. He condemned the utterances of Mr. Schwab, the president of the American Steel Trust, whom he said had a very narrow view of education. It is wrong to measure education by earning capacity solely.

Quoting Goldsmith he reminded his hearers

Ill fares the land,
To hastening ills a prey
Where wealth accumulates
And men decay.

The "Lullaby," from Erminie, as arranged by Marshall, was sung by the chorus. In this a soprano solo was sung by Miss Winifred Carroll, and a quartette was rendered by the Misses Clyde Slater, first alto; Bessie Martin, second alto; Winifred Carroll, first soprano, and Bessie Hackett, second soprano. This was followed by a catchy song composed by C. H. Lewis entitled, "Goosey, Goosey, Gander."

The valedictory was delivered by Miss Mary E. Valiant. The subject of her essay was "The Mission of the United States." Reproduced in full it is as follows:

The history of the world is a record of human progress. Every age has had its leading nation whose mission seems to have been to emphasize some special element of human life. The Jewish race gave special prominence to worship; to the Greek we owe a debt of gratitude for the culture which his race has given to the world; Rome carried organization and law to the highest possible limit; to England was consigned the task of working out the power of intellect. From the time of the Norman Conquest to the days of Charles I, intellectual ability was recognized and fostered by English kings. England nobly performed her work and under her guidance the power of intellect became supreme.

But to our own United States, made up of those who have come hither from all other nations, seems to have been reserved the duty of organizing the rights of man.

The decisive point in the long struggle between despotism and democracy was reached with the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

The earliest historical nations were founded upon despotism. The state existed not for the people but for the

ALL WAS QUIET AT POND'S LAST EVENING

Police Were Out in Force, But Most of the Strikers Stayed Away—No Disorder.

CURIOUS ONES WERE THERE.

BUT THE CROWD KEPT MOVING AND HAD NOTHING TO SAY.

Strikers Asked Police Board to Remove Specials From Newark—Unions Deplore Demonstration of Thursday Night.

The absence yesterday of any further demonstration in connection with the existing troubles at the Pond Tool Machine Works, such as was witnessed Thursday night near the works, was most gratifying to the majority of the striking machinists as well as the authorities and officials at the works. The police protection was increased yesterday, but happily the officers had little to do.

At 6 o'clock last evening, a large crowd assembled in the vicinity of the works, but there was nothing like the excitement that prevailed the previous evening. Plainfield's regular police, in charge of Chief Kiely, occupied a position near the entrance to the works, while the special police from Newark, together with a few specials from this city, were stationed at various points nearby.

Occasionally an officer would be obliged to move a small crowd of people, but there was no friction evidenced at any time. At 6 o'clock when the men left the works, a few hisses could be heard from those in sympathy with the strikers, but this sound was not of any material strength. There were many women in the crowd, but they were more passive than heretofore.

When Clayton Ackerman, the single machinist, left the works, he was met at the door by seventeen uniformed police from this city and the borough under the direction of Chief Kiely. He was then escorted to the corner of Grant avenue and Front street. Many in the crowd followed at a distance, but the special officers kept them well scattered and there was a noticeable absence of any demonstration.

At the corner of Grant avenue and Front street, the crowd assembled in considerable numbers, while Ackerman was waiting for a trolley car to take him home. Many on wheels rode back and forth and most of those in the vicinity kept moving all the time.

The police had no occasion to rebuke anyone for disorderly conduct. After the police with the lone machinish boarded the trolley car started for town, the crowd gave one parting yell, and then quickly dispersed, most of then going to their homes.

Last evening several leading machinists called on Councilman J. F. Buckle, of the Police Board, and requested that the special police be removed. Mr. Buckle was in favor of the request, providing the machinists would guarantee perfect order and quiet in the future, and not molest anyone disposed to work. The proposition made by Mr. Buckle was kindly received and undoubtedly will be accepted. The International Association of Machinists and the Amalgamated Association of Engineers deeply deplore the demonstrations that have been given, much preferring to maintain order and quiet, the same that has characterized their actions heretofore.

A representative of The Daily Press in an interview by telephone this morning with W. J. Hagman, general manager of the Niles-Bement Tool Works at Philadelphia, was informed that of the 350 striking machinists, who went on strike several weeks ago, over 300 have returned and are now at work in the shop. This substantiates the statement made yesterday by J. T. MacMurray, of the Pond Tool Machine Company.

Peace and order prevailed at the noon hour today at the Pond Tool Works. Chief Kiely with several regulars and a few specials were there to cope with any possible contingency, but their services were not required. Few people were there when the whistle blew at 12 o'clock and as a rule those that were present were mostly women and children.

Seventeen special officers from the New Jersey Detective Agency, of Newark, which came over to this city yesterday, returned home this morning. As no demonstration was made at the Pond's Works yesterday it was felt that their services was a useless expense. The striking machinists have abided by their resolution to keep away from the works.

MORE ABOUT MAY DANTZ.

Testimony Brought Out In Court As To Her Character—Case Continued.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, June 22—The case of May Dantz was continued yesterday before Judge Schenck. Her sister, Clementine Dantz, was put on the witness stand and corroborated May's testimony.

"Mique" Muldowney, of Plainfield, was also examined. He testified to having been out with May numerous times, and said that he never knew of her drinking beer and never saw her do so. He said that the house where May's parents resided was not fit for a dog to live in; it was so dirty. Rudolph Speigel, of North Plainfield, said that May had been in his place several times and that she always behaved herself.

A telegram was sent to the proprietor of the hair dressing establishment in New York, where the girls said they were employed, asking him to come out and testify, but he failed to appear, and nothing was heard from the telegram, so Judge Schenck laid the matter over one week in order that he might make an investigation of the truthfulness of the girls' stories.

Peter A. Crane, alias Stevens, who broke into a freight car at Bound Brook, was sentenced to three years at hard labor in State Prison.

George Patterson, colored, plead guilty to the larceny of a watch and ring from Mrs. Van Nest, whom he was visiting, and was sentenced to nine months at hard labor in State Prison.

VISITING HIS OLD HOME.

John Brown Is Visiting His Brother After Absence Of Fifty-two Years.

After an absence of fifty-two years, John Brown returned to this city a few days ago for the purpose of seeing his native city and to visit relatives. He is a brother of Isaac P. Brown, of Watchung avenue, and when still a young man left Plainfield for the west where he has ever since been. He learned the carpenter trade in this city with the late Jacob Thorn, and although engaged in the erection of many buildings, it was with difficulty he recognized any of them. He found it hard to comprehend the changes that have been made in the little village which he left and has not yet realized their extent. Mr. Brown is accompanied by his wife and daughter.

CHILDREN'S LAWN PARTY.

Given to Little Mary and Murray Rushmore Yesterday Afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Townsend Rushmore, of Stelle avenue, gave a party to nearly 150 little friends of their children, Mary and Murray Rushmore, on the lawn of their residence yesterday afternoon. A large tent was located there and an entertainment given within.

The sudden downpour of rain stopped the little ones enjoyment as far as romping on the lawn was concerned, but they gathered on the piazza and feasted on good things. Little Japanese souvenirs were given to the guests.

FREDERICKSON INJURED.

Police Sergeant Snapped Cord In His Thigh By a Fall.

While pursuing a number of boys, who were shooting off firecrackers at the corner of Park avenue and Second street early last evening, Sergeant Frederickson, of the local police force, slipped and fell, snapping one of the thigh cords. He was taken to his home in a carriage and Dr. Long was summoned, who made the injured man comfortable. He will be confined to the house for several days.

RAISING FUNDS FOR OPEN AIR CONCERTS.

It Is Estimated That $600 Will Be Required For Concerts All Summer.

SOME SUBSCRIBED ALREADY

FIRST CONCERT WILL BE GIVEN NEXT FRIDAY EVENING.

Others Will Depend On The Amount Of Subscriptions Received—Will Be Given On East Front Street Near Hotel Waldorf.

With a view to providing a few hours of pleasure at least once a week for those who are compelled to stay in the city during the summer, Ben LaVere, leader of LaVere's Band, is making an effort to raise the necessary funds for weekly concerts for the next three months. Although the concerts last season were enjoyed by hundreds nightly, the pecuniary end was far below the necessary cost and Mr. LaVere concluded the series a loser by a considerable amount.

Next Friday night Mr. LaVere will give a concert of exceptional merit on East Front street, but before others can be given it will be necessary for him to be assured of $600 for the entire series.

Within the past few days a subscription list which he had circulated, has met with a ready response, and already one third of this amount has been given, one of the largest contributors being Mayor Jenkins. Others will be approached as soon as possible and it is almost an assured fact that the money will be raised. Once it is, the series will be commenced continuing in all probability each Friday night.

The band will be one of the finest Plainfield has seen in recent years and will consist of eighteen members, among whom will be a number of professional soloists, including Al. Sweet. Mr. Sweet was a member of the band last year and his cornet selections were greatly enjoyed. Another soloist will be Mr. LaVere himself, whose familiarity with the cornet is only too well known by Plainfielders.

Following is a list of those who have already contributed toward the required amount:

Henry Windham	$150.00
Benj. Fowler	30 00
Mayor Jenkins	25.00
H. P. Hirst & Co.	2 00
J. H. Leggett	2.00
A. J. Stiglitz	2.00
R. J. Shaw	2.00
Fred Sandford	2.00
Vail & Garderer	2.00
Robert M. Clark	2 00
J. F. McDonald	2.00
William Ludlow	2.00

An effort is being made by several influential citizens of North Plainfield to raise funds for a similar series of concert on that side of the brook and in the event of their being successful Mr. LaVere will be engaged. The concert, it is intended, will be given Wednesday nights.

CALICO DANCE.

Given In Large Barn At Highland Farm, Near Sterling.

A delightful calico dance was given last evening by Guy Peck at his beautiful summer home, Highland Farm, Sterling. The affair was given in Mr. Peck's large barn, and there were fourteen sets dancing at one time. There were fully one hundred guests from this city present to enjoy the hospitality of the host, including many from Crosby & Hill's store and A. M. Griffin's store. Music, consisting of cornet, organ and violin, was furnished and thoroughly enjoyed by every one.

During the evening a sumptous repast was served by the host. It was nearly 4 o'clock this morning when the Plainfielders arrived home, but they all declared that they had never had a better time.

TO DO AWAY WITH THE PRIVATE TROUGHS

Borough Will Locate Two Public Drinking Fountains On Or Near Somerset Street.

TALKED OF STREET SIGNS.

WILL FIND OUT EXACT NUMBER NEEDED AND THEIR COST.

Since Appropriation Was Made By Borough Council Nothing Has Been Done—Want to Abolish Watering Troughs.

Mayor Smalley and Councilmen Coddington, Clark, Lee and Nichols attended the adjourned meeting of the Borough Council last evening. After paying the regular bills they discussed two matters of interest to the borough. The first was that referring to street signs. It will be remembered that at a previous meeting, a resolution authorizing the purchase of signs was adopted. Since then little has been done in the matter.

Last evening the suggestion was made by Councilman Clark that it would be a good idea to ascertain the exact cost of street signs for the borough and how many are needed. A sample sign similar to those in use in this city was exhibited and believed to be the best obtainable, but a sufficient number to cover the borough will cost considerable money. However, all necessary information will be obtained and Monday evening the street committee will meet to go over the borough map so that the number needed may be learned exactly.

The second matter to engage the attention of the members was that regarding the watering places for horses on Somerset street. In the opinion of the Mayor, who introduced the subject, these places are a great nuisance and should be abolished. He said that many had complained to him about the undesirable condition of affairs about these watering troughs, caused chiefly by the fact that drivers of stone wagons stand at them for an indefinite time. The Mayor had referred the matter to the Board of Health and the street commissioner had been requested to look into the subject.

His Honor did not believe it would be any trouble to declare the places a nuisance. He thought the reason for establishing the troughs where they are is plain, but that the Council is not interested in the scheme. He favored suitable places for watering horses, but did not believe they should be on a public thoroughfare.

Mr. Clark spoke on the subject, and in his opinion thought there should be one or two places where horses could be watered. He favored locating the troughs away from saloons. Mr. Coddington also thought there should be a suitable place to water horses, but he thought it might cost something for the water. At this point Thomas Doud stated that if the borough would erect the troughs the water company would furnish the water free of charge. He favored a plan of connecting the watering troughs with the proposed storm sewer in Somerset street, so that the drippings could be carried off.

Mr. Nichols suggested that the borough purchase two iron watering troughs. He thought it would be a shame to abolish water places, especially at this season of the year. To this all agreed. A suggestion was made that a fountain be erected at the upper end of Somerset street, where the surplus water could be run off in the brook. This would be convenient for all drivers of horses, and besides it is understood that the borough owns a lot in that vicinity, and it could be used for the purpose mentioned.

The entire discussion finally resolved itself into a resolution offered by Mr. Clark that the Mayor confer with the Corporation Counsel, and if legal, cause to be abolished all private watering places on Somerset street, between Greenbrook road and the county line, and that two fountains be erected where it is deemed necessary. This resolution was adopted, after which the meeting adjourned.

W. S. S. Entertained.

The members of the W. S. S. and their friends were delightfully entertained last evening by William Foster at his home on Maple avenue. There were about forty in attendance and games, dancing and other amusements made the hours pass all too quickly. In honor of the occasion the grounds about Mr. Foster's home were very prettily decorated with Chinese lanterns. The affair terminated at midnight with the serving of refreshments.

A VERDICT OF GUILTY

Barker Convicted of Assault With Intent to Kill.

JUDGE'S STERN CHARGE OBEYED.

The Man Who Attempted the Life of Rector Keller May Be Imprisoned For a Term of Seven Years.

NEW YORK, June 22.—The jury which tried Thomas G. Barker of Arlington, N. J., for shooting with intent to kill the Rev. John Keller of the same town filed out of court yesterday afternoon, took one ballot and returned with a verdict of guilty. Under the charge of the court they could do little else. The charge was based strictly on the law. The jurors were told they must set aside all else and decide only if Barker with intent fired at Keller. That was the law, and they must obey it.

Barker last night found himself once more an inmate of the county jail. He must remain there until $10,000 bail be furnished. His old bail was $5,000. Before him stands a possible seven years' imprisonment and a fine of as much as $2,000. Had his crime been committed a few days later than it was he would have been liable to ten years' imprisonment and a much larger fine, for the last legislature made the crime of which Barker was convicted a more serious one than it used to be, and his shooting of Keller was largely responsible for causing the bill to pass.

Mrs. Barker was not in the courtroom to hear the verdict. She was in another part of the courthouse. In fact, there were very few present, for the crowd had scattered to get a breath of fresh air, not supposing the jury would come in within an hour at least. When Mrs. Barker was told that the case had gone against her husband, she gasped out under the ministrations of friends. She did not collapse, as it was feared she might. Mr. Keller was also absent and showed no emotion when told of the verdict. Barker himself took the decree of the jury without faltering or showing emotion. He had expected an acquittal, although his friends had told him that a disagreement was the best he might expect. He based his hopes upon the strong plea of his counsel to the minds of the jurors when he advanced the unwritten law that a man had a right to kill in defense or as vengeance where his wife's sanctity is assailed. Whatever effect this line of pleading may have had upon the jury was swept away by the cold charge of the judge. The court charged the jury that "the story of the alleged outrage or the outrage itself, if true, was not justification of the defendant's assault."

The court explained he had admitted the fact that Barker had been told of an alleged assault not because that had anything to do with the case, but because it was for the jury to determine if the telling of the story had anything to do with making the defendant criminally irresponsible. If they believed the defendant was sane at the time of the shooting, they must convict.

The jury took but one ballot, but it was divided into two parts. The first was unanimous for guilty. Then ballots were cast as to the degree, and again it was a unit for the highest degree charged.

Mr. Keller as soon as the trial was completed issued a brief statement in which he absolutely denied the truth of the allegations that have been made and published by Mrs. Barker.

Barker will probably be sentenced on Thursday next, and then his counsel will file the papers in an appeal to the supreme court.

Barker in an interview said:

"I did not expect such a verdict. It seemed to me there was a reasonable doubt. I believe that no 12 men would convict me after hearing my wife's story. I believe that the supreme court will give me a new trial and that then my wife's story will be told."

MANY DIE IN FLAMES

Fire Follows Fireworks Explosion at Paterson.

NEIGHBORING BUILDINGS INJURED.

Four Story Tenement, Occupied by Ten Families, Burns So Suddenly That Escape Is Cut Off. Firemen In Peril.

PATERSON, N. J., June 22.—Many persons were killed and a number injured as the result of an explosion among a large quantity of fireworks in the store of Abraham M. Rittenburg. The cause of the explosion is not known. The property loss will not exceed $35,000.

The dead are: Mrs. Lucinda Adamson, Mrs. Charles Williams, burned trying to rescue husband; Charles Williams, cripple, unable to get out of bed; Harold Rittenburg, 18 months old, son of the keeper of the fireworks store, and Henry Elsasser, 6 weeks old.

Those missing and almost certainly dead are: Mrs. Bert Bamber and her 6-month-old child, Mrs. Mary Elsasser, Mrs. Andrew Elvin and her 2-weeks-old child, Mrs. Burns and her son, Clarence Burns, 6 years old; Mrs. Ann Fenteman and Mrs. Annie Lannigan.

The injured: Mr. J. Jessup, bruised about the head and body and burned about the head; Mrs. J. Jessup, bruised and burned about the body; I. Bamber, head and face burned; George Soder, head severely cut; Nicholas Hillman, cut on head; Fireman Edward Slingland, injured by falling wall; Mr. and Mrs. John McGlone, burned about their faces and bodies.

The explosion occurred shortly after noon, and many of the occupants of the building were out for dinner. The building in which the explosion occurred was a frame tenement four stories high, with stores on the ground floor. The middle store was occupied by Rittenburg. Ten families occupied flats in the building.

Fortunately it was not half an hour later, or the results would have been frightful and might have rolled up a death list into the hundreds, for adjoining the wrecked building was No. 3 school, in which were hundreds of children. Not only was the school damaged, but large quantities of wreckage were hurled into it. As it was, some of the school children playing near the schoolhouse were injured. So great was the force of the explosion that a boy playing in the street half a block away was lifted from his feet and hurled against an iron fence and one of his legs broken. There was a trolley car directly in front of the building when the explosion occurred, and the burst of flame blown out into the street by the expansion of the air scorched the sides of the car and singed the hair of those who were in the car.

Those who were on the upper floors of the building when the explosion took place were either stunned and then burned to death or found escape cut off and were suffocated. After the first explosion there was a series of smaller ones, and then came the second big explosion, which was muffled and deadened and probably occurred in the cellar.

Every building in the neighborhood was stripped of glass. Families seated at their dinner were thrown from their chairs to the floor. Then there was a frightful scene in the streets. Parents lost control of their children and were soon running about looking for them. Rumors spread that a score of children were being carried away from the ruins by the police wagons and the ambulance and grocers' wagons which were pressed into service. Meanwhile the flames were bursting from every part of the tenement building. Every window seemed to be emitting flame a minute after the first explosion.

While the rescues were going on the firemen were fighting the flames. Captain Allen led with a hose line in an effort to keep the fire from the upper floors, where it was said many were pinned in. The men had hardly taken their positions on the sidewalk with a pile of boxes to ward off the heat and began to throw water into the upper floors when, without any warning, the whole upper part of the building above them sagged outward and fell. It had been blown loose by the explosion, and when the water hit it it fell. The captain and two of his men were buried under the debris, which was blazing. Two streams were instantly turned on the wreckage. Out of it in a moment crawled Captain Allen and Fireman Delaney. Both were bruised and burned, but instead of seeking safety attacked the debris with their hands to rescue Edward Slingland, their companion, who was still beneath it. Others rushed in, and although another section of the building threatened to fall on the rescuers Slingland was finally dragged out badly hurt.

After a couple of hours' work the firemen had the flames out and began the work of cooling the ruins to get at the bodies which it was by that time known were in the ruins. At first it was thought but three persons were lost, Mr. and Mrs. Williams and one of the Rittenburg children, but it soon became apparent that others had lost their lives, and finally it almost became a certainty that 14 were dead.

One of the worst finds among the debris was the head of a man or a woman. The hair is burned off and the features unrecognizable, so it is impossible to tell the sex. The remainder of the body has not been found.

Gas Killed Two.

BALTIMORE, June 22.—Illuminating gas from a hidden source killed two persons at 406 West Conway street. Mr. John G. H. Borcherding and Mrs. Katie Borcherding, his wife, retired in full health. One of their sons found them lying lifeless in an atmosphere laden heavily with the odorous gas. The gas jet of the room was lighted when the boy found his parents, and a window was partially open. It is thought that the gas came from a leak below the floor.

the great tonic laxative. It gently moves the bowels and thus removes the cause, and acts directly upon the liver and kidneys, keeping them active and strong, while its marvellous tonic properties clears the complexion, stimulates the liver, quickens the circulation, increases the flesh, brightens the eye; the nervousness speedily disappears, and the entire system recuperates and tones up to a condition of perfect and permanent health.

Laxakola, the great tonic laxative, is not only the most efficient of family remedies, but the most economical, because it combines two medicines, viz: laxative and tonic, and at one price. No other remedy gives so much for the money. At druggists, 25c and 50c., or free sample of THE LAXAKOLA CO., 132 Nassau Street, N. Y., or 356 Dearborn Street, Chicago.

LAXAKOLA FOR CHILDREN Give the children Laxakola. It is absolutely safe, being purely vegetable, containing nothing of a harmful character. It builds the little ones up instead of debilitating them. It reaches every organ, cleanses and strengthens the liver and kidneys, purifies the blood and makes them hearty and strong. It tastes good. ☞ Children like it and ask for it.

TAFT FOR GOVERNOR

Will Take Control In Philippines July 4.

THE MILITARY GOVERNOR RELIEVED

But He Will Continue to Exercise His Authority In the Districts Where Insurrection Still Continues.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—An executive order issued by the president appointing Judge William H. Taft civil governor of the Philippine Islands is made public by the secretary of war. The order says that on and after July 4, 1901, and until it shall be otherwise ordered the president of the Philippine commission shall exercise the executive authority in all civil affairs in the government of the Philippine Islands heretofore exercised in such affairs by the military governor of the Philippines.

The order of the president establishing civil government in the Philippines and issued by Secretary Root is as follows:

"On and after the 4th day of July, 1901, until it shall be otherwise ordered, the president of the Philippine commission will exercise the executive authority in all civil affairs in the government of the Philippine Islands heretofore exercised in such affairs by the military governor of the Philippines, and to that end the Hon. William H. Taft, president of the said commission, is hereby appointed civil governor of the Philippine Islands. Such executive authority will be exercised under and in conformity to the instructions to the Philippine commissioners, dated April 7, 1900, and subject to the approval and control of the secretary of war of the United States. The municipal and provincial civil governments which have been or shall hereafter be established in said islands and all persons performing duties appertaining to the offices of civil government in said islands will in respect of such duties report to the said civil governor.

JUDGE TAFT.

"The power to appoint civil officers heretofore vested in the Philippine commission or in the military governor will be exercised by the civil governor, with the advice and consent of the commission.

"The military governor of the Philippines is hereby relieved from the performance, on and after the said 4th day of July, of the civil duties hereinbefore described, but his authority will continue to be exercised as heretofore in those districts in which insurrection against the authority of the United States continues to exist or in which public order is not sufficiently restored to enable provincial civil governments to be established under the instructions to the commission, dated April 7, 1900."

Injunction For Union Miners.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., June 22.—Judge John J. Jackson of the United States circuit court has issued a restraining order enjoining Lodge No. 558 of the United Mine Workers of America and two other lodges from interfering with the miners of the Flat Top coal region at Thacker, W. Va. The bill of complaint among other things charges that the defendants were conspiring to interfere with the coal mines operated by the Thacker Coal and Coke company, the Lynn Coal and Coke company, the Logan Consolidated Coal and Coke company, the Red Jacket Coal company, the Lick Ford Coal company and the Maritime Coal and Coke company. The bill was ordered filed, process issued thereon and temporary order allowed restraining the defendants and all others associated with them from interfering with the operation of the mines by their owners. The motion for a permanent injunction was set down for hearing in this city July 23.

General Corbin's Mission.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—One of the important duties to which General Corbin will attend in the Philippines will be the enlistment of natives as a part of the army in the Philippines. The army law authorizes the president to organize a force of not more than 12,000 Filipinos as scouts to be officered by Americans. At present 3,000 Filipinos are acting as scouts. They are organized into about 40 companies and are serving in almost as many different portions of the islands. They do not belong to any one tribe. It is quite probable that such natives of the present scouting force as desire to enlist in the regular force will be accepted. Lieutenants of the regular army are to be selected as captains of the companies, and noncommissioned officers of the regular army will serve as first and second lieutenants and battalion and squadron staff officers.

A Thousand Workmen Quit.

READING, Pa., June 22.—Over 1,000 men have quit work at the shops of the Philadelphia and Reading railway. The machinists are still at work. It is expected that an effort will be made to call them out at once. At a meeting held two weeks ago the delegates representing the men employed by the company from Tamaqua to Philadelphia drafted grievances, which were addressed to President Baer. The communication was delivered to Mr. Baer's office in Philadelphia, and a reply was requested by 10 o'clock yesterday. The reply not having been received at the hour named, a strike was ordered. It is to be extended over the entire system wherever possible.

Tornado In Nebraska.

OMAHA, June 22.—Specials from Naper, Neb., tell of a frightful tornado which struck that vicinity. Details are just coming in and give the names of one family, seven in number, wiped out and of two members of another family killed and several others fatally injured.

Order Will Be Maintained.

The great majority of the striking machinists in this city seem to fully appreciate that any display of violence on their part will immeasurably injure their cause. Since the demonstration of Thursday evening most of the strikers see the necessity of keeping away from the neighborhood of the Pond Tool Works altogether. Such an assemblage as gathered in that vicinity Thursday night contained the possibilities of serious trouble, and it did not require a great deal to fan the smouldering embers into flame. That the result was no more serious than it was is something to be thankful for.

The city authorities, headed by Mayor Jenkins, are determined that the good order shall be maintained and that the free use of the thoroughfares shall not be interferred with. Fearing that in event of emergency the present police force was not large enough to cope with the situation, twenty-five specials were brought here from Newark. There has, of course, been more or less criticism on the part of the strikers over the action of the police authorities in bringing in these strangers for that purpose.

There are a few, sorrowful to say, who seem to desire drastic measures on the part of the strikers. The vast majority of the striking machinists are, however, law abiding men and good citizens. They have remained at home or kept away from the scene of the threatened trouble and deeply deplore the action of a few of their number. The action taken at the meeting of the strikers, yesterday morning, in voting to keep away from the works of the Pond Tool Machine Company, shows that the greater part of the men are opposed to such a policy and will use their influence that way.

It devolves upon the leaders of the strikers to do everything possible to maintain good order and keep the few hot-headed ones from stirring up any trouble which may result to their detriment. If they accomplish this, they will have done well.

There is probably few men better known throughout New Jersey than State Senator Edward C. Stokes, of Burlington county. He has long been identified with the educational affairs of the State and is now the president of the State Board of Education. He was also a member of the commission which revised the school laws of the State and the act containing the results of that commission is commonly known as the Stokes School law. North Plainfield was particularly fortunate, therefore, in securing such a prominent and able man as the speaker at the commencement exercises of the borough schools last evening. He proved as good a speaker as was anticipated. While Mr. Stokes is a leading man in the Republican party of New Jersey today, the time may not be far distant when the voter of the party will offer him the greatest honor which the party of the State can bestow.

The license fee for a saloon in Plainfield is $750. A short time ago an ordinance was introduced into the Common Council, and subsequently passed, which permitted the granting of a license for $100 for the sale of liquor with meals at a hotel or tavern not possessing a bar or saloon license. It was under the provisions of this ordinance that a license was granted to Major F. W. Coleman at the meeting of the Council Thursday evening. The opposition which developed at that time was to the provisions which permitted the sale of liquors from 6 o'clock in the morning to 11 o'clock at night. A change was finally made making the limits those usually observed as meal hours at the average hotel. The license was then granted, Councilman Craig being the only one who did not vote for it.

There have been many inquiries as to why the drinking fountains, one on North avenue and the other on West Front street, are not in use. An explanation has been made by the officials of the water company. There were so many complaints made last year, they say, regarding the muddy condition of the street around the fountains that the company has decided to put in automatic devices which will provide for a flow only when desired. Heretofore the water has run constantly.

Thursday evening the commencement exercises of the Plainfield High School were held in the First Baptist church. Last evening the North Plainfield High School held its graduation exercises at Y. M. C. A. hall. Neither of the commencements appeared to suffer in excellence owing to the lack of a local opera house in which to hold them. In fact, both were usually interesting, even to those who were not personally interested in any of the graduates.

This is the first time that the Plainfield police have been called upon to cope with such a situation as has existed for the last few days. A few years ago, the rumor that a boy had been tied up by his thumbs in the cellar of a Plainfield house caused the assemblage of over a thousand people and came near ending in a lynching. That affair was but short-lived and did not assume the importance and seriousness of the present one.

There seems little doubt but that the attempt, this year, to secure uniform action on the part of the local retail merchants to close their stores at 6 o'clock except on Saturdays and days before holidays, is likely to succeed. Nearly all the merchants have signed an agreement to close already, and the committee in charge of securing the signatures is quite confident that the others will put their names down very soon.

Councilman Tolles may have the draft of an ordinance ready for the July meeting of the Council which will provide for the macadamizing of certain streets which now lack that improvement. This will be in line with the policy of the city street department to annually increase the number of macadamized streets while keeping the existing ones in proper condition.

The members of the Council are anxious to know just what public opinion is regarding the proposed weights and measure ordinance. The columns of The Daily Press are open to signed communications of a reasonable length concerning this suggested plan of established city weights and measures.

Crescent Hotel Changes Hands.

Rudolph Spiegel, proprietor of the Crescent Hotel, on Somerset street, has transferred his business to Jerome Burns, of Raritan. The hotel license was transferred by the court yesterday and Mr. Burns has taken possession. The hotel property is owned by Joseph A. Blatz, of Somerset street. It is Mr. Spiegel's intention to retire from active business.

Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. William I Gaston, of Summit avenue, celebrated their wedding anniversary last evening. Dancing and vocal and instrumental music were features of the affair. The celebrants were the recipients of many handsome presents and they were also congratulated by the many friends present from this city, Somerville and the borough.

Chose Officers.

Noah Dove Encampment, No. 28, I. O. O. F., met Thursday evening and the following officers were elected: Chief patriarch, Arthur Case; high priest, Simon Mantz; senior warden, James Perry; junior warden, Edward Bowman; recording scribe, J. H. Williams; financial scribe, Wm. Wyckoff.

To Elect Officers at Next Meeting

Several candidates were initiated Thursday evening by Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M. The election of officers will be held at the next meeting.

AID FOR CHAPEL.

Collection For the East Third Street Chapel Will Be Taken at First Baptist Church Tomorrow.

It has been ten years since a few friends of the Baptist persuasion in this city started a mission on East Third street. They pitched a tent on a vacant lot like the chosen people of old testament times and commenced religious services. This work has been kept up all these years by a few zealous persons. After a season or two a dwelling house was rented and Sunday-school inaugurated. The movement was supported mostly by members of the First Baptist church.

Prosperity followed the consecrated efforts of the few and about two years ago friends of the enterprise purchased a lot and built a neat chapel. In this attractive building, entirely free from debt, weekly and semi-weekly services are regularly observed.

Without any income of its own, the running expenses are met by annual contributions of its friends. This collection is now being taken. Tomorrow at the First Baptist church it is expected all the funds necessary for the maintenance of the chapel will be subscribed for another twelve months.

king.

But after a time the people began to assert their rights and democracy came into existence.

However, this gain was soon lost and despotism again rose higher. In France every guaranty of liberty had been broken down. Over the entire continent of Europe the people were groaning under intolerable despotism. Even England was being changed into a personal monarchy under the tyrannical hand of George III.

Statesmen and philosophers pointed to the past and declared that despotism was another name for license that would drag a civilized nation down to the lowest depths of infamy, was despotism to triumph? The answer soon came. In 1776, a little band of patriots met in Philadelphia and founded a new nation, a nation conceived in liberty.

When our republic took its place among the nations of the world there were those who declared that we could not stand for even fifty years; but we passed the fiftieth year of national life moved onward successfully meeting all national problems and closed the century in a full blaze of glory.

It is true there came a day when all seemed lost. But out of trial comes the strength of man and out of disaster comes the glory of the state.

The Revolutionary War left us a rich heritage; a record of noble deeds, of unflinching patriotism and grand self-denial. It is a record that has incited this nation to greater deeds and has given hope in the great crises of a nation's history.

The influence of American liberty has left its impress broad and deep upon the history of the world.

Even England heeded the lesson and a succession of reform bills enfranchised the English masses.

France waded through revolution and blood that she might establish her republican principles. From 1830 to 1848 every throne in Europe toppled and a constitutional government was obtained.

Only Russia and Turkey remained absolute.

Guided by our example the banner of republican government was planted on the shores of Africa. South America became a continent of free republics. Later we established a constitutional government in Hawaii.

The lofty patriotism of the Cubans was aroused and soon Cuba and Porto Rico are to enjoy the benefits of our free constitutions. Does anyone believe that the Filipinos will not have speedier justice, more equal rights and more of all fruits of liberty under the Stars and Stripes than under the flag of a Malay oligarchy?

The Declaration of Independence has been carried out in spirit and in letter, and all who stand beneath our banner are free.

The American, recognizing the brotherhood of man, offers to all the enjoyment of these fruits of over one hundred years of independence and freedom. And as one studies the history of this greatest of nations he will see an underlying influence that has preserved this great State, and provided that its citizens have that intelligence which has made possible its high ideals—an influence which has led the people to think of power only as a means of accomplishment good—an influence which has been the guide of our commonwealth and made it truly great. It is the influence of the school, our Nation's greatest safeguard.

Glad we are, the class of 1901, that we have enjoyed its privileges. Proud are we to be called American citizens.

And now in severing our connections with the North Plainfield High School we wish to express to the Board of Education the deep sense of obligation which rests upon us. We wish to thank them for the interest they have taken in our welfare and for their care and faithfulness in laboring for the interests of our school and wish them abundant success in their future administrations.

We congratulate the superintendent on the growth and increasing influence of our school, to which he he has so zealously devoted his time and energies.

And we sincerely thank our teachers who have so patiently borne with our failures and rejoiced in our success during all these past years of our preparatory work.

To you Juniors, we bequeath our rank and the prestige of Seniorship. We bid you a hearty welcome and give you our kindest wishes for your future success.

Classmates, we meet together for the last time. Our little band has strolled along a pleasant way. We have been learning as we strolled but have had time to pluck a flower here and there, and to loiter a little with jest and song.

But,

Time has rung the varied changes,
The parting day is here;
But the class of 1901
In memory we'll hold dear.

We have met in pleasant places
we part perhaps for aye:
But success to all our classmates,
And now we say good-bye.

When the applause, which greeted the graceful delivery of Miss Valiant's essay had subsided, Mr. McCutchen addressed the graduates He congratulated the young people for having concluded so successfully the thorough course of study as prescribed and gave them some kindly advice which would be helpful for their future welfare. Announcement was made by him of the winners of the John Valiant prizes in mathematics. To Kerro Knox was awarded the first prize fifteen dollars in gold and to Bessie Hackett was awarded the second prize, ten dollars in gold. The diplomas were delivered by Mr. McCutchen to the graduates. When Oscar Crite, the colored member of the class, received his diploma the audience applauded loudly.

The exercises were ended by the renditions of a two part song. "Swedish Wedding March," by Soderman, and a three part song, "Friends, Good Night," from "Martha".

The graduates are the Misses Mary E. Valiant, Maud L. Honeyman, Bessie Irene Hackett and Bessie Rebekkah Martin and Kerro Knox, classical course; Alfred Cortlandt Emmel, Oscar William Crite, scientific course; Miss Carrie Slater Pangborn, Morgan T. Townsend, advanced English course; George C. M. Smith, W. Frank Vincent Hamilton, Jr., and Miss Jessie Stites, English commercal course.

There was a marked contrast between the invitations and the programme. Many, especially those who participated, are always anxious to keep the printed order of exercises as a souvenir of the occasion. Hence it was regretted that the programmes were so plain and unattractive while the invitations were handsomely engraved.

A DETECTIVE WHO DETECTED

By Philip G. Hubert, Jr.

Copyright, 1898 by J. P. Lippincott Co.

I am afraid the Gazette got out indifferent service out of me during those next few weeks. I went to the Boston convention, and while I listened to speeches, dull and otherwise, my mind was in the Manhattan library. As to what happened during my absence of course I knew nothing. When the convention was over and I could get back, my first question to Burton, made with as indifferent an air as I could muster, concerned "Daisy's Quest."

"Oh," he replied, "we gave it up. The detective merely wasted a week. It was throwing good money after bad."

I breathed more freely, and for a few days tried to make myself believe that I had dismissed Miss Robertson and "Daisy's Quest" from my mind. Secretly, I knew better. For a week I kept away from the neighborhood of the library. Then one day I really had occasion to consult a book that I knew was there and nowhere else; so I resolved to go. Surely I had the right to do so, and it would be idiotic to allow a morbid memory to interfere with my business or even my pleasure. So I went. It was just before the noon hour. There she sat as usual, her eyes fastened upon her work. When the bell rang a greasy-looking chap in green goggles and with a sickly grin carried her books to the desk for her; and she thanked him with a smile.

Probably she was a good deal of a flirt. And probably I was not the only young man whose acquaintance she had made in the street. I got away before she saw me. Another week passed. Life had lost its savor. It was of no use trying to deceive myself. Perhaps the best thing to do was to take up my detective business again. I had made so brilliant a success of it already! But that was the only avenue towards a reconciliation. She would forgive me when I found the thief of "Daisy's Quest." But where should I begin? It looked hopeless, and it might take months—or years. Meantime that greasy fellow in the green goggles would be making headway; slowly, perhaps, but the turtle got there in the end.

Suppose I did take up "Daisy's Quest" again and gave all my spare time and money to the enterprise, what were my chances of accomplishing anything? If I gave years to it, Miss Robertson might at least give me credit for devotion to the cause; I might, and probably would, grow thin and haggard—that might touch her. But, again, I might devote no end of time and money to the case, and Miss Robertson be no wiser and no better for it in the end. I still had her umbrella; that was some comfort. If I could only take it back to her I should be willing to undergo some of the choicest tortures of the Spanish Inquisition. The more I pondered the less light I saw ahead of me.

I was at the lowest ebb of courage and hope, and seriously thought of boldly calling at Miss Robertson's house to return that umbrella, for life of the kind I led was not worth living, when something occurred. Upon getting home to dinner one night I found a dirty scrap of paper with these words scrawled upon it:

"I can tell you where Danders is to be seen.

"JAMES SULLIVAN.

"Bartender at 318 East Thirteenth street."

My brain was on fire in a minute. All the whisky in Sullivan's saloon could not have made it work at a quicker pace. No dinner for me that night. In ten minutes I had found a cab and was bowling along to 318 East Thirteenth street. I found my barkeeping friend exasperatingly cool. I had expected to find him eagerly waiting for me. On the contrary, I had to introduce myself and refresh his memory with that five-dollar bill before he could remember much about Danders. Yes, Danders had turned up again, but not in that saloon. Sullivan had met him at the saloon of a friend of his in Twenty-second street near Ninth avenue, and upon making inquiries had discovered that he (Danders) was accustomed to spend most of his evenings there.

Off I started for Twenty-second street. It was past eight o'clock when I sauntered into the saloon with as good an air of indifference as I could summon up. Was Danders there? A dozen men were in the saloon, some playing cards, some reading the papers or gossiping. In one corner was a man whose face was strangely familiar to me. I sat down before a glass of beer and while pretending to read a newspaper studied Danders. It was Danders without a doubt—"a small young fellow, reddish hair, chin-whiskers, seedy dress;" he filled Sullivan's description. But where had I seen him before? I have a capital memory, and was able to reconstruct gradually the scene in which Danders had played a part in my life. It was in some gloomy place. The light was bad. The man was carrying something in his arms. But what? Ah! I had it now. It was a load of books. Then the truth flashed upon me. Danders was the clerk at the library whom I had met in the alcove when I had gone to look at that copy of the Londoner. My work was done. I finished my beer and went to the house of my friend the librarian, getting his address from the directory.

"Can you tell me whose handwriting that is?" I asked him, producing Danders' letter to the Gazette.

"Certainly," said he, without a second's hesitation. "It's the writing of Jameson, the man who has charge of the magazine department of the library."

Then I told him what I had learned.

"I never fully trusted that fellow," was my friend's comment as he agreed to meet me at the library the next morning.

When I got there he was already in his private room, and before him was the famous card bearing Miss Robertson's name.

"I'm afraid that you don't half know your business, Mr. Detective," said he, with a smile.

"I'm afraid not," said I.

"Take another look at that card, and tell me if you discover nothing peculiar."

"Yes," said I, a new light breaking in upon me. "The words 'Londoner, 1848,' are in imitation of the rest of the handwriting of the card, but are by another hand."

"Of course," responded the librarian. "Now that we know the truth, we are wonderfully sharp, are we not? Those words are in Jameson's hand disguised to imitate Miss Robertson's handwriting, which covers the rest of the card. Here is Jameson's last report to me of the condition of his department. Look at the capital J in his signature and the capital J in June on that card. The reason for all this is clear. Our men are forbidden to take books from the shelves except upon the written order of visitors. But they can read the books returned during the day and need not put them back on the shelves until evening. In order to keep that copy of the Londoner while copying the stories sold to the Gazette Jameson put it down at the end of Miss Robertson's list for the day. Observe that on all these cards of Miss Robertson's the Londoner always comes last."

The case seemed clear enough.

"I have sent for Jameson," continued the librarian. "Here he is now."

The interview was a painful one. The fellow confessed in an abject manner and begged for mercy. He had needed the money for debts, and would refund it at once if allowed to go. I consulted by telephone with Burton, and that afternoon Jameson paid back the hundred dollars and left the library forever.

When that part of my work was finished I went over to where Miss Robertson was putting up her papers for the day. The young idiot in green goggles was preparing to grin and carry her books to the desk. She started and flushed as I approached her chair.

"Will you allow me to help you with these books?" said I, as if nothing unpleasant had ever happened between us. "I have something to tell you when we get outside."

"Have you found the thief?" she answered, gravely.

"I have," said I, barely able to conceal the note of triumph in my voice.

When we reached the street I told her all.

"I am glad for your sake," she said. "You have recovered your hundred dollars." She was still a deeply offended divinity.

"The hundred dollars? That was of no importance. I should have given ten times the sum to win the privilege of taking back your umbrella and to hear you say you forgive me. In time I shall hope to make your father forgive me, too."

"My father—knows nothing of this wretched blun—business. I never told him that his daughter had been suspected of theft."

"Then may I take back your umbrella this evening? You said that when I found the thief you would forgive me. You have a great deal to forgive. The best of us may blunder, Miss Robertson. You must not expect too much of a young man whose acquaintance you made in the—library."

"Very well," she said, simply, and the shadow was lifted.

Shall I go on? Is it worth while? Friends of ours sometimes speak of the wonderful success of newspaper men as amateur detectives. Then my wife smiles quietly. But I think that I also can afford to smile. You would think so, too, if you knew her.

THE END.

for having Ripans Tabules served each meal at her table is given by a Philadelphia, Pa., lady who says: "I suffered for years with indigestion. After eating I could only get relief by lying on my back. I had an awful feeling around my heart and pain in my stomach. I read about Ripans Tabules in the paper and bought a five cent carton (ten Tabules). The first Tabules I took gave me some relief and after taking them for three weeks I felt like a new person. I have found Ripans a Godsend. I have them served at my table after each meal."

CHILDREN'S FROCKS.

They Require Much Fine Needlework and Lace.

The little ones are wearing miniature reproductions of the frocks of their elders. There is the same amount of tucking and general ornateness of effect. Many of the tiny skirts are trimmed with graduated ruffles, and not a few have insertion laid on the seams in panels. The so called French dress in which the waist is very long and the skirt correspondingly short is a favorite style for the younger children. A great deal of lace and embroidery beading are used, and these are run through with tiny black velvet ribbons.

The pretty frock here pictured shows the latest thing in childish styles. It is made of white mull and trimmed with bands of fine embroidery. These bands form a plaid design on the waist, and the intervals between are laid in fine tucks. Half way down the skirt there is a cluster of five tucks, and the hem is trimmed with a wavy pattern of the insertion and beading, through which a narrow black ribbon is run. The belt, collar and sleeve bands are made of the same beading, and the narrow ribbons terminate in full rosettes.

The dainty little hat is made of white chip and is trimmed with a frill of white lace and a knot of daisies and black velvet ribbon. JUDIC CHOLLET.

FANCY TAILOR MADES.

Some Are Made of Thin Materials and Are Much Trimmed.

In spite of all the predictions to the contrary, the tailor made costume still holds its own, only it is the stiff tailor made modified into a jaunty and becoming walking dress. Little short boleros take the place of the long skirted or double breasted coats, and a quantity of stitching and embroidery is seen on all the best gowns.

For those who do not care for the broadcloths, cheviots or homespuns

there are dainty little jacket and skirt suits made of wool veilings. These are delightfully cool and comfortable, besides being suitable for dressy occasions.

The picture shows a gown of this description. It is made of red veiling. The skirt fits snugly around the hips, but falls in many folds at the bottom. It is trimmed with three rows of black velvet ribbon. The bolero forms deep points, which are trimmed with velvet buttons and narrow ribbon. The coat sleeves reach a very little below the elbow, and they show the sleeves of the chemisette. This is made of fine white mull tucked. The belt is of tan suede and fastens with a gold buckle. The hat which is worn with this costume is of ecru straw trimmed with poppy colored tulle and black velvet ribbon.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

NO YELLOW FEVER.

Havana, Free From Pest, Asks Suspension of Quarantine.

HAVANA, June 22.—Owing to the absence of yellow fever in this city Major Glennon of the marine hospital corps has recommended that the quarantine be raised on passengers from Cuba destined to points north of Maryland.

There has not been a fresh case of yellow fever in Havana for nearly two months, and the cases which have occurred this year have been light. Neither are there any cases of yellow fever in other parts of the island.

The strongest objection against admitting nonimmunes from Cuba comes from the boards of health of the southern states. These boards even object to the entrance of such persons at New York, fearing that these passengers will go south before the lapse of five days. Major Glennon is in favor of a change in the present strict quarantine regulations against Cuba. Consequently northern ports in the United States will be open as long as there is no yellow fever here.

Two large oil paintings representing historical scenes of American colonization, the burning of Cortez's ships at Vera Cruz and the landing of the pilgrims, now hanging in a chamber of the ayuntamiento of Havana, have been sent to the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo.

Postal Issues Increased.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Third Assistant Postmaster General Madden has given out a comparative statement of the issue of postage stamps, stamp books, stamped envelopes, newspaper wrappers and postal card from 1896 to 1901. Including an estimate for the last 15 days of this month the total number of these postal articles issued by the postoffice department to the postoffices of the country during the present fiscal year is reported at 5,711,764,689, an increase of 1,516,099,166, or 36 per cent, over the total issue in 1896. Their total value is reported at $105,150,338, an increase of $25,972,237, or 33 per cent, over 1896.

Balloonist Takes a Fall.

CHICAGO, June 22.—George R. Lawrence, a photographer, who attempted to take a bird's eye view of the stockyards from a balloon, was thrown from his car after it had arisen about 50 feet. The accident was caused by the breaking of a crossbar. Lawrence struck a web of telegraph wires and was not injured beyond a few cuts. The balloon continued its upward flight and soon disappeared.

China Names Minister to Japan.

PEKING, June 22.—The emperor has appointed Na Tung to be Chinese minister to Japan. This appointee is a Mantchoo and was formerly vice president of the tsung-li-yamen. He is reputed to be a Boxer and narrowly escaped being included in the list of Chinese officials who were beheaded at the demands of the powers. It is doubtful if Japan accepts Na Tung as minister from China.

WANAMAKER'S SECOND OFFER.

Will Add $500,000 to His First Bid For Franchises.

PHILADELPHIA, June 22.—Following his offer to Mayor Ashbridge last week to pay to the city $2,500,000 for the street railway franchises granted to certain capitalists in this city by the city council, to which he received no reply, ex-Postmaster General John Wanamaker has just sent a communication to Congressman Robert H. Foerderer, one of the capitalists to whom the franchises were granted, offering him $500,000 for the franchises in addition to giving to the city the sum already offered. A few days ago Mr. Foerderer in a newspaper interview is alleged to have stated that Mr. Wanamaker's offer to the mayor was not sincere and that it had a "string to it." Mr. Wanamaker in his letter to Mr. Foerderer denies the imputation and, continuing, says:

"I therefore renew the offer which I made to the mayor to pay, as therein stated, to the city of Philadelphia $2,500,000, and in addition thereto I will add $500,000 as a bonus to yourself and your associates personally for the conveyance of the grants and corporate privileges you now possess. There is surely no string to this proposition. When you and your associates assign to me the capital stock, ownership and control of the corporations you now possess, with the engineers' plans, I will pay to you the sum of $500,000, and I will pay to the city of Philadelphia the $2,500,000 under the conditions stated in my letter to the mayor, and $1,500,000 of which amount, I should stipulate, should be used for the deepening of the Delaware river channel and $1,000,000 be applied to the building of public schools and for the purposes of public education. In addition to this I will agree on the surface roads covered by your charters and the ordinances that 3 cent fares only shall be charged between the hours of 6 a. m. and 8 a. m. and 5 p. m. and 7 p. m. and not over 5 cents for the other hours, and I will further agree that any time within ten years the city of Philadelphia may resume the franchises upon the payment of the actual money expended and invested in the various enterprises covered by the charters and ordinances, with 6 per cent interest.

"I say again, as I did in my letter to the mayor, that it is not my desire to enter upon the business of railroading or to make any profit out of any municipal franchise. I merely desire the people to see how badly they have been wronged and the magnitude of the value of the property of which they have been despoiled. If you should accept the offer of this letter, I will cheerfully put the franchises up to auction and give the city any sum bid for them in excess of that which I shall pay under this proposition.

"If the proposition I have made to you is not acceptable, I should be glad to know what sum will tempt you and your associates to surrender the privileges you now own and which were obtained by methods so unusual and defiant of the public will as to have aroused the indignation of the people of the entire nation."

Hollanders to Reclaim More Land.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—The addition of a whole province of water covered land to the kingdom of the Netherlands is the subject of reports received at the state department from Consul Hill at Amsterdam and Consul General Guenther at Frankfort, Germany. The plan which has been proposed in the states general has in view the closing of the Zuyder Zee, which for centuries is said to have been more harmful than helpful to Holland, by Wire Caused a Fall.

E. D. Barrett, the plumber, had a narrow escape from a serious fall from his wheel a few days ago. is better than a Century Dictionary to the otherwise. Many people have the mistaken idea that "ice is ice" and all ice is alike. They do not know that there's a wonderful difference between

ALUMNI DANCE.

Given to Borough School Graduates at Park Club Last Evening.

Immediately after the commencement exercises a reception was tendered the graduates by the Alumni Association at the Park Club. The place was soon crowded and the swarm of people rendered dancing a difficult matter.

While the decorations were not ostentatious yet the arrangement of palms and cut flowers gave a cheerful appearance to the assembly room. Cooling refreshments were served the guests during the course of the evening. Westervelt's orchestra, of Newark, furnished the music.

The committee in charge of the affair were Francis E. Bach, N. Douglass Drake, Miss Ida A. Fountain and Miss Aimee L Emmons. Miss Julia Williams and Benjamin Schuck were the committee which arranged the decorations.

GILBERT CUP AT HILLSIDE.

SENATOR REED LEADS FOR PRESIDENT'S CUP AT PARK CLUB.

Miss Margaret L. Tracy Made Low Score For Mellick Cup—E. J. Patterson And Howard Huntington Tied For Golf Committee Cup.

The intense heat of Saturday had a tendency to keep many golfers away from the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course. In the weekly competition for the Mellick cup, there were seven entries. Miss Margart L. Tracy won the event with a net score of 91, while Miss vanHerwerden, who now leads in the competition, finished second, thus retaining her position with 6½ points. Miss Margaret Goddard is now tie with Miss Margaret Tracy for third place with three points, while Miss Adelaide Ball with an additional one point, now holds second place with 3½ points.

The standing for the cup is as follows:

	Points.
Miss vanHerwerden	6½
Miss Adelaide Ball	3½
Miss Margaret Goddard	3
Miss Margaret Tracy	3
Miss Daisy Elsberg	2

The scores for the morning were as follows:

	Gross.	Han.	Net
Miss M. L Tracy	118	27	91
Miss vanHerwerden	103	0	103
Miss Adelaide Ball	115	10	105
Miss Daisy Elsberg	116	9	107
Miss M. Goddard	125	6	119
Miss M. E Tracy	140	20	120
Miss M. Fleming	132	10	122

In the afternoon the first event was the first play of the season for the Gilbert cup, mixed foursomes, handicap for active, associate and junior associate members, eighteen holes, medal play. The entry list was fair and much interest was evidenced in the competition. Miss vanHerwerden and Robert Abbott were the winners with a net score of 85 with a handicap of 6. Their gross score of 91 beats by four strokes the best gross score for foursomes ever made on the course. The other scores were close and the play was spirited throughout. The scores are as follows:

	Gross.	Hand.	Net.
Miss vanHerwerden and Root Abbott	91	6	85
Marjorie Fleming and W. L Glenny	98	5	93
Adelaide Ball and Dr. F. C. Ard	101	7½	93½
May Evans and T. R. VanBoskerck	111	14	97
May Holly and G. T. VanBoskerck	110	11	99
Daisy Elsberg and Owen Fleming	113	10½	102½
Margaret Goddard and D. H. Barrows	118	10½	107½

The third event of the day was the weekly competition for the Golf Committee cup, which is just now attracting considerable attention. Despite the fact that Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers did not play in this event, she still holds the lead for the cup with 6 points. C. C. Burke, Jr., who is second, had an opportunity to lead Mrs. Rogers, but failed to score a point. Edward J. Patterson and Howard Huntington were tie, with a net score of 79, for first honors, and they will each receive 1½ points.

There were many who started in the competition, but did not finish, hence the comparatively small number of scores posted. The scores are as follows.

	Gross.	Hand.	Net.
E. J Patterson	105	24	79
Howard Huntington	94	15	79
D. H. Rowland	95	15	80

PARK GOLF CLUB.

State Senator Charles A. Reed now leads for the President's cup at the Park Golf Club. He tied with two others Saturday afternoon in the weekly competition for that tropby and the two points thus gained were sufficient to land him in first place with six and a half points, while Charles W. McCutchen and Morgan T. Townsend are tied for second place with five points each.

The course was in good condition and very fast but no notable scores were made. Morgan T. Townsend's card showed a 95, one stroke higher than his best in a competition this season made two weeks ago. Senator

HIGHLANDERS OF THE SOUTH.

WORK OF THE AMERICAN MISSIONARY ASSOCIATION AMONG THEM.

Principal of An A. M. A. School Spoke of the Work at Congregational Church Yesterday.

The work of the American Missionary Association was the subject of the morning service at the Congregational church, yesterday. The speaker of the occasion was Professor H. L. Hoyt, principal of the A. M. A. School at Grand View, Tenn.

Professor Hoyt was present at the session of the Sunday-school, which preceded the morning service, and said a few words about the children in the mountain regions of the south, among whom the A. M. A works. They are desperately poor, and sometimes several children will be obliged to take turns in coming to school, having only one pair of shoes among them. Mr. Hoyt mentioned in particular one little motherless girl whom the association is anxious to take into its home school as soon as the funds for her support are raised. He invited the Sunday-school he was addressing to contribute to this good work.

At the morning service which followed, Professor Hoyt gave a clear and interesting talk on the highlanders of the south, their ways of life, and the work that is being done for them by the A. M. A. The district in which the work is carried on is in size about 200 by 800 miles, and includes about two million people. They are the most illiterate, irreligious and depraved people of the country. One thing, however, can be said in their praise; they were loyal during the Civil War, and furnished 30,000 of the 33 000 men Tennessee sent to fight for the Union.

The region inhabited by these highlanders is included in eight different states, though the headquarters of the work is in Tennessee. It is a region of pistols, knives and whisky. The few preachers of the gospel among the people are little better than their parishoners; an A. M. A. missionary came in contact with one who was badly intoxicated. The people live in the meanest fashion, having scarcely any of the most common comforts of life. "Hog and hominy" are the principal articles of food.

The chief work done by the A. M. A. among these people is one of education. Formerly a certificate allowing a person to teach in the schools of the section could be bought for a nominal price. Now the certificates are being taken by the graduates of the A. M. A. mission schools, the highlanders who have been educated by the association returning to their own people as teachers.

At the close of the service, a generous offering for the work of the American Missionary Association was made by the church.

FRIENDS' FESTIVAL.

Annual Affair Held At The Meeting House On Watchung Avenue Saturday Afternoon.

The members of the Friends' First-Day School enjoyed their annual festival Saturday afternoon at the meeting house on Watchung avenue. The school numbers nearly thirty-five, and the superintendent, Miss Margaret Vail, together with her able assistants, Mrs. Clara Rushmore, Mrs. Marietta V. Adams, Mrs. Harry Vail, Mrs. Palmer and Mrs. Arthur T. Stryker, provided a good time for the young folks.

During the early part of the afternoon the children played games on the lawn. Following this they all adjourned to the meeting hoese where ice cream and cake were served by those in charge. The committee was ably assisted by Harry Adams, who served the ice cream. With the session of the school yesterday morning the school will close until the first of October. There is some talk of organizing a Bible class for the summer months, the sessions to be held every Sunday.

RAN INTO TROLLEY.

Harry Burnsley, of West Third Street Rolled Out of Harm's Way, But Bicycle Was Crushed.

Coming down the grade on East Third street on his wheel yesterday afternoon, Harry Burnsley, of West Third street, plunged head on into a trolley car which he failed to hear coming under the Watchung avenue bridge.

He threw himself to one side and rolled out of harm's way. The bicycle slid beneath the car and was twisted into a tangled mass, the rear wheels passing over it. Burnsley said he heard no warning bell, but as a freight train was passing over the railroad bridge at the time, the noise probably drowned the sound.

FALSE DOCTRINES.

So Dr. Yerkes Pronounced Mormonism and Christian Science and Warned Hearers Against Them.

At the First Baptist church yesterday morning, the pastor, Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, took occasion to speak concerning Christian Science and Mormonism. In the course of his sermon he referred to the many false doctrines that would be preached in the latter days, and then implied that the teachings of Christian Science and Mormonism might be so classed.

He declared that the biggest imposture of the times is Mormonism. He said that he would not be surprised if it should invade Plainfield at no far distant date, and he warned his congregation against entertaining or accepting any part of this false doctrine.

He referred in the same strong manner against Christian Science and stamped it as another humbug. He affirmed that there is no such occult divine power in the belief as claimed by the Scientists. There is no science in it for science supports the best thought and belief. In his opinion the beginning and end of Christian Science is in Mrs. Eddy. In conclusion Dr. Yerkers urged all to be well grounded in the true faith so as not to be carried away by every false doctrine.

PLAYED GOOD BALL FOR FIVE INNINGS.

Then The Visitors Collapsed And St. Mary's Team Won Easily 18 To 7.

VISITORS FROM BROOKLYN.

WAS THE FIRST GAME FOR ST. MARY'S FOR SEVERAL WEEKS.

Doyle And O'Keefe Did The Twirling For The Home Team—Great Slide By O'Keefe—Team From Prospect Y. M. C. A.

After several weeks of postponements and more or less desultory playing, the St. Mary ball team got itself together Saturday afternoon and for five innings put up some of the best work that has been seen on local diamonds this season. The opposing team was the Prospect Park Y. M. C. A., of Brooklyn, and like most association teams was made up of well built athletic men. They were no match for the St. Mary boys, however, the game ending against them with a score of 18 to 7.

During the first half of the game the local team had Doyle in the box, and although he did good work, a fatiguing journey in the early part of the day had about used him up. He was retired to right field and O'Keefe succeeded him. The latter was up to his standard and allowed the Brooklyn boys but very few singles.

O'Keefe also won the plaudits of the crowd by making one of the longest successful slides for home that has ever been seen on the St. Mary field. A home run by Angleman in the first inning was also loudly cheered. The rest of the St. Mary team played very well, although the errors in the first half were quite frequent.

On the visitor's side, the men seemed to lose all control of the ball after the fifth inning, although they seemingly played very hard. Nichols, the regular pitcher, was batted freely and he was replaced by Brock, who did much better. The catcher, Pierson, was a hard player, at one time standing behind the bat without a mask. His foolishness cost him two of his lower teeth which were jarred out by a foul tip.

Following is the batting order:

St. Mary's	Prospect Parks.
Mack, s.s	Bennett, l. f.
Angleman, l. f.	Donavan, s. s.
Keene, 3b	Brakett, 1b

BATHED IN PUBLIC.

So Several Colored Boys Were Haled Before City Judged Runyon This Morning.

Elated over securing the first bath they had had in three weeks, a crowd of colored boys, composed of Oscar Green, Edward Connett, Howard Lowerie, Clifford Hill, Willie Rider, Lawrence Mitchell and Harold Hunter, became indiscreet and exposed themselves yesterday to passersby on Grant avenue at Green brook. A resident in the vicinity telephoned the police and the crowd was gathered in by Patrolman McCarthy.

Only the first four appeared in court this morning, and these pleaded guilty with extenuating circumstances which moved City Judge Runyon to leniency. He suspended sentence but warned them to seek more secluded spots for their ablutions in the future. The other boys will be arraigned tomorrow.

Entertained Fellow Germans.

The German Beneficial Society held an outing yesterday at Kramer's farm, near Dunellen. The Liberty Society, a German organization from Elizabeth, was present and and sang songs of the fatherland, as did also the singing society of the Gesang and Turn Verein. The committee in charge were: Paul Postler, John Wirth, Henry Bergen and Henry Rummel.

CLINTON AVENUES WIN.

Defeated Hall Signal Works, of Garwood, 14 to 7, Saturday Afternoon.

The Clinton Avenue baseball team played an excellent game with the Hall Signal Works nine, of Garwood, Saturday afternoon, on the Clinton avenue grounds. The Garwood men were defeated by a score of 14 to 7. Squier, the regular pitcher of the Clinton Avenues, was unable to play, and his place has been taken for the first time by William Symons who has been playing first. His work in the box was excellent. He struck out seven men and allowed but one base on balls and five singles. The star play of the game was made by Bulmer, who caught a fly in deep right after a long run.

The batting order was as follows:

ANOTHER PITCHER FOR HOPE.

COLUMBIA A. C., OF RAHWAY, COULD NOT HIT HIM AT ALL.

Hope Chapel's New Pitcher, Hewitt, Was a Great Success—Hope Won Game 16 To 7.

The boys of the Hope Chapel nine restored the good reputation of their team by defeating the Rahway Columbia Athletic Club's nine at that city Saturday afternoon. The score was 16 to 7.

The Hope chapel aggregation proved that its supply of good pitchers is unlimited. Tunis Hewitt was put in the box and his pitching was the feature of the game. Keeping up the record made by Hope's other pitchers, Montross and Smith, the doughty twirler struck ten batters out during the contest. The roughness of the diamond would have proved a drawback to good work on the part of the Plainfielders had the Rahway boys been able to connect with the ball. As it was only two balls reached the outfield and these were hauled in by Roseberry, the centre fielder.

At the bat the Hope boys showed some improvement over the exhibitions they have given of late. Hand made a three-bagger.

There were two star plays during the game. One was a double play by the Columbia team. The other was due to the great work of Hewitt. With three men on bases he struck three out at the bat in quick succeession, for which he was roundly applauded. This was the first game lost by the Rahway nine during the season.

The batting order follows:

Hope.	Columbia.
Hand, 2b	Gibbons, ss.
Roseberry, cf.	Mertins, p.
Smith, ss.	H. Bracher, lf.
Hewitt, p.	Fox, c.
Hartfelder, c.	Buckley, 1b.
Evans, 1b.	Clark, 2b.
H. Montross, 3b	Schaeffer, rf.
Gordon, rf.	Miller, cf.
Mague, lf.	G. Bracher, 3b.

Score by innings:

Hope.....1 3 1 0 0 5 0 6 0—16
Columbia 2 0 1 2 1 0 0 1 0—7

Summary—Base hits — Hope, 13; Columbia, 7. Two-base hits—Hope, 5; Columbia, 0. Three-base hits—Hope, 1; Columbia, 0. Errors—Hope, 5; Columbia, 8. Struck out—By Hewitt, 10; by Mertins, 5. Base on balls—Off Hewitt, 4; off Mertins, 5. Umpire—Charles Hartfelder. Scorer — Walter Foster.

SHOT IN THE FACE.

Accidentally Emptied Contents Of Blank Cartridge In Face Of Miss Emma Foster.

Miss Emma Foster, the fifteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Foster, of South Second street, was accidentally shot in the face Saturday afternoon with a blank cartridge from a pistol in the hands of John Slorah, of McDowell street. The young woman was calling at the Slorah home at the time.

The boy was flourishing the pistol. Despite her protests he laughingly aimed the pistol at Miss Foster, not knowing it contained a cartridge, and pulled the trigger. The weapon was so near her face that the charge burned off her eyebrows, filling her face with powder and causing great pain.

She was assisted to her home and Dr. Hedges was called. Her face is as yet too swollen to allow the powder to be picked out, and it is a question whether it can be. Miss Foster will be confined to her home for at least several weeks.

STRANGE FIRE IN A BARN.

DEPARTMENT CALLED OUT SHORTLY AFTER MIDNIGHT SATURDAY.

Barn In Rear Of Residence Of John McKeon, West Front Street—Another Fire Near New Market.

Shortly before 1 o'clock yesterday morning flames broke out in the upper story of the barn belonging to John McKeon and located in the rear of his residence on West Front street, opposite Compton avenue. An alarm was sent in from box 83 by Patrolman Saunders, and although the firemen arrived promptly, the structure was damaged to the extent of $300. The horses and a large part of the stock was gotten out in safety. The loss is fully covered by insurance.

The origin of the blaze remains a mystery although it is thought to be of incendiary origin. There was nothing in the barn to cause spontaneous combustion and although located near the railroad tracks, the wind was blowing directly from it, lessening the danger from locomotive sparks while the barn has a slate roof. Mr. McKeon is not aware that he has any enemies and is unable to throw any light on the mystery.

The fire department returned to the respective houses at 2 o'clock and had not removed the hose when a second alarm was turned in from box 39, at the corner of Grant avenue and West Sixth street. Roundsman Mattox discerned a bright reflection in the vicinity of Monroe avenue and believing the fire to be in the city limits, pulled the box. The blaze, however, was near New Market, on a farm near West Seventh street beyond Clinton avenue. It was formerly occupied by James Emory, of this city. The barn on the premises was destroyed together with two horses. The local department went as far as Monroe avenue before they learned of the whereabouts of the blaze.

NO TRIAL TODAY.

The Four Strikers Will Be Tried Before Judge Runyon And a Jury Wednesday.

John Miles, John McConnell, Lewis Hall and Charles Greenhals, the four men arrested during the excitement at Grant avenue and Front street, Thursday evening, appeared before City Judge Runyon this morning to answer a charge of disturbing the good order of the community preferred by the police.

The men were represented by Lawyer Swackhamer while Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh appeared in behalf of the city.

As the charge was read by Lawyer Marsh, each defendant answered separately but all pleaded not guilty and their counsel demanded a jury trial. This was granted but as forty-eight hours is required to secure a jury, the trial was laid over until Wednesday morning at 9:30. It will be held in the Council chamber. The original bond furnished by the men, holds good until the matter is settled.

AGED MAN INJURED.

Isaac Smalley Slipped And Fell, Dislocating Bone In His Leg.

Isaac Smalley, aged eighty years, of East Front street, met with a painful accident Saturday afternoon while he was engaged in some work about his barn.

He was helping to carry a long plank when he slipped and fell backward. At first it was thought that his injuries would prove very serious, but later, when Drs. Probasco and Zeglio arrived, it was discovered that there was a dislocation of a bone in the leg.

Some time ago Mr. Smalley fell and fractured his leg, and it was feared that another fracture might have occurred in the same place. He was carried to the house and the proper treatment given. Today Mr. Smalley is resting as comfortable as possible and no serious results are entertained.

MANY ATTRACTIONS AT CHURCH LAWN FETE

Successful Affair Held on the Lawn of Park Avenue Baptist Church Saturday.

THOSE WHO WERE IN CHARGE

MYSTERY TENT AND ART GALLERY WERE TWO BIG ATTRACTIONS.

Young People Were Particularly Remembered—Grounds Illuminated at Night With Chinese Lanterns—The Committee in Charge.

Perfect weather and a large crowd marked the lawn fete held on the grounds surrounding the Park Avenue Baptist church Saturday afternoon and evening. It was in every way the most successful affair the women of the church have given in some time. Not only were the adults catered to, but special features were provided for the young people, who were largely in evidence. At night the scene was very pretty, the grounds being made almost as light as day by scores of Chinese lanterns suspended from every available point.

Among the novelties was a mystery tent, where mysterious packages were sold for a nominal sum, the contents proving very surprising to the purchasers. This department was in charge of the Misses Tennant, Miss Lillian Dunham and Miss Lillian Richardson. An art gallery and museum in charge of Miss Essie Thompson, Miss Bessie Giles and Harry Thompson, received an excellent patronage and many compliments for its originality. Pictures, statuary and books were illustrated in very laughable manner. This was one of the most interesting parts of the fete.

Miss Emily Runyon, garbed in the costume of "Rebekkah" at the well, disposed of cooling lemonade to those suffering from heat and thirst. She was assisted by the Misses Henrietta Cuming and Cora Brokaw. A cake table presided over by Mrs. J. W. Johnson, Mrs. A. D. Thompson, Mrs. John H. Doane and Mrs. J. W. Richardson did not have a large enough supply to keep up with the demand and long before the fete came to an end, every cake was disposed of. Sweetmeats were sold by Mrs. Frank Vail, Mrs. Harry Johnson and Mrs. David Runyon.

While all the women connected with the church were in charge of the fete the preliminaries were arranged by the following committees: Refreshment, Mrs. T. I. Runyon, assisted by Mrs. Hellyer and Mrs. David Smalley; decorating, Aaron Thompson, G. E. Hall and Arthur Whitney. The young women who acted as waitresses were in charge of Mrs. W. S. Lowry and were as follows: The Misses Florence Hawkins, Cora Brokaw, Louise Whitney, Lottie Suydam, Ethel Marsh, Regnette Marsh, Viola Hellyer, Lillian Frey, Florence Cuming, Helen Cuming, Violet VanWinkle, Elizabeth VanWinkle, Hazel DeLany, Louise Runyon, Marion Hall, Florence Goldsack and Mrs. Anna VanWinkle.

D. H. Rowland's pony and cart was loaned for the afternoon and Willie Doane piloted parties of young people up Park avenue and return.

FUNERAL OF WM. GULICK.

Held Yesterday From the Residence of His Parents, 6. Second Street.

The funeral services over the remains of the late William Gulick were held yesterday from the residence of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Gulick, on South Second street. They were in charge of Rev. G. Kennedy Newell, the pastor of Hope chapel, who delivered an impressive discourse. There were a number of handsome floral tributes. At the close of the service the remains were interred in Hillside cemetery. Those who acted as pallbearers were Benjamin Evans, Charles Meyer, Jr., Alexander Muir and Thomas Muir.

"A DREAM JOURNEY."

Easay by Charles Ames Brooks Which Received First Babcock Prize for English Composition at Plainfield High School June 20, 1901.

Many days had I traveled through a beautiful country; a land of eternal summer; the home of the fig and the olive, the orange and the date. I had sped through valleys that were like gardens, wherein every spot was historic ground. The hills I had seen crowned with their ancient masses of ivy-bowered ruins, each telling a tale of splendor and power long ago lost in the ceaseless advance of civilization, yet shedding a light of romance over the hut of the peasant and the homely scene of his labors.

And now, at length, in my journeying I had reached a beautiful city by the sea. A beautiful city it was indeed, with its broad avenues leading down to the golden bay and its white-walled villas, set like gems in their tropical gardens stretching along the curving shore.

And here, as I sat gazing out over the sunlit bay and off to the blue sea beyond, and listening to the hundred cries of the street venders which rose in a confused hum like to the ceaseless moan of the tiny creatures in the autumn fields, it seems to me that I must have fallen asleep, for all that follows was so magical that I can in no other manner account for it. And I know not whether it was that, as I seemed to fall asleep, my eyes and thoughts were centered on that bay or if it was but by chance, yet, be that as it may, the same thoughts ran through my vision and I seemed to see the golden waters through it all.

And, n my dream, one told me to arise and I arose and followed him. And together we walked down through the city to the sea-side, through the alleys with their crowds of eager peddlers, shouting and calling, (yet was it strange that I could not hear them, and if it be not by reason of my slumber, I know not why it was so) and on through broad avenues with their great rows of trees, and past an ancient and gloomy castle. And I questioned my guide of the huge pile and of the fair sights which I saw about me. He answered me nothing, so that I came to believe him something not mortal, but as a sort of spirit of the place. "For," said I to myself, have I not read that there are spirits that men say do inhabit certain places?" So I was silent and gazed attentively as we passed along.

And now, in truth, those waters of which I have spoken and which seemed ever to flit before my vision, were a reality, in so far as was anything a reality in my dream. For I saw them lapping the beach at my feet and stretching away far as the eye could reach into an infinite flood of blue beyond, until they were swallowed up in the still deeper blue of the horizon. And, as the bay curved away to the right, behold! there lay the glorious city we had left, and beyond, a range of hills, hazy and blue with the morning mists. And, strangely, I seemed to know that beyond them lay that dark and stagnant pool, which men of the olden time have said was the overflow of the Styx, and upon whose banks dwelt a mysterious prophetess in a mighty cave, from whence through an hundred mouths came the responses of the Sibyl. It appeared wonderful to me that such thoughts as these should intrude upon my mind, but then, by the presence of my guide, I remembered that it was but a dream, and strange are the thoughts of a vision.

And the same pebbly strand, as it curved away to the left, became in the hazy distance tall cliffs that stretched far out into the sea. They were crowned with a green fringe betokening beautiful groves, in which, I fancied, it would be peaceful to rest and to sleep. Surely, thought I, like these were the hanging gardens of Babylon! And beyond, rested a green isle on the bosom of the deep with many a crag that rose skyward in jagged precipices and many a shaded valley and purple glen between.

But now a mighty mountain arose upon our left as we sped on. It lifted its seared and barren breast above the groves and vineyards on its lower steeps as some old and blasted oak upon the mountain-side raises its head proudly, though in ruins, far above the young and green trees of the forest. Even thus its sandy slopes stretched upwards toward the clouds and an eternal wreath of smoke adorned its forehead, twisting into a thousand shapes ere, caught by the breeze, it floated away and was gone. And as I watched it, it seemed in my slumber, like a giant that slept. And I wondered, and asked of my guide if ever the giant would wake to new life. He answered nothing, and I remembered that he was but a spirit. Yet did he point with his finger and I, looking, saw a black stream that lay twisted down from the summit to the base, like a hideous serpent. And behold! I knew that it was death, and that men know not when the giant may wake again.

And we sped on, following the train of that black serpent until we came to a city of the dead. Truly a city of the departed, for no man living hath dwelt there for the space of eig teen centuries, yet did the streets seem perfect in my dream and the homes. And the spirit showed me the bodies of those whom the giant had overtaken and none other saw we in that place save these alone.

And I shuddered in my slumber and turned away again to fly past peaceful hamlets and over green glens and glancing streams, over a range of hills and down again to the sea. Yet I knew in my vision, such is the strangeness of these flights of the mind, that this was not the bay of which I have spoken, but another. And we wandered along by the grey deep over a gloomy and desolate moor. And presently it was no more moor but marsh, and again I knew that we were in the presence of death. And I wondered, with the vague wonder of a dream, that death was so ever present in this land of the south and the sea. But, as I was thus doubting, the spirit pointed with his arm and behold; I saw there temples gazing out across the sea. And I knew that that it was again a city of yesterday, a city of long ago, a city of the dead.

Yet saw I no more then the three sentinels and the mists of death about them, for we sped back and along the cliffs by the sea to a beautiful town that clung to the crags arising from the sea, like the nest of the gull looking abroad over the waters. And the tiny barks glided into its port with their glistening sails and then folded them and rested upon the tide, like the petrel sleeping upon its bosom. I would have stayed, but the spirit bade me on until I saw the sparkle of my own bay once more. And here we found those gardens of Babylon of which I have spoken and, in my vision, we wandered about in the orange groves and plucked the golden fruit and were happy.

Once more, like swallows, we soared away from the cliffs and over the bay to the summer island we before had seen. And here we entered a wonderful cave whose flow was water; yet did it appear, by reason of reflection from without to be of silvery. And the blue of heaven was reflected upward to the roof, so that it was of a beauty beyond compare. And the walls arose straight from the waters on every side, save one only, where was a tiny opening, from which streamed in the light that made the cave so brilliant. And I thought to myself that perchance it was the dwelling of the genius of the island, but my conductor, reading my thoughts, pointed to a stair ascending beside one of the walls. Then I knew that it was known to man.

And I would have mounted the stair but that the spirit pointed to the opening whence streamed the light. And I felt constrained to go toward it, and I passed through, and found myself gazing once more on the waters of the bay. I turned to seek my companion, but he was gone and, as I turned, a hum arose in my ears, and the waters danced more brightly before my eyes, and lo! I sat gazing upon the bay again and the hum of the city was in my ears.

NOTE.

In writing the accompanying essay, I made no reference to any book or person. The whole is a personal experience and though rapidly and incompletely told is founded on fact.

It need only be added that the bay which runs through it is the Bay of Naples and the "city by the sea," that city. The giant is Vesuvius, the "city of the dead," Pompeii. Paestum is the second dead city, the gulf of Salerno the second bay. Amalfi the town upon the cliffs. Sorrento has the "hanging gardens" and the isle is Capri with its Blue Grotto.

MET A TRAGIC DEATH

Former Consul Hay Killed by a Fall.

ELDEST SON OF SECRETARY HAY.

Shocking Accident Occurred In New Haven, Where Young Hay Had Just Arrived to Attend a Class Reunion.

NEW HAVEN, June 24.—As stated in earlier dispatches from here, Adelbert Stone Hay, consul to Pretoria during the more stirring and momentous stages of the Boer war, the oldest son of the Hon. John Hay, secretary of state in President McKinley's cabinet, and one of the most prominent sons of Yale, met a tragic death in this city at 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning. The manner of the death, its victim and the fact that the tragedy occurred on the very eve of Yale's commencement, in which the young man by virtue of his class office was to have been a leader—these sad conditions have cast an unmistakable gloom over the gladdest of Yale seasons.

Mr. Hay went to a death the full details of which will never be known. Shortly before 2:30 o'clock in the morning he fell from a window in the third story of the New Haven House, where he had rooms for commencement week, to the Chapel street pavement, fully 60 feet below. The frightful fall resulted in instant death, and within 15 minutes the body had been identified as that of young Hay. How it all happened immediately became a matter of speculation on the part of the throng of curious spectators who gathered and a subject of mournful inquiry for the classmates and friends of the promising young man.

Half a dozen physicians who were hastily summoned were unable to restore the life which had apparently instantly flown, and the warm body awaited its disposition at the orders of the coroner's deputy. Medical Examiner Bartlett. That official promptly pronounced it a case of accidental death and speedily reported to his superior, Coroner Mix. The body was removed as soon as possible to the rooms of a nearby undertaker, where it awaited instructions from the afflicted family. Repeated efforts to locate Secretary Hay by wire were futile until the early morning hours, when a request from the father reached Mr. Seth Mosely, the proprietor of the hotel, to care for the body until the members of the family could reach town.

Meanwhile the sensation occasioned by the tragedy continued. Every movement of young Hay was traced in an effort to penetrate the uncertainties of the awful affair. It was learned that the young man on May 29 left Washington with his mother and two sisters for Newbury, N. H., the summer home of Secretary Hay. Last week he left New Hampshire for New York, where he spent some days. He arrived in New Haven Saturday evening in time for dinner and went immediately to the New Haven House, where he was assigned to room No. 47, third floor, front, directly over the Chapel street entrance to the hotel office. Young Hay was one of the vanguard of the academic class of Yale, '98. He had come to his old college home as a member of his class triennial committee and came early to assist his colleagues on the committee in preparing for the festivities of commencement week in general and for the class supper in particular. He took dinner with a handful of his classmates and at 8 o'clock hurried to the Hyperion theater, where he witnessed the evening performance. He spent a quiet hour in the hotel corridor and smoking room after the theater and shortly after midnight retired to his room, remarking to the hotel clerk that he was sleepy and leaving a call for 9 o'clock Sunday morning. He was not seen again until his body came whirling through the air to its destruction two and a half hours later. The hotel where the unfortunate young man was quartered faces on Chapel street, the principal thoroughfare of the city, and is almost under the eaves of the university which he proudly claimed as his alma mater.

There was a solitary spectator to the terrible tragedy, a laborer of the city streets. At the hour mentioned the workman saw the form of a man falling through space. An instant later there was a sickening thud, and the form lay prostrate directly in front of the main hotel entrance. The horrified laborer rushed to the spot, and his shouts brought others. The usual crowd gathered. In it were several belated Yale graduates. They bent over the body. One of them, Julian Mason, a son of the late Edward G. Mason of Chicago and a classmate of young Hay, drew back and, horror stricken, cried, "My God, it's Del Hay!"

By this time the hotel clerk had reached the scene and made the identification complete.

The body was clad in pyjamas. On the window sill of the room occupied by young Hay was found a partly consumed cigarette. On the floor near the window was a ring worn by the victim. His clothing had been neatly arranged, and the bedclothes were drawn back. The bed, however, had not been occupied. Here the mystery becomes intangible.

The popular theory seems to have it that the young man, having prepared for bed, thought to indulge in a "good night smoke;" that he chose the cool of the window, possibly dozed, lost his balance and fell from the window. The presence of the ring on the floor, however, gave rise to the fancy that possibly while toying with the ring it dropped and that in an effort to recover it the fall resulted. However it happened, the known facts seem to make it conclusive that it was all a frightful accident.

Young Hay, it was remarked, was in particularly good spirits and had planned with unusual enthusiasm to participate in many engagements this week.

SECRETARY HAY PROSTRATED.

The Hon. John Hay, secretary of state, arrived in New Haven from Washington at 5:45 p. m. in response to the dispatch announcing the sudden death of his son, Adelbert S. Hay. Mr. Hay was unaccompanied and gave signs of great grief. He entered a carriage and was driven immediately to the residence of Mr. Seth Mosely, 36 Wall street. Worn out with the long trip from the national capital and once within the walls of the house that sheltered the remains of his dead son, the secretary collapsed. His prostration was so complete that medical aid was deemed necessary, and Dr. Gilbert was summoned.

Miss Helen Hay, a daughter of the secretary, arrived in New Haven from Boston at 7:10 p. m.

Secretary Hay learned of the death of his son Adelbert within an hour and a half of the tragedy through Secretary Cortelyou. The latter had been called up on the long distance telephone at his residence in Washington about 3 o'clock in the night by Proprietor Mosely of the New Haven House, the scene of the tragedy.

Save the servants Secretary Hay was alone in his house, as all of his family have been absent from Washington since the secretary's visit to Buffalo. Mrs. Hay, with Adelbert and her two daughters, had been spending a few days in Cleveland and from that place went by way of Buffalo to Newbury, N. H., on the shores of Lake Sunapee, where the family had just settled down for the summer, with the expectation that the secretary would join them next month. There was no one of his own people about him therefore to give aid and support when the sad news came to the secretary of state in the early Sabbath morning.

Secretary Cortelyou, however, was sympathetically helpful, and, realizing the feverish desire of Mr. Hay to reach New Haven, he looked up the railway timetables and arranged for an early departure, so that by 9 o'clock Secretary Hay was on a Pennsylvania railroad train speeding toward New Haven before many of his friends in Washington knew of the calamity that had befallen him.

As soon as the president learned the news, however, he dispatched a telegram to the chief of his cabinet to overtake him in his journey northward, expressing in the kindly and sympathetic language which characterizes the president's communications in such cases the depth of the sorrow he felt for the bereaved family.

Mrs. Hay, the bereaved mother, and a daughter, Miss Alice Hay, from Newbury, N. H., reached New Haven this morning. Clarence Hay, the younger son, also came from Simsbury, Conn., where he has been at school. Mr. Samuel Mather of Cleveland, a brother-in-law of Secretary Hay, with his wife, has also arrived.

No arrangements covering the removal of the remains and the funeral services have been made.

Adelbert S. Hay was the eldest son of the secretary of state and was born while the latter was living in Cleveland about 25 years ago. His second name is Stone, which he bears in memory of the late Amasa Stone, his maternal grandsire. He was educated in the private schools of Cleveland and prepared at St. Paul's academy in Concord, N. H., for Yale. At the university he was a popular scholar, for, though outwardly reserved in manner, he was capable of warm and enduring friendships.

To Get an Extra Million.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24.—Concerning the reports of a contemplated contest of the will of the late C. P. Huntington The Examiner prints the following statement: "It transpires that Princess Hatzfeldt, adopted daughter of the late Collis P. Huntington, is to receive approximately $1,000,000 of the Huntington fortune in addition to the million bequeathed her by the terms of her adopted father's will. This additional million will come to her not as any result of threatened litigation, for the princess has never contemplated beginning a will contest, but as a result of the voluntary fairness of Henry E. Huntington in view of the remarkable recent increase in the value of securities left by the great railway king."

Another Arctic Trip.

NEW YORK, June 24.—The Peary Arctic club, of which President Morris K. Jesup of the chamber of commerce is president and President Henry W. Cannon of the Chase National bank treasurer, has intrusted to its secretary, Herbert L. Bridgman, the command of its expedition of 1901, the fourth of the series since Mr. Peary departed on his attempt to attain the pole. This will be Mr. Bridgman's third cruise to the arctic regions, the first having been as a member of the Falcon auxiliary expedition of 1894 and the second when in command of the Diana expedition in 1899. Mr. Frederick A. Cook of Brooklyn, surgeon of the Peary expedition in 1891 and of the Belgian antarctic expedition, has accepted the position of surgeon.

Body of Missing Woman Found.

BRISTOL, R. I., June 24.—The body of Miss Frances Wheeler of New Haven has been found on the shore here. Miss Wheeler had been missing from the Hopeworth sanitarium since last Monday. When found, the face and arms of the woman were buried in the sand, and the shoulders and head were very badly swollen. Miss Wheeler, who was 44 years old, had been an inmate of the sanitarium for the past five months and was suffering from a nervous disease as a result of too close application to her work as a schoolteacher. She leaves a mother in New Haven and a brother in Kansas. Medical Examiner Williams decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

An Autopsy Ordered.

HOMESTEAD, N. J., June 24.—Prosecutor Erwin of Hudson county, N. J., has directed that there be an autopsy on the body of Frank Pullis, who died at his home in North Bergen supposedly from Bright's disease. There has been much speculation concerning the case. The mother and one brother of Pullis died with convulsions, and he had convulsions before his death. The physicians who attended Frank Pullis granted no death certificate partly because his father and brothers remarked the similarity of the cases and talked vaguely of poison. The refusal was partly based upon the fact that some of the symptoms noted were unusual.

Two Drowned.

BOSTON, June 24.—While coming into the harbor yesterday forenoon on her regular trip from Maine ports the steamer City of Bangor of the Bangor Steamship company's line during a dense fog ran down the naphtha launch Estelle, which had anchored off Deer island beacon directly in the steamer's path. Five men on the launch were thrown into the water, two of whom were drowned, the others being rescued with considerable difficulty.

Senator Kyle Very Ill.

ABERDEEN, S. D., June 24.—Senator James M. Kyle, who has been ill for several days, is in a very serious condition, and fears are entertained that he may not recover. Heart trouble is the cause of his illness, and the attack is similar to the one that prostrated the senator at Cleveland two years ago.

Lightning Destroys a Church.

MALONE, N. Y., June 24.—During a severe storm in this section lightning struck the Presbyterian church at Burke, a small town east of Malone, and it was destroyed.

HUNDREDS DROWNED

Breaking Dam Causes Devastation In West Virginia.

TOWN OVERWHELMED IN THE NIGHT

A Conservative Estimate Places the Loss of Life at Two Hundred and of Property at Two Million.

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., June 24.—This entire section has just been visited by a flood, the extent of which in all probability will equal or exceed that of Johnstown in 1889 so far as the loss of property is concerned. Early Saturday morning, shortly after midnight, a heavy downpour of rain began, accompanied by a severe electric storm, and steadily increased in violence until 10 o'clock a. m., then ceasing for several hours and beginning again with renewed violence. This continued throughout the entire day and night.

Many miles of the Norfolk and Western railroad tracks and bridges are entirely destroyed, and communication is entirely cut off west of Elkhorn, so that it is impossible to learn the full extent of the loss of life and property, but officials of the coal operations located in the stricken district have sent out messengers to Elkhorn, the terminus of both telegraphic and railroad communications, and have received a report that a conservative estimate as to the loss of life will easily reach 200. Some of the drowned are among the most prominent citizens of the coalfields.

The Pocahontas coalfield is located in a basin with high mountain ranges on either side, Elkhorn creek flowing through the center of the basin, which ranges from one-fourth to one mile in width. From Ennis, W. Va., to Vivian Yard, W. Va., a distance of ten miles, miners' cabins, coal company commissaries and coke plants line this basin. Elkhorn creek, being fed by numerous small streams coming from the mountain sides, rises very rapidly, and this waterspout came so suddenly that the entire basin between the two mountain ranges was flooded, and before the terror stricken people realized what was upon them they were carried down by the flood, which swept everything in its path.

The little town of Keystone, with a population of about 2,000, seems the greatest sufferer, practically the entire town being washed away. This town is the principal one in the Pocahontas coalfields and is located near its center. It was to a great extent headquarters from which the mining population purchased supplies and was also the only place in the field where whisky could be purchased. At this place there were some 12 to 15 saloons, all of which are washed away.

The report comes that the mining population are now occupying the banks of the streams below, catching the merchandise and barrels of whisky and beer as they float down. A great number of the coal and coke plants throughout the Pocahontas field are reported practically destroyed and in some instances entirely washed away.

On account of the very high water which has flooded the region and prevented communication anything like a correct estimate of the loss of property is impossible, but from the best information obtainable it will easily reach $2,000,000.

At Landgraf the beautiful home of General Manager Ord is reported gone, but his family is said to be safe.

Passenger train No. 4 of the Norfolk and Western railway reached Vivian about 8:30 a. m., met the flood and was unable to proceed farther. The waters reached such a depth that the coaches had to be abandoned, the passengers being rescued by means of ropes strung from the windows of coaches to the tops of remaining coke ovens some distance away. Between Elkhorn and Vivian Yard, a distance of ten miles, 100 cars are said to be washed from the tracks, and many of them were carried down the stream.

A rough estimate places the number of bridges washed away between Bluefield and Vivian Yard, a distance of 28 miles, at from 15 to 20, and from present indications it will be impossible to get trains through to Vivian and points west of there under a week or ten days. This will render it impossible to get relief into the stricken district, and for those who escaped with their lives, homeless and without food, indescribable suffering is inevitable.

On the Clinch Valley branch of the Norfolk and Western railroad between this city and Norton, Va., communication is entirely severed west of Tazewell, Va. Reports come from that point of great loss of life and property throughout that entire section. In Shakerag, a negro settlement on the outskirts of Tazewell, the water stands to the depth of six or eight feet in the street and houses, all of the occupants having been removed to points of safety by means of a boat.

Three miles west of Tazewell, on the Higginbotham farm, the home of Paris Van Dyke, a farmhand, was swept away, carrying with it Mrs. Van Dyke and four children, two of the Van Dyke children, John, 17, and Charles, 5, being drowned. Mrs. Van Dyke, with the two remaining children, Edgar and Laura, were found at 9 o'clock yesterday morning in a dying condition one mile from where the home stood by Mr. Van Dyke, who was absent from home at the time of the cloudburst. While the rescuing party was searching for the Van Dyke family they found the body of a white woman well clad floating down Plum creek. No one thus far has been able to identify her, and it is supposed the body had washed down for some distance.

A report from Wittens Mill, a small station between Bluefield and Tazewell, says that three children, Christian names unknown, belonging to Raleigh Brush were drowned early Saturday morning. There is no telegraph station at Wittens Mill, and it is impossible to ascertain particulars. The railroad and telegraph companies are working between 1,000 and 1,500 men day and night. Officials are on the ground pushing the work of constructing telegraph lines and rebuilding the road and hope to be able to communicate with both the sworn swept districts by noon today.

Railroads Badly Crippled.

ROANOKE, Va., June 24.—The railroad people say it will be at least five days before their lines are open for trains. They have been sending work trains to the storm stricken district from all directions. The loss to the railroad will reach $500,000. A private message from Bramwell, W. Va., on Simmons creek, says there has been great damage done there, but no loss of life had been reported up to the time the telegram was sent. The little town of Vivian, at which place the railroad yards were swept away and a passenger train flooded, is the shipping point of all west bound coal and coke, and there is a succession of prosperous mining towns extending all the way to Pocahontas, Va. Nearly every milepost along this portion of the road marks a mining operation.

Fierce Tornado In Illinois.

LINCOLN, Ills., June 24.—This city and vicinity have been visited by a destructive tornado which did $100,000 damage. The storm came from the southwest, and its path was 1½ mile wide by 12 miles long. The Lincoln mattress factory was almost totally destroyed, while severe damage was done to the Illinois Asylum For Feebleminded Children, Illinois Odd Fellows' Orphan home, Lincoln college, the roller flour mills and the county poor farm. Houses were wrecked, stores unroofed and thousands of trees torn up. An elevator at Middletown was destroyed and several stores damaged. Reports of damage by the storm come from rural districts. At Elkhart freight cars were blown from the track. Great damage was done to wheat, corn and oats.

Terrific Storm In Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, June 24.—The storm which broke over Allegheny county on Saturday afternoon carried with it death by drowning and death by electric shock, floods that caused much damage and wind that created terror and havoc. Every part of the county suffered. The storm broke about 2:30 o'clock after darkness had gradually been settling down for half an hour. The day until then had been a beautiful one. The rain was very heavy, the wind strong and often the lightning seemed to be playing right overhead. From all over the county come fuller reports of damage done by wind and water, but with the exception of Bittner no additional fatalities are reported.

Cloudburst In Southern New York.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., June 24.—There was a cloudburst and hailstorm at Mad Brook, Chenango county. Five bridges were carried away, crops damaged and roads made impassable. Lightning set fire to a barn at Preston, and it was destroyed, with its contents. At Sidney lightning set fire to the dwelling of Augustus Foster, and it was burned, with its contents.

Storm at Oswego.

OSWEGO, N. Y., June 24.—A terrific thunderstorm prevailed in Oswego and the surrounding country. The West Baptist church here was struck by lightning and slightly damaged, and barns and farm buildings suffered. Rain and hail caused damage to the crops. Of a party of fishermen caught in the storm near Minetto one man was injured by hailstones.

Ohio Republicans Meet.

COLUMBUS, O., June 24.—The leaders and delegates are here from all parts of the state for the Republican state convention which will convene in this city at noon. The convention will renominate for second terms Governor George K. Nash, Lieutenant Governor John A. Caldwell, Attorney General John M. Sheets, State Treasurer J. D. Cameron and G. W. Johnson, the latter for member of the state board of public works. Senator Foraker has been selected for temporary chairman. The contests are limited to the nominations for judge and clerk of the supreme court. In addition to a full state ticket a legislature is to be elected this year which will choose the successor to United States Senator J. B. Foraker. In addition to the election of a senator the next legislature will have the apportionment of the state under the last census for legislative and other state districts as well as for congressmen and also the consideration of an important issue on "local option." The contest between the parties for control of the legislature this year will be the most animated one in the history of the state, as the partisan advantages to be gained in the formation of the districts will last until the next census in 1910 under the Ohio laws.

Insects as Plague Spreaders.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Surgeon General Wyman has issued a general circular to medical officers of the marine hospital service calling special attention to the importance of insects as factors in conveying diseases. The circular says there is no longer doubt as to the relation of the mosquito to malarial diseases and to filariasis. "According to Simond," it says, "plague is transmitted from the rat to man by the flea. The infection of typhoid fever and to a certain extent cholera may be conveyed by flies. Medical officers are directed to place mosquito nettings over the beds of communicable diseased patients." Hospitals are to be thoroughly protected by fly screens at all openings, particular attention being paid to the kitchen, dining room and protection of the food. Sulphur fumigation is given as the best methods of killing insects in a large room.

A Horrible Death.

UTICA, N. Y., June 24.—Word has reached here of the terrible death at Clockville, Madison county, of Claude Gleason, the 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gleason. He was cutting logs in Hathaway's sawmill, and in attempting to cross the carriage which moves the logs under the saw he stumbled and fell. He was carried on to the saw, which sawed through his hips, cut off the end of his spine and through into the intestines. As soon as the machinery could be stopped he was taken to his home and died in a few hours.

Chief McAuly Fatally Hurt.

NEW YORK, June 24.—While Chief of Police John McAuly of West Hoboken was walking along Palisade avenue in that town last night, he heard screams coming from the foot of the Palisades. Without waiting to descend by way of the steps, the chief started down the face of the cliff. He missed his footing and fell almost to the bottom. When picked up, it was found that he had sustained a fracture of the skull and had four ribs broken. His physicians are of the opinion that he is fatally hurt.

FORTS STILL STANDING.

Destruction of Chinese Strongholds Perplexes the Powers.

PEKING, June 24.—There has been no meeting of the ministers of the foreign powers at Peking since last Tuesday, but the ministers themselves all profess satisfaction with the present course of events.

The Chinese forts have not yet been destroyed. It has been determined that each nation will destroy those forts now occupied by its troops, but the ministers find that the respective military commanders object to destroying Chinese forts not occupied by their troops. Consequently the ministers will probably have to employ Chinese labor to effect the destruction of the unoccupied forts and at the joint expense of the different powers.

Many Chinese eunuchs have been selling valuables which without question came from the Forbidden City. The valuables thus sold were probably passed over the walls of the city to the eunuchs' confederates outside. One beautifully carved table which was seen in the Forbidden City only two weeks ago has been sold by a eunuch for 600 taels. No valuables of any kind have been taken out of the city through its gates. These are guarded by American and Japanese troops.

It is estimated that the cost of repairing the palace, independent of the valuable works of art which are missing, will reach 250,000 taels.

Members of the staff of Li Hung Chang and Prince Ching say that great anxiety is felt regarding the whereabouts and safety of a large quantity of gold that was buried in the Forbidden City. Certain eunuchs who knew the secret of the location of this treasure have disappeared. These staff members further say that Li Hung Chang and Prince Ching have held a long consultation on this subject. Both Li and Ching deny officially that they have any fear or anxiety concerning this treasure and say they are certain that the foreign troops guarding it insure its safety.

But to European friends of long standing Li Hung Chang and Ching have expressed themselves freely and in a different strain on this matter.

To Celebrate Relief of Tien-tsin.

TIEN-TSIN, June 24.—The first anniversary of the relief of Tien-tsin will be celebrated today. The Russian and British authorities have publicly thanked the ladies who on June 17, the anniversary of the beginning of the siege of Tientsin, decorated the graves of the soldiers of all nationalities. The Chinese insurgent leader, General Ma, is here in consultation with the foreign commanders concerning the pacification and reconstruction of the country.

Disturbances In Manchuria.

LONDON, June 24.—The Daily Mail publishes a dispatch concerning further disturbances at Kharbin, in Manchuria. There are large bodies of Chinese troops in the neighborhood, and the railroad has been destroyed in several places.

EXPLOSION VICTIMS BURIED.

A Sad Day In Paterson—Fourteen Funerals In a Day.

PATERSON, N. J., June 24.—Great crowds yesterday flocked to the scene of Friday's explosion. Trolley parties from distant points were organized to visit the place where 17 people lost their lives, nine were seriously hurt and a dozen others received minor injuries.

Fourteen of the bodies were buried during the day.

Mrs. Lannigan's body will be made the subject of the inquest, and for this reason her funeral was not held. The jury which, with the coroner, will investigate the occurrence viewed the body this morning. This was the first step in the formal proceedings. The inquest may begin in the latter part of the week or earlier, as Prosecutor Emley may direct. There is a disposition to hurry it while the events of Friday noon are still fresh in the minds of those who were close by and escaped with their lives.

A Bloody Duel.

BRAIDENTOWN, Fla., June 24.—News reaches here of a bloody duel to the death near Miakka, in Manatee county. Judge Seth E. Stephens, a county justice and a wealthy farmer, and John A. Webb, a neighbor, also prominent in county affairs, met on the road three miles from Miakka and renewed an old feud that existed between them. Webb was riding when overtaken and asked by Stephens to stop and settle then and there the dispute between them. He did so, telling his driver to go ahead. When the driver proceeded several hundred yards, he looked back to see both men grappling in the road. He returned to find Stephens dead with a bloody knife in his hand and Webb seriously stabbed in several places. Webb is yet alive and may recover.

Cape Colony Invasion Serious.

LONDON, June 24.—Lord Kitchener has as yet sent no report of the Waterkloof mishap. Recent events in Cape Colony seem to prove the Boer invasion of that country to be serious. A letter to The Daily Mail, dated Cape Town, June 5, confirms the pro-Boer report and says the invaders number anything from 7,000 to 10,000, that they are swarming all over the eastern and midland districts and getting recruits and horses. The Daily Mail remarks that confirmation of these assertions is needed, but if this information is correct, the paper says, the country has been entirely misled regarding the extent of the invasion.

Strikers Enjoined.

MILWAUKEE, June 24.—A sweeping injunction of widespread scope and importance relative to the strike of machinists has been issued to the Vilter Manufacturing company of this city. The order prevents the strikers from in any way interfering with the workmen employed at the Vilter works, from gathering about the works, from posting pickets, from combining for the purpose of preventing tradesmen selling to workmen who have refused to quit and from doing anything that will in any way operate to result in damage to the Vilter company.

Murderous Assault on a Watchman.

NEW YORK, June 24.—William Dubeldies, a watchman employed at the West Shore railroad roundhouse at New Durham, N. J., interrupted two men who were stealing brass journals from the roundhouse. One of them set upon him with a heavy bludgeon and struck him repeatedly, crushing in his breast bone and fracturing his skull. He is dying at his home in Union Hill, N. J.

CAILLES GIVES UP.

Large Band of Followers and Many Rifles Taken.

A BANDIT PROCLAMATION PROPOSED.

Filipinos Request Their Leader to Declare All Who Now Refuse to Surrender to Be Outlaws.

SANTA CRUZ, Philippine Islands, June 24.—General Cailles surrendered here today to General Sumner. His followers had been congregating for some days past.

Colonel Caballes, who with 120 of General Cailles' command fled to the mountains in fear of being hanged by the Americans, has been overtaken by messengers from Cailles conveying the general's orders to surrender. When Cailles' messengers caught up with and explained the situation to the fleeing colonel, the latter apologized to his general and returned to Pagsangan with still another 120 men whom he persuaded to come in and surrender. Caballes brings at least 500 rifles from the outlying posts beyond Pagsangan.

It is reported that a large number of Cailles' followers have approached him with the proposition that he issue a strongly worded proclamation declaring all Filipino insurgents who refuse to surrender to be considered as bandits and that this proclamation be published by the presidentes of every town in Laguna province.

General Malvar's Force to Surrender.

MANILA, June 24.—The insurgent colonel Arollio, together with a considerable portion of the forces of General Malvar, is expected to surrender to the American authorities at San Jose, in Batangas province, next Wednesday.

With the change from a military to a civil government for the Philippine Islands, which occurs July 4, the difficulty between the department of the military secretary and the civil service board over the matter of holding examinations in the civil service for certain civilians now employed by the military department will disappear.

RAILWAY SHOPS MOBBED.

Strikers After Nonunion Laborers Cause Bloodshed.

COLUMBIA, S. C., June 24.—The Southern railway shops in this city were attacked about 3:30 o'clock Sunday morning by a mob of several score of men. No damage to property was attempted except to break through the high fence surrounding the yards. The strikers were after the nonunion laborers and made for a car in which 20 were sleeping. A man whose name is said to be Myers was on guard. He fired both barrels of his gun into the crowd, receiving himself a .32 caliber bullet in his forehead, but the skull was not penetrated. The mob fired a great many shots into the car in which the men were sleeping. None of the nonunionists was wounded, but after they had been dragged out of the car they were pretty roughly handled. They were marched up the railroad track several miles and ordered to travel north.

Later in the day all but one of these men were brought back to the city by a force sent out from the shops.

It was not until in the afternoon that it was known any of the rioters had been wounded. Close inquiry developed the fact that the wounds of four men, at least one serious, had been dressed by two physicians. The doctors said they did not know the names of the men.

The strike leaders and the head men in the labor unions that have supported the striking machinists regard the attack as most unfortunate from the standpoint of the strikers.

A number of the most influential strikers did not know, so it is said, of the contemplated attack. A half dozen police are stationed at the shops, but no further trouble is anticipated for the present at least.

Old Guards' Colonel Drowned.

SOUTH NORWALK, Conn., June 24.—Thomas Sloan of New York city, the colonel of the Old Guard, was drowned in a peculiar yachting accident off Keysers island, South Norwalk harbor. Mr. Sloan and a young lady to whom he was engaged went out in a 30 foot sloop belonging to William Edwards of this city and when rounding the island noticed the approach of a squall. The sails were lowered, the little craft anchored in the lee of the land, and the party had just taken refuge in the cabin when a sudden gust of wind fairly lifted the yacht out of the water and dropped it back again broadside uppermost.

Six Lost When Bark Went Down.

PENZANCE, June 24.—There is now no doubt but that the captain, mate and four men of the British bark Falkland, Captain Gracie, from Tacoma Jan. 30 for Falmouth, which was wrecked off Bishop's rock June 22, are drowned. The body of Mate Bateson has been recovered. According to the stories of the survivors the Falkland missed stays and was swung on to Bishop's rock with great violence. The ship immediately began to settle down. At the time of the accident the weather was bad, and great confusion prevailed on board. Owing to her heavy list it was only possible to get out one lifeboat.

The Poughkeepsie Crews.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 24.—The colony of college oarsmen who are here training for the races on July 2 has been augmented by the arrival of Cornell university's delegation, comprising a varsity eight oared crew, a varsity four and a freshman eight. The oarsmen have unloaded their shells and placed them in the boathouse which has been built for them on the Oakes wharf on the west bank of the river half a mile south of the bridge.

Democrats Refuse to Join.

TOPEKA, June 24.—The Democratic state central committee of Kansas has refused an invitation from the Populists to join in the formation of a new fusion party under a distinct name. This action was taken at a meeting here of the Democratic committee presided over by J. MacLove, state chairman. Twenty-three members of the committee were present, and ten others were represented by proxy.

Furnaces and Railroad Leased.

LEBANON, Pa., June 24.—The Lackawanna Iron and Steel company of Scranton has perfected a 20 years' lease of the two Burd Coleman furnaces, the North Cornwall furnaces and the Cornwall railroad. The railroad will be double tracked.

Company K To Sea Girt.

Plainfield's militia boys, who go to make up Company K, of the Second Regiment, N. G. N. J., are to have their first experience of real camp life this summer. According to orders sent to Captain William Kempton Browning, the company, with Company L, of the same regiment, hailing from Princeton, will occupy the State camp at Sea Girt from July 27 to August 3, inclusive.

Every year it is the custom for a part of the State militia to go to Sea Girt for a week of camp life with incidental rifle practice and drill. Owing the limited size of the appropriation for that purpose, the entire force cannot visit the camp the same year. This feature of the year's programme for the militiamen is decidedly popular with most of them. Most of the Plainfielders have been very anxious to go to Sea Girt but they were not certain whether it would fall to their lot to go. The State authorities have decided, however, that the two new companies of the Second Regiment are to get a week of camp life and learn something of what the active life of a soldier is like.

There has been more or less talk about the remote possibility of Company K being called out in case of serious trouble for active service in Plainfield. There is, however, no chance of such a thing happening. Should it ever happen that the local authorities were unable to cope with the trouble, the Governor would assign for duty here a company of militia from another part of the State where the men would not be acquainted with any of the participants. So the members of Company K. need have no worry over the possibility of taking any active participation in the local affairs.

It was generally supposed that as soon as the appropriation for street signs was made by the Borough Council, in answer for the popular demand, that there would be no time lost in securing the signs. It seems, however, that nothing has been done and that the signs for the borough are just as far off as ever, deepite the fact that the necessary funds have been provided. The people of North Plainfield want the street signs as soon as possible. There is no season of the year when they are more generally used than in the summer with its host of strangers. The members of the Borough Council should therefore lose no time in determining the exact number of signs needed and expending the appropriation as judiciously as possible. If more money is needed, let it be appropriated at the next meeting, but let the signs be purchased as far as the appropriation will go. This is a subject that needs immediate attention.

There is a fairly good prospect that the open air band concerts are to be a regular feature of the summer life in Plainfield this year. Ben LaVere, leader of LaVere's band, has started in to see what funds can be secured and has so far met with good success. It is his plan to hold these concerts every Friday evening on East Front street, near the Hotel Waldorf. There are many who would prefer to see the concerts held in some open square but, owing to the large contribution by the proprietor of that hotel, Mr. LaVere has chosen that location. If any one else is willing to make up the amount Mr. LaVere has expressed his willingness to give the concerts anywhere they may desire. Last year, Mr. LaVere was considerably out of pocket after the concerts and he is not anxious for a repetition of that this season.

If the law will permit, the members of the Borough Council have decided to abolish the various watering troughs which now stand on Somerset street. They are principally located in front of saloons. Several of the Councilmen declared that these troughs had proved great nuisances. The need of some provision for watering horses is appreciated by the Councilmen, however, and their plan is to build two public fountains close to Somerset street, which the Plainfield Water Supply Company has agreed to connect with the mains of that company without cost to the borough.

During the North Plainfield High School commencement exercises Friday evening, State Senator E. C. Stokes, who made the address of the evening, said some very complimentary things about S. St. John McCutchen, president of the Borough Board of Education. They were perfectly deserved, however. North Plainfield is very fortunate in having at the head of its school board a man of the calibre of Mr. McCutchen.

The officials of the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway Company have notified the Common Council that they are preparing to build a car shed at once. Under the present arrangements the cars are stored on West Fourth street, between Monroe and Grant avenues. The residents in that neighborhood will greatly appreciate the change.

In giving the names of the thirteen graduates of the North Plainfield High School last week, the name of Howard Arrison George was unintentionally omitted. George graduated from the scientific course with honor after four years in the borough High School. He was present at the exercises and received his diploma with the rest.

Next Saturday will be one of the most important days in the local golf season. On that day the Park Golf Club will entertain the members of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club. An elaborate programme of events has been provided.

On page two of today's Daily Press will be found the full text of the essay of Charles Ames Brooks, which won the first Babcock prize in English composition at the Plainfield High School this year.

G. L. Howard, of Mercer avenue, and E. S. Hooley, of Rockview avenue, returned from a yachting trip today.

Mrs. Randolph and son, Howard Randolph, of West Front street, are planning a trip to California next month.

"A Solution of the Servant Girl Problem."

Such is the theme of the new story, by Rev. Chas. M. Sheldon, the opening chapters of which appear elsewhere in this paper under the title:

"Born to Serve."

It is a strong story, written with a purpose, and yet full of interest, and a prettily woven romance in connection. We advise our readers to follow it to completion.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence.)

Dunellen, June 24—An aggregation of ball players, styled the Clinton Avenue Seconds, of Plainfield, met with overwhelming defeat at the hands of Frank Rinehart's team, Saturday afternoon. The game was played on the Lincoln avenue grounds and was witnessed by a fair sized crowd. From the very start the Dunellen team showed its superiority and in the first inning secured 15 runs. They continued coming in with unceasing regularity until the overworked scorer finally lost count. He knew, however, that the Clinton Avenues were far in rear and that Dunellen had won. The batteries were Ayers and Kuldoshes for Dunellen and Scott, Mottley and Nordstrom for the Clinton Avenues.

A number of tennis enthusiasts of the borough are making plans for a tournament to take place shortly between a team from the young men's class and another not yet designated by any particular name. Both sides were practicing all Saturdays afternoon on the park courts and the members appeared to be in very good shape.

Bishop Scarborough's visit to the borough yesterday resulted in a very large attendance at the afternoon service at the Church of the Holy Innocents. At that time an interesting and helpful sermon was preached. The musical programme was excellent, the regular choir being assisted by Mrs. R. L. Giddis, Fred Dayton and J. E. Low.

Schepflin Day proved very successful at the bowling links Saturday afternoon. A large number of members of the Middlesex Bowling League were in attendance and had a delightful time. During the afternoon refreshments were served.

James Craig and sons, Howard and Walter, enjoyed a fishing trip to Perth Amboy Saturday, but the members of the finny tribe evidently had a day off, as they returned with empty baskets.

The Watchung Water Company has nearly completed the laying of mains on Dunellen avenue and will shortly commence operations on Jefferson avenue, north from Front street.

The arrival of a young son at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Apgar has been the cause of much rejoicing.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence.)

New Market, June 24—Children's Day was celebrated in the Seventh-Day Baptist church Saturday. The church was artistically decorated with ferns and rosee. After some interesteeting recitations and songs by the children, an address was given by the pastor which closed the programme.

A game of baseball was played Saturday afternoon between the single and married men of the town. After an exciting game the single men came off victorious.

(Special Correspondence.)

Scotch Plains, June 24—The local base ball team came near meeting with its first defeat of the season Saturday afternoon when it met the New Providence Field Club. For seven innings the visitors kept in the lead and put up a very strong game both at the bat and in the field. This, together with the fact that the members of the home team seemed to have a day off in their playing, kept the "fans" guessing until the eighth inning when the locals took a brace and batted out six runs. This, together with the five gathered in the previous innings, made the score 11 to 6. New Providence was shut out in the ninth and the game was at last won much to the delight of cranks.

Following his score by innings:

A Strenuous Infant.

In a pretty cottage on the lake shore an ex-soldier was reclining in his easy chair, his feet up in the air and a "fragrant Havana" between his lips, watching his boy strutting around in imitation of his soldierly gait. The mother took the would-be soldier from his play to the nursery to be tucked into bed. Ready for bed, he knelt down beside his sister, as usual, to say his prayer, but the soldier spirit was fermenting within him.

"Now I lay me down to sleep, I pray"—he conned along, but could go no further.

This might do for the white-robed cherub by his side, but it was altogether too "soft" for a boy that would be a soldier.

He felt that he had been imposed upon when they used an effort to make him do as girls did.

Jumping to his feet, his eyes flashing at his mother, he exclaimed: "Mans don't say this!" And he didn't.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

A Woman's Way.

There is an amusing story of Mrs. Blank, wife of one of New York's famous merchants, and her private bank account. She started an account of her own at the time when a ladies' department was established in the Second national bank by Joseph S. Case, its paying teller, now its cashier. In less than no time Mrs. Blank had checked out about $250 more than her balance, and the bank dutifully notified her millionaire husband, who carried a balance of $40,000 there. "You must teach my wife a lesson," he said. "Send her notice of overdraft, and demand an immediate adjustment." A messenger politely explained the trouble to madam, who graciously turned to her escretoire and wrote out a check for the amount overdrawn, which she gave to him with regrets at having been so negligent. At the bank it was generally agreed that the joke was on Mr. Blank, who made good.—N. Y. Press.

Misshaped Men Are Many.

The majority of men are more or less deformed. Shoulders of unequal height, arms and legs of different lengths and disproportionate shoulders and hips are the rule, rather than the exception. The tailor's art serves to conceal most of these defects. The most common physical defect among men is unevenness of the shoulders. The difference is usually so small that only an eye accustomed to noticing such things will see it. A closely fitting coat will often hide this, since the symmetry of the garment will deceive the eye. When the difference is more pronounced the tailor usually pads the lower shoulder. It is often necessary to cut the sleeve hanging from the lower shoulder shorter in order to keep the garment symmetrical. The hips are often badly out of drawing. A difference of half an inch would scarcely be noticeable, but it may be much more.—N. Y. World.

Settled a Dispute.

At a recent meeting of the Entomological society in London the president G. H. Verrall, told an amusing story to prove that a knowledge of insects may even be useful in settling questions in literary history. Commentators on the works of Robert Louis Stevenson were trying in vain to discover whether the notes made by him in a certain book were written before or after he took up his residence in Samoa. It happened that a fly had been squeezed between the pages and when Mr. Varrall saw it he instantly recognized it as belonging to a species peculiar to the Polynesian islands. That settled the question.—Chicago Chronicle.

Music from the Electric Arc.

A London electrician, Mr. W. Duddell, recently gave an exhibition of a novel musical instrument, composed of a series of electric arc lights, which played a popular air. When the current is passing through solid carbons they give off a musical sound, and by placing a shunt across the carbons, connected with a keyboard, Mr. Duddell was able to vary the sounds through the scale of two octaves. The keyboard served to vary the self-induction and capacity in the shunt circuit, and by employing four arcs in series, the intensity of the sounds was made sufficiently great.—Science.

Due Notice Required.

"We had a fire at our house, and the servant girl was nearly burned to death."

"Lighting the fire with kerosene, eh?"

"No; it was a defective flue. You see, I yelled to the girl to get out as soon as we discovered the fire, but she said she wouldn't leave without two weeks' notice."—Philadelphia Record.

To the citizens of Plainfield: The law abiding citizens of Plainfield are called upon to assist the Executive by their conduct and influence in perserving good order and maintaining the fair name of this city. Recent occurrences make it imparative that every good citizen should, by strict observance of the laws of the State and the ordinances of the City and the exertion of his influence to induce like conduct on the part of others, aid in preventing any act which may lead to breach of the peace, unlawful assembly, or other illegal proceedings.

All persons are warned against leaving the customary pursuits to mingle with street crowds and against interfering in any manner with the free use of thoroughfares so as to deprive any person or persons of the right to use such thoroughfares without molestation.

CHAPTER I.

THE WORLD NEEDS LOVE.

"At the same time, Richard," said Mrs. Richard Ward, anxiously, "it comes back to the old question: What are we to do? You know I am not strong enough to keep house alone. We can't afford to break up our home and go into a hotel, and yet it seems almost the only thing left to do. What shall we do?"

"I don't understand why all our girls stay so short a time!" exclaimed Mr. Ward, irritably. And then he looked across the table at his wife, and his look softened a little as he noted more carefully her tired face and the traces of tears on her cheeks.

"Oh, I don't understand it! All I know is that they are all simply horrid. I do everything for them and never get anything but ingratitude from every one of them! The idea of Maggie leaving me to-day of all the days, just when Aunt Wilson was coming, and Alfred home from college, and Lewis down with his accident; it is more than I can bear, Richard. If you were any sort of a man, you would know what to do!"

"Well, I am any sort of a man, and I don't know in the least what to do," replied Mr. Richard Ward to himself, as his wife laid her head down on the table, regardless of several dishes overturned, and broke into sobs as a relief to her feelings which had been growing in hysterical power ever since Maggie, the hired girl, had that morning not only given notice of her departure but had actually left, after a brief but heated discussion about the housework in the Ward family.

The two children at the table turned frightened looks first at the father and then at the mother, and the youngest of them began to cry.

"Stop that, Carl!" exclaimed Mr. Ward, sharply. Then, as he pushed back his plate with the food on it untouched, he muttered to himself: "I'm losing all my Christianity over this miserable hired-girl business. It's breaking up our home life and wrecking the joy of our very children."

The child's lip curled in a piteous effort at control and the older one began eating again, looking from father to mother anxiously.

Mr. Ward rose, and, going over to his wife, he sat down by her and stroked her head gently.

"There, Martha, you are all worn out. Just go into the sitting-room and lie down. George and I will do up the dishes, won't we, George? We'll play hired girl to-night, won't we?"

"Let me help, too!" cried Carl.

"Yes, you can help, too. Finish your supper, and we'll have a jolly time washing and wiping. Now, Martha, you go in and lie down. We'll get things straightened out somehow."

Mrs. Ward feebly protested, but allowed her husband to lead her into the sitting-room, where she sank down on a lounge.

"I've got a splitting headache, Richard; leave the dishes until morning. You're tired with your business."

"No, I don't like to see them lying around. Besides, dirty dishes have a way of growing with miraculous rapidity when the girl's gone and things go to pieces like this," he said, with a lapse into irritation again.

"It's not my fault!" exclaimed Mrs. Ward, sharply. "Carl, stop that noise," she added as Carl began to gather up some of the dishes, piling the biggest plates on the little ones and letting several knives and forks clatter to the floor in his eagerness to help.

"Don't be always nagging the children, Martha!" said Mr. Ward, angrily, losing his temper for the tenth time that evening. The other times he had lost it silently.

"It's always: 'Stop that noise!' from mother when her head aches," said George as he tried to pick up the knives and forks quietly, and let them drop twice before he had them back on the table.

"See me help! See me help!" sung Carl as he started towards the kitchen door with his arms full of dishes. The pile was too heavy for his strength; and, as he neared the door the column began to topple, it balanced for a moment on the edge of safety, and then fell with a crash. The child looked at the ruin a moment in terrified silence, then sat down on the floor and began to cry.

Mrs. Ward sat up on the lounge and looked at her husband almost savagely.

"Richard Ward, if you don't do something to change all this—"

She did not finish her sentence, but lay down and turned her face to the wall in despair. And Richard Ward, of the firm of Mead, Ward and Company, known in business circles as a good, agreeable, and fairly successful merchant, and in church circles as a consistent member and active Christian man, turned from his wife and went out into the dining-room with a look on his face that his minister had never seen, and a feeling in his heart that was a good way from being what might be expected in a man who was "in good and regular standing" in the Marble Square church.

"It would be very funny, if it were not so near a tragedy," he said to himself as he picked up the broken dishes while the two boys looked on. "It would be comical, if it were not so miserably serious in its effects on our home life. Here I am doing the dirty, common work of the kitchen, I, Richard Ward, the dignified, well-to-do member of the firm of Mead, Ward and Company, all because of this girl, who—"

He did not finish the sentence even to himself, but went on with the work of clearing the table, making the two boys sit down in a corner of the dining-room while he did the work. When he had carried everything out, he let the children go out into the kitchen with him, while he carefully shut the door into the dining-room and then proceeded to "do up" the dishes, letting George help, and finally, in answer to the younger boy's plea, allowing him to carry some of the indestructible dishes into the pantry.

"It's fun, isn't it, papa?" said Carl, as the last dish was wiped and the towels hung up.

"Great fun," replied Mr. Ward, grimly.

"Father means it isn't," said George, with a superior wisdom.

"Anyhow, I think it's fun. Only I don't like the old girls. They make mamma feel bad. Do they make you feel bad, papa?"

"Yes, my son, they do," replied Mr. Ward, as he sat down in one of the old kitchen chairs and took his younger son into his lap. And, if the truth were told, if his two small sons had not been present, it is possible Mr. Richard Ward might actually have shed tears over the constantly recurring tragedy of the "hired girl" as it had been acted in various forms in his own household during the last five years since they had moved into the city and his wife's health begun to break down from household cares.

"And yet I don't understand these women," he said to himself, as he sat there in the kitchen, his chin on the little boy's head, while George perched on the kitchen table gravely observant. "We have everything in the world to do with. Our family is not very large. Martha is kind, and gives the girls very many favors. We pay good wages and are ready to put up with many kinds of incompetency, and yet we don't seem to be able to keep any sort of a girl more than three months at a time. It is breaking up our home life. It is simply absurd that I should be doing this kitchen work, but Martha isn't well, and there's breakfast to get and all the work after it."

He thought of his wife in the other room on the lounge and was filled with remorse for her.

"I was a brute to talk to her so sharply," he said, out loud.

"Brutes don't talk," said George, from his elevated post on the table, speaking from knowledge gained in a study of natural history given him by his Aunt Wilson.

"Some of them do. The two-legged ones," replied his father. And he rose, and with the boys went into the sitting-room.

They found that Mrs. Ward had gone upstairs in answer to a call from Lewis, the oldest boy of the family, at home, who had broken his arm the week before while engaged in sport at school.

The duty of putting the two younger lads to bed devolved upon the father. He performed the duty without much heart in it. His wife was silent and in no mood for reconciliation. When Carl said his usual prayer, he added: "And bless Maggie, because she is so bad, and has wandered far from the fold," repeating a phrase he had heard at Sunday school the week before. And Mr. Ward listened with anything but a love of mankind in his heart, wondering whether he ought not to be included in the child's petition, esteemed church member though he might be in the eyes of those who did not see into his home life.

In the morning he faced a tired, listless, discouraged wife, sitting opposite him at a breakfast which had been prepared with his help, under protest, and with a spirit of nervous depression that from experience he knew well enough meant a miserable day at home.

He rose from the table with a really desperate feeling, saying again to himself: "It would be funny, if it were not so tragic."

"I'll try to find some one, Martha," he said, feebly, as he put on his hat.

"I don't care whether you do or not," she answered, indifferently.

He was tempted to grow angry, but checked himself.

"I'll advertise. I'm tired of sending to the agencies."

His wife did not answer.

"We'll do the best we can, Martha. There must be some competent girl in this city somewhere."

"If there is, we never found one," Mrs. Ward answered sharply.

He wisely declined to discuss the question, and started to go out.

"I'll not be at home to lunch," he said, putting his head in at the door.

There was no answer, and he slowly shut the door and started for his car at the next corner; and, of the many burdened, perplexed hearts carried into the city that morning, it is doubtful whether any out of all the number was more burdened than that of Mr. Richard Ward, of the firm of Mead, Ward and Company.

He sent in to three of the leading evening papers a carefully worded advertisement asking for a competent servant, and took up his day's work with its usual routine without the least expectation that any reply would come from his advertisements. It would, therefore, have given him a peculiar sense of interest in the future, if at about six o'clock that evening, as he went out of his office and with strange reluctance started for his home, he could have seen in a house not two blocks from his own a young woman eagerly reading the advertisement and talking to an older woman in a strangely subdued, but at the same time positive, manner concerning it.

COOL STREET GOWNS.

They Are Made of Cotton Trimmed With Heavy Lace or Foulard.

A great many tailor made dresses and street costumes are being made of linen this year. They are embellished with insertion, tucks and embroideries of all sorts. Heavy string colored lace is being much used on these dresses. It is appliqued in wavy bands, and the material of the dress is cut out from beneath.

A novel trimming of Arabian lace consists of large wheels appliqued here and there with black velvet dots. Shirt waist costumes made of gingham and composed of the blouse waist and the skirt matching it promise to be very popular. Dotted materials are more in style than ever. Many street gowns have appliqued bands of dotted velvet or foulard. The latter is much used for trimming outing hats and even for making crush belts and sailor collars.

The gown in the illustration shows this fad. It is made of dark blue linen. The full Eton jacket is made without front gores, which gives it a ripple effect. There is a wide sailor collar and frills of blue foulard with white polka dots. The full bishop sleeves fasten into a band of the same foulard, and the wide crush belt is also made of it. Two little gold tassels are placed on each side of the front. The unique outing hat is of coarse yellow straw trimmed with a soft scarf of the foulard drawn through a gold buckle.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

TRAVELING CLOAKS.

No Well Dressed Woman Is Without One.

A serviceable dust cloak is a garment in high favor with women travelers. However, it must be light weight, capable of standing a rainstorm, and also it must not show wrinkles and creases. The model in the illustration was recently worn on a train by a society woman noted for her taste in dress.

The coat was of heavy navy blue sicilienne, and it was lined with red silk. The entire trimming consisted of bands of red stitching. The back was half fitted, and the two seams were opened six inches from the bottom to allow greater ease in raising the dress skirt. The sleeves were made large so that the garment could be easily slipped on. The buttons which fastened the box front and the sleeve bands were of dark red twilled silk. With this costume she wore a very simple but stylish hat. It was a sailor of blue stitched silk, which was tilted slightly on the left side by means of a band and trimmed with a narrow black and red velvet ribbon.

The well dressed woman is known by the simple clothes she wears when traveling. All frills and ornate effects which catch the dust should be avoided, and also dress goods which cannot be brushed easily. For this reason sicilienne and mohair are much used this year for outing shirt waists, cloaks and suits.

A LOVER'S REVENGE.

Legend of the Origin of Two Rocks in Grand Canyon.

Poetic Story Told by the Havasupai Indians of How "Those Above" Reproved the Yielding to Temptation.

[Special Arizona Letter.]

WHILE the Indian is not the emotionless, stolid, soulless individual so many people think he is, it must not be thought that he has a refinement of culture and passion possessed by those who rank as "civilized." True, he may not really be more cruel than his civilized brother or sister, but he is ruder, more simple and direct in his cruelties and vengeance.

According to the traditions of the Havasupai Indians, of Havasu canyon in northern Arizona, they have long been at enmity with the fierce and warlike Apaches, who now live in southern Arizona. In the early days of their history the Apaches and Havasupais are all said to have lived in peace in the quiet seclusion of this wonderful canyon home. The Havasu (Blue Water) flows meandering along between the willows in the tiny patches of arable land formed in the canyon, and on one side of this stream lived the Apaches and on the other the Havasupais.

One of the Havasupai young women was gifted by Those Above with great beauty, and many were the lovers she had of her own people. Though the Apache youths looked upon the beautiful maiden with eyes of delight and favor, they knew the direct commands of the gods prohibited any marriage between the two peoples. Hence their souls were filled with longing which they knew could never be satisfied, and it was no comfort to them to see and know that the Havasupai youths had a free field in which to win the dusky girl's favors. Most of them, however, were too much afraid of the anger of Those Above to dare more than lift their eyes upon the attractive maiden, but one youth, in whose heart the fire of Cupid burned with fierce ardor, resolved to dare everything, if only he might win her for his bride. Night after night would he hide in the willows by the side of the bubbling Havasu and tell it of his love to Pana-ma-hi-ta. He would climb the steep walls that shut in the small tribe, that he might overlook the "hawa" of the object of his adorations. But, alas, he could never tell her how much he loved her. The days and weeks went by, and he was driven to a fury of jealous despair, when he learned that in six more sleeps she was to marry one of the favored Havasupai suitors. In his fierce anger he climbed the cliffs and rushed hither and thither on the plateaux above. He wandered through the Kohonino forest and out into the wild wastes of the Painted desert. Even the coyotes and hawks saw something strange and amiss in him, and the gentle doves flew away in terror as he cried aloud in the anguish of his jealousy and despair. Then he wandered back to the "ruin" of the Grand canyon and went down the secret trail to Hue-tha-wa-li—the white rock mountain—and thence to the roaring river—Hack-a-tai-a—and as he stood looking on the wild, surging, swirling waters of the rapids and heard their fierce roar in his ears he shouted and yelled and shrieked in sympathy with their madness and told that he himself was torn and rent with agony at the thought that now, in two more sleeps, his adored one would be the bride of another.

Then, suddenly, he became supernaturally calm. A glad light came into his eyes, but a keen observer would have seen in the steely glint of them a desperate resolution, and his firmly set lips and clenched fists did not belie this appearance of firm resolve. He would dare as no man born of woman had ever before dared.

The father of the girl soon appeared and the transfer of buckskins, as the purchase price of his daughter, was duly made, and then the hunt for the maiden began. For, according to their custom, as soon as her father began the trading for her, she was secretly to steal away and hide, and all the young fellows were to hunt for her and then convey her with laughter and jest to the new home she was to occupy.

They say love lends wings to his votaries, and no eyes are so keen as those of a bridegroom. But on this occasion the Cloud People seemed to have put mist in the eyes of the bridegroom, and the Wind People must have whispered to the Apache lover, for he, and not the bridegroom, found the maiden's trail and with the speed of the wind itself followed her. She had crossed the Havasu and was hidden in the willows on the Apache side of the stream, and when her Apache adorer came up with her, she doubtless began to think, as even Indian maidens will, that she must profess an unwillingness to be taken to the arms of her lover.

Anyhow, it was easy for the Apache to persuade her to go stealthily with him around a great arm of rocky wall thrust out into the canyon, and there steal up a precarious trail, which, like a cobweb, seemed to cross the face of the cliff. When they had reached a good height he bade the maiden pause and rest, and then, darting back a few steps to a place where the trail made a dangerous zigzag, he loosened two heavy rocks which had long ago been prepared for an emergency that might arise. These rocks fell with a crash, utterly cutting off every hope and possibility of pursuit, and then, with a shrill yell of triumph, the daring Apache returned to the now frightened maiden and informed her that it was in his arms, and not in those of her Havasupai lover she was to rest that night. His yell and her echoing shriek of despair attracted the attention of the youths below, and to their surprise and anger, as they looked up, they beheld the Apache carrying away the bride of their friend, and they stood helpless to prevent it.

"To the trail!" one shouted. "Bring bows and arrows!" cried another. But they soon saw that neither was of use. The trail was blocked, and who could send an arrow into the heart of a man who held a maiden in his arms.

Suffice it to say the young Apache, with many a taunting word and shriek of defiance, slowly climbed out of the canyon, and he and the maiden disappeared, never to be seen or heard of for many a day.

Then the Apaches and the Havasupais began to argue about the matter, the former declaring that "All was fair in love and war," and the other condemning the sacrilege and disobedience to the commands of Those Above, who had directed that there should be no intermarriage. The result was words; these grew to blows, and blows to open warfare, and, at length, the Havasupais drove the Apaches out from their canyon home, and ever since there has been the most mortal hatred and enmity existent between them.

But the bereaved bridegroom cared little for anything that transpired. He wanted the woman he had lost, and even more than for his bride he longed for revenge. This was what he longed for and dreamed of, and finally resolutely set about to gain. He craftily laid his plans, changed his appearance as far as possible, taught his face new tricks of expression and compelled his voice to use new tones, and then, going off to the desert, began his hunt for his lost bride. He wandered in the forests and over the high mountains. He camped in the deep canyons and ravines, and got lost in the fearful mazes of the gorges of the Tonto Basin. Several times he was nearly captured by hostile Indian foes, and it required all his skill and craft to protect himself. Finally his search was rewarded. He found his foe. Putting on a friendly guise he wormed himself into his confidence and became his companion. After weeks of planning he got his enemy to go away into the northern desert with him. There, while the Apache was asleep, he fell upon him and bound him hand and foot. Then as his prisoner he marched him back to the canyon of the Havasu. There all the people came to gloat over his capture and the wise men were asked to devise a horrible and fearful death. They decided to take him to the steepest wall of the Grand canyon, where there is a precipice 2,000 feet high. Here, one man taking the wretched prisoner by the hair and another by the feet, he was swung to and fro over the abyss until he gave visible signs of the dread and fear he felt within, and then, with a yell, he was allowed to drop and fall, crushed out of all human semblance, upon the cruel rocks beneath.

And, said my informant, "to warn my people forever against having anything to do with the Apaches, Those Above placed upon the wall where the trail was up which the Apache went with the Havasupai man's bride, two great figures, here shown. One is of the stolen woman and the other is of the thief." These are objects of great reverence to the Havasupais, who name them the "Wig-li-i-wa," and in them they read the danger of man's yielding to the desires and lusts of the flesh and intermarrying with those forbidden.

Rapid Extension of the Rural Free Mail Delivery

Routes Are Now in Operation in Nearly Every State and Territory in the Union.

NO BRANCH of the government service is forging ahead faster in its efforts to meet the demands of a progressive people than is our post office department. Cheaper postage, reduction of time in the collection, transit and distribution of mail, and rural free delivery are three questions that are receiving the greatest amount of attention by those responsible for the management of the department.

Rural free delivery is not yet five years old, but it is a healthy and vigorous youngster that is well past the experimental stage. The first routes were established on October 1, 1896, at Halltown, Uvilla, and Charlestown, W. Va. Others followed at once, and by the close of the fiscal year the experiment showed satisfactory results. There were 44 routes in the fall of 1897; this number increased to 128 in 1898, and on November 1, 1899, had jumped to 634. These radiated from 383 distributing points and served a population of 452,735 persons. On June 30, 1900, a little more than six months later, the number of routes had grown to 1,214 for a population of 879,127, and in the next four months the system again more than doubled its proportions, showing on November 1, 1900, 2,551 routes for 1,801,524 persons; and there were also at that date 2,158 applications for the establishment of new routes, and on March 1, 1901, the applications numbered 4,517. The whole of the United States is now laid out in four divisions for the inauguration and maintenance of this service, and the work is going forward with steadily increasing volume.

President McKinley, in his message to congress of December 3, 1900, stated that "the number of applications now pending and awaiting action nearly equals all those granted up to the present time, and by the close of the fiscal year about 4,000 routes will have been established, providing for the daily delivery of mails at the scattered homes of about 3,500,000 of rural population." The president described this as the most striking new development of the postal service, which "ameliorates the isolation of farm life, conduces to good roads, and quickens and extends the dissemination of general information." He added that "experience thus far has tended to allay the apprehension that it would be so expensive as to forbid its general adoption or make it a serious burden; its actual application has shown that it increases postal receipts, and can be accomplished by reductions in other branches of the service, so that the augmented revenues and the accomplished savings together materially reduce the net cost." All these results, the preseident says, "have come almost wholly within the last year."

The first appropriations for the service, $10,000 for the fiscal year 1894, $20,000 for 1895, and $30,000 for 1896, were not used. Subsequent appropriations have been as follows: For 1897, $40,000; for 1898, $50,000; for 1899, $150,000; for 1900, $450,000; for 1901, $1,750,000. The post office appropriation bill, approved March 4, 1901, carries $3,500,000 for this use in the fiscal year 1902.

Undoubtedly the evolution of the rural free-delivery service as it now exists dates back to "village delivery" which Postmaster General Wanamaker recommended in 1890. The service he inaugurated, however, was not a "rural" delivery, but an extension of the city delivery system by carriers on foot in towns with a less population than 10,000, or less gross postal receipts than $10,000, the limit at which city delivery stops under existing law. The broad recommendations included in Mr. Wanamaker's report for an abandonment of the old colonial postal system (recently most aptly described by Postmaster General Charles Emory Smith as a plan which "required the man to go for the mails, instead of the mails going to the man"), aroused public attention, and started an agitation in congress and by the people for an extension of the free delivery system into hitherto untried fields. When, on a change of administration, the village delivery experiment inaugurated on Postmaster General Wanamaker's recommendation was ordered by congress to be discontinued, after a brief experimental existence of little more than two years, the movement for free delivery on a broader basis was not suspended, but grew in intensity.

The new agitation took the form, not of a request for free delivery in villages where none of the patrons lived more than a mile or so from their village post office, but of a movement to give country delivery to farmers who lived from two to twelve miles from any post office, and who, in consequence, had to waste the best part of a day whenever they wished to mail a letter or expected to receive one, or desired to obtain a newspaper or magazine for which they had subscribed.

The state granges of Patrons of Husbandry took up the subject and brought strong pressure to bear upon representatives in congress from agricultural communities. Under these incentives a number of small appropriations were passed, but, as already stated, were not used. The prevailing sentiment, both in congress and among the executive officers of the post office department, as then constituted, was that the plan of rural free delivery was impossible of general adoption, and that it would cost at least $20,000,000 a year to establish and maintain it.

Postmaster General Wilson S. Bissell declined to make any use of the small appropriation of $10,000 for experimental rural free delivery in 1894. His antagonistic views were concurred in by the committee on the post office and post roads of the Fifty-third congress, Hon. John S. Henderson, of North Carolina, being chairman. But many representatives had become strongly interested in the project, and in spite of the committee's adverse report, the appropriation was doubled. Mr. Bissell, however, again refused to act, and it was not until after Hon. William L. Wilson became postmaster general that anything was done to comply with the directions of congress. Mr. Wilson was appointed in the spring of 1895. In his first report he said that he had taken charge too late in the fiscal year to undertake the work. He agreed with his predecessor, Mr. Bissell, that the proposal was impracticable, but he added that if congress chose to make the money available for the fiscal year 1897 he would inaugurate the experiment by the best methods he could devise. The response by congress was a second doubling of the appropriation, putting $40,000 at his disposal.

Under this authorization, 44 routes were selected in widely differing localities in 29 states. The purpose was to make the experiment as general as possible, and to have the result represent the working of the system under as diverse conditions as possible. Fifteen routes were set going in October, 1896, 15 in November, eight in December, three in January, and one each in February and April following. Some of these routes were in the foothills of the Alleghenies about Charlestown, W. Va., others on the prairies of Kansas and Nebraska; some among the sugar plantations of Louisiana, others among the snow and ice of Grand Isle in Lake Champlain and on the windswept plains of Minnesota; some were in the populous old communities of northern Massachusetts and southwestern Maine, others among the fruit orchards of Arizona and the grass lands of southern Washington. The other states represented were Indiana, Ohio, Maryland, Missouri, Arkansas, Virginia, North Carolina, Colorado, Iowa, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Illinois, Tennessee and California.

It was dead of winter before the work got fairly under way, so that the difficulties were practically at a maximum, except that of muddy roads, which would become more and more impassable as spring came on. The officials who were intrusted with the inauguration of the service were often dissatisfied and unfavorably disposed toward the work, because they had to be detailed from their regular work in such a way as to hinder their probable promotion. Accordingly some of the first reports were quite discouraging.

The inspector who laid out the route at Hartsville, Ind., wrote that the people who were reached were not asking for delivery of their mails at their

SPORTING.

WHIST.

The eleventh congress of the American Whist League will be held at Hotel Pfister, Milwaukee, beginning Monday, July 29, and ending August 3 This league was organized at Milwaukee in 1801. There will be a reunion of the veteran players, and undoubtedly the attendance of players from all parts of the country will be large.

Games on the compass plan will be played on the afternoons and evenings of Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, and those who make a high score will be eligible to play in the match for winning pairs Saturday. Six trophies will be played for—the Hamilton trophy, representing the championship of the United States for teams of four; the Challenge trophy, also for fours; the Minneapolis trophy, representing the pair championship; the Brooklyn trophy, for auxiliary associations; the Associate Members' trophy, for pairs, and the Milwaukee trophy, for mixed fours. In addition to the above there will be a progressive match of fours. The trophies will be awarded to the custody of the winners, and the individual souvenirs given to the players on such teams.

It is quite likely that the New Jersey Whist Club will be represented by its celebrated four, but it is hardly possible that the Park Club will be represented.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

Mayor N. B. Smalley has purchased from Charles Maltby a black mare, "Cousin," and also a bay colt sired by "Alcantara."

Arrangements have been made to hold some interesting horse races at the Fairacre Driving Park, at Westfield, on Independence Day. One exciting event, which will serve to draw horse fanciers and racing enthusiasts from this city will be the race in which the following entries have been made: John Osborne's "Bessie Kirk;" David Smalley's "Ned Davis;" Mayor N. B. Smalley's "Fred;" J. N. Irving's "Jessie;" Robert Rushmore's bay gelding, driven by Thomas Brantingham; A. I. Smalley's "Belle," and Charles Brower's bay mare. Another event to furnish added excitement will be the road wagon race, in which Robert Fairbairn's "Viola F;" A. C. Vail's grey gelding, and Jas. Arkell's 'Highland Boy," have been entered.

ON THE DIAMOND.

The Park's Field Club's baseball team has wound up a successful season. The nine lost but three out of twelve games played.

The Hope chapel nine will play an all-scholastic team, composed of players on the City High School, the Borough High School and the Leal's teams, Wednesday afternoon. The game will most likely be played on Pittis' field.

Two teams from the Aluminum Plate and Press factory styled the Married and Single men, played a game of ball on the old golf grounds Saturday afternoon. The single men proved superior to the benedicts in every way and defeated them by a score of 19 to 16. There were a number of "star" features, especially on the part of those who were playing their first regular game. One man in particular, who after several trials at the bat, became so enthused over a fly which he knocked to left field, that he forgot to run and was put out before he woke up. The batteries were Burroughs, Gothaway and Randall for Married men and Borrop and Pawson for the Singles.

A team from the St. Agnes Academy, at New Brunswick, was defeated by the St. Mary Seconds in a well-played ball game on the old golf grounds Saturday. The score was 14 to 7. The batteries were O'Keefe and Kilpatrick for the St. Mary Seconds, and Kane and McDonald for the Academy team.

GOLF.

The present fine weather has materially helped the course of the Westfield Golf Club, and nearly every day a large number of players are to be seen making the rounds.

Arrangements are being completed for the proper observance of July 4 at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club. There will be play for the Holiday cup, offered by Ernest R. Ackerman, handicap play for active members only, and the regular Bogey handicap. In the evening there will be an exhibition of fireworks with many social features at the clubhouse.

SOCIAL PURITY.

Address Made By Rev. Dr. A H. Lewis At Congregational Church.

At the meeting of the Christain Endeavor Society of the Congregational church, last night, Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, editor of the Sabbath Recorder, delivered an address on social purity. The talk was simple, but practical and to the point. Dr. Lewis told of the connection between impurity and intemperance that where intemperance reigns the other sin is quick to follow. He spoke of the great influence for good that might go out from a body of consecrated young people, standing for purity of life and high ideals of marriage: and begged the Endeavors to remember that the destiny of the country was in the hands of the young people of today.

Claimed Blow in Defence of Wife.

Resenting an insulting remark which was made to his wife, Adam Hubler struck a man named Donahue in the face at the corner of Second street and Park avenue Saturday afternoon. His action was witnessed by Patrolman Gamo who placed him under arrest. He explained his conduct to City Judge Runyon this morning, but as he had no witnesses to bear him out the case was laid over until tomorrow morning in order to allow him to get several who were in the vicinity.

Admitted He Talked Too Loudly.

Hugh Roper, who was arrested on Grant avenue Thursday night by Patrolman Lunger, for disorderly conduct, was arraigned before City Judge Runyon this morning. He frankly admitted talking a little too boisterously in regard to the trouble which occurred in that vicinity earlier in the evening, but he stated it was due to several drinks. As he claimed to have a position waiting for him at Perth Amboy, sentence was suspended in order to allow him to accept it.

POND'S TO OPEN NEXT WEEK.

WILL GIVE OLD EMPLOYES A CHANCE TO RETURN.

Will Then Fill Places With Outside Men—All Quiet At The Works Today.

The officials of the Pond Tool Works have adopted a different line of tactics than that pursued by the other press works concerns in this city.

The Pond people have announced their intention to reopen next Monday. They will get as many as possible of the old employes to return to work during the present week. After the strikers have been given ample time to return to their employment, the places of those, who show no disposition to commence work again, will be filled by outsiders.

This morning seven of the old machinests appeared at the works and were put to work. There are now eight machinists and eight gang bosses in the shop.

There were no signs of disorder either this morning or at noon today. Chief Kiely, with a detail of two patrolmen, was on hand to cope with any possible difficulty, but as matters turned out, there was no occasion for their services.

CITY JOTTINGS.

DEATH OF MRS. MILLER.

Passed Away at Home of Her Son-in-Law, Fred Yount, of Walnut Street.

The death of Mrs. Anna S. Miller, widow of the late Parker B. Miller, occurred yesterday at the home of her son-in-law, Fred Yount, of Walnut street. She was formerly a resident of Fanwood, where she was well known. A few years ago she suffered a paralytic stroke from which she never fully recovered.

The funeral services will be held from Mr. Yount's residence tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. Interment will be at the convenience of the family.

First Time For a Year.

In recognition of its being the first time he had appeared in court inside of a year, City Judge Runyon this morning suspended sentence on Michael Donko, who was arrested yesterday afternoon by Patrolman Higgins. The officer found him on East Fourth street in what he termed a "trance." Michael held a christening responsible for his arrest but promised to avoid all such festivities in the future.

Opening Dance Postponed.

The failure of the Orphens Orchestra, of Scranton, Pa., to appear, prevented the expected dance from taking place at the Hotel Netherwood, Saturday evening. Wm. Stanton, the leader of the orchestra, is filling an engagement elsewhere at present, but will be at the hotel by the end of the present week.

George Whitlock Arraigned.

Labor Organizer George Whitlock, of this city, appeared in the city court this morning, charged by Patrolman Vanderweig with being disorderly on West Front street Saturday evening. He pleaded not guilty and the trial was set down for Thursday morning at 9:30.

Colored Masons At Church.

Thirty members of Stone Square Lodge, F. and A. M., attended service at the Calvary Baptist church last evening. They were addressed by Rev. J. W. Mitchell. His discourse was greatly enjoyed, not only by the lodge members, but by the large congregation as well.

First-Born Children Strongest.

It would seem that first-born children excel later-born children in height and weight. This may be due to the greater vigor of the mother at the birth of the first child. We are reminded of a fact, mentioned later, that out of 50 great men of this country, 30 per cent. were the youngest sons. In England it was found that growth degenerates as we go lower in the social scale, there being a difference of even five inches in height between the best and worst fed classes in the community. An investigation of 10,000 children in Switzerland showed that children born in summer are taller for their age than those born in winter; as a majority of children in the public schools are poor, in winter their parents are forced to economize more on account of expense of heating; their rooms are also liable to be small and poorly ventilated, while in summer they are out in the fresh air; food is also cheaper and more varied. The influence of unhealthy conditions on a very young child would be much greater than when it is older and better able to resist them.—Everybody's Magazine.

Nineteenth Century and Meterorites.

Among the great scientific advances of the century just passed there is one which is seldom mentioned, although it is of remarkable interest. It is the demonstration of the fact that stones and metallic masses fall from the sky. Dr. O. C. Farrington reminds us that up to the beginning of the nineteenth century the attitude of scientific men toward the accounts of stones reported to have fallen from the sky was in general "one of scorn and incredulity." He quotes a remark of President Jefferson when told that Profs. Silliman and Kingsley had described a shower of stones at Weston, Conn., in 1807: "It is easier to believe that two Yankee professors will lie than to believe that stones will fall from heaven." It was only after a great shower of meteoric stones at Laigle, in France, in 1803 had been carefully investigated by the French academy that men of science finally became convinced that such things really occurred.—Science.

That Long-Felt Want.

The long-suffering man was trying to read, when, with a crash and a roar, the train left the rails. Down, down, down it went. The seat on which the long-suffering man sat shut up like a jackknife, and caught him in its tenacious embrace.

The seat opposite rose up and smote him in the side. The steam pipes hissed and coiled themselves upon his breast. Then all was silent.

The long-suffering man tried to move. First one foot, then the other, was firmly embedded in the debris; his arms were pinioned in the wreckage. It was dark and still. The long-suffering man nestled his cheek on the cool surface of a plateglass mirror, and heaved a sigh of relief.

"At last!" he murmured. "At last those two idiots opposite me have stopped talking politics!"

And a blessed silence reigned.—Stray Stories.

Portugal Safe from Revolution.

The queen of Portugal is one of the most popular reigning sovereigns alive; so that anything like a revolution in Portugal is absolutely out of the question. The recent act of heroism through which she saved a fisherman from drowning will not diminish that popularity. The fisherman was in a boat which capsized, and was in a very bad way indeed, when her majesty, who happened to be near, flung herself into the water, swam to the rescue and brought him safe to shore. Anyone who has ever tried to swim with his or her clothes on will realize the pluck of the young queen, and as it turned out that the fisherman's leg was broken her act deserves all the more wonder and admiration.—N. Y. Sun.

Necessary to Him.

"What, with croup, measles and all that, children are a great care," remarked the family man, "but they're blessings."

"Indeed they are," cordially responded the stranger. "I don't know how we should get along without them."

"Ah! You are a family man yourself?"

"No. A physician."—Philadelphia Press.

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J TUESDAY JUNE 25 1901 TWO CENTS A COPY—$5 A YEAR.

AN ELECTRIC AUTOMOBILE WHICH WAS CONSTRUCTED BY ANDREW C. THOMPSON, OF THIS CITY, IN HIS LEISURE MOMENTS.

An electric automobile, the maximum speed of which is claimed to be twelve miles an hour, has been constructed by Andrew C. Thompson, of West Front street, and is now in perfect running order.

The vehicle is the fruit of one year's successful study and persistent work on the part of its young inventor. It weighs exactly 600 pounds and cost its maker $1,500.

Mr. Thompson, who is but twenty years of age, is the night telegrapher in the Western Union Telegraph Company's office at Elizabeth, and, besides discharging his duties faithfully, the young man has found time to put together this machine, which is said to be one of the strongest, neatest and most up to date machines on the market.

The mechanism of the vehicle is simple and it can easily be operated by a child. One of its features is that the necessity of repairs is reduced to a minimum. A charge will last for twenty-five miles' use and the method of recharging is simply to insert an attachment plug in the carriage and throw on the switch. In the operation the carriage takes entire care of itself. When completely charged it is disconnected automatically. The running gear is of special design having solid axles. The motor and differential gear is mounted in a strong steel frame securely bolted to rear axle and geared direct to hubs of rear wheels. This arrangement is much stronger than tubing rear axle cut in two sections as used by other makes.

A ball bearing arrangement is used on the steering apparatus. Jars, which are frequently experienced in other makes, are prevented by the steering handle being securely fastened in the body. Electric and foot brakes, electric headlight and electric bell are important attachments.

The twenty-eight inch wheels, fitted with two and one-half inch pneumatic tires, are of the same carrying capacity as used for vehicles weighing twice as much.

For a few days the automobile will be on exhibition in Mundy's carriage store window.

Mr. Thompson states that the runabout style of automobile can be built for $800 and the Stanhope style for $1,000. The latter machine, he says, will run eighteen miles an hour and forty miles on one charge.

TROLLEY STRUCK CHILD.

Narrow Escape From Death by Small Boy at Bound Brook Yesterday Afternoon.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, June 25—The young son of John Fazekas, a bottler, whose place of business is in the West End, narrowly escaped death yesterday afternoon.

The little one was playing in the street near the trolley tracks, and was frightened by the approach of a car. He started to run across the tracks and was struck by the fender, while the car was going at full speed. He was tossed a considerable distance and was terribly bruised about the head. Medical aid was summoned and last evening he was reported as being out of danger.

The motorman is exonerated from all blame as there is a sharp curve at that point, and the child was seen too late to avoid the accident.

FINE BOARDING SCHOOL.

Will Be Opened at East Millstone in September.

A boarding school for girls will be opened Wednesday, September 18, at East Millstone, Somerset county, by Miss Maude Virginia Carter, a thoroughly competent instructor. The school is thoroughly furnished, offering every comfort of home to fifteen girls. All of the English branches will be taught, also French, German, Latin, music, painting, physical culture and dancing. The aim of the school is to make a pleasant and profitable home for girls, instructing them in such a manner that they may be fitted for the most practical as well as the most cultured life.

COOK MYSTERY UNSOLVED.

CHIEF OF POLICE OF NORFOLK DENIES REPORT OF HIS DEATH THERE.

Believed That Cook Tried to Give Out The Story That He Had Died—Had Family Troubles.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, June 25—Rev. J. O. Jones, of the Congregational church received a letter yesterday morning from the Chief of Police of Norfork, Va., to whom he had written regarding the death of A. B Cook, who disappeared from this place last Sunday week, and who was reported to have died at Norfork last Wednesday.

This report was conveyed by a letter signed by one John Anderson, who said he had found a man upon his piazza in a precarious condition. He had died, the letter said, before medical aid could be summoned, the cause being given as apoplexy superinduced by brain trouble. He had identified the man as Cook from society emblems found on his person and from letters in his pockets.

Mr. Jones, to whose church Cook belonged, immediately wired this John Anderson for further particulars and received no reply. He had then communicated with the Chief of Police of that place.

The chief's letter said that that no man of that name was known in Norfolk, and that his department had no knowledge of any man dying under the circumstances related in Anderson's letter. He further stated that the whole thing was undoubtedly a hoax.

Persistent enquiries have brought to light the fact that Cook had had family troubles, and that he had probably taken this method of disappearing from town and of deserting his family. It is supposed that he wrote the Anderson letter himself, and depended upon this scheme to lead his people to consider him dead.

His wife and two small children have gone to the home of his father in-law at Sunbury, Pa.

Concussion of the Brain, But Skull Was Not Fractured—Missed His Footing While Descending Stairs.

The man is suffering with a dangerous concussion of the brain, and has been in an unconscious state since receiving the fall shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

It is expected that it will be some time before he is out of danger. Dr. O. L. Jenkins is the attending physician and was at the man's bedside several times yesterday.

Mr. Beers was passing down the steps on the North avenue side of the station when he missed his footing and fell heavily backwards, his head striking the steps. He was found in an unconscious condition and carried upstairs where he was identified by Wm O Worth, of Rockview Heights, by whom Mr. Beers is employed as a coachman. Mr. Worth immediately had his employe removed to his home on Chatham street. Dr. W. K. Browning had rendered medical assistance at the station, and Dr. O L. Jenkins, his regular physician, was subsequently summoned.

It was found on examination that the skull was not fractured, but that a clot of blood had formed above the base of the head which is badly swollen.

TERRORIZED VILLAGERS FROM TOP OF COACH.

Wild Ride Of Alward Taylor Through Somerset And Middlesex Counties Sunday.

HE SHOT RIGHT AND LEFT.

WEALTHY YOUNG MAN FROM BOUND BROOK NOW IN JAIL.

Posse Of Residents Of Stelton Pursued Him And Finally Had Him Arrested In Perth Amboy—Story Of The Ride.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, June 25—Residents of central New Jersey along the country roads between Bound Brook and Perth Amboy are much wrought up and incensed over the wild antics, Sunday, of Alward Taylor, a resident of the former place.

The young man, who succeeded in terrorizing a number of people, besides doing some damage, is a son of W. J. Taylor, the vice president of the High Bridge Steel Works and part owner of the Hibbard Bodman-Ely Safe Works of Plainfield.

Young Taylor hired a coach at Bound Brook and, in company with Cecil H. Taylor, a cousin, started out for Perth Amboy in true old-time western style. He took care, however, before commencing the journey to store away in the coach a case of beer and some lunch as well as two up-to-date revolvers and 300 rounds of ammunition.

As soon as the start was made Alward Taylor banged away in the air alarming the country folk and scaring the cattle in the fields. In order to make his horses, which were driven by a coachman, speed along, Taylor discharged the revolver at the feet of the maddened beasts.

On arriving at Stelton, the young man mounted to the top of the coach and blazed away right and left. A sign in front of the residence of Rev. J. W. Saries was a target for his shots as was also the door of the local Baptist church. The morning service in that edifice had just been concluded. One shot passed through the door, struck the church organ and hit the wall.

The family in the clergyman's home were badly frightened and a number of people in the quiet village feared that fatal consequences would ensue.

The Stelton folks soon gathered in groups and a posse was formed to pursue the man. Thomas Horan, the town constable, N. D Runyon and John H Suydam followed the stage to Perth Amboy. They found the stage there, but the young man had flown. They arrested the driver, Ellis Ross, as he refused to tell who his pal had been. He then told the whereabouts of Taylor, who was promptly arrested, brought to this city and lodged in jail.

Justice Garretson, of Perth Amboy, issued the warrant on which he was arrested Sunday. Yesterday morning Jeremiah Letson, of Stelton, came here and swore out another complaint before Justice Sedam, making the charge against him disorderly conduct as well as malicious mischief. Mr. Letson's wife sings in the Baptist church choir at Stelton. The bullet flew directly past the spot where she had been seated all the morning and which she had just left. When she heard of the affair she suffered from shock.

Besides Mr. Letson, John Suydam and other Stelton folks were in town yesterday, fearing that an attempt would be made to bail the man out of jail. They intended to fight such an attempt. As the case now stands, he will have to secure bail to await the action of the Grand Jury for malicious mischief before he can be discharged.

CHARLES HYDE'S WILL READ.

LEAVES $100,000 TO BE DISTRIBUTED AMONG CHARITIES.

Heirs Are Named As Executors And Are To Receive Remainder Of Estate Amounting To $3,000,000.

The will of the late Charles Hyde, banker and oil magnate, was read yesterday afternoon at the home in the presence of the immediate family, by Senator Charles A. Reed, who drafted the instrument and who represents the executors. The value of the estate cannot be definitely ascertained, but it is estimated to be worth nearly $3,000,000, comprising a great deal of real estate, as well as personal property.

All of this estate, with the exception of $100,000, is bequeathed to the widow and the four sons and one daughter. The will provides that the $100,000 shall be divided among such charities as the executors shall deem wise, and this must be done within five years. There are several charities that Mr. Hyde was interested in and these will no doubt be remembered.

The executors are Mrs. Hyde, the widow; Dorsey W. Hyde, Charles L. Hyde, Louis K. Hyde, Frank DeLacey Hyde, the sons, and the daughter, Miss Edith Hyde. The division of the estate among the heirs will be the same as though the deceased died intestate. Aside from the charity bequest mentioned, there are no other public bequests. In all probability the various enterprises in which Mr. Hyde was interested will be continued by the executors.

The testament was offered for probate this morning in the Union county Surrogate's office at Elizabeth.

WILL RETAIN RECEIVER.

Unsuccessful Attempt Made To Secure Discharge Of F. J. Blatz As Receiver.

Eugene Devitt, of Jersey City, attorney for Frank Linke, Thomas Stokes and Moss Opdick & Company, creditors of Vincent L. Frazee, who filed the involuntary petition to have him adjudged a bankrupt, yesterday petitioned the U. S. District court to set aside the appointment of Francis J. Blatz, as receiver. Mr. Blatz was appointed June 12, but the creditors contended that the appointment was unlawful and also that the receiver was incompetent.

William Newcorn, of this city, appeared for the creditors at whose instance Mr. Blatz was appointed and opposed the motion. After hearing the argument on both sides, the court decided to dismiss the application. A stinging rebuke was also administered the counsel who moved the application.

CITY WAS ITS BEST CUSTOMER AT SALE.

Thirty-three Properties Sold Under Martin Act For About $500 Unpaid Taxes.

NO BIDDING UP OF VALUES.

FIRST OF THESE SALES THIS YEAR HELD YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

No Important Properties Were Disposed Of—Sold For Unpaid Taxes In Years 1897 and 1898—Many Settled At Last Moment.

The first sale of lands for unpaid taxes and assessments due the city was conducted, according to the provisions of the Martin Act, yesterday afternoon by Collector Frank H. Smith, at his office on Park avenue.

The properties sold were those on which taxes remained unpaid for the year of 1897 or 1898 and in many instances for both. Although the list of lands was a large one and some valuable property was offered for sale, yet there was no spirited bidding whatever and the sale was sparsely attended.

Promptly at the time set for the sale, Collector Smith, who acted as auctioneer, announced the conditions on which the properties were to be sold. Each sale was made subject to all taxes and assessments levied subsequent to December 20, 1898.

Many of the properties advertised were not sold, inasmuch as the owners settled in full prior to the time of sale. In several instances the sale of particular properties was postponed for one month. As a general rule the properties were bid in by the city.

One strip of property on Hill street, owner unknown, was knocked down to the city for $12.43, as was also another on North avenue, owned by Paul Kettnor, which brought $9.21, and another, on the same thoroughfare, owned by F. W. Haggerton, went for $5.28.

Wm. K. McClure's properties, 318 and 320 Fillmore avenue, were bid in by the city for $42.36. A piece of land, belonging to Charles Collins situate on Columbia avenue, was purchased by the city for $4.51. A Jackson avenue strip of land belonging to Hubert P. Phillips, brought $33.28.

These properties are all in the First ward. Other pieces of land in the same ward bid in by the city for the amounts named were four on Watson avenue owned by the persons named and sold for the amounts mentioned as follows: Thomas DeGray, $5.73; Peter Kempton, $5.43; Fred W. Haggerdon, $5.28, and Anthony Gallager, $4.51. Also in this ward the city bought some property on Terrill road, belonging to the estate of Oba Woodruff for $18.87.

Frank Huntington purchased two sections of property on Raymond avenue, the one belonging to Mark Sampton and the other to Mrs. H. Raasch, for $4.51 and $4.70, respectively.

In the Second ward the properties bid in by the city were as follows: On Leland avenue, owned by Charles Wirth, $9.81; on Henry place, owned by Charles Wirth, $3.85, and on Marshall place, owned by Fred Brandt, $5.28. A property on Watchung avenue, belonging to J. B. Mills, was bid in by the city for $68.36.

J. A. Hubbard purchased some property on West Fifth street, in the Third ward, owned by the Plainfield Real Estate Company, for $18.14. Four other strips of property on West Fifth street, knocked down to the city, were sold for the amounts named and were owned by the following: W. S. Arthur, $7.54; John Phillips, $7.94, and E. Gilbert, $7.54. A property owned by George H. Kitchen situate on Rose street, was bid in by the city for $12.43.

David Arthur Jr's. property on West Fifth street was bought by the mortgagee, Augusta Nevius for $39.33. Wm. M. Stillman bought a piece of land on Pemberton street, sold as the property of Wm. H. Drew, for $6.40 and another on Elizabeth street, owned by George Drew, for $6.03. Mr. Stillman also purchased property on Field avenue, owned by Wm. H. Drew, for $3.03 and another on Field avenue, owner unknown, for $4.51. Mrs. Marie Swalm's lands, Nos. 1512-1520 West Front street, in the Fourth ward, were purchased by the First National Bank for $62.29.

George A. Moore's place, 692 West Fourth street, was bid in by the municipality for $19.92 and G. D. Bremmer's strip of land, Nos. 224-226 Stebbins place, was purchased by C. L. Murphy for $15.65.

Other properties in the Fourth ward purchased by the city were: On Lyman place, owned by Arthur J. Barrett, for $14.05; on Lyman place, owned by J. M. Taylor, for $6.03, and on Rushmore avenue, owned by Mrs. Alexander Frazee, for $4.51.

GIVING OUT.

The Struggle Discourages Many a Citizen of Plainfield.

Around all day with an aching back,
Can't rest at night.
Enough to make anyone "give out."
Doan's Kidney Pills will give renewed life.
They will cure the backache;
Cure every kidney ill.
Here's Plainfield proof that this is so:

Mrs. Valentine Utzinger, of 75 Grandview avenue, says: "I suffered from kidney complaint for six years; I doctored and used various kinds of medicine with little or no result. I had almost a constant sharp darting pain across my back, and if I ever exerted myself or took cold I suffered severely. I always felt it most when the weather was damp. While in this condition I saw Doan's Kidney Pills recommended and my son bought me a box from L. W. Randolph's drug store. I started to use them at once, following directions closely. They helped the pain in my back, and relieved my other difficulty. I give all the credit for this relief to Doan's Kidney Pills for they are beyond a doubt a grand medicine for kidney trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Millburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

GENERAL WOOD SICK

Attack of Grip Takes a Turn For the Worse.

ABSOLUTE QUIET AND REST ENJOINED

Cuban Nationalists Join Republicans In Approving the Platt Amendment, but Will In the End Work For a Repeal.

HAVANA, June 25.—The condition of General Wood, who for several days has been suffering from an attack of grip and malarial fever, which, however, did not interrupt his official duties, is somewhat worse. His fever is considerably higher, and he has been forced to take to his bed. Surgeon Major Havard, the general's attending physician, has advised absolute rest until the fever subsides.

The Republican and National parties have signified their approval of the Platt amendment. The National party takes this action with the understanding that it will later use all possible legal means to effect the repeal of the amendment.

Since the amendment was accepted by the Cuban constitutional convention strife has reigned within both parties over a movement that had for its purpose the indorsement of the action of the delegates in accepting it. Juan Gualberto Gomez bitterly opposed this movement, and as a result of its ultimate approval by the Republican party Gomez has resigned from the party and given up the editorship of La Patria, the party organ.

The vote of the Nationalists by which they approved the Platt amendment is a compromise. The party explains that it is in favor of the maintenance of order and that it respects the amendment, which, owing to the action of the Cuban constitutional convention, is now Cuban law. The National party will also co-operate toward the establishment of the Cuban republic, but, faithful to its programme and revolutionary ideals and understanding that the Platt amendment, as declared by the party on solemn occasions, curtails Cuban independence and limits Cuban sovereignty, the party will employ all legal means in its power to obtain its repeal, and, further, until this repeal is obtained the National party will oppose any interpretation of the amendment tending to pervert the purpose set forth in the amendment by its actual wording—namely, the maintenance of Cuban independence.

Blondin Not Found.

BOSTON, June 25.—Secretary Pierce and Chief Inspector Watts of police headquarters, after investigating the reported arrest of J. Wilfrid Blondin in Brushton, N. Y., decided that the real Blondin was still at large. The police of Brushton had been communicated with, and it became known that a Mr. Montroy, who lives at Brushton, answers the description of Blondin in many particulars. He lives with his parents in Brushton. The Brushton officials expressed surprise that such a story as that told by the Boston police had gained circulation.

Japan Wants More.

LONDON, June 25.—A dispatch from Peking states that the Japanese minister has been instructed to inform his colleagues of the conditions on which Japan will accept Chinese indemnity bonds. Japan's share of the indemnity was calculated to reach the sum of 50,074,000 yen by July 1, on a basis of cash down and the adoption by the powers of the bonds. Japan now contends that she has lost 8,000,000 yen, approximately, owing to the depreciation of her 4 per cent bonds since May 18, and her minister has therefore been instructed to demand an indemnity of 57,942,247 yen.

Mrs. McKinley Steadily Gaining.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—For the first time since she was brought home from California in a very feeble condition Mrs. McKinley yesterday was able to go down stairs and join the president while the latter was at luncheon. She remained at table for some little time and then returned to her room, having enjoyed the break in the daily routine of life for the past month. Apparently she was not fatigued by the extra exertion. Mrs. McKinley's general condition continues favorable, and Dr. Rixey says she is steadily improving.

Negro Reveals Policeman's Slayers.

ATLANTA, June 25.—Ike Hammond, one of the three negroes arrested for the murder of Policeman E. H. Debray last Thursday night, has confessed that his brother, Tom Hammond, murdered the officer. Ike also confessed that Oscar Hammond and Jim Erwin were with Tom when the murder occurred. Hammond acknowledged that there was a plot to murder a policeman, but he said he had nothing to do with it.

Georgia Peach Crop Good.

FORT VALLEY, Ga., June 25.—The warm, bright weather of the past ten days has greatly improved the prospects for a splendid crop of peaches. All fruit is doing nicely, and it is expected that shipments of peaches to the north and east will begin by the end of the week. Prominent growers here assert that more peaches will be shipped during the next four weeks than were sent out two years ago.

Great Northern Train Derailed.

MINOT, N. D., June 25.—The Great Northern west bound flier due at White Earth at 1 a. m. collided with two box cars which were blown upon the track by a heavy wind. The flier was partially derailed. Two tramps are reported to have been killed and several passengers injured. No particulars have been received owing to the cutting of wire communication.

Brooklyn Man Injured.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., June 25.—A runaway horse dashing through a crowd during a circus parade here yesterday trampled men, women and children underfoot, seriously injuring many. Willard P. Jessup, a schoolteacher of Brooklyn, was among the injured.

Morocco to Open Her Doors.

LONDON, June 25.—The Daily Mail hears that the sultan of Morocco has authorized his envoy now in London, Kaid El Mehedi El Menebhi, to negotiate a commercial treaty with Great Britain which will open Morocco to European commerce.

Cotton Warehouse Burned.

LONDON, June 25.—Richardson, Tee, Rycroft & Co., warehousemen, report that their cotton warehouse at Manchester has been burned and that the damage amounts to £180,000.

THE FLOOD DISASTER

Information From Stricken District Hard to Get.

NUMBER OF DEAD STILL UNKNOWN.

But It Is Now Thought That First Reports Were Exaggerated. The Story of an Eye-witness.

ROANOKE, Va., June 25.—There has been very little news received here from the West Virginia flood. One train has come, but not much new information could be gained from the passengers. The trains are running from Bluefields and Ennis, which places are just outside the territory visited by the cloudburst on last Saturday morning. Roanokers who have relatives and friends in the coalfields and the coal operators here who have large financial interests in the devastated strip have been lingering around the railroad station awaiting the arrival of the belated train. These people, making inquiries concerning relatives and property, have been besieging the railroad and commercial telegraph offices. The wires all being down west of Bluefield save one wire which goes through to Ennis, but is being used as a train wire, prevented the public from getting any additional particulars.

How many are dead is not definitely known, and it necessarily will be several days yet before the exact number can be given out as official, but the various reports in circulation here are that all the way from 50 to 200 persons have been drowned. It is probably safe to assume the former figures as being more nearly correct than the latter. The damage to property will amount to hundreds of thousands of dollars. Miles of railroad track are washed out, and great gulches have been created.

The devastated section covers an area of about 20 miles west of Bluefield. It is a very narrow valley, not much wider than a broad street in some places. Coal mines are scattered all along the road. Keystone, the town reported to have been so greatly damaged and at first believed to have been wiped out of existence, is a village of between 2,000 and 3,000 people and is built along the narrow valley and on the sides of the bluffs. There is a creek which runs through the town, over which most of the houses are built on piles and rock work. This creek runs in a zigzag way through the narrow village and has a gradual fall. The mountains on either side loom up for hundreds of feet, and the town is so narrow in places that one is obliged to go into the middle of it to see the sky.

The railroad people are rushing material and supplies to the Elkhorn. One hundred and fifty laborers came in over the Roanoke and Southern yesterday on an extra train and went west, and nearly all the work trains on the road have been sent to the Elkhorn vicinity.

Mr. E. H. Stewart, a well known furniture dealer in this city, was in the midst of all the storm and traveled on foot nearly the whole of the route devastated. Mr. Stewart had been to Jamestown, N. Y., on business and was returning via Columbus. When his train reached Vivian, W. Va., about 9 o'clock Saturday morning, water already covered a large portion of the yard, and the trainmen knew that no further progress could be made. The train was placed at the highest point in the yard. Rain was coming down in torrents, and while in the train Mr. Stewart saw about 30 cars washed from the yard and carried away by the rushing torrents, large trees uprooted nearby, while houses, bridges and furniture went whirling by in the water.

As the flood increased the water cut a channel on the other side of the train, leaving it between two streams. Then it was decided to take out those passengers who wished to leave the train, and a rope was attached to the platform of one of the cars and to a tree on the bank. Among the passengers was a lady who, with the assistance of several men, was got safely to the bank. A number of men had narrow escapes from drowning in making the trip.

There was a let up in the rain, and the flood subsided about noon, and at 1 o'clock Mr. Stewart and another passenger left the train and started to the next station, Keystone, five miles distant.

Several bridges and much of the track had been washed away, and the trip was made with great difficulty, a portion of the way on the track and the balance on the bluffs along the route. Mr. Stewart says he saw a number of corpses along the route, but does not think more than 40 people were drowned. When he reached Keystone about 3 o'clock, he found that a number of buildings had been washed away, and it was estimated that along the whole route of the storm between 200 and 300 houses had been carried away, but the occupants of many of them had escaped to the hills. He saw one very large building go down with the flood.

Most of the buildings, however, were small affairs. The coal companies' losses will be heavy.

At Ennis the depot was washed away, and when Mr. Stewart left the safe had not been found. He walked from Keystone to Ennis and was taken from there to Bluefield, arriving in Roanoke yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Stewart's statement can be relied on as being a truthful story of the flood and the most complete statement so far given out.

A telegram dated Ennis, W. Va., from General Manager Johnson of the Norfolk and Western railway says:

"The best information is about 60 people were drowned in the north fork of the Elkhorn. Property loss about $300,000. The Norfolk and Western railroad suffered severe damage to its tracks and trestles. Expect to be open for traffic some time Wednesday if we have no more storms."

RELIEF CORPS AT WORK.

A Hundred Miles of River Front to Be Searched.

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., June 25.—Further details of the damage to life and property by the devastating flood in the Pocahontas Flat Top region have been coming in. The dead are being recovered and identified. The relief corps has only penetrated a few miles of the stricken territory, and no reliable estimate can yet be made of the number of lives lost. There are a hundred miles of river front yet unreached, along which bodies of the victims may be lodged in drift and sand banks.

Fifteen hundred laborers are now at work clearing away the debris and repairing the railroad tracks and establishing telegraphic communication. It is estimated that it will be several weeks before railroad traffic will be resumed and probably longer before the mines will be in operation.

About 20 collieries and coke manufacturing plants are damaged, ranging in extent from $4,000 to $25,000. Yesterday was clear and calm, and the work of rescue was prosecuted with vigor.

There are thousands homeless and camping in the mountains, their distress augmented by the anguish caused by missing children and friends whose fate is unknown.

Out of the two hundred and odd estimated lost there have been less than a score of bodies recovered and identified.

Loss of Life Shrinking.

RADFORD, Va., June 25.—The latest news received from the flood swept region of West Virginia states that the number of lives lost is 20 instead of several hundred, as at first reported. Sixty miles of track was washed away, besides 12 engines and as many trains. Thousands of dollars' worth of property was destroyed belonging to the lumber and mining companies. Telegraph lines are down, and it is impossible to get accurate reports.

STRIKERS SHOW FIGHT.

United States Marshals Forced to Flee From Coalfields.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., June 25.—A posse of deputy United States marshals led by A. C. Hufford of Bluefield was fired on by the strikers and forced to flee from the coalfields at Matewan. The marshals under the leadership of A. C. Hufford set out from Bluefield to reach the scene of the miners' riots. When they arrived within 20 miles of Thacker, they found that they could proceed no farther by rail on account of the flood.

They struck out across the mountains, encountering almost insurmountable difficulties, and late Sunday afternoon reached the end of their destination. Proceeding to work, they began serving notices of the injunction which had been issued by Judge Jackson. A mob of strikers followed, armed to the teeth with firearms.

On all sides could be heard the cry, "Down with government injunctions!" Men threatened them with their weapons, women called down the vengeance of heaven upon them, and children hurled stones. When nightfall came, notice had been served on the strikers of all the coal companies but one, and that was to be served at the Dick Fork Coal and Coke company at Thacker. Fearing an ambush, they waited until morning and early yesterday set out for Thacker.

Some time before noon they attempted to serve the injunction papers at the above named colliery. A mob followed, enraged to desperation at the sweeping character of the injunction. One reckless fellow fired the first shot, and quick as lightning the mountain sides echoed and re-echoed with resounding reports that followed the crack of 20 or 30 rifles. The deputies were forced to take refuge in flight and then barely escaped with their lives. The strike situation is assuming a frightful stage.

RIOT ON RAILWAY TRAIN.

Sunday School Excursion Turned Into a Free Fight.

ST. LOUIS, June 25.—A shooting and cutting affray in a crowded coach on the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad ended in the killing of one person and the wounding of several others and created a most terrible panic.

Mrs. Samuel Hart, colored, of St. Louis was killed, and these wounded: James Laughlin, conductor, St. Louis, shot through the arm; Frank Williams, colored, St. Louis, shot through the leg and badly cut about the head.

The shooting occurred in one of the nine coaches which were used to convey the annual picnic of the First Baptist church, colored, to Spring park, about 15 miles from this city. A row was started by an insulting remark by Frank Williams about a woman in the car.

Samuel Thorans fired at Williams. Then followed a scene of greatest confusion in which many revolvers were used. Conductor Laughlin in attempting to quell the riot was wounded in the arm.

The Reading Strike.

READING, Pa., June 25.—With a strike of 2,600 ironworkers of the Reading Iron company and 1,000 employees of the Reading railway on its hands the city is in a state of expectancy as to what the railroad shop hands will do this morning, when the time set by President Baer will expire for the shop hands to return or be discharged. There are no indications of a stampede, and the prospects are that the fight will be long drawn out, with other interests to be involved. The executive committee of the Reading railway has issued a statement in which Mr. Baer is called an "autocrat."

Men Return to Work.

NEW YORK, June 25.—Four hundred and fifty of the employees of the Sprague Electric company at Newark, N. J., who struck a month ago, returned to work yesterday. They accepted the terms of the company, which were for a 50 hour week. They had previously worked 55 hours.

CLEVELAND FLIER WRECKED.

Two Killed and Forty-three Injured. An Open Switch the Cause.

PITTSBURG, June 25.—By the wrecking of train No. 23, north bound, on the Pittsburg and Lake Erie railroad at Monaca, 26 miles from this city, last evening two persons are dead, three fatally injured and 40 others more or less hurt.

The dead are:

William J. Cunningham, fireman, McKees Rocks, Pa.

Lowry Black, baggage master, Pittsburg.

The fatally injured are:

Mrs. Lola B. Perkins, Euclid avenue, Cleveland, abdomen punctured by splinter.

Mrs. James Lee, Washington, Pa., arm broken and hurt internally.

Mrs. Jefferson Carse, Beaver, Pa., badly cut and bruised.

From passengers it is learned that the train while going at very fast speed ran into an open switch at Monaca, and the entire train went over an embankment some 25 feet high. Every car was turned over, two of them going over twice.

The "flier," which left here at 4:30 for Cleveland, had its coaches well filled with passengers, and the wonder is that there were not more fatalities.

Fireman Cunningham when taken from the wreck was found to be horribly crushed. His death must have been instantaneous.

As soon as the news of the wreck reached the city Superintendent Yohe summoned a corps of physicians and took them to the scene on a special relief train. This train returned here with the dead and a number of the injured, when another train was at once dispatched to Monaca, which gives currency to the report that many more are hurt than as yet made known.

REPUBLICANS MEET.

Hanna Men In Control of Ohio State Convention.

FORAKER TEMPORARY CHAIRMAN.

Ex-Secretary Foster, Defeated For Committeeman, Makes a Vehement Address on "Local Imperialism"—Nominations Today.

COLUMBUS, O., June 25.—The Republican state convention convened here yesterday afternoon with a large attendance. At the conferences during the forenoon interest centered in the control of the new state committee, the construction of the platform and the fight that the State Antisaloon league was making against the renomination of Lieutenant Governor Caldwell. The issues on Caldwell and the resolutions are still being agitated, but the contest for state committeemen resulted in what is called a unanimous victory for the Hanna men, which include the friends of Governor Nash and others. The result assures the re-election of Congressman Dick as chairman of the state executive committee.

Charles Foster, ex-secretary of the treasury, ex-governor, ex-congressman and for many years a delegate at large to national conventions, was defeated for member of the state central committee because of his opposition to Senator Hanna. Ex-Governor Bushnell had been elected as a delegate and had been made chairman of the Clark county delegation, but at the meeting of the delegates of his district it was informally announced that he would not attend the convention. His friends gave some very pointed reasons for his absence. After his defeat Charles Foster vehemently addressed the delegates of his district on cliques and intrigues and on the dangers of "local imperialism."

While the Hanna men captured all the committees, they gave especial attention to the committee on credentials as well as to the state committee, so that none of the Daugherty contesting delegates could be seated.

The large auditorium was crowded at 4 o'clock when the Glee club entertained the sweltering delegates. Senators Foraker and Hanna were loudly cheered as they came upon the stage together. Nearly all the Ohio Republican congressmen and members of the legislature and other leaders were seated upon the large platform, over which were displayed the portraits of Governor Nash and Senators Foraker and Hanna. Among those occupying seats upon the stage were Dr. Jose C. Barbosa and Dr. Jose Gomez Brioso, members of the executive council of Porto Rico, who are on a tour of governmental inspection.

After prayer by Rev. N. W. Good of Columbus Hon. P. W. Durr, chairman of the state central committee, in a brief speech congratulated the Republicans of Ohio on the result of the Ohio campaign last year and predicted victory for this year. Then he introduced Senator Foraker as the temporary chairman of the convention. Senator Foraker was most enthusiastically received and spoke at some length.

At the close of the senator's speech committees were named and an adjournment taken until today at 10 o'clock. Senator Hanna will be the permanent chairman.

Moment Apologizes.

NEW YORK, June 25.—The trial of the Rev. Dr. Alfred H. Moment of the Immanuel Presbyterian church, Brooklyn, began at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the Central Presbyterian church at Marcy and Jefferson avenues. The session was very short and rather sensational, ending in an hour in a complete settlement of the whole case. Dr. Moment read a statement making an apology to the presbytery for his conduct and asking pardon. He said in reply to the charges that he had been indiscreet, but had never been guilty of immorality in its grosser forms. Many of the ministers wept during the reading. When he finished, it was voted that he be simply rebuked by the presbytery. After this the presbytery went into secret session. After half an hour it was announced that Dr. Moment had been restored to his full ministerial rights.

Fell From Niagara Bridge.

NIAGARA FALLS, June 25.—A ladder on which three men were engaged in painting the ironwork of the steel arch bridge over the Niagara gorge slipped from its fastenings. One of the men was dashed to death on the bridge abutments, his body falling into the rushing waters of the rapids; another was caught by the legs in the latticework of the bridge and escaped with a broken leg, and the third escaped uninjured by clinging to a rope for what seemed to the spectators to be hours, but which in reality was only a few minutes. The dead man's name is Edwin Clark, 23 years old. His head struck the abutment of the bridge, and his body shot into the river and disappeared. It has not been recovered.

The first three dozen sold for £7 10s. per dozen, but the following lot of three dozen brought from £3 to £3 5s.

Concerning Strikes.

The officials of the Pond Machine Tool Company have decided to resume active operations. An opportunity will be given to as many of the old employes as desire to return, and the rest of the places will be filled with other men. When this comes to pass, the local strike leaders will be confronted with the most serious situation they have yet had to face. The feeling against the outsiders will undoubtedly run high, and the leaders may find some difficulty in restraining the more hot-headed of their fellow-workmen.

The courts of the State have been a unit in deciding to what extent strikers may go without infringing on the law. They have decided that the strikers and their sympathizers may use any reasonable means to persuade workmen to give up their places and join their ranks, but when their acts savor of intimidation, they are violating the law which grants to every man the right to make a livelihood unmolested. Some very fine lines have lately been drawn concerning what amounts to intimidation. In different States the decisions vary widely.

So far the strikers have been perfectly law-abiding. The demonstration of last Thursday was important only in the possibilities which it presented. The action of the strike leaders in requesting their fellow workmen to keep away from the neighborhood of the Pond works has since eliminated these possibilities for the time being. If the leaders can maintain their present control should outside workmen be employed there, their present excellent record will be well continued.

The real question of the rights of the strikers and the subject of intimidation will not be any feature of the trial of the four strikers tomorrow morning. They were arrested on the charge of being disorderly by calling "scab" and "coward" and refusing to obey orders of the police. In each case, twelve citizens will be called upon to decide whether or not the four men are guilty of violating the peace and good morals ordinance.

The deplorable accident of Saturday afternoon, which may result very seriously for a young girl of the West End, serves to emphasize the need of great care on the part of the youthful population of the city in handling firearms. While Independence Day is over a week away, the boys have already begun the burning of gunpowder which will continue up to that day. It is strictly in violation of the city ordinance. A simple little blank cartridge, fired only as a joke, may result in the permanent disfigurement of the features of some one else. Too great care cannot be used.

Not only is there an excellent prospect of a series of open-air band concerts in this city, but the boroughites are now planning to raise the necessary funds for a series of concerts in that community. The first concert will be held on Somerset street, near Race street, Tuesday, July 2. One of the chief supporters of the plan is a borough hotel-keeper. He has promise, however, of financial help from a number of other boroughites. Plans are going forward for the city concerts and there is a fair prospect that the necessary money will be raised.

Fate favored a young man Sunday afternoon who rode headfirst into a trolley car on Watchung avenue. He escaped without injury, but his wheel was wrecked. It was only another evidence, however, of the carelessness of many wheelmen of the city who ride at full speed without regard for the welfare of others. That no serious accidents have resulted from this carelessness is a subject for much wonderment.

There is no prospect of any public celebration of the Fourth of July in Plainfield this year. Such celebrations are not a regular feature in this city although several very successful ones have been held. As a general thing, the people of Plainfield have shown a disposition to make the day one for individual effort save for the good times arranged for the members of various local organizations.

Men talk of the secret of successful advertising, but it is all very plain explains the Philadelphia Record. The essentials are to offer what people want, at fair prices, and to offer it in a way that will make readers know they want it. The art in writing an advertisement is to speak as the interested and well informed merchant would speak to a prospective customer.

Much interest is being shown in the cases of the four strikers who were arrested Thursday evening for being disorderly. At police headquarters yesterday morning, the crowd far exceeded the accommodations and many were compelled to wait outside. Even more interest will probably be shown when the cases come up tomorrow morning.

One of the chief events planned for the local celebration of Independence Day will take place at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club. There will be golf all day with a reception in the afternoon and fireworks in the evening.

Plainfield will have several worthy representatives in the State golf championship which is to be played on the Englewood links the last of this week.

Short and Gossipy Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

Among the excellent pictures in the last issue of the Mail and Express Saturday illustrated magazine is one of Miss Sarah E. Rogers, the ambitious golf contestant on the links of the Essex County Country Club, West Orange, N. J.

. . . . . .

The New York Herald, of Saturday contains an article on Herbert W. Bowen, the newly appointed United States minister to Venezuela that will interest many Plainfielders who know his brother, Henry E. Bowen, of Watchung avenue. H. W. Bowen was formerly Consul-General at Barcelona and was the last to leave Spain after the declaration of war with the United States. He was next sent to Persia as United States Minister and after two years' service has been appointed to the Venezuelian post. The Herald says of him: "Although in stature a remarkably fine specimen of muscular diplomacy, standing six feet tall and proportionately broad chested, Mr. Bowen believes more in the efficacy of smooth words to turn away wrath than in the bluster which may provoke blows. His own words are quoted on the change of position: 'Generally speaking, I think the duty of a representative of any country abroad is, first and foremost, to promote friendly feeling on the part of all nations with whom he may be brought in contact It is unfortunately only too easy to provoke trouble, especially by injudicious expressions. Yes, I am pleased at the change from Persia to a more active sphere, but I do not look forward to any complication which may not be smoothed over by the exercise of a little common sense.'"

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. William Gordon Burton, of Watchung avenue, are spending a week at the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo.

Charles W. Burton, of Watchung avenue, who has been seriously ill, is much improved and is able to be out again. He will leave shortly for a trip to the Provinces.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence.)

Dunellen, June 25—The borough will tomorrow be the scene of two more weddings. The first will be that of Miss Jessie Maltby, of West Dunellen, to Nathan Reed, of Philadelphia, which will take place at noon. At 5 o'clock, Miss Leonilio Pierson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lisbon Pierson, will be united in marriage to Franklin Mason Kelso, of Plainfield. The ceremony will take place at the home of the bride's parents.

One of the most complete and far advanced gardens located in the borough is that belonging to O. A. Douglas, at his premises on Washington avenue. Although occupied by his ordinary duties a great part of the time, Mr. Douglas has found leisure moments enough to establish a miniature truck farm which is the envy of all beholders. He has had peas for the table the past week, his beans are in blossom and the remainder of the numerous vegetables are well advanced. The only thing lacking is weeds.

The funeral services of Mrs. Anna Miller, who died at the home of her son in-law, Friend Youndt, will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock. The interment will be at the convenience of the family.

The Washington avenue walk of the borough park is being placed in excellent condition under the supervision of the sidewalk committee of the Council.

ALL IS QUIET AT POND'S.

THREE MORE MACHINISTS RETURN TO WORK THIS MORNING.

Pond's Officials Will Give Old Men First Chance and Then Employ Outsiders.

All is quiet at the Pond Tool Works. The men at work have not been molested and no trouble is looked for in the future. This morning three more machinists returned to work. Altogether the officials of the Pond's Company declare that twenty-five men are following their regular pursuits at the shop.

The announced purpose of the concern, as published exclusively in yesterday's Daily Press, is to use every effort to get its workmen back. With this end in view the company intends to allow the men a reasonable time to return, and subsequently the places of those who do not come back will be filled by outsiders.

Shortly before noon yesterday a machinist named R. Erbsloch, who hailed from New York, came to this city with the idea of seeking employment at Ponds. Before he could carry his purpose into effect, however, a delegation of strikers met him and, through a German interpretator, held a lengthy discussion with him. The result of the talk was that Erbsloch returned home on the train leaving here at 4:17 o'clock in the afternoon.

When questioned as to possible developments at the Scott's Press Works, an employe of the concern stated this morning that he was authorized to say that there is no change in the situation.

SAD JOURNEY BEGUN.

Secretary Hay and Family Start For Cleveland With Their Dead.

NEW HAVEN, June 25.—At 7:10 last evening the body of Adelbert S. Hay, who was killed by a fall from a third story window of the New Haven House early Sunday morning, was started on the journey to Cleveland, where the funeral and interment are to take place. In the party accompanying the body were Hon. John Hay, Mrs. Hay, mother of the dead man; the Misses Hay, his sisters, and Clarence Hay, a younger brother.

Arrangements for the departure from New Haven had been perfected during the day, while the members of the family who came here Sunday were awaiting the arrival of the mother and of Miss Alice Hay, the youngest daughter, from Newbury, N. H. Mrs. and Miss Hay reached the city at 5:30 and entering a carriage were driven directly to the Mosely residence on Wall street.

There mother and father met. After the sad greeting Colonel and Mrs. Hay, with their daughters Helen and Alice and Clarence, the son, entered the quiet room where the dead lay. For a few minutes only they remained, and then the casket was closed to be opened no more. All the members of the family went through the trying ordeal calmly. Secretary Hay had apparently recovered in large measure from the prostration of the preceding day, and Mrs. Hay and her daughters, although showing evident traces of their sufferings when they came out of the house an hour later, bore up well.

Immediately after the closing of the casket the body was taken to the railroad station and remained there in the baggage room in the care of Payne Whitney and Robert R. Hitt, classmates of the deceased, until the two special cars for the party were run on to the siding near by. About 7 o'clock the family, with Mr. and Mrs. Wade of Cleveland, arrived from the Mosely house. The casket, inclosed in a massive box of polished mahogany, had already been taken from the baggage room to a combination mail and express car, where it rested on the floor, nearly hid by a profusion of palms and potted plants.

At New York city a close connection was made so that the party will reach Cleveland today at 12:30. Arriving, they will go at once to the Lakeview cemetery, and in the chapel there will be held the last rites.

A BOSTON TRAGEDY.

Young Man Kills His Sister and Himself.

BOSTON, June 25.—The hurrying pedestrians on a crowded West End thoroughfare were thrown into great excitement yesterday afternoon when two young women fled in terror before the advance of a young man who, before the eyes of the people, fired several shots from a revolver at the girls, killing one of them, and then, before he could be prevented, shot himself twice. The second bullet caused death.

The young man was Richard Freedman, and the women were his two sisters. Rosa, the one who was killed, was 21; Helen, the other, is 17. She was not hit by the bullet intended for her, but just as the pistol was discharged she fell fainting to the sidewalk. It was at first thought she, too, had been killed, and the brother apparently believed that his bullet had found the mark, for it was not until both sisters were prostrate that he turned the pistol toward his own body. He aimed at his heart, but the first shot missed a vital spot. A second, however, reached the heart and caused death. Freedman was 25 years of age and had just finished a course at Harvard Dental college. Insanity caused by overstudy and illness is declared to have caused his action.

Mr. Bryan In Buffalo.

BUFFALO, June 25.—Hon. William J. Bryan was given an informal reception yesterday in the private office of Norman E. Mack of the Buffalo Times, with whom Mr. Bryan is stopping as a guest while in the city. There was no speechmaking nor any formality of any kind. A number of prominent Democrats called, among them Major Diehl, Comptroller Bird S. Coler, Judge Jacob Stern, Congressman William H. Ryan, John McCarthy of Syracuse and Herbert P. Bissell. In the evening Mr. Mack entertained Mr. Bryan at Alt Nuremburg in the Pan-American grounds. Among those invited by Mr. Mack to meet Mr. Bryan were President Milburn and Director General Buchanan of the Pan American exposition and Mayor Diehl. Mr. Bryan left here this morning for Watertown.

(Copyright, 1900, by Charles M. Sheldon.)

"Barbara, what you say is impossible! It is so strange that no one but yourself would ever have thought of it. You must give up any such plan."

The young woman listened thoughtfully, holding a newspaper in her hand; and, as she looked up from it, the older woman had finished.

"At the same time, mother, will you tell me something better to do?"

"There are a thousand things. Anything except this."

"But what, mother? I have tried for everything. Our friends" (her lip curled a little as she said the word) "have all tried. No one seems to need me unless it is this family. Here seems to be a real need. It will be unselfish, mother, don't you think, to do something to fill a real demand, instead of always begging for a chance to make a living somewhere?"

She took up the paper and read the advertisement slowly.

"Wanted—A competent girl to do general housework. A good cook, able to take charge of the housekeeping for a family of five. American girl preferred. Good wages. Apply at once to Richard Ward, No. 36 Hamilton street."

"I call it a good opening, mother. And it's only two blocks from here. And I seem to fill all the requirements. I am 'competent.' I am a 'good cook.' I am an 'American girl.' And I am able to 'apply at once' because I have nothing else to do. So I do not see why I should not walk right over and secure the place before some one else gets it."

She rose from her seat, and the mother turned an appealing face towards her.

"Barbara! you shall do no such crazy thing. At least, you shall not with my consent. It is madness for you to throw yourself away! To think of my daughter becoming a 'hired girl!' Barbara, it is cruel of you even to suggest it. It is a part of your college foolishness. You have been jesting with me."

"No, mother, dear, I have not." Barbara walked over to where her mother had been sitting, and kneeled down by her, putting her hands in her mother's hands, and looking affectionately up to her.

"No, mother, I am not jesting. I am very much in earnest. Look at me! Barbara Clark, age 21; graduate Mount Holyoke. Member of church and Christian Endeavor society. Plenty of good health. No money. Educated for a teacher. No influence with the powers that be to secure a position. At home, dependent on and a burden to—" here Mrs. Clark put a hand on the speaker's mouth and Barbara gently removed the hand—"a burden to a good mother who has no means besides a small legacy, daily growing smaller, and the diminutive interest on an insurance fund that is badly invested in western land. There's my biography up to date. Do you wonder that I want to be doing something to be making some money, even if it is only a little, to be a breadwinner, even if—"

"But to be a 'hired girl,' Barbara! Do you realize what it means? Why, it means social loss, it means dropping out of the circle of good society, it means daily drudgery of the hardest kind, it means going to the bottom of the ladder, and always staying there! And you, Barbara, of all girls, fitted to teach, an exceptionally good student, bright and capable. O, how does it happen that girls who are your inferiors have secured good positions and you have not succeeded?"

"'Pulls,'" said Barbara, briefly.

Mrs. Clark looked troubled. "Is that college slang?"

"No, mother. Political. I mean that the other girls have had influence. If father were alive—"

"Ah, Barbara, if your father were living, there would be no talk of your going to work in a kitchen. And you shall not go, either. It is the height of absurdity to think of it."

"But, mother," Barbara began, after a moment's silence, "do you realize the facts, the plain, homely facts, of our existence? Every day you are drawing on Uncle Will's legacy, and next month's rent and grocery bill will eat a large hole in it. I have been a whole year at home, living in idleness, and eating my bread in bitterness because I could see the end coming. There is no one who is in any way bound to help us. Why should I let a false pride keep me from doing honest labor of the hand? And there is more of it than you imagine, motner dear. It takes more than a low order of intellect to manage the affairs of a family as a housekeeper, doesn't it?"

Mrs. Clark did not answer, and Barbara went on: "You know, mother, I made a special study in college of social economics. The application of those principles to a real, live problem had great fascination for me. Now, the hired-girl problem in this country is a real, live, social and economic problem. Why shall I not be able to do as much real service to society and the home life of America by entering service as a hired girl and studying it from the inside, as if I went into a schoolroom like other schoolma'ams, to teach? I love adventure. Why not try this? No one knows how much I might be able to do for humanity socially as a hired girl!"

Mrs. Clark looked at her daughter again with that questioning look of doubt which she often felt when Barbara spoke in a certain way. It was not the girl's habit to treat any subject flippantly. She was talking with great seriousness now, and yet there were ideas in what she said that her mother could not in the least understand.

"But even from a money point of view, mother, such a position as this is not to be despised. If my services are satisfactory, I can get $4.75 or even five dollars a week, and my board and lodging and washing and other incidentals thrown in. Suppose I had a position as a stenographer in one of the offices downtown. I could not possibly command over $30 a month. Out of that take my board, lodging, washing, clothes, etc. And I could not possibly save out of it over ten dollars a month. Whereas, working out at service, I could save twice that much in actual wages. If I go into Bondman's store, for instance, as a salesclerk, I cannot get over five dollars a week, out of which I must board, lodge and dress myself. Mother, I have thought it all out, and I feel that I must go in answer to this advertisement. I don't mind the social stigma. I do mind the bitterness of living in idleness at home. Let me do something useful if it is only for a little while. I am sure a servant can be useful."

"It is a dreadful thought to me, Barbara," said Mrs. Clark with a sigh. "I never dreamed that a child of mine would ever be a 'hired girl!'"

"Say 'servant,' mother. 'Servant' is a noble word. Christ was a servant. Don't you remember Dr. Law's sermon on that word last Sunday?"

The girl spoke lightly, not knowing herself the depth of the truth she stated, and yet her mother started and shrunk back almost as if the words were sacrilege. It is possible, however, that the older woman caught some glimpse of that great Light in the social life of men; for, when she spoke again, it was with a yielding to Barbara's wish that was new to her.

"I don't understand you, Barbara. If only the money that your father saved for your education had been more wisely invested, we might—but it is too late to think of that now. It is the thought that you are throwing away your preparation for life on something beneath you that makes me oppose this. But if you do go from this other motive, that changes matters somewhat."

"Of course it does, mother! Let me go. I should not be happy to go without your consent. I will do this: I will go for a trial. This is probably the only way I can go, anyhow. But, if after a reasonable time I find it is impossible for me to continue, if even my dream of any possible service to society turns out to be ridiculous or foolish, I will come back and—and—be a burden to you again, mother, until I find out what I am good for in this world."

"It is only on some such condition that I am at all willing to have you take this step, Barbara," said her mother, reluctantly, as Barbara rose and stood up by her for a moment in silence. She suddenly stooped and kissed her mother, and then walked over to the window and looked at her watch.

"After six. I might as well go right over there now."

"They will ask you for references," the mother spoke up, nervously, already doubting the wisdom of the whole affair.

Barbara resolutely gathered up her courage.

"I have Prof. White's letter—the Chautauqua summer, mother, I can take those." Barbara referred to a summer's experience when in company with several seniors from the college she had served as a head waiter and housekeeper at a large hotel in a state Chautauqua assembly.

"They are good as far as they go."

"Yes, mother, and I am sure they will go far enough in this case. This family—" Barbara picked up the paper and read the advertisement again to get the street number correctly—"is in crying need of help. They will not drive me away without a trial, references or no references."

Mrs. Clark did not reply, but looked and felt very anxious.

It was a serious step in her daughter's life and under any circumstances it might have a most serious effect on her future.

"This will leave me alone here, Barbara," she said as Barbara put on her hat.

"I think I can arrange to come home evenings," said Barbara, thoughtfully. "We will settle it all right somehow, mother," she added with a cheerful courage she did not altogether possess. For since her mother's consent she had begun to realize a little more deeply what she was about to do.

"I hope so, dear," was the mother's answer, and then quite naturally she began to cry silently.

Barbara went up to her at once, and said: "Dear mother, believe it is all going to be for the best. I must be a breadwinner. Give me your blessing, as if I were a knight of the olden time going out to fight a dragon."

"Bless you, dear girl," said Mrs. Clark, smiling through her tears, and Barbara kissed her silently, and then quickly walked out of the room as if afraid of changing her resolution.

Barbara Clark was not an extraordinary girl in the least. She was a girl with a quick, bright mind, positive in her convictions, with impulses that were generous and sympathetic, with very little self-esteem, affectionate towards her friends and ambitious to do and be something. It seemed very strange to her that out of all her class in college she was one of half a dozen who had not been able to secure a position even of a secondary character in any school. Her father's death had left her and her mother alone in the world except for a few distant relatives in the west. Influences that might have secured a place for her were not used owing to a compulsory change of residence to another city caused by Mr. Clark's business failures. The intimate circle of close friends that had surrounded the Clarks during prosperity was changed for the cold wideness of a strange city lacking in personal friendliness. And Barbara and her mother had passed several weeks in Crawford, practically unknown, and with the growing consciousness that the little legacy and the insurance money were being drained seriously without hope of replenishing from any source so far as Barbara was concerned.

On the Lawyer.

The excited caller dropped into a chair.

"You're a lawyer, ain't you?" he asked.

"Yes, sir."

"I want you to sue a feller for me."

"What for?"

"Damages. I want to stick him for $5,000."

"What has he done?"

"Called me a 'shyster.'"

"What did he do that for?"

"I don't know. That's what I want to find out. I'm going to make him prove it."

"And he called you a shyster, did he? Have you any witnesses to testify to that?"

"More'n a dozen."

"H'm! Do you know what a shyster is?"

"No. I haven't the least idee."

"A shyster is a cheap lawyer."

"Gosh! Sue him for $10,000!"—Chicago Tribune.

When It Paid.

It was at the village sewing circle, and the unprofitable question of the failure or success of marriage was under discussion. Beulah Blank, a war widow, thrifty to the last degree of New England thriftiness, kept silent until some one said:

"What do you think about it, Beulah?"

"Well, I must say that it depends," said Beulah. "Now when a woman gits married, an' her husband gits drafted into the army, and he gits killed, and she gits a pension of $12 a month as long as she lives, it pays to git married. That's what I think."—Youth's Companion.

WOOLEN DRESSES.

Artistic Effects In the New Challies and Poplins.

There are days in summer when veilings and foulards are too thin and a wool gown is an absolute necessity. Fashion demands that this dress should be dainty in color and in weave, and therefore manufacturers have given us artistic popline and challies. Some of the latter revive ancient patterns, Persian and shawl effects. Many of the figures are very large, but it is well to leave these to elderly or very tall women. However, there are a number of pretty pompadour and flower patterns which are suitable for young girls. Many of these gowns come in robe patterns, with a border and panels for the front or sides. Satin stripes are also very fashionable, as well as silk polka dots of a contrasting color.

For those who like plain colors there are the silk and wool poplins. They come in all shades, but are most fashionable in tan, pearl gray, old rose and pastel blue.

The gown in the illustration is made of old rose poplin and trimmed with bands of cream taffeta partly covered with black silk chainwork. This chainwork is done by hand. The bolero is cut short enough to allow two inches of the blouse to be seen above the belt. This blouse is of yellow honiton lace over cream taffeta. The full undersleeve is held in by a band of cream taffeta embroidered with black chainwork. To wear with this there is a hat of yellow leghorn trimmed with two large pale pink roses.

EMPIRE EFFECTS.

Stylish Women Introduce Them Into Many of Their Gowns.

There is a new heavy crepe de chine which promises to be popular for waists and house dresses. Thanks to its weight, it does not require a silk lining, which is always an item worthy of consideration to the woman who dresses on a small income. Challies and wool veilings are very fashionable just now, and they are made up in soft, careless styles with wide crush belts, lace and mull fichus and elbow sleeves finished with frills of chiffon or little rosettes. There is a marked increase in the number of princess and empire gowns made by the best dressmakers.

A pretty house dress for a young woman is made of lavender veiling. It follows the empire style. A guimpe of cream mull reaches to the bust, where it is finished off with a wide scarf of yellow lace. This passes under the left arm and over the right and fastens a little to one side with a clasp formed of two medallions ornamented with amethysts. The sleeves are tucked vertically to a little below the elbow, where they fall in soft folds. In the back the lace scarf forms a bolero effect, and the fullness of the gown is box plaited into a long train.

Self Extinguished Obligation.

A colored man was telling a white man about another negro who owed him $2 and absolutely refused to pay the debt. The creditor dunned and dunned him, but all to no purpose. Finally the creditor went to his white friend, who is a lawyer, and poured his tale of woe into his ear.

"Well," said the lawyer, "if he positively refused to pay you, what reason did he give?"

"Well, boss," said the colored man, "he said he had owed me dat money fo' so long dat de interest had dun et it all up, and he didn't owe me a cent."—Columbus Dispatch.

THE INTREPID BEE.

There lived a Bee—who, though quite small,
Was not a busy bee at all.
No aim in life—no cares had he;
This bee had naught to do but be.

One day by chance he overheard
A passing stranger's passing word;
Deeply and long he pondered on it—
'Twas of a bee in some one's bonnet!

"A bonnet!" thought the bumptious bee;
"That would be just the place for me!
What residence is so correct
For one exclusive and select?"

Now it fell out that very day
Miss Amorilla came that way,
Wearing (as you no doubt foresee)
A rose-decked bonnet. Then the bee

Exclaimed: "Hurrah! My luck is great.
How all things come to those who wait!"
And with a sudden cry: "Here goes!"
He plunged into the reddest rose!

Its honey he essayed to suck,
But found instead that he was stuck,
And from a snarl of cotton-wool
In vain his legs he tried to pull.

Within his mouth was such a taste—
Aniline dye and glue and paste—
While wires and stiffened muslin things
Scratched his poor eyes and tore his wings.

But, though in dire and luckless plight,
He kicked and pushed with all his might,
And somehow managed to get free,
A sadder and a wiser bee.

The Moral, pointed like the bee's own sting,
Adorns the tale, and should this lesson bring:
A little learning is a dangerous thing.

A Husband's Generosity

By Marie Irish.

(Copyright, 1901, by Authors Syndicate.)

"MR. HARRINGTON to see you, sir," announced the office boy. "Show him in," directed the merchant, "and, Dexter, see that we are not disturbed."

"Good-morning," said Harrington, blandly, as he entered. "You wish to see me, your note said." And the self-possessed, fashionable man of the world regarded the merchant with a slightly interested air.

"Yes, I—" and going to the window the merchant drummed absently on the glass. "Yes," he resumed, turning to his caller, "I—the fact is, Harrington, I was—in the conservatory last night and—quite accidentally, you understand, heard your avowal to—my wife. Saw you kiss her as you held her in your arms, and—well, the usual love scene when affairs have reached a climax."

Only an instant did Harrington's self-possession desert him. Then he observed, carelessly: "Ah, rather unfortunate. Too bad for you, too."

The merchant sank into a chair, his face growing more haggard. "For God's sake, Harrington," he groaned, "drop that cloak of indifference and be a man. I'll own that this affair has quite broken me up, but—I want to do the right thing."

"Do the right thing," echoed Harrington. "May I ask what you—"

"Some men," interrupted the merchant, "would shoot you—as you deserve; some would endeavor to avert matters; some would do nothing and let things come to a smash. I shall do neither. I am—"

"Then why the trouble of this interview?" asked Harrington, coolly.

"If you love my wife as you vowed to her last night, you must know, or partly realize, at least, how I love her, and—" the merchant turned again to the window.

"I might have known I was too old to keep her love," he continued, bitterly. "Another mistaken case of May and December. She is too young and beautiful for a back number like me. I might have expected some fascinating scoundrel—yourself, for instance—to win her from me. I might have expected it, but—I trusted her. I knew she saw you often, that you called at the house, but in my love I trusted her and was blind. I had no hint of danger until—last night."

"YOU ARE EXCEEDINGLY KIND."

"Perhaps," suggested Harrington, calmly, "you will be so kind as to proceed to the object of this meeting."

"Some men—honorable ones—" exclaimed the merchant, hotly, "would at least have attempted an explanation; but you—you are a cad, and—to think I must give her up to you. Oh, don't act surprised," as Harrington looked up quickly; "you know me for too honorable a man to allow disgrace to come upon my wife—even if I did not love her. You need not fear but that I shall do the straight thing."

"You are exceedingly kind." And Harrington smiled. "What are your plans, if I may inquire?"

"If I go away, to some quiet out-of-the-way place where I shall remain unheard of—desert her, you see, and allow her to get a separation, will you promise to wait, and, in time, when there shall be no disgrace attached, marry her? I'll leave her good settlements and give you a clear field—anything to avoid the elopement you suggested last night."

"Your generosity merits a more worthy subject," said Harrington, flushing. "I am afraid you don't understand that—"

"I'm not doing it for you," interposed the merchant, "but for her. How a man who professes to love a woman can seek to bring shame, and, consequently, unhappiness, upon her surpasses my understanding. I'd like to kill you—but where would be the gain? The mischief is done, and I am not the man to hold a wife whose heart is given to another. As I said, I shall go away and leave you the field."

There was a minute's silence, Harrington haughtily watching the elder man, who continued earnestly: "If only I knew you would be kind to her, Harington, and make her happy! Helen is good and true—I'd stake everything on her honor—and she isn't to blame because I am not attractive enough to hold her love. How could she be expected to keep on caring for me, when fascinating, unprincipled men of leisure, like you, have the inside track? She's not to blame, I say, because she doesn't love me as—she used to do." And the merchant's voice grew soft as his eyes took on a faraway look.

"She was only eighteen when we were married," he resumed; "only eighteen and I was nearly forty, but we were very happy—I am sure she would tell you we were happy. Such a dear little home keeper as she was—not the woman of fashion and society that she is now, and her husband meant more to her in those days. There's nothing like financial success to make a failure of home life. If we had remained poor, affairs might have been different." And a dry sob rose in the merchant's throat.

"It would have been different, too, if the babies had lived," he went on. "How happy we were over the first one—such a wonderful little fellow, we thought him! Even now I seem to feel her tears upon my cheek and the touch of her soft face against mine as she crept into my arms for comfort when he was taken from us. Sometimes, when she can't help it, she will think of the lost little ones and of—their father. When she does, Harrington, I hope you will comfort her."

It was Harrington now who was drumming on the window. As he made no reply the merchant continued reminiscently: "How bravely she nursed me through the fever—'twas her care, the doctors said, that saved me—and how delighted she was when I sat by the window for the first time. Perhaps if I had worked less to provide her with luxuries and more to keep her affection she might have cared for me still."

"Have you informed your wife of your decision to abscond and give her freedom?" asked Harrington, without turning. "Does the plan meet her approval?"

"I—the fact is, she doesn't know it or that I have any suspicion of last night's denouement. To tell you the truth I haven't—I'd rather not hear her confess that I have become nothing to her. Even though I know she loves you I'd rather not hear her say so. I take the 9:30 to-night and shall leave without seeing her again. I trust you will carry out my wishes in regard to the marriage and comfort my wife in the hour of her desertion," and the merchant laughed harshly.

'Evidently," said Harrington, turning toward him, "you did not hear all of last evening's denouement, as you call it. You must have retired from the scene before the finale."

"Yes," answered the merchant. "I chanced upon you accidentally and, as a man of honor, heard and saw no more than was inevitable before I could escape. You were planning a trip to—was it Venice? when I withdrew."

"Not planning—it takes two for that," explained Harrington, "and for your sake I am glad to say that last night's unfortunate crisis was entirely one-sided. I love your wife—you, loving her, too, can perhaps understand why—and last night, as you know, I rashly proclaimed my devotion. I took her unawares, surprised her with my avowal, and forced my kisses upon her. I alone was responsible for the scene of which you were a witness."

"And Helen," demanded the merchant, hoarsely. "Isn't she—doesn't she care—"

"Not for me," answered Harrington. "I leave to-night for the west and—I may be a scoundrel as you say, but your wife is a true woman and—loves you. Let me leave you this as proof of her devotion," and handing the merchant a note Harrington hastily left the room.

Note in hand the merchant walked to the window and stood gazing down upon the swiftly moving stream of humanity below—gazing with a flood of gladness in his heart that brightened the otherwise somber scene. Then opening the note he read as follows:

"My Dear Mr. Harrington: Allow me once more to express my deepest regret for last night's mistake, and to beg your forgiveness if I seemingly encouraged your attentions. Resting secure in my husband's affection and my love for him I am most surprised and pained to learn the nature of your regard for me. With my heart safely in my husband's keeping let me assure you of my best wishes for your future happiness and the hope that you will adhere to your resolution to leave the city. Yours, respectfully,

"HELEN BANFORD."

When the merchant had finished the note he looked around for Harrington. But the man was gone. Touching a bell he summoned a clerk.

"Order a carriage for me at once," he said. "Quick, now; I must get home."

Wanted Protection.

"Have you in contemplation any risk or danger?" asked the life insurance man.

"I—I am going to discharge our cook to-morrow," faltered the unhappy applicant.—Baltimore American.

College Athletes of the East and West Compared

A Team of Picked Western Men Would Stand a Good Chance in a National Competition.

UNFORTUNATELY for the big throng of followers of college athletics, no fair comparison between the men who contested the intercollegiate meet at Berkeley Oval and those who appeared in the rival games of the western colleges can be made this season, although some contests were held at Buffalo, June 4, between the east and west. Bad weather, disheartening enough to take the heart out of any athlete, was the portion of the eastern men when they essayed records. Glorious weather greeted the westerners at Marshal Field and at Ravenswood athletic field, and everything was favorable for record breaking, to say nothing of spirited competition. However, for the sake of making a comparison, it might be said that the western college athletes excel in seven events, the easterners in four, and each is the same in another event.

However, another basis of comparison exists—the dual meet between

HOWARD W. HAYES.

Harvard and Yale, and some of the critics are using this for their compilation of comparisons. Taking all things into consideration, it is but fair to say that the west seems to have enough good athletes to stand almost an even chance in a genuine national competition, despite the form of Duffy, Sears, Boardman, Clark, Spraker and Crinstein. Useless as the all-western football selections are said to be—even the best coaches think they are without value as stars of the first magnitude might not shine so brilliantly if put into one eleven—the same cannot be said of the all-western athletic team. In forming this team for purposes of comparison with the eastern intercollegiate team, it is necessary to select 13 men. Eleven of these athletes will have to be taken from the ranks of the men who competed in the first annual meet of the Intercollegiate Conference Athletic association and two from the Western Intercollegiate Athletic association list.

Much as the follower of athletics dislikes the task, he is called upon to discriminate between the performers of the "big nine" or conference meet and the athletes who remained loyal to the old association. In the words of the men who maintained the W. I. A. A. in the face of all sorts of opposition and who by hard work brought off the meet, the stars of the larger colleges were favored by a larger throng of spectators and by more generous applause, for the simple reason that there were more alumni of the big institutions to draw from in the city of Chicago than there were from Notre Dame, Drake, Grinnell, Knox and other colleges represented in the W. I. A. A. Some doubt that the W. I. A. A. will care to carry on the contest with the new organization. But as an official of the western intercollegiate recently said to me: "No one knows what the future has in store for college athletics in the west."

Foremost in the western contingent that we might select to meet any athlete the east might pit against him, is Charles Dvorak, the little Chicago athlete who was one of Michigan's point winners. It is true that Dvorak only succeeded in vaulting 11 feet and one-quarter of an inch at the conference meet, although he holds the western intercollegiate record for 11 feet 6. But he won first with that effort, beating L. E. Endsley, of Purdue, and Baird, of Illinois. Endsley was unheralded by any great notice when he entered the meet, but my information from his Indiana school was that he had been doing all sorts of fine work in both the pole vault and the broad jump. In the high jump, too, he was Purdue's star. But it was only occasionally that he showed the finished form of a pole vaulter in going over the bar. That sudden twist of the wrist that takes Dvorak so clear of the bar in many a hard vault, was lacking in Endsley's work. Keene Fitzpatrick, the Michigan trainer, is the teacher who made out of a strong, willing young man the vaulter that gained praise for his work in Paris as well as everywhere he has displayed his skill. Dvorak has two years more in Michigan, and who knows that the prowess of the man who trained Yale's mighty vaulter, Clapp, may not be so used on Dvorak that he will set the mark so high no American athlete will have the ability to raise it? I have it from a Michigan man who has no reason to tell an untruth that Dvorak became angry with himself not long ago for not getting a better record in a dual meet, and ordering the bar placed across stanchions, took his celebrated run and cleared 12 feet with perfect ease. That shows what is in him. Unfortunately this time Dvorak was handicapped by a sprained ankle which accounts for his failure to break his own record.

Archie Hahn, of Michigan, by reason of his victory in the hundred-yard dash, in which he triumphed over his schoolmate, Clark Lieblee, supposed to be the speediest man in the west in competition, gained the right to go on an all-western team. Archie is little, but seems to run like the late J. V. Crum, and has a world of endurance for the final burst. Twice he ran the hundred in ten seconds flat, which is as good as the western judges have allowed. To make his title seem firmer, the gritty little Wolverine ran in the 220-yard dash and took a heat. He put up a hard fight in the final, but was beaten by Ed Merrill, the big, strong and sensational all-around athlete of Beloit college, and by Bell, of Illinois. The latter was favored for the event even more than Merrill or Hahn. Those who witnessed the struggle at the last 15 yards of the race will always remember the strong finish of Merrill.

J. Keachie, of Wisconsin, is chosen for the mile run by many critics, over his schoolmate, J. F. Hahn, probably because of Keachie's celebrated rush to the tape in the mile event. Hahn saw a Wisconsin man closing up fast on him, when apparently Hahn was good enough to win. It is a tribute to his loyalty to the cardinal of Wisconsin, that Hahn did not strive to wrest away the honors gained by Keachie. Still it is an open question whether or not Hahn is not a better miler than Keachie. F. W. Shule undoubtedly has a place on the all-western for the running broad jump. He made 22 feet 4 inches in the competition, beating Capt. Tate, of Minnesota, by a narrow margin. Shule was a busy athlete, and in his practice jumps, before the tape was applied, must have made 25 feet or over.

Fred Moloney, over the sticks, is in a class by himself, it would seem, and there are adherents of the University of Chicago track team who would not hesitate to pit him against even the mighty Kraenzlein for American honors. He took both high and low hurdle events from the best men in the west, in a manner that stamps him once more as the best sticker seen in the west in a long time.

Capt. Tate, of Minnesota, is a finely-built athlete, who wears his glasses while jumping. But he has excellent form, and would give many an easterner a hard rub. His 5 feet 9¾ inches in the high jump was a surprise to all but the men from the north. They had heard all about Armstrong, of Michigan, and tall, rangy Meyers, of Wisconsin, to say nothing of the popular and capable Neil Snow, of the Wolverine team, but they pinned their faith to Tate. I saw the latter plow up a great deal of earth in a fall during the broad jump, and he hurt his leg, or he might have wrested five points from Wisconsin.

Merrill clearly and fairly wrested quarter-mile honors from Capt. "Bill" Moloney, and later when the half-mile event was called, this defeat had so cut into Moloney's proud spirit that he declined the issue with his old rival, Capt. Howard Hayes, of the Michigan team. The latter was worried when he started, but won on his courage from Harris, of Minnesota. No one doubts now that Merrill and Hayes should have the places on the team.

I. N. TATE.

N. A. Kellogg, of Michigan, overthrew a grand long-distance racer in Bredsteen, of Wisconsin, when he set a pace that exhausted the cardinal athlete, and won five points for Ann Arbor. Pell, of Drake, got a medal from the Western Intercollegiate for taking two firsts and a third. He is a grand athlete, and upheld his Iowa state meet form. A. G. Baird, of Northwestern, showed the best in the discussion, and should be on the team. Carey, of Chicago, although beaten in the hammer throw by B. C. Shorts, of Michigan, has done over 35 feet so often that this event in an all-western team must be left open. Plaw, of California, could do 150 feet in his street clothes, and Pell, of Drake, has done over 130 feet. Nufer and Haslam, who with Hayes and Lieblee, of Michigan, won the relay race banner, are good enough to run in any relay with the easterners.

Members of Ministers' Association Entertained at F. O. Herring's Cottage Yesterday.

The members of the Plainfield Ministers' Association were the guests yesterday afternoon and evening of Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Herring, at their cottage on the mountains near the Mountain Park Inn. Those present included Revs. E. M. Rodman, G. W. Gardner, A. E Main, John McMurray, C. L Goodrich, Cornelius Schenck and Dr. W. R. Richards.

It was about 5 o'clock when the divines assembled in the woods and held their regular meeting. An interesting paper, prepared by Rev. Mr. Main, was read by him, followed by an informal discusion.

After the meeting all were invited to the cottage, where, on the broad veranda, all thoroughly enjoyed the repast. The veranda was enclosed with green boughs, while the table was attractively decorated with ferns and flowers. The guests remained on the mountain until nearly 9 o'clock, returning home by moonlight.

LAMBERT WAS ACQUITTED.

TRIED ON CHARGE OF EMBEZZLEMENT AT ELIZABETH.

Complaint Was Made By McCormick Harvesting Machine Company, Which I. H. Lambert Had Represented.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 25—A jury in the Union County Court here yesterday, acquitted Isaac H. Lambert, of Westfield, from the charge made against him by the McCormick Harvesting Machine Company, of Chicago, of having embezzled money belonging to them amounting to $129.49.

Lambert had sold the McCormick farming machinery in connection with his other business at Westfield during the year of 1900, and when a settlement was made November 15, there was a balance due the company of $129.49.

Shortly after this Lambert was unable to reach his current obligations and made an assignment. Later some of his creditors forced him into bankruptcy. Lambert was therefore unable to pay the sum due the McCormick Company. The company's employes then went before the Grand Jury and obtained an indictment against Lambert for embezzling the sum named.

The trial occupied nearly the entire day and the jury promptly returned a verdict of not guilty. Prosecutor English represented the State and was assisted by E. M. Wood, the Elizabeth attorney of the company and officials from the Philadelphia office of the company, and Mr. Lambert's lawyers were Charles H. Angleman, of Newark, and W. S. Angleman, of Plainfield.

FELL INTO CISTERN.

Narrow Escape From Drowning of Mrs. W. H. Corlell at Her Home Last Week.

But for the timely aid rendered, Mrs. W. H. Corlell would probably have been drowned at her home on Clinton avenue Friday.

Mrs. Corlell was walking across her kitchen floor when it collapsed, precipitating her into a cistern twelve feet deep below. She had gone down in the water twice, and when she came to the surface the third time, Miss Farrand, a friend from Bayonne, who was visiting the home at the time, secured a hold on Mrs. Corlell

Miss Farrand succeeded in holding on to Mrs. Corlell until help arrived. Excepting a nervous shock Mrs. Corlell sustained no injuries.

On investigation, it was found that the floor had become decayed, and this condition of affairs caused the collapse. A table and some china fell through to the cellar at the same time.

DEFENCE OF ACTION OF THE GANG BOSSES.

James Bell Writes Concerning the Strike at Pond Machine Tool Works.

WHY THE BOSSES RETURNED

CLAIMS THAT MEN DID NOT KEEP PROMISES TO SHOP COMMITTEE.

Whole Story of the Trouble and Strike at Pond's Machine Shop Reviewed By One of the Gang Bosses.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—An attempt has been made to discredit the action of the gang bosses of the Pond Tool Works in returning to their places in the shop. The claim is made that they agreed to stand by the men if the men went out. I can find no evidence of such an agreement or even an intimation that such an agreement was desired.

The plain fact is that the gang bosses are as much interested in a shorter work day as the other people and are willing to do what they can, honorably, to obtain it, but they will not be co-erced into what they believe to be a dishonorable transaction.

During the week previous to May 20, a committee of five machinists—Messrs. Gow, McInnes, Newman and Hangliter, of the union and Mr. Thompson, non-union, waited on the management of the shop and arranged for a conference on Monday, May 20 The management asked that action be postponed until June 3 The men were called together by the committee and unanimously voted to postpone action as requested.

The proceedings of this meeting were reviewed at a public meeting held on the evening of that day and, as a result, at 8 a. m. Tuesday, May 21, the men began to go out. The committee hastened to the office and secured a promise to hasten the matter, and the management suggested Friday evening next following as the earliest date at which it was possible to give any reply; but when the committee appeared to consult with the men there were too few left to do anything and these, seeing that nothing could be done to improve matters and being unwilling to irritate those who had already gone out, withdrew. As there were no men to boss, the gang bosses also withdrew with the advice and approval of the superintendent.

The following afternoon, Wednesday, Superintendent McMurray met the men in a hall and asked them to return until Friday evening, but his request was ignored.

The men were in honor bound to remain at their places until the evening of Friday, May 24, if the vote of May 20 was in any way binding on them. If the vote was not binding, those who voted must be regarded as irresponsible and, therefore, unworthy of notice.

On June 3, the gang bosses were invited to the shop office and a proposition offered that the men meet the gang bosses at a hall to discuss a proposition to accept sixty hours pay for fifty-seven hours work per week. The gang bosses met but no men came to confer. The I. A. of M. meeting of the evening previous had disapproved the proposition. The management in the mean time had withdrawn all concessions and had notified the men to be in their places on the following Monday morning or consider themselves out of the employ of the company.

At this meeting the gang bosses prepared a paper urging the company to reconsider their decision and reopen negotiations. As it was not signed by all of the gang bosses the management asked that a meeting be held in the shop to enable those who had not already signed it to do so. This was done, and the remaining names were attached. They also offered to submit to the men the proposition that the company had already offered—sixty hours pay for fifty-seven hours work. On Monday, June 10, the gang bosses and others, who had been in the employ of the company, held a meeting at which it was resolved to return at fifty-seven hours pay for fifty-four hours work. The matter was telegraphed to President O'Connell of the I. A. of M. He replied by telegraph approving the proposition. The local organization, however, refused to recognize it.

At the meeting of June 4, the question of finances came up. Mr. Newman remarked that $6 per week was to be paid to all parties out on account of the strike whether members of the union or not. I remarked that we could not consistently accept such money unless we joined the union. This remark was met by the statement that the union would rather not have us as members on account of the positions we held. Thus it will be seen that we are out in the cold. The fact that Messrs. Gow, Newman and Thompson were members of the shop committee and also gang bosses has been used as a pretext to discredit their actions. Some inquiries made by members of the committee and one of the gang bosses not on the committee led us to believe that the officials of the union were deceiving the strikers of Plainfield.

It is notorious that the promises to pay strike benefits have not been fulfilled. The condition of affairs elsewhere has been misrepresented. I do not wish by this to insinuate that the reports issued by the shop management were in every case true and everything that the union said was false.

Personally I have no use for strikes. Any difference that can be settled by a strike can be settled better by arbitration or the ballot. Both of these are available and very cheap.

James Bell.

HUNTING FOR WORDS.

Pleasant Features of Endeavor Social Held At Trinity Reformed Church Last Evening.

A well attended social was held under the auspices of the Christain Endeavor Society of Trinity Reformed church in the lecture room of the church edifice last evening.

The affair proved to be no exception to the rule to that a very enjoyable time was accorded to everyone present.

The pleasure of the occasion was increased by the piano duets rendered by Mrs. J. M. Smalley and Miss May Randolph. Two members on the programme were accorded to them, but in each instance they were compelled to respond to an encore. Miss Josie Murphy, during the course of the evening, cleverly recited some of her best selections.

An unique feature of the entertainment provided was the disconnected word puzzle. Slips of paper containing some word were torn in half and distributed to the persons about the room. The object was to search for the missing part of the word. In this way a great deal of amusement was afforded.

While this agreeable task was being performed, lemonade and cake were served

In charge of the arrangements for the gathering was the social committee of the society. This committee consists of Miss Sadie Searing, chairman, the Misses Mabel Wilson, Viola Huff, May Sheppard and Minnie Wyman, and Mrs. W. A. Crawford and Mrs. William Kirch.

UNDER NEW LAW.

William Baldwin Arrested Charged With Allowing His Dog To Run At Large.

On complaint of Game Warden Hawkins, Justice Hand yesterday issued a warrant for the arrest of William Baldwin, of West Front street, charging him with allowing his dog to run at large on grounds inhabited by game. The complaint was based on an act passed by the last session of Legislature, and this is the first known arrest.

The summons was served by Constable Weaver and Mr. Baldwin appeared in court last evening. He asked for an adjournment of two weeks, stating that his counsel, City Judge William N. Runyon, was unable to be present. Game Warden Hawkins objected to the adjournment and wished the case to be tried immediately. Justice Hand thought Baldwin was entitled to recognition and laid the case over until Tuesday at 2 o'clock.

GUESTS GATHERING AT THE HOTEL NETERWOOD

Although Open Only a Week, That Popular Hostelry Is Fast Filling Up.

ORCHESTRA ARRIVES SOON.

SOME OF THE PROMINENT GUESTS WHO ARE ALREADY REGISTERED.

Orpheus Orchestra Will Spend Summer There—Other Means Of Enjoyment Besides Dancing—Hotel Has Been Improved

Judging from the number of engagements for suites and from the rapidity with which the pleasant resort is already filling up, the Hotel Netherwood gives every promise of having as successful a season this year as could be wished.

Though the favorite hostelry opened a little more than a week ago, many fashionable people from New York and elsewhere are now permanently quartered there for the warm weather. As everyone in this vicinity knows, the establishment is located on the most desirable point that could be imagined. Being erected on a bluff and surrounded by beautiful grounds, it overlooks the handsome country residences which make Netherwood notable. The scene, from the large wide verandas which form pleasant adjuncts to the resort, is a superb one.

It was expected that the opening dance of the season would be held last Saturday evening and to join in that looked-for gaiety, some Plainfielders went to the hotel by trolley. The Orpheus orchestra, of Scanton, which has been engaged for the season, had not arrived and consequently the young people were denied the enjoyment of waltzing on the spacious dancing floors.

Under the leaderehip of Wm. Stanton, the Orpheus orchestra is filling an engagement elsewhere at present, but in all probability it will be at the hotel by the end of this week and then the merry terpsichorean festivities will begin

The mere fact that there was no dance did not deter the guests and their friends from having enjoyment. A pleasant evening can easily be spent there under any conditions. The high piazzas catch a good breeze at all times, and Saturday evening the cool air was delightfully refreshing.

Quite a number of prominent guests are at the hotel for the summer. W. W. Fuller, of New York, the counsel for the American Tobacco Company, is there with his wife and family. He has brought his coachman and horses and proposes to stay for the season. In the party besides Mr. and Mrs. Fuller, who were were there last year, are Miss Staples, Miss Fuller, the Misses Margaret Fuller, Caddie Fuller, M. L. Fuller, Dorothy Fuller and maid.

Other New Yorkers include Mr. and Mrs. L. deL Cammann and son, Master Harry Cammann, with a nurse, Ernest L. Walz, a former Plainfielder, Fred Wetzler, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Cammann, A. Seymour Bulkley, Lieut. C. C Carter, of the U. S. artillery service, Mr. and Mrs. G. Jermain Brown, Mr and Mrs Radcliffe Baldwin, Miss L. M. Perine. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Leverick, Mr, and Mrs. W. B. Ogden, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gregory and Miss Mackay and companion.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Jermain Brown will be remembered by a number of society people here. They were married in St. Stephen's church in October while staying at the hotel. Radcliffe Baldwin is the president of the Allen Line.

From other points the list of guests include Major and Mrs. J. M. Brown, of Washington, D. C, and Mr. and Mrs. E. V. S. Heberton, of Philadelphia. Clifton Wharton, Jr., and family, who have been staying at the Park Avenue Hotel, are now domiciled at the resort. In the party are the Misses Susan C. and Jean H. P. Wharton and the governess, Miss Mohrmann. During the week Mr. and Mrs. Wharton have been entertaining Mr. Wharton's father, Clifton Wharton, of New Haven, Pa., and his brother, J. H. P. Wharton, of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Heckle, of Germantown, Philadelphia, spent several days at the hotel last week, as did also Mr. and Mrs. George Wright, of New York, and E. C. Sterling, of New York. Mr. Sterling made arrrangements to spend the summer. Scott Haycock, while making a short sojourn, arranged for a suite for his parents. His father is Captain George Haycock.

Major Colemam has greatly improved the resort during the winter, and has engaged an exceptional staff to attend to the comforts of the guests.

YOUNG TEMPERANCE WORKERS

CLOSING EXERCISES OF LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION FOR SUMMER.

Two Members Graduated to Older Organization—Several Addresses Made to Children.

The members of the Loyal Temperance Legion, an organization connected with the W. C. T. U, held its closing exercises for the summer in the rooms, last evening. There was a large attendance of members and friends and a varied programme of interest was enjoyed. Mrs. Rufus K. Case, superintendent of the legion, was in charge, and she was assisted by the teachers.

The programme opened with a piano solo by Miss Smalley, followed with the singing of "Jubilee of Temperance," by the legion. A recitation entitled "Wishing," was given by Elsie Clark, after which Maude and Mattie Green sang "In the Vineyard." Other vocal selections by the legion included "Gather the Children In." "Temperance Girls and Boys" and "Dare to do Right." Interspersing these selections there was another piano solo by Miss Smalley and a vocal solo "Song of Life," by Russell Miller.

A feature of the affair was the graduation exercises, wherein Florence Cooney and Leo Moore were promoted from the legion to the older organization. They both gave essays.

Miss Keron, county superintendent of the Loyal Legion, presented the graduates with diplomas, at the same time taking occasion to say a few words by the way of praise and commendation. Mrs. Elizabeth Parse, president of the local W. C. T. U., and Mrs. M. D. Tomlinson, county superintendent, each made interesting and helpful addresses to the young folks. Another address of much interest was made by Rev. G. M. Shott, of Scotch Plains, which was filled with encouragement and inspiration to all

After the address, Mrs. Blair presented prizes to the members of the legion, and in connection with this each member received a bouquet of flowers, and in return handsome bouquets were presented to the superintendent and her assistants.

After the award of prizes the members repeated the pledge, and following the announcement of the social for Saturday evening, the exercises concluded with the "Goodnight Song." The legion will resume its meetings in the fall.

UNDER HORSE'S HEELS.

Nevertheless Harry Hummer Managed to Escape With No Bones Broken.

While on his way from New Brunswick to the Piscataway poor farm, Friday, Harry Hummer, the overseer of the institution, narrowly escaped serious injury.

In driving quietly along the road the horse became frightened by an approaching trolley car. The animal reared and backed across the track suddenly, causing the wagon to be struck with full force by the car. Mr. Hummer was thrown out and the was badly damaged.

When picked up, he was lying in front of the car fender almost under the horse's heels. Dr. M. J. Whitford, of New Market, was subsequently summoned.

It was found on examination that no bones were broken, but that Mr. Hummer was greatly bruised.

JOHN MILES ON TRIAL FOR SHOUTING "SCAB."

Police All Agreed That Miles Was One Of Noisiest In The Crowd.

HIS TESTIMONY DIFFERED.

WAS ARRESTED DURING DEMONSTRATION NEAR POND'S THURSDAY.

Tried Before City Judge Runyon In The Council Chambers This Morning—Jury's Verdict Was Guilty—Sentence Saturday.

In a heated courtroom crowded with the friends and sympathizers of the defendant, the trial of John Miles, one of the quartette of strikers arrested for being disorderly in the excitement at Grant avenue, on the evening of June 20, began this morning at 9:30. The city was represented by Craig A. Marsh, corporation counsel, while Miles' interests were looked after by Codington & Swackhamer. City Judge William N. Runyon was on the bench.

The following men comprised the jury: Richard Depew, Rowland Treadwell, Joseph L Myers, John M. Whiton, Evarts Tracy, Alfred Streull, David Smalley, Henry Paul, Howard Pope, J. Wesley Johnson, F. T. Ostrom and John DeMeza. Charles W. Opdyke, Lemuel W. Serrell and Charles W. Runyon were called first but were excused by the defendant's counsel.

After Mr. Marsh had briefly stated the charge on which Miles was to stand trial, which was mainly for shouting "scab," "traitor" and "coward," Patrolman Andrew Saffron, who arrested Miles, was placed on the stand.

He stated that he arrested Miles at the direction of Chief Kiely, who had heard the man shout from the Grant avenue railroad bridge, but that there was at least twenty-five other men on the bridge as well Miles, he said, ran some distance, but he was not sure what his thoughts were, whether it was that he might have moved because of an officer or a passing express train. The rest of the patrolman's testimony was gleaned by a rigid cross examination and was mainly of the same import. Later Officer Saffron was recalled to explain the relative position of the train and Miles. The defendant, said he, was standing on the west bound track whilst the express was approaching on the east bound track.

Chief Kiely, when called, declared that his attention was attracted by Miles standing on the track and shouting at the top of his voice "scab," "traitor" and "coward" He ordered an officer to arrest the man because he was inciting others. The Chief admitted that he could not tell whether it was Miles' intention to get away from the officer or train, when he commenced to run Miles, he reiterated, put his hand to the side of his mouth and shouted louder than any of the others.

Sergeant Frederickson, Patrolmen Lunger, Gamo, Myers and Overbaugh and Roundsman Flynn each in turn corroborated the testimony given by Saffron.

Patrolman Overbaugh alleged that he heard the man shout, but did not see the arrest. He thought that the Chief had called to him to place Miles under arrest and he started after him as did also Myers and Saffron. All these officers unequivocally declared that the defendant shouted louder than any one in the vicinity. The cross-examination in each instance did not serve to vary their direct testimony to any material extent. When Roundsman Flynn left the stand Mr. Marsh stated that he rested the city's case.

In opening the case for the defense, Former Assemblyman W R Codington, the senior member of the firm of Codington & Swackhamer, who represented the defendants, declared that his client had shouted but only on just provocation. Miles, he said, had simply shouted when he saw an officer use a club on a woman. Further than this the man had done nothing to warrant arrest

Miles was put on the stand and said with much emphasis that the accusation of his shouting was "entirely false; every word of it." The alleged scene of Officer Saffern beating back a woman, whom it is said, subsequently fell, was witnessed by him, although he declared that he said nothing. The approaching train prompted him to move hurriedly, he said, and he knew nothing of the order for his arrest.

Charles Greenhals, of Dunellen, said that he was standing within a few feet of Miles at the time of the arrest and just prior to it, but that there was no disturbance on the part of the defendant. Greenhals admitted that he himself moved on principally "to get out of the way of the cop." He saw Saffron hit a woman, he declared.

Thomas Fenner, George Gould and John Bishop, all machinists, who were in the crowd, were placed on the stand and told virtually the same story. Their testimony was to the effect that they were on or near the bridge, but did not hear Miles shout; that they got out of the way when the train came; and that they also moved away for fear they might be clubbed or arrested.

An argument ensued between the prosecuting and defendant's lawyers as to the admission of the testimony of Wm. Miller, which for the most part seemed immaterial to the question at issue. It was finally gleaned that he was at the corner of Grant avenue and Front street and did not see anything which immediately led to the arrest of Miles. He was withdrawn.

Edwin Langley, a machinist, formerly employed at Potter's, was the next witness. He stood at the corner of Grant avenue and West Front street, when the charge was made by the police. According to his testimony he was too far away to hear what the defendant said, but he said the police knocked people down right and left On cross examination, he said he did not hear any one call names.

Patrick McGauley, of West Fourth street, was with the defendant six minutes before he was arrested, but said he did not hear him call "scab" or other names. He said he saw Chief Kiely yell "charge!" Mr. Marsh asked him where he stood when the defendant called "scab," and the witness replied: "Under the railroad bridge"

John William Park, of 951 West Third street, testified that he heard no cries of "scab." John F. Casey, a member of the strike committee, who was very close to the defendant, said that he would not swear as to whether any one called "scab" or not.

The defendant's counsel then rested its case, and Mr. Marsh in rebuttal called Patrolman Saffron, Chief Kiely, Sergeant Frederickson and Roundsman Flynn to substantiate the statement that no order was given by Chief Kiely to spare neither man, woman or child in the charge. The officers all testified that no woman was struck in any manner whatever by any of the officers. The city then rested its case and, by consent, counsel on both sides were to take twenty minutes each in summing up.

Mr. Swackhamer commenced summing up at 12:25 o'clock. He reviewed impressively the scene of last week, when a crowd assembled in Grant avenue. He asked for his client the same rights accorded every quiet, peaceable citizen. He thought the trial the most unmitigated farce ever witnessed in a court, and then cited the law which says that in a riot an officer of the law must read the riot act and give the crowd one hour to disperse. Then he has the right to arrest those who disobey. Mr. Swackhamer claimed that no such warning was given by the police. He asked the jury to consider well the rights of the defendant and render a just verdict.

Corporation Counsel Marsh, in addressing the jury, said that the verdict depended solely on the question whether the epithets alleged were used by the defendant. He pointed out the variance between the statements made by the defendant's counsel, in his opening speech, and the testimony of the defendant himself.

Mr. Marsh also dwelt upon the indirect admission of one of the witnesses for the defense that words were uttered. In conclusion he said the jury could convict with a recommendation for a moderate fine and he would be glad to have it do so.

City Judge Runyon, in his charge to the jury, read the ordinance under which the complaint had been made and impressed upon it the necessity of sifting out the true facts.

At 1:15 o'clock this afternoon the jury was placed in charge of Officer McCarthy, and in a very few minutes returned a verdict of guilty with a recommendation to mercy.

City Judge Runyon announced that he would reserve his decision until 9 o'clock Saturday morning.

By agreement of counsel, the hearing of the cases against the other three defendants was continued until Wednesday morning, July 3, at 9:30 o'clock.

POND'S OLD EMPLOYES MAY RETURN MONDAY.

Strike Leaders Are Doing Their Best To Prevent Such a Happening.

BUT FEELING IS GROWING.

TWO STRIKERS REPORT CONDITION AT NILES-BEMENT WORKS.

Committee Waited On Officials Of Potter Press Works And Held Long Conferences—Company Would Not Give In.

While no actual change has taken place in the local strike situation, a steady undercurrent of feeling seems to exist which promises a speedy settlement of the troubles at the Pond Tool Works. Three more machinists returned to work today, and many others are in favor of going back in a body Monday morning under the old conditions. The leaders of the strike are, of course, combatting this feeling as much as possible and, so far, no united action has been taken by the strikers regarding their future course.

Various stories have been circulated denying the truth of the statement that the Niles-Bement Works at Philadelphia was working full handed. J. Ardern and David Allen, two former Pond employes, went to Philadelphia yesterday to see for themselves. They have sent the following signed statement to The Daily Press:

"Owing to the statements made in Plainfield regarding the Niles-Bement Tool Works in Philadelphia and the Philadelphia Engineering Works, running with but few men working, we made a personal visit to the above shops Tuesday, June 25, to find the exact state of affairs.

"We arrived in time to see the men returning to work at noon. Inquiring amongest them, we found that the strike is all over. The majority returned June 19, and the rest with few exceptions have returned since then. We then went to the office of the concern and were shown through the works by the superintendent, seeing for ourselves that the machines are in operation and the men at their work.

"We were satisfied without a doubt that the shop is in full operation, the men returned at the same terms that existed before the strike.

"We next visited the Philadelphia Engineering Company's works and found the same thing there. We were conducted through the works by the superintendent who gave us every opportunity to see the men at work. They are also working their full force on the same conditions as existed before the strike.

"J. Ardern.
"D. Allen."

A committee of twelve men, composed of the men formerly employed at the Potter Press Works, called at the office of that concern yesterday afternoon and held a long but amicable conference with the officials of the company. The officials of the company stated that the works were there and the tools were there and that they would be very glad to see the men back again but that it would be impossible for them to grant any different terms than those which existed before the strike. The ground was gone over thoroughly by both sides. The committee then withdrew promising to lay the situation before all the employes of that company.

LITERARY.

Seldom has a better chance for "stay-at-home traveling' been offered than in The Ladies' Home Journal for July. From West Point, as pictured by George Gibbs on the cover, readers may go with W. L. Taylor to see "A Busy Boston Street at High Noon"; next try "Goin' Fishin' with Joe Jefferson" in Florida; then travel with Ernest Seton-Thompson to see "The Mother Teal and the Overland Route"; next go along the Atlantic coast to find out out how the places "Where Our Country Began" look today; then seek northern Michigan to hear "The Story of a Maple Tree," by Wm. Davenport Hulbert; next visit an eastern magazine editor's office and enjoy the good-humored raillery of "The Case Against the Editor," by Edward Bok; and finally see what "The Country of Sheridan's Ride" looks like nowadays. By the Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia. One dollar a year; ten cents a copy.

The youthfulness of this country shows in nothing more plainly than in its business houses. Even in so conservative a trade as publishing, there are today hardly any magazines which have been familiar to the public half a century. In those days the genius and unlimited energy of Frank Leslie made nearly a score of periodicals valuable investments, but with his death most of them disappeared, and in subsequent years only one, Frank Leslies' Popular Monthly, has shown that it possesses the vital element of continuous success. The last step in the history of this famous publication was taken recently, when the controlling shares of stock passed into the hands of Frederic L Colver, who has been identified with the best interests of the house for upwards of a decade, and who for several years past has been its president and guiding spirit.

The July Forum is opened by important articles on political problems of the day. The first, by W. C. Jameson Reid, is "A Plea for the Integrity of China," as against the attempts of European powers to secure its partition for their own advantage. Congressman H. S. Boutell shows the bearing of "The Sale of Texas to Spain" upon the question whether all territory acquired by the government becomes ipso facto "an integral part" of the United States. Other political articles are contributed by Congressman Oscar W. Underwood, who protests against "The Corrupting Power of Public Patronage," and by Walter MacArthur, who gives an account of "The Movement for a Shorter Working Day." Five articles deal, more or less with educational subjects.

THE FLOOD DAMAGES

Many Towns Have Suffered Heavy Loss.

FATALITIES WERE OVERESTIMATED.

The Work of Repairing the Railroads and Putting the Mines In Shape For Business Being Rapidly Carried On.

ROANOKE, Va., June 26.—The damage in the coalfields begins at Coaldale, which is 15 miles west of Bluefield. At that place great embankments supporting the railroad tracks have been washed out. At Mayberry from the train can be seen five houses partially demolished.

The branch road leading from this point to the Norfolk and Delta collieries has suffered heavy damage. The track is washed out in some places and covered over in others, and those left of the long row of company houses have an unsightly appearance on account of material washed in their yards.

At Lick Branch the water was very high, and at this point damage to the main line of railroad begins and destruction of coal company property increases.

At Ennis can be seen the remains of a valuable house, and on down below lumber from many buildings is collected high against bridge abutments and other immovable structures. At this point the east bound track begins to entirely disappear, and at some distance farther the roadbed is entirely gone from both tracks. The iron bridge structures remain, but the approaches in most all cases have been entirely washed out by reason of lumber from demolished houses and other material being wedged against the abutments, causing the water to flow around. All wooden bridges are gone. The Turkey Gap colliery's loss is $29,000. The tipple is slightly damaged and the coke tracks gone.

The delivery and coke oven tracks of the Crozer and Houston operations are almost entirely gone, bridges and all, cars are turned over, empty and partially loaded, and some are demolished. The Crozer boiler house is washed out, and the damage sustained is $15,000. At the Upland company's the boiler house and tipple are partially washed away. Along here coal company houses have been moved and destroyed. Between this operation and Kyle all tracks are badly damaged, nearly everything having exchanged positions with the former creek bed.

Heavy damage was done at the Lynchburg operation, mostly to the tracks. Up North Fork branch ruined houses can be seen, besides a lot of building material which was lodged against North Fork bridge.

The water has changed its course at this bridge by removing the embankment at the east approach. The North Fork operations all sustained considerable damage.

Algoma lost houses and tracks, and no reasonable estimate can yet be made.

Elk Ridge lost a number of houses, coke ovens and trestles. The power house and the tracks were washed out. The tipple is also damaged. Loss, $20,000.

Greenbrier lost a number of houses, and the tracks were damaged.

At Rolfe the tipple and trestles were damaged.

At Roanoke operations the damage to houses, trestles and tracks will amount to $7,500.

At Arlington bridges are gone above and below the tipple, and the loss is estimated at $10,000.

At McDowell the tracks are washed out and houses destroyed.

Gilliam's loss is heavy in small houses.

Indian Ridge lost a number of houses, and the storehouse was damaged. Dr. Workman's house and office were washed away. Loss, $12,000.

Ashland's loss is between $8,000 and $10,000. Bottom Creek's loss is $25,000.

Tidewater lost heavily.

At Keystone the streets are washed irregularly, and debris is everywhere. Floors of buildings standing are covered with mud, and water has been all over the town to a considerable depth. Had it not been for the jamming of three or four buildings at the upper end, near the suspension bridge, no doubt the entire property of the town would be a total loss. Just opposite Calhoun's buildings, on the other side of the creek, all the houses were entirely swept away, including the most of Belchertown. Property is undermined and badly damaged at Burke. The whole fill on which the two tracks pass through Keystone is entirely gone.

AFTER THE FLOOD.

Norfolk and Western Railway Working Night and Day on Repairs.

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., June 26.—Another 24 hours have passed, and the full extent of the vast damage done by the flood cannot yet be accurately stated. All over this section there is great relief expressed at the announcement that the loss of life is not so great as at first believed. Many of the missing who were mourned as dead by their friends have turned up. Six bodies were found Monday, but they were discolored and swollen beyond recognition.

It is now highly probable that very few of the dead whose bodies are found at this late hour will ever be identified.

The Norfolk and Western Railroad company continues to make every effort to hasten the opening of communication between the affected district and the outside world. Laborers are going in a continual stream, and many hundreds more could be used. The work of repairing and clearing the debris goes on night and day. A thoroughly equipped electric light plant, consisting of three cars, has been provided. It is capable of furnishing 40 arc lights of great power and is equipped with a huge searchlight that sweeps the country around for a mile.

Wrecking trains completely manned continue to arrive. They have been sent by connecting lines to aid in clearing the right of way and rebuilding the tracks.

General E. I. Boggs, private secretary to Governor White, and Adjutant General Hudson are here looking into the necessities for a relief movement. It seems to be the general opinion that there will be no necessity for calling out the state guard, as the railroad and coal companies have sufficient systems of policing the devastated district. A great many of the coal mines will have their damage repaired and be ready for shipping some time before the railroad is in sufficient repair to handle the output.

NASH RENOMINATED.

Ohio Republicans Wind Up Convention In a Hurry.

THREE NEW MEN ON THE TICKET.

The Nomination of Nippert In Place of Lieutenant Governor Caldwell Without Opposition Caused Some Comment.

COLUMBUS, O., June 26.—The Republican state convention met here yesterday and nominated the following ticket: Governor, George K. Nash; lieutenant governor, Carl L. Nippert; supreme judge, J. L. Price; attorney general, John M. Sheets; clerk of the supreme court, Lawson E. Emerson; state treasurer, Isaac B. Cameron; member board of public works, W. G. Johnston.

The convention was in session from 10:10 a. m. to 1:10 p. m., breaking the Ohio record by completing its work in three hours. The intense heat was prostrating, and Chairman Hanna not only cut short his own speech, but also those of others, and then dispatched business with the utmost speed.

In those three hours the convention nominated a full state ticket, adopted its declaration of principles, indorsed Joseph B. Foraker as the Republican candidate for re-election as United States senator, completed the party organization for the campaign and transacted other business.

Of the seven nominations only three were new men, and one of these, Nippert, for lieutenant governor, was nominated without opposition, after Lieutenant Governor Caldwell had declined renomination. Nash, Sheets, Cameron and Johnston were renominated for second terms without opposition. There were free for all contests for the nominations for supreme judge and clerk of the supreme court.

It had been currently reported that Crew and Critchfield were on the Hanna slate for these two nominations, but Senator Hanna vigorously denied taking any part whatever in the contests for these two places. The vote showed that Price and Emerson had formed a combination that worked successfully for both of them. Judge Price of Lima has been on the common pleas and circuit benches, and Emerson has been prominent in politics in eastern Ohio for years.

The nomination that caused the most comment was that of Nippert in place of Lieutenant Governor Caldwell, the latter being the only one who was elected with Governor Nash two years ago that was not renominated for a second term. The state Antisaloon league caused Caldwell to run several thousand behind his ticket in 1899 and had vigorously opposed his nomination.

Tilley Before the Cabinet.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Commander Tilley, the naval governor of Samoa, was taken by Secretary Long to the cabinet meeting yesterday and made an interesting statement on the conditions in Samoa. He pointed out the need of industrial and agricultural institutions in Samoa. In view of the alarming extent of sickness, particularly among young children, it has been suggested that American nurses would find Samoa an exceptionally good field for their humane work. Commander Tilley says that in one respect civilization has worked to the detriment of the Samoans. While they lived without clothing they were hardy and free from sickness, but since adopting clothing they get wet from rain, contract colds, and a number have developed consumption, a disease not known before.

British Casualty List Heavy.

LONDON, June 26.—The casualty lists made public by the war office continue to show rather severe fighting in various parts of South Africa that are not reported in the ordinary dispatches. This is noticeably so with regard to the Zeerust position in Cape Colony. It also inspires disquietude, which is added to by the repeated looting of Jamestown in spite of the proximity of a strong British force at Aliwal North. It appears that, including the Boer prisoners and those in the concentration camps, the cost of supporting some 80,000 Boers is today falling upon the British taxpayers.

Governor's Appointments Confirmed.

HARRISBURG, June 26.—Governor Stone's appointments made before the legislature assembled have been confirmed, though there was opposition to some of those appointed. There has been much curiosity regarding the action the senate would take on the appointments, the opinion being expressed by some that one or more nominations would fail of the necessary two-thirds vote. The principal assault was made against General Frank Reeder, chairman of the Republican state committee, who was appointed commissioner of banking on Oct. 3, 1900.

Gambler Shot Police Chief.

SEATTLE, June 26.—John W. Considine, a prominent local gambler, and ex-Chief of Police W. L. Meredith met on the street yesterday afternoon and began shooting at each other. Meredith was killed. Meredith was recently compelled to resign his office as chief of police after trouble with Considine and other local gamblers.

Fire at Little Falls, N. Y.

LITTLE FALLS, N. Y., June 26.—Fire last night destroyed the box factory of D. W. Laudue, Dettinger & Rahm's chair factory, N. A. Tozier's novelty works and the electric plant of I. N. Lovenheim. The total loss is $20,000; insurance, $10,000. Twenty-five men are put out of employment.

Navy Yard Dock Completed.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The navy department is informed that drydock No. 2 of the New York navy yard has been completed by the floating out of the caisson. This makes available a fine dock 600 feet long, which has been entirely overhauled and changed from wood to stone.

Valet Jones Taken to Liberty, N. Y.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., June 26.—Jones, held with Lawyer A. T. Patrick for the alleged murder of Millionaire Rice of New York, has been taken to Liberty in charge of a deputy sheriff to receive treatment for consumption.

Joseph Cook Dead.

ALBANY, June 26.—Dr. Joseph Cook, the well known writer and lecturer, formerly of Boston, is dead at his home at Ticonderoga, N. Y. He had been in failing health for about two years.

FILIPINO HILLSMEN PEACEFUL.

Taft Commissioners Much Pleased With Conditions.

MANILA, June 26.—Messrs. Worcester and Moses of the Philippine commission have returned from a tour of the districts of Benguet and Lepanto, Batanzas province, where they interviewed the tribesmen and made a general study of conditions.

They found the province peaceful. They rode 250 miles through the mountains with five soldiers and were welcomed cordially everywhere. They encountered several American miners and timbermen. The former complained that they were handicapped by the provisions of the Spooner amendment and absence of license to use blasting explosives.

The commissioners found that the hillsmen have no desire to participate in the government of the province, preferring present conditions to remain undisturbed. In the towns, however, they found a progressive element which desires the establishment of a district on lines similar to that of Benguet.

The commissioners were much invigorated by their tour and speak enthusiastically of the northern climate, despite the presence of the rainy season. They encountered a typhoon while they were camped on a mountain top.

Indian Appeals Denied.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The court of appeals has denied the motion of Lone Wolf and other Kiowa and Comanche Indians for a special appeal from the decision of Judge Bradley, refusing an injunction against the secretary of the interior and other officials to prevent the opening of the Kiowa, Comanche and Apache lands in Oklahoma. Assistant Attorney General Vandewater argued for the government and ex-Congressman W. M. Springer for the Indians. The court held that the case did not justify a special appeal.

American Boxer Wins.

NEWCASTLE, June 26.—In a 20 round contest last night for £800 between John O'Brien of Philadelphia and Harry Newmier of London the American defeated the Englishman after a stubborn and hard fought battle. In the sixth round O'Brien adopted his usual aggressive tactics, and Newmier, although he displayed great pluck, gradually weakened before O'Brien's superior strength and hitting power. During the contest the spectators as well as the principals became very wild and excited.

Isn't it Worth 25c. To Be Cured of Constipation

People who suffer from habitual constipation with all its attendant ills, clogged stomach and bowels, sluggish liver, heartburn, indigestion, and thin and impure blood, are too apt to believe that the only remedy is violent purgatives. The contrary is the case. Such cathartics, even if they do move the bowels, are irritating and griping, leave the stomach inflamed and enfeebled and the constipated condition recurs with greater difficulty of cure and the sufferer constantly growing worse. There is a laxative that moves the bowels without pain or griping, cleanses the stomach, sharpens the appetite, stimulates the liver, strengthens the nerves, and purifies the blood, while its marvellous tonic properties tone up the entire system and keep it healthy.

Laxakola Does It

Its remarkable tonic properties reach every organ—the liver, kidneys and stomach, nerve, heart and brain—and removes the cause of your debilitated condition. This is the only way to secure an absolute and permanent cure.

Laxakola is the only medicine for babies, is purely vegetable and its action is gentle, speedy and effective. For coated tongue, simple fevers, colds, chills and languid feeling it is the ideal medicine.

It tastes good. ☞ Children like it and ask for it.

Laxakola, the great tonic laxative, is not only the most efficient of family remedies, but the most economical, because it combines two medicines, viz: laxative and tonic, and at one price. No other remedy gives so much for the money. At druggists, 25c. and 50c., or send for free sample to LAXAKOLA CO., 182 Nassau Street, N. Y., or 356 Dearborn Street, Chicago.

ADELBERT HAY'S FUNERAL.

Services Held In Lake View Cemetery, Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, June 26.—The train bearing the body of Adelbert Hay, with Secretary Hay, Samuel Mather and a number of Adelbert Hay's former classmates at Yale, reached here yesterday at noon. The casket was inclosed in an oak cabinet and covered with ivy and smilax and floral decorations. The body was first taken to an undertaker's and subsequently removed to Lakeview cemetery, where at 4 o'clock there was a brief ceremony preparatory to placing the body in a vault.

The sudden death of Adelbert Stone Hay has recalled the death of his uncle, Adelbert Stone, on April 27, 1865. Adelbert Stone was the only son of Amasa Stone. He entered Yale in 1862 and took high rank until his death. In the spring of 1865, at the completion of the college year, young Stone went to Middletown, Conn., with a party of student friends to spend a part of the vacation. On June 27, while the boys were swimming in Connecticut river, Stone was suddenly seized with cramps and sank before his comrades could reach or help him. Adelbert college was established out of the estate of Amasa Stone as a memorial to Adelbert. Adelbert Stone Hay was named after his uncle.

Condolence For the Afflicted.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Expressions of condolence and sympathy for Secretary Hay and his family continue to flow in from all quarters. In addition to the large number already received at the state department almost as many more were directed to Secretary Hay at New Haven. Among these were messages from President McKinley and Secretary Hay's colleagues in the cabinet. Lord Lansdowne communicated through Mr. Lowther, the British charge here, and other messages came from Embassador Choate, Embassador Cambon, the Spanish, Japanese, Danish and Korean ministers, the Belgian charge d'affaires and a great number of senators and other persons. It is now learned that a number of governments of foreign nations had arranged to pay an extraordinary tribute to Adelbert Hay by causing their representatives in this country to attend the funeral ceremonies in their official capacity, but this purpose was defeated through the decision of the family of the deceased to have a private funeral.

Admiral Rodgers Sails For Japan.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The navy department has received a cablegram from Rear Admiral Rodgers announcing his departure aboard the New York from Cavite for Kobe, Japan, to take part in the ceremonies attending the unveiling of the Perry monument on Japanese soil. It is stated at the navy department that the gunboat Bennington, which left Hongkong yesterday for Shanghai; the protected cruiser New Orleans, which sailed yesterday from Taku for Chefu, as well as the gunboat Yorktown, which left Cavite on Monday for Kobe, probably will all take part in the ceremonies. Rear Admiral Kempff, aboard the Kentucky, left Nagasaki Saturday for Cavite, where he will assume charge of affairs during Admiral Rodgers' absence, Admiral Remey on the Brooklyn being still at Sydney.

Growing Beet Sugar Industry.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The agricultural department is issuing a new report on the sugar beet industry, which will be ready soon for distribution. The report is by Charles F. Sayler, the beet sugar expert of the department, and is a review of last year's progress. Mr. Sayler says the beet sugar industry has grown both rapidly and substantially. Speaking of new beet sugar factories, he says: "We can look to the opening year as one furnishing more new factories than at any preceding year. This activity is not confined to any particular section, but appears generally in all parts of the sugar beet growing territory."

General Lee's Daughter Weds.

NEW YORK, June 26.—In the Church of the Transfiguration, in East Twenty-ninth street, at noon Miss Ellen Lee, daughter of Brigadier General and Mrs. Fitz-Hugh Lee, was married to First Lieutenant James Cooper Rhea of the Seventh cavalry, U. S. A., now stationed in Cuba. There were only the relatives of the bride and a few of the intimate friends of her family asked to witness the ceremony and attend the wedding breakfast which followed at the Fifth Avenue hotel.

Editor Expelled From Assembly.

MELBOURNE, Victoria, June 26.—Amid scenes of excitement in the crowded galleries the federal assembly by a vote of 64 to 17 expelled Mr. Findlay, editor of a local labor organ, for publishing in his paper the article from The Irish People of Dublin, dated May 10, violently attacking King Edward, which caused the seizure of the last mentioned weekly periodical by the police of Dublin, Cork, Limerick and other towns of Ireland.

Another of Churchill's Victims Dead.

ITHACA, N. Y., June 26.—Daniel Minturn, 86 years old, of Newfield, who was assaulted by James Churchill a week ago Sunday, is dead as a result of his injuries. He is the second victim of Churchill, who assaulted and killed his wife, Minnie Churchill, at the same time. Minturn ever since the crime has hovered between life and death. Churchill is still a prisoner at the county jail. He has recovered from the effects of self administered poison.

To Send Unemployed to the West.

NEW YORK, June 26.—Alderman Goodman of this city wants to send at least 5,000 of the unemployed men and women of New York city to the fields of Kansas and other western states to help harvest the crops. This matter was discussed seriously by the board of aldermen. It was decided to hold conferences with the officials of the department of charities to see if the plan could not be carried out at once.

A Fatal Explosion.

CUMBERLAND, Md., June 26.—At Hambleton, W. Va., yesterday Albert Woodford snatched a shotgun from a fellow lumberman with whom he was quarreling and hurled it on a railroad tie to break it. The gun exploded, and the contents entered Woodford's abdomen, causing death.

Machinists Return to Work.

OSWEGO, N. Y., June 26.—The employees of the Oswego Machine works, who quit work May 20, have effected an amicable adjustment with the company and returned to work today. The terms are a nine hour day, with time and a half for overtime.

PEKING GOVERNMENT

British and Chinese In Joint Control of City.

CHINESE POLICE ALLOWED ARMS.

Supervisors Appointed to Arbitrate All Questions Arising Between the Two Forces—City Gates to Have Native Guards.

PEKING, June 26.—General Gaselee, British commander in China, and three British police commissioners definitely arranged with the Chinese for the administration of the city until the period of evacuation.

The British retain a patrol of two busy thoroughfares and permit the Chinese police to carry revolvers. Captains Selwyn and Crocker and Interpreter Gilbert Reid were appointed supervisors to arbitrate questions arising between the two forces.

The Chinese will continue to control certain sections as before, including observance of the sanitary regulations.

All accusations against Chinamen in the British employ must be presented at the British legation before July 15. The reason for this rule is that one Chinese administrator has already made accusations against several Chinese interpreters.

The city gates are to have a Chinese guard, and litigations between Chinese parties solely are to be disposed of in the native courts. Regulations will be made during the week for other contingencies on the same general principle.

Pan-American Dates.

BUFFALO, June 26.—The presence in the city of a large number of delegates attending conventions and the canoe races, coupled with fine, warm weather, brought out a good attendance at the Pan-American exposition yesterday. Today the Odd Fellows will have their day at the exposition. The programme includes parades and fancy drills in the stadium and conferring of the grand decoration of chivalry in the stadium by Grand Sire A. C. Cable, assisted by the cantons. On Thursday the Odd Fellows will hold a meeting in the Temple of Music. Thursday and Friday will be great Sangerfest days, and Saturday Philadelphia will celebrate. The governor of Pennsylvania, Mayor Ashbridge, many members of the legislature and over 200 prominent newspaper men of Philadelphia will attend the ceremonies on Saturday, which will be held in the Pennsylvania building. Governor Yates of Illinois, accompanied by Colonel Strong of his staff and a party of 12 ladies and gentlemen, has arrived here by the steamer Northwest. They will remain until Saturday. The governor's visit is purely a pleasure trip.

The Leipziger Bank Failure.

BERLIN, June 26.—The crash of the Leipziger bank was a complete surprise to the Berlin boerse, where Monday the bank's shares were quoted at 140. This failure now turns out to be worse than at first reported. For years past the board of directors of the Leipziger bank has denied the worst feature of the failure—namely, that the Leipziger bank had practically become the owner of the Cassel Treber-Trocknung company, which in itself was declared to be financially unsound. Well informed Berlin financiers fear that the Leipziger bank will save little if anything out of the wreck and that the failure of this institution will seriously affect a number of other banks. Immediately after the Leipziger failure became known here there was almost a panic in bank stocks.

Constitution Takes a Spin.

NEWPORT, R. I., June 26.—The Constitution was away from her anchor for five hours yesterday, during which time she had one of the best trial spins in her short career afloat. The morning was spent in the bay where only light airs filled her sails, yet she went through the water with remarkable headway, showing her ability to feel even a breath of air. Nat Herreshoff was on board for a time, but did not remain in the afternoon when the sloop went outside looking for more air and, finding it, cruised about while the crew had exercise in taking in and setting sail. The Constitution on casting off her mooring was set at windward work, then at wearing and tacking, the headsails being rapidly changed.

Strikers Decide to Hold Out.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 26.—The strikers of the Ashley car shops of the Central Railroad of New Jersey held a meeting and renewed their pledge to remain out until their demands were granted. A committee of two was present from Reading representing the strikers in that city. What the mission of this committee was could not be learned. General Superintendent Thomas denies the statement made by the strikers that the company issued an ultimatum to them to return to work yesterday under penalty of losing their places.

Mr. Bryan In Watertown.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., June 26.—William J. Bryan arrived in this city at noon yesterday. He was met by a large crowd and given an enthusiastic reception. In the afternoon he addressed a large audience at the state armory on the subject "Civilization." In the evening he lectured again on "The Conquering Nation." An admission was charged to both lectures.

The Comal Floated.

JUPITER, Fla., June 26.—The steamship Comal of the Mallory line, which went ashore Sunday morning four miles south of Jupiter inlet, was floated at 6 o'clock last evening without assistance. The vessel is uninjured and will proceed on her voyage without assistance.

He Takes an Apology.

SHANGHAI, June 26.—Prince Chun, brother of the emperor of China, who has been selected to proceed to Berlin and there formally apologize for the murder at Peking in June last of Baron von Ketteler, the German minister to China, sails for Europe July 20.

The Plague at Hongkong.

HONGKONG, June 26.—During the week ending June 22 there have been 155 new cases and 152 deaths from the bubonic plague here.

Fell From a Fence.

Chief Doane's Proclamation.

Chief T. O. Doane, of the fire department, has issued notice that prompt prosecution will follow any violation of the city ordinance relating to the storing or placing for sale on a street or sidewalk any combustible material. Rockets, firecrackers, torpedoes and all other fireworks, of any description, are included in this classification. The notice is a timely one and undoubtedly will be strictly enforced.

It is easy to realize the necessity of this precautionary measure. Each year as sure as Independence Day rolls around conflagrations are reported from all parts of the land entailing the loss of millions of dollars in property. In almost every instance these disasters are due to thoughtlessness or heedlessness in storing or using fireworks. Placing fireworks on the pavement is particularly dangerous inasmuch as a lighted cigar or match dropped by a pedestrian is likely, in many cases, to cause serious damage.

Unusual pains have been taken by the Jersey Central Railroad to put the grounds surrounding the new station here in the very best of order. It can be truthfully said that Plainfield's station was never so complete in all its details as it is today. No other city along the line has received the same amount of attention. The recent improvements to the Park avenue approach are very noticeable. The only trouble is that hurrying commuters will insist on cutting across the turf. A flight of steps from the drive to the sidewalk and another from the sidewalk to the platform, close to Park avenue, would tend to preserving the adjoining turf.

Automobiles have now become quite a common sight in Plainfield this summer. Most of the automobilists have been content to ride through the business section of the city at a moderate pace. In one instance, however, a gasoline vehicle went dashing through the main streets frightening horses and threatening to collide with everything in its path. The police should see that any further instance of that kind is dealt with promptly. There should be just as much care in handling an automobile as in driving a horse, and one is entitled to no more privileges than the other.

Some of the local icemen have a very dangerous practice of allowing the steelyards, used in weighing the ice, to hang loose. With the motion of the wagon, they swing back and forth threatening serious injury to anyone who happens to stand near by. There is a State law which provides that these steelyards should be fastened when not in actual use. Every ice dealer in the city should take particular care that this law is strictly obeyed.

Another meeting of the Common Council will be held Monday evening. So far there is nothing of special interest to engage the attention of the City Fathers save the proposed weights and measures ordinance. It is a question as to whether or not the subject will come up as Councilman Lee wants a chance to discuss the terms of the ordinance before it comes up for second reading.

Rev. G. Kennedy Newell, president of the Organized Aid Association, has said that he has in view a very desirable location for a public park in the West End. It might be a good plan if he informed the Council where that location is. While nothing will be done at present, some action might be expected in the no distant future.

Plans are now being secured for the new buildings for Muhlenberg Hospital. It is further expected that the work of the erection of the same will start before the snow flies. New quarters for the hospital cannot be secured too soon.

No time should be lost by the borough authorities in getting the new street signs particularly as the appropriation has been made.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short and Gossipy Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

A swarm of honey bees have taken up their abode in a fuse box, fastened high up on a telephone pole, at the corner of Somerset street and Linden avenue. Some one has left the large doors of the fuse box open and the industrious bees have found the place a convenient one in which to carry on their work in storing up honey. Already a good sized comb has been formed and unless a thunder storm happens, which will necessitate repairing the fuses, by fall a large quantity of honey will be made.

APPEAL FOR AID.

Plan To Give Outing To Many Ill And Tired Mothers In Plainfield.

It has been said that there are no slums in Plainfield, and though to some extent this may be true, as the situation is compared with the congested tenement districts of a large city like New York, yet, any one visiting portions of Plainfield during the hot summer months cannot fail to be impressed by the lack of comfort and often by the suffering, caused by the close, contracted quarters in which many of the people live.

Specially is this true where there is sickness in families, which always prevails more or less among little children during the summer. It would seem that the extension of the trolley system in this place might be made the means of bringing to tired mothers and little children a means of recreation and refreshment. To this end a fund has been started for the purchase of tickets, these tickets to be in charge of the Relief Association and to be distributed by that society to its beneficiaries and families endorsed by the Organized Aid Association.

The summer camp for sick children, in charge of the King's Daughters, is of great value, but there are mothers who find it hard to leave their homes for an entire day, who may take an hour or more to give themselves and little children the recreation of a trolley ride were the tickets provided. Any one who had ever seen the look of happy expectancy on the faces of children enjoying this rare treat to them, would desire to extend this beneficent effort.

We would call this effort The Plainfield Fresh Air Fund, and would kindly ask each family, before starting for the seashore or mountains, to contribute something to it. Those who thus give will have a happier summer in knowing a Plainfield summer has been made more tolerable to those less favored than they.

Money for the purchase of these tickets may be sent to Mrs. Struthers, superintendent of Relief Association, 544 West Front street.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence.)

Dunellen, June 26.—The members of the bridge committees of the Middlesex and Somerset County Boards of Freeholders met at Taylor's Hotel yesterday for the purpose of deciding what sort of a bridge should be erected over Green brook on the road leading from Gallagher's corner to the Palmer farm. The mason work was reported to be in poor condition and the foundation will be rebuilt. It was decided to erect either a wooden bridge or a low truss. The committees will meet at Taylor's Hotel to receive bids, Saturday, July 6.

Funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Anna Miller were held yesterday from the residence of her son-in-law, Fred Yound, of Walnut street. NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence.)

New Market, June 26.—The old-time Fourth of July celebration, under the auspices of Friendship Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., which was abandoned last year owing to a similar affair being held at Dunellen, will be revived this year. The Juniors are already making preparations for a carvival of sports and general good time in Vail's Grove, and no doubt their efforts will be attended with the greatest success they have enjoyed in some time. There is no other celebration planned for any place within some distance of New Market, and the usual large crowd from Plainfield will be in evidence.

William Smith, who recently injured himself inwardly by falling over a shaft, has been reimbursed by the United States Casualty Company, for a week's disablement. The claim was paid yesterday by J. E. Henry, of Plainfield.

Charles Rogers has been busy for the past week putting his lake fleet in service for the summer. It now consists of nine first-class boats, and hardly a night passes but what all are chartered by boating parties.

THE NEW STORE.

Hahne & Co., of Newark, Will Move Into New Quarters Next Month—Four Times Larger Than Old Store.

Hahne & Company, of Newark, will open their new store next month. The new store will be about four times larger than their old one.

It has a frontage on Broad street of 250 feet, on New street of 275 feet and 145 feet on Halsey street. There are five large entrances, three on the Broad street facade, one each on the Halsey and New street fronts. There are seventeen hydraulic elevators, ten for passengers and seven for freight. The number of passenger elevators is practically doubled by the use of the new moving staircase. It is a real staircase, the treds and risers arranging themselves automatically as the passenger steps on the platform. It is not an inclined belt and there is no danger of the women having their dresses caught either when getting off or on.

Some figures will show the greatness of this great store: Fifty show windows with 75,000 square feet imported plate glass in them, miles of electric wire conduits, seven miles of pneumatic tubing in the cash delivery system, a mile of glass cases, 75 000 feet of counters, 500 arc lights, 8,000 incandescent lights; highest ceiling twenty-one feet, lowest twelve feet.

The opening of this new store marks an epoch in this firm's business. From the humblest beginning only a few years ago, the present marvel has grown. By persistent and intelligent advertising the name of Hahne has become known all over the State and further, and it is recognized as a synonym for good goods, tremendous assortment, low prices, courteous attention and honorable treatment.

The girl's longing to be a breadwinner had driven her into many difficult places. Under some conditions she would have gone at once into one of the great mercantile houses of Crawford as one of its great army of saleswomen. But at that time of the year every position was filled, except a few places that did not offer anything but starvation wages under conditions that Mrs. Clark positively would not allow Barbara to accept so long as there was the slightest hope of the girl finding an opportunity to teach. So for several weeks Barbara had been, as she said, not unkindly, eating her bread at home in bitterness, because no one seemed to need her in the great world, where the struggle for existence seemed to her to be a struggle that made any other existence more and more impossible.

It was therefore not without a positive feeling of relief that Barbara Clark now hurried on to No. 36 Hamilton street to secure the position of "hired girl" in a family of five, entire strangers to her; and she smiled a little to herself at the thought of her anxiety lest a number of other girls should have been before her and secured the place.

"I am in a hurry to look into the jaws of my dragon," she said, as she turned the corner into Hamilton street. "I do hope he will not swallow me down at one mouthful before I have had a blow at him with my—my—broomstick," she added, not caring whether the metaphor were exact or not.

She paused a moment when she reached No. 36, and was pleased to note that the house was not too large nor too small.

"Just an average family, I hope. Well, here goes," she said, under her breath, as she rang the bell. She had studied Latin and Greek at Mount Holyoke, but "Here goes" was all she could think of to express her courage at that moment. After all, "Here goes" may be as good a battle cry as any other to alarm a dragon, especially if back of the short cry is a silent prayer for strength, such as Barbara offered up at that moment.

"I HAVE COME IN ANSWER TO YOUR ADVERTISEMENT."

There was no immediate answer to her ring and she rang again. Then there was the patter of a child's step in the hall and the door was opened.

"Is your mamma at home?" Barbara asked with a smile. The child did not answer at once, and Barbara took the liberty of stepping into the hall, still smiling at the child, who continued to look at her gravely. If dragons are to be met, why not with a smile?

"Will you please tell your mamma I would like to see her? Tell her I have come to see if she wants a—"

"A hired girl?" asked Carl suddenly, for it was he.

"Yes," continued Barbara, smiling; "tell her a hired girl wants to see her."

"All right," said Carl, slowly. He left Barbara standing awkwardly in the hall and started upstairs to call his mother. Near the top he met her coming down.

"Another one of those girls," began Carl, in a good, sturdy voice; but his mother said: "Hush," and in a tired manner ordered him to go back upstairs and stay with Lewis until she came up.

She came down and met Barbara in the hall. There were two chairs there, and Mrs. Ward sat down, saying: "Won't you take a seat?" looking at Barbara closely as she did so.

"Thank you," said Barbara, quietly. "I have come in answer to your advertisement in the evening news."

"Yes," said Mrs. Ward, slowly. "Are you—do you think you can do our work?"

"I think so," replied Barbara, modestly.

"Can you take charge and go on without being told how to do every little thing?" Mrs. Ward asked somewhat sharply. She was silently, but rapidly, noting everything about Barbara's face and dress and manner.

"Yes, ma'am, I think I can, after learning your ways."

"Your name?"

"Barbara Clark. I live with my mother on Randolph street, two blocks from here."

"You have worked out before?" Mrs. Ward was beginning to note the quiet refinement of the girl, and her first thought was a suspicion of Barbara.

"No, I have never worked out as a servant in a private family. I have been a waiter and cook and housekeeper one summer season at Lake View Chautauqua. The only references I have are from Prof. White, who had charge of the assembly that year."

"Prof. Carrol Burns White?"

"Yes, ma'am. Of Waldeau academy."

"He was my son Alfred's teacher there. His reference would be enough." Mrs. Ward spoke eagerly, looking at Barbara even more keenly. "But you are not a—a servant girl?"

"I am, if you decide to take me," replied Barbara, calmly.

Mrs. Ward looked at the girl thoughtfully. "I do not think—we—you are not of the class of servants I am used to. May I ask, is it—may I ask how you came to be seeking this work?"

"Certainly," replied Barbara, cheerfully. "I have tried to secure other places, and have failed. I think I can suit you as a servant. I—"

Barbara hesitated. She thought if she tried to say anything about her studies in social economics, or the adventure of this plan, as she had only vaguely dreamed it herself, she might not be understood. Better wait and let that develop naturally. So she stopped suddenly and sat looking at Mrs. Ward quietly.

Mrs. Ward hesitated also. It was an unusual situation. The girl had given enough evidence of being all right, especially if Prof. White's recommendation was a good one. At the same time, there was a great risk in hiring a person of Barbara's evident education and refinement. How far would she want to become one of the family? What relations would have to be established between her and the mistress?

But Mrs. Ward was thoroughly tired out with a succession of disappointments in experiences with girls who were incompetent, ungrateful and dishonest. The suggestion to her mind of a good, honest, capable woman in kitchen and house who could relieve her of the pain of daily drudgery was a suggestion of such relief that she knew it came to her that her decision was almost made up to take Barbara even if the circumstances in the girl's life were strange and unusual. Barbara suddenly helped her to make the decision final.

"Of course, I am ready to be taken on trial. At the end of a week or a month, if you are not satisfied, I shall expect you to say so, and that will end it."

"How much do you expect a week?" Mrs. Ward asked, slowly.

Barbara colored. She had never been asked the question before.

"I don't know. Perhaps you cannot tell until you find out how much I am worth to you."

"Shall we say four dollars to begin with? We have paid more than that—but—"

"I will begin on that," replied Barbara, quietly. "Now, of course, if I come, you will let me know exactly what my duties are, so that there may be no mistakes on my part."

Barbara had a good deal of shrewd business sense inherited from her father.

"Of course," replied Mrs. Ward, almost sharply.

"About my staying in the house—" began Barbara. "I would much prefer to go home at night, to be with my mother."

"I don't think that can be managed." Mrs. Ward spoke with some irritation. "I shall need you in the evening very often."

"We can arrange that after I come." Barbara spoke gently again. "That is, if I am to come."

"Yes—yes"—Mrs. Ward looked at Barbara very sharply—"yes, you can come on trial; I am glad to get anyone."

Barbara colored again, and the other woman saw it.

"Of course, I did not mean—I mean I am just about discouraged over my housekeeping, and I am nearly down sick over it."

"I am very sorry," replied Barbara, gravely. Mrs. Ward looked at her doubtfully. It was one woman's sympathy for another spoken in four short words, but the older woman had had her faith in servants so rudely broken so many times that she could not at once accept the sympathy as real. She kept coldly silent as Barbara rose.

"Shall I come in the morning?" she asked.

"Yes, say nine o'clock."

"I will bring Prof. White's letters then."

"Mamma," cried Carl, at that moment appearing at the head of the stairs, "Lewis wants to know if that hired girl is going to—"

There was a muffled cry from the bedroom upstairs as Carl suddenly disappeared, dragged back into the room by the older brother. Barbara smiled, and said "Good night," and went out, saying to herself as she went down the steps: "After all, the dragon was not so bad as I feared. I feel rather sorry for the dragon keeper. Mrs. Ward herself," on whose character and probable behavior, together with that of her family, Barbara gravely dwelt as she walked home.

She grew quite animated as she told her mother the story of her adventures so far. The matter of staying with her mother evenings was a subject of earnest discussion. Both agreed that it must be managed if possible. Barbara went over the interview and gave her mother the best possible picture of Mrs. Ward.

"I am sure we shall get on very well. She is a tired-out woman, irritable because of her nerves. But I am sure she is a good woman when she is well," Barbara concluded, innocently. "The children will bother me, I have no doubt. But I know I can get on. I saw only one child. He has a roguish face, but not bad at all. Oh, the dragon is not what he's painted, mother."

"Not yet," said Mrs. Clark, in prophecy.

"No, not yet," answered Barbara, cheerfully. She felt almost lighthearted to think she had a position, even if it was only that of a servant.

I am a drug clerk, selling the Tabules every day, and I take grea pleasure in recommending them whenever opportunity offers. I hea only praise from all who have used them. My mother had been suffer ing from habitual constipation for a number of years, and has trie almost everything used for that complaint, but without success. I hac her try Ripans Tabules a few weeks ago, when she was suffering fron a severe attack of dyspepsia, and they gave her immediate relief, and I am sure saved her from calling in a physician. She is still using th Tabules, and says she would not be without them for a good deal o money. She has been free from constipation for the past two weeks which she says is something she has been unable to say for some years and all due to Ripans Tabules. My mother's age is fifty-two years.
WANTED: A case of bad health that RIPANS will not benefit. They benefit at once. One gives relief. Note the word RIPANS on the package and accept no substitute. RIPANS, 10 for 5 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one hundred testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

FANCY COATS.

Taffeta Is Being Supplanted by More Durable Silks.

Very striking coats are made of black bengaline silk. This material is being used a great deal in preference to taffeta, which breaks so easily that the best of it is not worth buying. Long automobile coats are being made looser than ever, and they are covered with cutwork made of broadcloth, peau de soie or satin. Many of these black garments are lined with delicate and brilliant shades of liberty satin. The most serviceable color for a lining, however, is pearl gray, and this is affected by the best tailors.

BENGALINE ETON.

Coat sleeves are rapidly growing larger, and they show a marked fullness at the shoulder. Blouses are being worn by some women who are tired of the Eton. One of the latest things is to have this blouse made with a fancy front and undersleeves matching it. Many of the new Etons are cut so short that they show three or four inches of the underwaist.

A dressy jacket is made of black bengaline silk. A cluster of five tucks runs down each side of the front, and on this three large jeweled buttons are sewed. Bands of tucking finish the full bishop sleeves. There is a wide collar and revers of batiste appliqued with Russian lace. The little garment is lined with white taffeta, and it is intended to be worn with a soft cream front and stock.

FOR COOL EVENINGS.

Short Capes and Neck Ruchings to Wear With Summer Gowns.

Every smart woman counts at least one fluffy wrap in her summer wardrobe. The woman of wealth has half a dozen matching in color her principal evening frocks. These range from boas to three-quarter length capes, and they are made of net, liberty silk, chiffon or the more serviceable taffeta.

Just now flower petal boas are all the style. They are made of deep cream brussels net scattered with rose petals, or they are entirely composed of large white petals just tipped with pale pink, mauve or azure. Pique is also one of the novelties, as far as wraps are concerned. Little short empire and long driving coats are being made of this material in all the delicate summer shades. The garments are without lining, and they fasten under the chin with big streamers of net or soft liberty satin ribbon.

The little cape in the illustration is more practical. Black glace silk is the material used. This is tucked to within four inches of the bottom, where it flares into a ruffle edged with a ruching of black mousseline de soie. A most effective touch is afforded by the appliqued scarf of heavy yellow, through which black velvet ribbon is run. The high medici collar is wired and filled in with yellow lace. The lining of the cape is equally dainty. It is of pale blue silk brocaded with small pink rosebuds.

WILL CASE COMPROMISED.

Eccentric Mrs. Hiller's Estate Divided Between Legal Heirs.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 26.—The supreme court of Massachusetts in the will case of Frances B. Hiller, the eccentric woman of wealth, late of Wilmington, has entered a decree allowing the probate of the testament made in 1900 and affirming the decree of the probate court in this case. The notice filed by the court says that the decree was entered as the result of the withdrawal of the appeal on the part of the appellant. This indicates a compromise among those who contested this will.

According to this compromise Mrs. Lucy M. Hill of Georgetown, British Guiana, a daughter of Mrs. Hiller; the second husband of the testator and Mrs Mary A. Jeens of Bristol, England, a sister of Mrs. Hiller, divide the bulk of the estate, which is estimated at about $44,000.

Yale university, the Baldwinville cottage hospitals and the Boston City hospital, who were contesting the will, receive nothing except attorneys' fees under the compromise.

Formerly Mrs. Hiller was considered very wealthy, especially when she had a costly sarcophagus constructed for her first husband and herself. In addition to the notoriety gained from the act the woman was given publicity when she married her coachman after her first husband's death on condition that he would take Mr. Hiller's name. After Mrs. Hiller's death three wills were found. The court has established the authenticity of the latest of them.

Bryan For Principles, Not Men.

BUFFALO, June 26.—The following over the signature of Mr. William Jennings Bryan appeared in The Times, Mr. Norman E. Mack's paper, yesterday afternoon: "I am not only not a candidate for any office, but I have no candidate in mind for any office. My interest centers in principles, and men are important only as they aid in carrying out these principles. The Democratic party stands for definite, positive principles, and unless I mistake the sentiments of the masses the voters will insist upon adhering to these principles in spite of the threats of reorganizers. Those who argue from the standpoint of expediency will not have influence with the voters, because no one can say what is expedient. We may deserve to win and yet lose, but it still remains that to deserve to win is the surest road to success."

Mrs. Eddy Greets Her Devotees.

CONCORD, N. H., June 26.—The annual visit of Christian Scientists to this city, the home of the Rev. Mary Baker G. Eddy, the discoverer and founder of Christian Science, took place yesterday and gained unusual interest from the fact that the visitors were privileged to be received by Mrs. Eddy at her estate, Pleasant View. Fully 3,000 were taken to Pleasant View to await Mrs. Eddy's greeting, which was to be received at 2 o'clock. Promptly at this hour Mrs. Eddy appeared on the balcony and briefly expressed her joy at receiving so many of her followers at her home. The visitors returned to Boston by special train.

Shot Girl and Then Killed Himself.

NEW YORK, June 26.—During a conversation with Ellen Wostendurg, employed as housekeeper in the Tivoli hotel, Brooklyn, Otto Ostrand, who is said to have been in love with the girl, suddenly drew a revolver and shot her in the head, inflicting a serious but not fatal wound. Thinking he had killed the girl, Ostrand then turned the pistol against himself and fired a bullet through his brains. He died almost instantly. Ostrand is said to have been a bartender. Ostrand had repeatedly asked the girl to marry him, and she had refused. He made a final proposal and on hearing her refusal shot her.

Vacation of Cabinet Members.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Secretary Long has left for Massachusetts. The other members of the cabinet are making plans for their summer vacations, and soon after the president departs for Canton next week several of them will leave the city. Secretary Wilson is going to the Adirondacks to investigate some matters connected with the forest reserves there.

Will Appeal Barker's Case.

ARLINGTON, N. J., June 26.—Following a meeting of the friends of Barker it is announced that Barker will carry up the appeal from his conviction of assaulting Mr. Keller with intent to kill and that funds to meet the expenses of the process will be forthcoming. His friends decided to go ahead no matter what the sentence may be and make the appeal.

Three Killed at Rifle Practice.

LONDON, June 26.—During artillery practice on the Isle of Wight the breech of a 12 pound rifle blew out, killing Captain A. LeM. Bray of the Royal regiment of artillery and one enlisted man and wounding eight other men, three of whom will die. Colonel A. J. Nixon of the same regiment was also slightly wounded by the explosion.

Paul Botha Flogged.

CAPE TOWN, June 26.—A dispatch to The Argus from Aliwal North states that the Boers there have administered a flogging to Paul Botha, the ex-member of the Cape assembly, who voted in favor of the treason bill at the last session.

LAUGHS AT THE LAW

And for Its Officers She Has No Respect Whatever.

Dame Ouillette, of Aroostook County, Me., Sells Liquor Openly and Defies the National and State Governments.

"What shall we do with Dame Ouillette?" is a question that is bothering the United States government.

Dame Ouillette lives under the hill in Portage Lake plantation, Aroostook county, Me. Past her door rumble the big mill wagons, "toting" down to the railroad station at Ashland. Past her door, also, streams the travel over the main turnpike road between Ashland and Fort Kent, on the northern Maine border. All this traffic is good for the business of Dame Ouillette. She sells liquor. Her cupboard is full of it. There is Geneva gin in the black, hump-shouldered bottles; there is amber "vatted" Scotch whisky; there is cherry rum in jugs, bits of the hulls and pulp of the black cherries flecking it, as its purple black jets come "honk-honk" from the jug's mouth; there is "morson," or the white rum of the section, the favorite beverage of the French Canadians. Dame Ouillette sells all these tipples to all comers.

There is nothing remarkable in the fact that the old French woman is in this business, for selling liquor is a favorite employment of the dames of northern Aroostook in certain sections. Dame Ouillette, however, stands unique among them all. She defies both the United States government and the laws of the state of Maine. She pays no United States internal tax, or, as it is termed in Maine, "she has no license." She never has had one. Furthermore, she openly declares that she never will pay a cent to the government. She smilingly says there is no need of her doing so. She believes that the rich government should not bother old women who are trying to get a living.

The old woman is not molested when she makes this declaration, and she settles back in her chair. The fact is, she weighs nearly 400 pounds and is as unwieldy as a hippopotamus. For years she had been unable to walk. One of her sons has built for her a special chair on rollers. In that chair she propels herself to and from the cupboard and the kitchen table. When customers stop at the house they sit at the table and she supplies their needs. When the officers come, as they have sometimes in the past, she rolls her chair before the cupboard and brandishes her cane. She threatens to crack the skull of the first man that ventures in her reach. The badge and authority of a United States marshal have no terrors for her.

Various plans have been made for the disposition of Dame Ouillette. At one time a new deputy United States marshal came to the house with full determination to take into custody this doughty old defier of Uncle Sam. When he looked at

SPORTING.

GOLF.

Although Miss Daisy Elsberg is last in the competition for the Mellick cup at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course, she is playing an excellent game and her many friends predict a successful season for her.

Edward J. Patterson, with a handicap of 24, tied Howard Huntington for first place on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course last Saturday in the weekly competition for the Golf Committee cup. The score was 79 which equals Dr. F. C. Ard's net score a few weeks ago. The latter played with a handicap of 5 It is likely that a few points will be shaved off Mr. Patterson's handicap before the next play.

Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers, of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, who played at Nassau last week in the Woman's Championship tournament, did not take part in any of the events at Hillside Saturday, which is probably due to the fact that she had had enough golf for one week. She still holds the lead for the Golf Committee cup, and it would not be surprising if she increased her number of points next week.

Miss vanHerwerden has strengthened her position in the competition for the Mellick cup at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course. She now has 6 1 2 points to her credit. Her nearest rival is Miss Adelaide Ball with 3 1 3 points. Both of these contestants are playing a strong game of golf and steadily improving. Miss vanHerwerden with Robert Abbott as a partner, made the best gross score, 91, for foursomes, yet made on the course.

ALWARD TAYLOR RELEASED.

HELD FOR GRAND JURY ON ONE CHARGE—GUILTY OF OTHER.

Fined $5 on Charge of Disorderly Conduct—Taylor is Hero of Wild Ride Sunday.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick June 26.—Alward Taylor, the young man from Bound Brook whose wild ride through Somerset and Middlesex counties to Perth Amboy last Sunday caused such a sensation, is now at liberty. Despite all the efforts of his friends, he remained over night in jail and was arraigned before Justice Suydam yesterday afternoon.

On the charge of malicious mischief, he waived examination and was held under $200 bonds for the Grand Jury. The bail was furnished at once.

Taylor pleaded guilty to the charge of disorderly conduct, preferred by Jeremiah Letson, of Stelton. Justice Suydam decided that as the young man was held under bonds on another charge, and was able to pay a fine, he would not inflict punishment of imprisonment. The fine of $5 was paid by Joseph Stricker, Taylor's lawyer, and Taylor left in company with Capt. Greachen and other friends.

Taylor is a graduate of Yale College and has a degree of bachelor of science. His father is a wealthy manufacturer at High Bridge, and the family is one of high social standing. Taylor had been engaged to do some experimental work at Perth Amboy for the Hibbard-Rodman-Ely Safe Works.

Prevention Better Than Risk.

No amount of home care can equal the protection which you are afforded in a well equipped safe deposit vault. You can avoid unnecessary risk by leaving your valuables, trunks and silver chests at the City National Bank where every facility which a modern bank can give in its storage vaults is afforded. Private boxes may also be rented. The safety which is thus provided can not be too highly valued.

Annual Affair Of Primary And Junior Sunday-School Teachers' Union Was Held Yesterday.

The members of the Primary and Junior Sunday-school Teachers' Union enjoyed their annual picnic yesterday at Dewey Park. There was a large attendance of members and friends.

The abundance of shade, with ample accommodations for participating in games, was thoroughly enjoyed. There was plenty of refreshment when the noon hour arrived and everyone partook heartily of the good things provided.

While the teachers were relishing the noon-day repast, a delicious cake, made by a friend of the union, arrived, accompanied by a pleasant note to the teachers. The maker of the cake, thoroughly interested in the work, could not be present at the time but arrived later to enjoy the festivities.

The teacher waited until the latter part of the afternoon before returning home, and all decided unanimously that a better picnic had never been held before by the union.

MEETINGS FOR THE SWEDES.

ALL-DAY CONFERENCE OF SWEDISH PASTORS TAKES PLACE TODAY.

Meeting Held in German Lutheran Church Last Evening—Another Meeting Tonight.

A Swedish service was held last evening in the German Lutheran church, Grove street, for the purpose of stimulating a greater interest among the Swedish people of this city and the borough. Rev. C Gronberg, the new pastor of the church, was in charge.

He read the Scriptures and offered prayer, after which Rev. E. Andree, pastor of Zion church, Brooklyn, preached a sermon on the subject, "The Life in Christ." Another sermon on the subject, "The Calling of Christ," was preached by Rev. William Young, of St. Paul's church, Brooklyn. Both of these discourses were very interesting and were listened to by an appreciative audience. At the close of the service Rev. Mr. Gronberg made a few helpful remarks.

Today there will be all-day conference at the church and twelve Swedish pastors from the Philadelphia district will be present to discuss in particular the mission work of the church in this district. This morning the mission work was considered and the discussion was continued this afternoon.

This evening there will be the celebration of the Holy Communion and interesting talks. It has been stated that there are nearly 400 Swedish people in this vicinity, of which thirty attend the church. An earnest effort will be made to get these people interested in the church and secure their presence at the regular church services. The new pastor, with the aid of his people, will make a point of visiting the Swedish people and enlisting their support.

WORK IN INDIA.

Miss Mary D. Faye Described Her Experiences as Missionary in India.

In spite of yesterday's extreme heat a good-sized audience met in the lecture room of the First Baptist church to listen to an address from Miss Mary D. Faye, a missionary from India.

Miss Faye's service for the seven years has been at the Nillere Hospital, India, where she assisted her sister, Dr. Ida Faye Severing, whose work among the women and children of India, has commanded the admiration of a heathen as well as a Christian country. The early home of the Faye sisters was at Matawan, N. J., and New Jersey women are justly proud of the record made by these and other missionaries who have gone from this State.

Miss Faye's accounts of the people of India, the difficulties arising from the caste system, the joys and trials of a missionary's life were full of thrilling interest. Miss Faye will return to her chosen life work in September.

Iced tea was served at the close of the meeting when Miss Faye's friends met her socially.

AID NEEDED FOR BABY CAMP.

WORTHY CHARITY OF KING'S DAUGHTERS WILL CONTINUE THIS YEAR.

The Daily Press Will Receive Any Contributions For That Charity And Forward Them To Those In Charge.

The baby camp, on Johnston's drive, on top of the mountain, which is conducted annually during the heated months, is one of Plainfield's most worthy institutions. It is in charge of the City Union of the King's Daughters, by which it was originated some years ago. During its existence much good has been accomplished by the proper care of babies in the heated season.

As a deviation from the customary programme, no formal opening will take place this year, but the great work will proceed without delay. At first the camp will be conducted on Tuesdays and Fridays, weather permitting, beginning in July, or sooner, if necessary, and when occasion demands the camp will be open daily.

According to the custom of the society the mothers of the little tots are welcome to go to the camp with the city nurse, should they desire to personally look after the babes. The nurse, of course, will attend to all the babies and give them every care and attention provided the mothers for any cause be absent.

Lately the camp has been thoroughly overhauled and put in good order.

Anyone interested in this philanthropic work is eepecially invited to visit the camp and inspect it as practically conducted.

Necessarily it requires a considerable sum each season to carry on the work and consequently contributions to the fund are greatly appreciated by the local Union of the King's Daughters.

Believing in the worthiness of the cause and taking an interest in its success, The Daily Press volunteers to receive cash donations to the fund on behalf of the union. As each contribution is received it will be acknowledged through these columns and immediately forwarded to the proper officers of the society.

POLES TAKEN DOWN.

An Old Landmark on North Avenue Was Cut Down By Linemen Yesterday.

Employes of the telephone and electric light companies were busy yesterday removing old poles from North and Park avenues. In many cases these poles have been doing duty for many years.

There was one on North avenue opposite The Daily Press office that was erected years ago by the Democrats for campaign purposes, and afterward used by the Republicans. The pole was put up under the direction of the late W. L. Force, and was in the nature of a landmark. The marked improvement in the appearance of the avenues where the poles have been taken down fully repays all cost and trouble.

OIL PAINTINGS.

Rare Collection Will be Displayed at Audsley's Art Store Saturday.

A rare collection of fine works in oil will be placed on exhibition at Audsley's art store on East Front street, Saturday afternoon.

The paintings are the productions of an association of recognized artists of several nationalities. Many of them are copies of famous works in the National gallery at Washington as well as the celebrated salons on the continent. In the latter group will be found reproductions of the works of the old masters, Italian, German, French, Swedish and Spanish. Displayed with these will be a number of original sketches.

It is proposed to cover the walls with these paintings of varying size; all of which are elaborately framed. Some of the artists are members of the National Academy of Design, while others are affiliated with other well known associations for the promotion of art. Their medals will be placed on exhibition also. Lovers of art in this vicinity are invited to inspect the paintings.

PLAINFIELD COUPLE MARRIED.

MISS EMMA BOLSTERLE AND FRANK STONE WERE WEDDED.

Ceremony Took Place Last Evening At The Home Of The Bride's Parents On Watchung Avenue.

Miss Emma Bolsterle, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Caspar Bolsterle, of Watchung avenue, was married to Frank Stone, of this city, last evening at the home of the bride's parents. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, of which the young woman is a member.

The home had been prettily decorated for the occasion. In the parlor a profusion of daisies, palms and ferns lent much attractiveness. It was here that Rev. Dr. Schenck, promptly at the appointed time, 8 o'clock, in an impressive manner, performed the nuptial ceremony.

Miss Ada Woolley, of Elizabeth, was the bridemaid. The groom was attended by his brother, Tracy Stone, of East Orange, who acted as best man. Miss Margaret Shepherd played the wedding march.

A large assemblage of relatives and friends of the happy pair had gathered to witness the joyous event and, as soon as the clergyman had pronounced them man and wife, congratulations were extended on every hand. During the pleasant reception which followed a wedding supper was served.

Subsequently Mr. and Mrs. Stone left on their honeymoon. It is their intention to make a visit to Boston. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Stone will reside in the Thorn flats on Somerset street.

At the wedding the bride was attired in a gown of white organdie over old lace and wore no veil. She carried white roses. The bridemaid wore a gown of pink silk and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Many handsome presents, including fine specimens of cut glass, china, silverware and bric-a-brac, were received.

WANTED HIS MONEY.

Old Debt Was Not Paid And William Boe Took Temporarily To Drink.

Worryment over a bill of $2.75, which a friend had owed him for four years, led to William Boe's arrest for disorderly conduct Tuesday afternoon. The debtor had promised to pay at that time, but he failed to show up, and the disappointment was more than Mr. Boe could bear. He proceeded to drown his grief in the flowing bowl, and as his spirits arose, he gave a noisy demonstration of his friend's perfidy.

Patrolman Gamo, who heard the harangue, placed him under arrest. In the city court this morning, his counsel, Walter Hetfield, Jr., made a plea for leniency on the ground that it was his client's first offense in thirty years. City Judge Runyon thought Boe's demonstration warranted a fine of $3, which was imposed.

Brought Here For Interment.

The body of Mrs. Philimati Symon, who died in a carriage while on the way to Morris Plains, was brought to this city yesterday. The funeral services were held from St. Mary's church this morning. Interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery.

Death of James Tonkin.

James Tonkin died this morning at his home on South Second street, near Liberty. He was in his seventy-seventh year and was well known in this city. The funeral services will be held from his late residence Saturday afternoon at 2:30.

SCHOOL BOYS DEFEATED HOPE

ALL-SCHOLASTIC TEAM PLAYED ITS FIRST GAME YESTERDAY.

Won From Hope Chapel On Pittis' Field By Score Of 8 To 3.

The All-Scholastic team made its initial bow to the baseball public by defeating the Hope chapel nine on Pittis' field yesterday afternoon by a score of 8 to 3.

The new baseball nine is composed of players who held regular positions on the local school teams including Leal's, the City High School and the Borough High School, the only exception being Doyle, who was affiliated with the St. Mary's.

Although both nines made some good plays, yet the honors of the game belong to the All-Scholastics. Van Auken, in the box for the latter team, pitched a great game for the first five innings and was supplanted by Dupee, who kept up the good work. Overton and Ralph Schoonmaker also did some clever playing. Doyle distinguished himself at the bat. He made a two-base hit and at another time banged the ball for what looked to be a sure home run, but was landed after a long run by Gordon.

For the Hope boys a double play was made in the first inning. A grounder was stopped by Smith and put to Hand at second and Evans at first. Hewitt pitched the first six and Smith the remaining innings for the Hope team.

The batting order follows:

Hope	All-Scholastic
Hand, 2b.	Overton, l. f.
Connors, 3b.	George, c.
Smith, s. s, p.	V. McGee, 3b.
Hewitt, p., s s.	Pond, r. f.
Hartfelder, c	R Schoonmaker, s.s.
Evans, 1b.	Dupee, 2b., p.
Baldwin, r. f	VanAuken, p, 2b.
Fiering, c. f.	W.Schoonmaker, c.f.
Gordon, l. f	Doyle, 1b.

Score by innings:

Hope.....	1 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 2—3
All-Scholastic....	3 0 2 0 1 0 0 2 x—8

Base hits, Hope, 5; All-Scholastic, 10.

WEDDED IN MONTH OF ROSES.

MISS ADA BELLE HUSELTON, OF THIS CITY, WAS THE BRIDE.

Groom Was Henry Wood, Of Oak Tree—Pretty Ceremony Followed By a Reception At Bride's Home.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Claus Wallander, of West Fourth street, was the scene of a pretty wedding yesterday afternoon, when the latter's daughter, Miss Ada Belle Huselton, became the wife of Henry Wood, of Oak Tree. Rev. John McMurrary, pastor of the Monroe Avenue church, was the officiating clergyman, assisted by Rev. Charles Kane, of Oak Tree.

Miss Huselton was attired in a handsome gown of opera batiste trimmed with duchesse lace and white satin ribbon. She carried a bouquet of bridal roses and sweet peas. Attending the bride were Miss Musa Woodruff and Miss Sadie Potts, of this city, who acted as bridemaids. They wore white organdie trimmed with pink ribbons and carried pink and white carnations. The maids-of-honor were Miss Lottie Rupel and Miss Ida May Wallander, who looked very pretty in white organdie with blue ribbons.

The groom's attendant was Harry Thornal, of Jersey City. While the bridal party took its place in the parlor, which had been profusely decorated with roses, ferns and daisies, the Lohengrin wedding march was rendered by Miss Gussie Wood, a sister of the groom.

Following the ceremony, a reception was tendered the young couple by a number of intimate friends and relatives from this city, Easton, Allentown, Elizabeth, Jersey City, Junction, North Branch and Oak Tree. The dining room was prettily decorated in pink and white. Mr. and Mrs. Wood afterward left amid a shower of well wishes for a wedding trip which will embrace a visit with relatives at Portchester, N. Y. and the Pan-American. They will take up their residence at Islin, where the groom is in business.

Among the many beautiful wedding presents which the young people received was the bride's gown which was the gift of her aunt, Mrs. I. H. Stevens, of Omaha, Neb., who had it made and sent east. The remainder consisted of silverware, cut class and other useful articles.

Young Clerk Went Down in Basement to Re-charge Soda Water Fountain—He Was Blown Out Through Window.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, June 27—At about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, one of the worst fires in the history of Somerville was witnessed by thousands of people. The drug store on Main street, of H. W. Reusswig, was demolished by an explosion and afterwards reduced to ashes by flames. The fire spread rapidly until the building next to it, occupied by S. Baumgart, and owned by John Allgair, was gutted by the flames. At one time the establishment of the New Jersey Bottling Association was menaced, but the desperate work of the firemen, many of whom were overcome by the dense smoke, saved it from extensive damage.

Just how the explosion occurred is more or less of a mystery. The chief clerk had sent another clerk down in the basement of the drug store to recharge the soda water fountain. A few moments later the explosion occurred. John Abbott, aged fourteen, the clerk in the basement, was hurled across the cellar and forced partly through a window. His legs were pinioned partly by fallen timbers. He was released by the firemen after his legs and head were badly burned. At his home on New street it is believed he cannot recover.

Robert L. Day, another clerk, was thrown upward with a mass of broken glass and store fixtures and then dropped back into the cellar, where he became tangled in the wreckage. He managed to get his feet free from the timbers by cutting off his shoes and reached a crevice where he called for aid. He was finally pulled out by firemen and except for bad scratches and bruises was all right.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius V. Hall, an aged couple who lived in the apartments over the store, were blown up through the roof. Mrs. Hall managed to get her husband free from some of the falling timbers and they were rescued just as the flames were about to reach them. Mr. Hall had a broken nose, a dislocated shoulder and was a pitiable sight. Except for some bruises Mrs. Hall was not injured. Sheriff Schoonmaker, who saw the building go up in the air and collapse, pulled Mrs. Hall out by leaping on the wreckage. Hall was taken to the Somerset Hospital, where he is doing nicely.

Mr. Reusswig was in New York at the time and was told of the disaster by some one in Jersey. He was quite over come when he reached this place. Mr. Reusswig sat up all night with young Abbott who is in a dangerous condition.

The firemen did noble work in fighting the flames. The West Ends were the first to reach the scene. A call for help was sent out and Relief Hose Company, of Raritan, came down on a trolley car.

The loss is estimated at about $20,000. The drug store was insured, but only partly. The Allgair house and Mr. Baumgart's furniture were covered by insurance.

Mrs B. J. Southwick was on the street in front of the drug store, about ready to go in to get a soda water, when she saw the whole building go up in the air. She made a hasty retreat.

AT THE THEATRES.

Something About the Attractions Which Plainfield Theatre-Goers May Care to Witness.

The most ridiculously funny sketch that has ever been seen on a vaudeville stage is being presented at Keith's Union Square Theatre, New York, this week. "The title of the conceit is "How to Get Rid of Your Mother-in-Law," and the action of the sketch presents situations that would never be thought of by a glance at the title. Monroe, Mack and Lawrence are the artists, and they have made the Keith audiences at Boston and Philadelphia scream with laughter the past two weeks. Mr. Mack plays the part of the disagreeable, visiting mother-in-law, while Mr. Monroe and Miss Nellie Lawrence pose as a newly-wedded couple. The action of the play begins when the wife's mother proposes to make the couple a prolonged visit. After much thought the husband figures it out that the quickest way to rid himself of the objectionable mother-in-law is to make love to her—thereby arousing jealousy in the bosom of his young wife, who will then ship her mother away—which will be just what the husband wants her to do. The mother-in-law arrives and the husband makes love to her—ardently. The old lady seems to like it and shows hitherto unknown sporting proclivities. In fact, she turns out to be a howling sport. The wife is shocked, furiously jealous and fearfully mad—and plays into her husband's hand by herself sending her mother home.

Another great act will be the first vaudeville appearance of Josie Sadler, the original Dutch girl, who will be assisted by Flora Finch, presenting the bright sketch "Rosy."

Other artists on the long programme are Hal Stevens, impersonator; Four Emperors of Music; Three Rio Bros. ring artists; Mlle. Ringgold, soprano; Lost River Quartette; The Averys; Humbert and Hepworth and 15 other good acts. Continuous performance from noon to 11 p. m. Best seats 50 cents.

LITERARY.

The midsummer fiction number of the July Cosmopolitan contains the best story Bret Harte has written in a long time. The well-known Jack Hamlin is the hero, and he will be eagerly welcomed back by the public. Desperado and gambler that he is, theoretically we ought not to like him, but he has that fine courage too rarely met with in real life or in fiction, and those who read "A Mercury of the Foothills" will probably lose sight of his faults in following the events which takes place upon "that heaven-kissing hill." Katrina Trask's story in the same number should be read by every woman. It is one of those homely tragedies constantly going on in modern society. It is probably the cleverest piece of work Mrs. Trask has ever done. R. K. Munkittrick's quaint New England coast yarn has a breeziness about it that make it really refreshing. The July instalment of Egerton Castle's story begins to raise the curtain on the inevitable ruin which the Duke of Cluny's weakness must bring on those who love him.

Civilians at Manila to Pay $1,000 and Escape Imprisonment.

MANILA, June 27.—The military commission which is trying civilians in the commissary frauds has imposed a fine of $1,000 on Messrs. Clarke, Boldt and La Riva and one Chinaman. The men will not have to serve terms of imprisonment. No verdict has as yet been announced in the case of Harold M. Pitt, manager for Evans & Co., the government contractors who were charged with advancing money to army officers and taking commissary stores as security.

Shot His Wife Instead of a Rat.

FARMER, N. Y., June 27.—News has been received here that George Williamson, who resides on the outskirts, had shot his wife. Investigation proved the report true, but Mrs. Williamson said it was an accident. The ball entered the right breast and passed around a rib, coming out at the back of the right shoulder. She said her husband was going to shoot at a rat when the revolver, of .32 caliber, was discharged with the above results. Dr. Hill, who was called, says she will recover if blood poisoning does not intervene.

Count Lur-Saluces Guilty.

PARIS, June 27.—The senate, sitting as a high court of justice, has found Count Lur-Saluces guilty of the charge of plotting against the government and sentenced him to banishment for five years. There was a majority of 16 in favor of this sentence. After the verdict had been announced there was a row between M. Antoin, one of the judges, who spoke severely of the prisoner, and an unknown royalist. The latter will send his seconds to the judge for a duel.

Pay For Court's Travel.

SHANGHAI, June 27.—The amount necessary to cover the traveling expenses of the court on its return to Peking has been fixed at 10,000,000 taels. Of this sum Honan province has been assessed 5,000,000 taels and the other provinces smaller amounts. Secret societies continue active in all quarters of the empire, and the outlook for reform seems almost hopeless.

An Important Oil Land Decision.

AUSTIN, June 27.—The Texas supreme court has rendered an important decision affecting the oil industry. The court decided that the state has no interest in mineral lands sold to actual settlers from the school land domain. This settles a controversy started by the discovery of oil at Beaumont and other places in Texas.

Eighteen Slightly Injured.

ELROY, Wis., June 27.—Eighteen passengers were slightly hurt in a collision on the Northwestern line here between a local passenger train and a switch engine. Those injured were able to continue their journey.

Six Hurt In Trolley Wreck.

NORWALK, O., June 27.—A trolley car on the Toledo, Fremont and Norwalk Electric line was wrecked near Monroeville by a broken flange. Six persons were severely hurt.

THE FLOOD'S HAVOC.

Varying Estimates of Damage In West Virginia.

FATALITIES STILL UNDETERMINED.

But Are Given at Widely Diverse Figures—One Hundred Thought to Be None Too High by a Good Authority.

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., June 27.—Details of the flood's havoc continue to come in. At Norwood a new iron bridge just completed is a total wreck. A great pile of debris near the bridge was found, and in it a miner's cabin in which was a colored child about 3 years old. It had been imprisoned two days and was exhausted from thirst and hunger. Its miraculous escape is due to the fact that this cabin was thrown on the already accumulated drift above the crest of the receding flood. The little one's parents have not been found.

Better conditions in the stricken district prevail today. The relief train, loaded with supplies and necessities, has distributed its freight along the Elkhorn valley for 12 miles. On the North Fork branch it will be necessary to transport supplies by a mule train, as wagons cannot reach that section, and provisions are getting alarmingly scarce.

The railroad repair force is working night and day, and great progress is being made. Much of the line is practically being rebuilt, as even the grade has to be re-established.

No more bodies have been recovered. A number of the largest heaps of drift were set on fire last night by some unknown friend of the public health. In this pile of debris it is estimated there were at least 25 dead bodies. The heap is now a pile of smoldering ashes.

Loss of Life One Hundred.

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., June 27.—Estimates of the loss of life by the flood have been raised again and are placed at more than 100. Parties reached here last evening from the upper end of the flooded district bringing the first authentic information received from the scene of the disaster. The party just arrived consisted of Judge E. S. Doolittle of Huntington, Judge Flourney of Charleston and Elias Hatfield, deputy sheriff of Mingo county. These gentlemen left Vivian Sunday morning, and their journey to this city has been a perilous one. Judge Doolittle said that words could not describe the scene of devastation between Vivian and Davy. It was a tidal wave from a cloudburst and swept everything before it. In the track of its course everything is gone, including coke ovens and pillars of stone. At Vivian the water came roaring down the mountain sides in monster waves, and people who attempted to flee to the hills for safety were washed back and carried away by the raging current of the Elkhorn. The loss of property by the flood on the Elkhorn and the Tug river is now roughly estimated at from $5,000,000 to $8,000,000.

Inhabitants Starving.

IAEGER, W. Va., June 27.—A press correspondent has just reached this point, which is in the central part of the northern section of the scene of Saturday's flood. Here is where Dry Fork enters into the Tug river, and along this stream the greatest destruction prevails, and the loss of life here is even greater than at first reported. The correspondent reached here after riding and walking along the Tug river from Williamson, a distance of 60 miles. Beyond here for a distance of 30 miles the railroad track is almost completely washed away, all telegraph wires are down, and nothing definite is known regarding the loss of life and propery through that region. A number of people have come through from that region, but their stories differ so widely that it is difficult to place an estimate on the number of dead. It is safe to say, however, that 100 will not be far amiss. The inhabitants are destitute and hundreds are starving.

A Conservative Report.

ROANOKE, Va., June 27.—The news from the flood swept district in West Virginia shows no reason for increased estimates of either fatalities or property losses. Fifty is the outside limit of lives lost. Four more bodies have been identified at North Fork. It is believed, and from the evidence of destruction on every hand the belief is well founded, that the coalfield will not be entirely restored for many months. The efforts of the large force of men at work now are directed toward the re-establishment of communication. The property losses have not been exaggerated, but it is not thought that outside aid will be needed, as the coal companies are taking care of those of their employees who were despoiled by the flood.

Heavy Rain In Flood District.

COOPER, W. Va., June 27.—Heavy rain in the head of the Elkhorn has washed out much of the new work and is likely to delay traffic. The bridge over Mill creek, west of Cooper, is washed out.

General Schwartzkopf's Remains.

BERLIN, June 27.—The body of General von Schwartzkopf, formerly Count von Waldersee's chief of staff and who met his death in the fire which destroyed the winter palace at Peking April 27, was received with great military honors today, when the North German Lloyd steamer Wittekind, from Hiogo April 22, arrived at Bremenhaven. From Bremenhaven the body of the late general will be conveyed to Berlin, where a mourning parade and the firing of the mourning salute will take place.

Jamaicans Want Boer Prisoners.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, June 27.—The chamber of commerce has passed a resolution asking the governor of Jamaica, Sir Augustus Hemming, to request the imperial authorities to send 3,000 Boer prisoners to this island. Jamaica offers many and great advantages to farming.

Killed by His Son-in-law.

COLUMBIA, S. C., June 27.—It is reported from Holly Springs, Oconee county, that Rev. Patrick Chambers was killed there by his son-in-law, Daniel Roach. It is said the murder was the result of a general quarrel over family affairs.

General Wood Better.

HAVANA, June 27.—General Wood, who for several days has been suffering from an attack of grip and malarial fever, is declared to be better, although he is still confined to his house.

WRECK ON WABASH.

Fifteen Were Killed and Thirty Injured.

TRAIN PLUNGED THROUGH TRESTLE.

A Large Number of the Killed and Injured Were Immigrants En Route For Salt Lake City.

PERU, Ind., June 27.—Fifteen persons were killed and at least 27 injured, most of them seriously, in the wreck of west bound passenger train No. 3 on the Wabash railroad, which plunged through a trestle that had been undermined by a washout at Cass, a station 15 miles west of this city, at 12:30 o'clock yesterday morning. The first four cars of the train, one of which was the smoker, were completely demolished, and the three sleepers in the rear were badly damaged.

Under a full head of steam the train was rushing on through the darkness, when it struck the trestlework. The engine crossed the structure, it gave way, and the engine plunged down an 18 foot ravine and was buried under four of the cars of the train which it pulled. The remaining car, a sleeper, which was just the length of the trestle, caught on the abutments at each end of the bridgework and spanned the ravine over the wreckage.

The train which met with the accident was due at Peru at 10:55 o'clock in the evening, but left here last night one hour late. Between Peru and Logansport, the next stopping point, is a straight stretch of track practically without grade, and all trains are accustomed to make good time between the two cities. A little over an hour after the west bound flier pulled out of the Union station word reached the railway telegraph station of the wreck, and frantic appeals were sent for aid.

A large number of the killed and injured were members of a party of immigrants en route for Salt Lake City. It is impossible at this time to get the names of these, as none of the immigrants is able to speak English.

Fifteen bodies have been recovered.

Twenty-seven injured in all have been brought to the Wabash railroad general hospital. At least four of these will die.

At 4 o'clock a relief train which left this city immediately upon the receipt of the news of the accident returned with the injured passengers, half of whom are women. These were taken at once to the hospital of the Wabash railway, and a corps of physicians is now in attendance. Three Italians, a man and two children, died while being brought from the wreck.

Report on the Wisconsin.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—The navy department has received the report of the board appointed to conduct the final trial of the United States battleship Wisconsin on June 17. The vessel was subjected to a two hour full speed trial under natural draft, and the board reports that she made an average speed of 15.8 knots per hour. The indicated horsepower was 7,790. The speed required for supply of ammunition was not attained, but the board reports that the deficiency was due to the inexperience and size of the handling force, the mechanical appliances being fully capable of handling ammunition at the required speed under proper conditions. The board finds that the vessel is well built and efficient in all respects.

Collier Brutus Held Up.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—The naval collier Brutus is held up at the Port Said entrance of the Suez canal owing to a peculiar question which has arisen over the payment of tolls. The naval paymaster aboard tendered the amount of the tolls, about $3,840, in American gold, but the canal authorities declined to accept this, probably because of some regulation against foreign coins of fluctuating value. The situation was reported to the navy department, and the officials have asked the state department to communicate to the American consul at Port Said so that the tolls can be paid according to the requirements and the ship allowed to pass through the canal.

Good Work For Convicts.

ALBANY, June 27.—State Engineer and Surveyor Bond has under consideration a proposition to utilize convicts in Sing Sing to work a trap rock quarry above Palisades, near Rockland lake, opposite Sing Sing. It is believed that the road material thus produced could be readily distributed by canalboats through a large section of the state and that not only would the cost of constructing good roads be materially reduced, but better material would be secured, which the state could sell to the different counties engaged in road building.

New Italian Liner Arrives.

NEW YORK, June 27.—The new steel steamer Lombardia, the second of a fine fleet of new vessels which is being built and placed in service between the Mediterranean and New York by the Italian Royal Mail Steamship company, has arrived in this port from her maiden trip across the Atlantic. The vessel brings 16 cabin passengers and 727 steerage passengers besides a general cargo of merchandise. The voyage from Naples was made in 14 days.

Professor Hazen Married.

NEW YORK, June 27.—Miss Sara Duryea, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Duryea, was married yesterday at Grace church, Nyack-on-the-Hudson, to Professor Charles Downer Hazen of Northampton, Mass., the Rev. Franklin Babbitt officiating. After the ceremony a reception was held at Lawn Hill, the summer home of the bride's parents. The invitations to the marriage ceremony were restricted to the families of the bride and groom.

Finlanders Coming to Georgia.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—The Southern railway announces that it has made arrangements with Captain A. Backman of Finland for the purchase of 10,000 acres of land on the Southern railway in Georgia for colonization purposes. Captain Backman's purpose is to aid a number of the Finlanders who are dissatisfied with political conditions in their country to emigrate to Georgia.

Dead In Porto Rico.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, June 27.—Lowell D. Hosmer, the former disburser of the public works department, died on June 17. His wife and family have been unsuccessfully sought for. At one time they were believed to be at Jacksonville, Fla., or Memphis. Americans here took charge of the funeral.

RIOT IN ROCHESTER.

Strikers Finally Quelled by Shots From Policemen.

ROCHESTER, June 27.—The anticipated trouble with the striking laborers and employees in the building trades came yesterday, when marching men numbering about 1,000 clashed with the police at Mill and Commercial streets at 9:30 o'clock and many heads were broken.

The police fired a volley over the heads of the strikers after the mob had assailed them with bricks, stones, shovels and pieces of wood. The dispersing of the strikers then prevented serious bloodshed. As it was, 11 policemen and 20 strikers were injured. The policemen say the shooting was precipitated by a shot from one of the strikers.

The strikers assembled at their hall, according to the plan laid at a meeting the previous night, and soon began their march. As the column turned from Central avenue into Mill street 50 laborers employed by the Rochester Gas and Electric company in digging a trench at the junction of Commercial street were seen. With a shout the strikers advanced on a run and drove the workmen from the trench. The latter sought refuge in the power house of the Rochester Railway company.

The police reserves, under command of Sergeant Stein, were formed at once in a platoon of 50 across Commercial street, and upon order of the sergeant advanced with drawn clubs upon the mob. Immediately the air was filled with bricks, stones and wood, and shovels and pickaxes in the hands of the strikers were used freely.

During the melee a shot rang out, and Sergeant Stein ordered the policemen to fire above the heads of the strikers. This caused the latter to scatter, and the police then chased them through the streets to the City Hall park, where they were held awaiting action by the mayor.

Previous to the clash with the police the strikers got 165 men to quit work on Central railroad bridges. Later the mayor issued a proclamation of warning.

Evangelists In a Wrestling Match.

CAMDEN, N. J., June 27.—There was great excitement over a row at a tent meeting here between Dr. Tingling, an English evangelist, and Dr. Edwards, a difference of opinion in their theological views resulting in a wrestling match on the platform, in which Dr. Edwards had the better of it. The two ministers have been coworkers. Dr. Tingling is said to have started the trouble by interrupting Dr. Edwards in his sermon to object to certain remarks he was making. Later on Dr. Tingling, it is asserted, attempted to interrupt a prayer to state his views on the subject of eternal punishment. Dr. Edwards ordered him to keep quiet, and the Englishman refused to do so. Then Dr. Edwards, it is said, grasped Dr. Tingling by the shoulders, and the two men wrestled around until Dr. Tingling was forced from the platform.

Threatened With Tar and Feathers.

BRIDGETON, N. J., June 27.—Residents of this place are highly excited over the alleged misconduct of the pastor of one of the local churches, a married man. One of the members of his congregation, it is charged, found him in the church in company with a 16-year-old girl. The story spread quickly, and threats of violence were made. When the clergyman and his companion found that they were discovered, the girl fled, and the pastor, it is asserted, crawled through an air tube and attempted to hide in the heater. He was dragged out, and an angry crowd of villagers collected, and there were threats of giving the minister a coat of tar and feathers. A trustee of the church went to the pastor's aid, however, and the crowd disappeared.

Fatal Trolley Car Collision.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 27.—A collision on Hull street between a trolley car and a hose cart caused the death of one man and the injury of four others. The firemen were responding to an alarm of fire and were crossing the railroad track when the hose carriage was struck by the car. The streets recently have been graded at that point, and the cut was of such a nature that neither party could see the other until too late to stop. The hose carriage was totally demolished and the front end of the car badly broken.

Dutch Welcome Kruger.

ROTTERDAM, June 27.—Mr. Kruger, accompanied by Messrs. Wolmarens and Wessels of the Boer commission to Europe and America, Dr. Heyman, his physician, and Mr. Van Boeschoten, secretary to Dr. Leyds, has arrived in this city. The party was met at the railway station by the burgomaster and deputations from all sorts of societies. The band played the Transvaal national anthem, and the carriage was escorted by a guard of former Transvaal officers.

Striking Machinists Give Up.

YORK, Pa., June 27.—The strike of the union machinists of York came to an end, when formally, behind closed doors, the strike was declared off. No statement was given out, but it is believed the strikers secured none of their demands. They will go back to work as individuals when accepted as such by the firms.

A BRILLIANT FUNCTION.

Many Americans Attended the Duchess of Sutherland's Entertainment.

LONDON, June 27.—Stafford House, the London residence of the Duchess of Sutherland, was last night the scene of the most brilliant charitable function of many seasons. The function was given in aid of the National Lifeboat institution. Unlike the American lifeboat service, the British service is not a government institution and is dependent upon voluntary contributions.

Stafford House and its adjoining gardens were transformed into a temporary fairyland, to which the "open sesame" was a 2 guinea ticket. The Dukes of Sutherland and Westminster, the Marchioness of Londonderry and others sent consignments of beautiful flowers from their country houses, which converted the sumptuous apartments of Stafford House into a succession of floral bowers.

The entertainments included a concert, at which Mme. Melba, M. Kubelik and other notable artists gave their services. Mrs. Cornwallis-West, formerly Lady Randolph Churchill, played the piano accompaniment to Holman's violoncello solos. Ben Greet's Woodlane players performed the "Comedy of Errors," and after this the guests were served with supper. Many special tables sold at 25 and 50 guineas each. The 50 guinea tables included J. Pierpont Morgan, Colonel Frank Rhodes, brother of Cecil Rhodes, and a Philadelphia millionaire who did not wish his name published. Several duchesses had supper parties. A feature of the entertainment was that every guest was presented to the Duchess of Sutherland. It is estimated that the National Lifeboat institution benefited by over £5,000 as a result of the evening's entertainment.

COAL BREAKER BURNED.

Eight Hundred Men Rescued From the Mine.

SCRANTON, Pa., June 27.—The big Delaware and Hudson breaker, Baltimore No. 2, at East End, near Wilkesbarre, was burned yesterday afternoon, together with the engine, boiler and fan houses. The flames spread also to the powder house, and thousands of people who gathered to watch the fire were driven away by firemen who turned their hose on them, fearful of the results of an explosion. The breaker boys were eating their noon lunch when the flames broke out. They rushed from the building, but it is not known if all escaped.

Eight hundred men were at work in the mine. Half of these were hoisted up the shaft by the engineer before the flames forced him to give up the work of rescue. The others made their way to the workings of adjacent mines and escaped through them.

All the company's officers were hurried to the mine by a special train from this city. The loss will reach $125,000, covered by the company's insurance department.

Another Fierce Storm at Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, June 27.—The storm which struck Pittsburg and vicinity yesterday afternoon was short in duration, but terrific in power and disastrous in result. The lightning and thunder were practically continuous for about 30 minutes, the wind attaining a velocity of 30 miles an hour, and .46 of an inch of rain fell. In two minutes of the time .15 of an inch of water fell, which would represent three inches an hour. The temperature fell 24 degrees within an hour. One woman was instantly killed by lightning, and several other persons may die from the same cause. Numberless houses and churches were struck by lightning, and several picnic parties were panic stricken. From all surrounding towns reports are coming in telling of the widespread damage done by the storm, all the correspondents uniting in saying it was the severest known in years.

Yale Freshmen Won.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 27.—Yale won the race between the freshman fours over a mile of the course on the Thames yesterday afternoon. It was a pretty contest, a fight every bit of the way, with Harvard a favorite and in the lead for the first half. The youngsters rowed well, the Cambridge boys with a sharper stroke than Eli's, who did not sit so high in the boat and used their backs less.

Summer Hotel Burned.

MARSHFIELD, Mass., June 27.—The Humarock, a summer hotel of large dimensions at Sea View, has been burned to the ground, and with it went the many hotel outbuildings. The hotel was owned by Fred Merrill of Avon, who places his direct loss at $30,000 and insurance at $17,500. He had guests in the house. A party arrived during the fire and a big patronage was booked, so his indirect loss is considerable.

Superintendent Deemer Killed.

NEWARK, N. J., June 27.—After paying off a gang of men who were employed by the Pennsylvania Steel company on a bridge west of the Central station Joseph M. Deemer of Jersey Heights, N. J., started to walk to the depot and was struck by the Lake Shore limited and instantly killed. He was the superintendent and paymaster of the steel company. His age was 44 years.

Morgan Gives Harvard a Million.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 27.—President Eliot announced at the Harvard alumni dinner that John Pierpont Morgan had given more than $1,000,000 for the erection of three of the five buildings planned for the Harvard medical school on land now held in trust for the university on Huntington avenue, in Boston. The gift is for the prosecution of "applied biological research."

M. de Giers to Be Recalled?

BERLIN, June 27.—A special dispatch from St. Petersburg to the Lokal Anzeiger says that M. de Giers, the Russian minister to China, will shortly be recalled from Peking, where he has shown inaptitude. The dispatch further announces that M. de Giers will be transferred to Munich and that his successor at Peking will be M. Paul Lassar.

Harvard Overseers.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 27.—The result of the balloting for overseers of Harvard university has been announced. The following were declared elected: Charles Francis Adams, Augustus Hemenway, Robert Grant, Charles S. Fairchild, Moses Williams and Arthur Lincoln.

OCEAN LINER ASHORE

The Lusitania Wrecked on Newfoundland Coast.

PASSENGERS AND CREW RESCUED.

Steamship From Liverpool to Montreal Lost Her Bearings In a Dense Fog—Ships Sent to the Rescue.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., June 27.—The steamer Glencoe arrived here at midnight, bringing 6 first, 15 second and 436 steerage passengers and 93 of the crew of the wrecked liner Lusitania. Captain McNay and the chief officers of the ship remain with the wreck.

The passengers are almost entirely Polish and Russian Jews. The Lusitania struck the reef at half past 1 yesterday morning during a dense fog. Captain McNay had to force the Lusitania up on the reef, for if he reversed the engines the whole ship's bottom would have been torn out, and she would have sunk instantly.

The panic among the passengers after the vessel struck was intense. The details of what occurred on board have been previously cabled. The drawing of knives by the passengers was not general. It occurred in isolated instances only.

Three hours elapsed between the time when the Lusitania struck and the time the passengers started to disembark. This delay was occasioned by the difficulty in controlling the mob and handling the boats. All the passengers and crew agree that if the Lusitania had struck the rocks in rougher weather not a soul on board would have been saved.

The steamship Lusitania, bound from Havre for Montreal with 2,000 tons of cargo and 500 passengers, was wrecked near Seal Cove, about 20 miles above Cape Race, early yesterday morning. The cause of the disaster is the usual one in such cases. The ship's captain thought himself south of Cape Race and in open water and failed to allow for the current. Fog and darkness obscured the land, and the ship was on the rocks before speed could be stopped.

Half clad passengers rushed madly to the deck and tried to lower boats. A panic indescribable ensued. Excitable Frenchmen drew knives upon the ship's officers. Order was restored only by the officers drawing revolvers.

The ship was pounding on the rocks, the seas breaking over her broadside, and the babel of tongues added to the confusion.

Women and children were thrown down and trampled. The crew drove cowardly men from the boats with handspikes.

Women and children were first landed and hauled up the cliffs by fisher folk who gathered at the scene. The men followed.

The last message to the agents here of the Lusitania says that vessel is hard and firm aground on the reef and a hopeless wreck. Her engine room is full of holes and flooded. Her forehold is also flooded. The ship is listed heavily to port, and the waves are washing in and out of her forward and aft holds. The after decks are under water. A strong northeast breeze is rising and tumbling up a heavy sea which will soon dismantle the ship.

Children Sing at Exposition.

BUFFALO, June 27.—The sweet, simple voices of 3,000 children united in singing national songs of America, Germany and France thrilled about 5,000 auditors at the second and last matinee of the thirtieth sangerfest of the Sangerbund of North America at the Seventy-fourth regiment armory yesterday afternoon. The modest little singers received enough applause to make a chorus of prima donnas envious. The concert was under the direction of John Lund. Mme. Schumann-Heink sang an aria from Max Bruch's "Olysseus." She was forced to reappear three times before the torrent of applause ceased. The orchestra gave a suit from Goldmark's "Queen of Sheba." Director Lund received an ovation at the end of the rendition. Then Mme. Blauvelt, the soprano, appeared for the first time during the sangerfest.

Henderson Liked the King.

LONDON, June 27.—David B. Henderson, ex-speaker of the United States house of representatives, said last night: "I have never enjoyed a more agreeable half hour interview than the one I had with King Edward. He was perfectly frank and agreeable and in accord with American progress. He looks forward to even more cordial relations than now exist between the English speaking nations. America may depend upon the fact that she has no more cordial friend in the world than King Edward."

The vellum is incased in a large quartered oak case with silver fittings and a silver key.

Vieta Mayor of Cienfuegos.

HAVANA, June 27.—The recount of the votes cast in the recent election for a mayor of the city of Cienfuegos shows Senor Vieta to have a majority of 500 votes over Senor Figueroa, who was first declared elected. The partisans of Figueroa have asked to have the election of Vieta annulled. General Wood has ordered the military board who made the recount of the votes to declare Vieta mayor of Cienfuegos.

Needs Attention.

There are a number of drivers of delivery wagons and other vehicles in this city who apparently believe that the moment the fire alarm sounds all the city ordinances regulating the speed of vehicles in the city streets are temporarily suspended. While the apparatus of the fire department has the right to employ every means to get to the scene of the fire as possible, it does not mean that everybody else has the same right. A fireman may hurry to his duty and even drive or ride faster than the pace permitted by law, but he is the only one who is entitled to do so.

A few days ago a small fire occurred out Watchung and hundreds of vehicles and wheelmen hurried that way. Among them was a large ice wagon, the two horses attached to which were put on the dead run. There was no one hurt and no property was damaged, but it was nevertheless an open violation of the city ordinances and should not be permitted.

That was not the first time, however, that such a thing has occurred. Every time the fire alarm whistle blows as a signal for an alarm, there are countless violations of the ordinance which refers directly to this same thing. It has grown to be a common occurrence and the police make little or no attempt to check it. Hundreds of lives are endangered and the way of the fire apparatus is often blocked. It is a dangerous practice and one which should receive prompt attention from the city officials.

Because no serious accident has yet resulted from this custom is no reason that it should not be stopped at once. It will be far better to put an end to it before some life is brought to an untimely end and a great outbust of public indignation is heard. A few examples of some of the most reckless of these offenders will serve to put a stop to the dangerous practice.

The city officials have gained their desired object in securing the conviction of one of the four strikers arrested for taking part in the demonstration near the Grant avenue station a week ago. It is not probable that the sentence will be a severe one as Corporation Counsel Marsh, who represented the city in the trial, said that he would be perfectly satisfied with a conviction with a moderate fine. It was not a severe punishment so much as an example that was desired. It is understood, however, that the defence is not satisfied and will carry the case to a higher court in an attempt to secure an acquittal.

One of the provisions of the new game law, which was passed by the New Jersey Legislature during the past winter, provided that dogs should not be allowed to run loose in places where game abounded. This was the attempt to remedy a state of affairs which has been greatly deprecated by all lovers of real sport. Dogs have gone into the fields and killed many young rabbits besides doing much other damage of the same kind. The first arrest under this provision has just been made by State Game Warden Hawkins.

If Mayor Smalley is the advocate of new street signs that he pretends to be, he will allow no time to be lost in the purchase and erection of those signs for the borough. The money has been appropriated by a willing Council and it now devolves on the Mayor and street committee to see that the wishes of the Council in the matter are promptly carried out. This is the season they are most needed and every day counts.

There is usually but very little social activity in Plainfield during the summer months. The formation of the two golf clubs and the opening of the two summer hostelries, the Hotel Netherwood and the Mountain Park Inn, has tended to change things materially. Those Plainfielders who now spend most of their summer at home find many informal but nevertheless delightful affairs taking place at frequent intervals.

To test the value of a small advertisement relates the Philadelphia Record a fruit seller in Paris advertised in several newspapers (paying good rates for space) that he would give a prize of $1 for the largest apple that should be sent to him. He received fifteen sacks of apples altogether, paid the $1 for the largest, and after deducting the cost of the advertising found he had made a profitable investment.

The novel plan of providing trolley rides for sick and tired mothers is a charity which should appeal to all good Plainfielders. There is no doubt but that a ride on the trolley these hot days is a very pleasant thing particularly to one has been confined to little hot and stuffy rooms. The rides are not expensive and they can do a great deal of good.

The commencement season ends this week. This and tomorrow evening will see the closing exercises of the St. Mary's Parochial School. Every year, the programme at the graduation exercises of this school is very elaborate. This year is no exception and the friends of the school have a fine entertainment in store for them on both evenings.

The only public celebration of Independence Day which has been announced to take place in this vicinity is the one planned by the Jr. O. U. A. M. at New Market. New Market will probably get its share of visitors that day.

CAMP NORTHFIELD.

Delightful Place At Which To Spend a Pleasant Summer Outing.

"Camp Northfield," at East Northfield, Mass., will again be the mecca for a large number of Y. M. C. A. workers and college students during the summer months. This ideal spot has for seven years been sought by men of renown in the business, as well as college world, and no better place can be selected by a person to spend a part or all of a vacation. The seventh annual encampment will be held from June 27 to Sept. 2, and during that time there will be a strong programme to attract. This camp was instituted by the late D. L. Moody and has from the first been a success.

Aside from the opportunities to study the Bible and hear prominent divines from all parts of the world there will be an abundance of time to enjoy all kinds of sports, including golf, baseball, fishing, swimming, etc. A new and improved nine-hole golf course has just been opened for the use of the campers. One of the strongest arguments in favor of this place is the cheapness with which a person can go there. The railroad fare is very low and for a nominal fee persons can camp out under the most favorable conditions.

The country is high and of a rolling nature and the summer heat is scarcely felt. W. D. Murray, of this city, will be among the Bible teachers at the camp, giving his interesting talks on the life of Christ according to the Gospel of St. Luke. During the season there will be held the World's Student Conference, Young Women's Christian Association Conference, general conference for Christian workers, and special Bible lectures by eminent teachers. Any information concerning East Northfield will be gladly furnished by Secretary J. H. Manning at the Y. M. C. A.

PLAINFIELD AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence.)

Scotch Plains, June 27—The introduction of a "measure sociable" to a Scotch Plains audience, last evening, by the Ladies Circle of the Baptist church, was an enjoyable as well as an amusing event; enjoyable because the programme of music and recitations was all that could be desired, amusing because the taller one was the more toll was charged for admittance. Five cents per foot was the rate charged, and this was by the promoters' own measure. As one arrived at the door he was invited to stand under the waiting measuring rod and have his height checked. At the close of the entertainment the committee in charge served cream and cake, and the rest of the evening was devoted to social chat while they lingered over their refreshments.

BORN TO SERVE

By CHARLES M. SHELDON,

Author of "IN HIS STEPS," "JOHN KING'S QUESTION CLASS," "EDWARD BLAKE," Etc.

(Copyright, 1900, by Charles M. Sheldon.)

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Mr. and Mrs. Ward, of the little town of Crawford, have been greatly worried with the servant girl problem, not being able to keep one for over a few months. The constant recurrence of the task of searching for help has made them both irritable and cross, and although being good Christian people and members of the Marble Square church, the course of their domestic lives has been strewn with many a little tiff and quarrel. The last girl has just left and Mr. Ward has advertised for another. Barbara Clark applies for the position; Barbara is an educated, refined young college graduate, and although qualified to teach school, has been unable to obtain employment of any kind. She, with her widowed mother, has recently moved to Crawford. After much coaxing she persuades her mother to permit her to apply for the position of servant girl, which she obtains.

As she had herself said many times during her college course in the study of social economics that service was a noble thing. And, as she went up to her room that night after a long and tender conference with her mother, in which the two had grown nearer together than ever before, she seemed to call to mind the many passages of the New Testament which speak of Jesus not only as a household servant but even as a "bond servant." And it came to her with heaven-born courage that if the Son of God became "full grown" through His sufferings endured in ministering to others, why might it not be the way in which she and all other of God's children should develop their real lives and grow into power as kings and queens in the Kingdom? It is doubtful if ever before that evening Barbara had caught a real glimpse of the meaning of service. She did catch something of it now. She opened her New Testament, and it was not by chance that she turned to the passage in Luke, twenty-second chapter:

"And there arose also a contention among them which of them is accounted to be the greatest. And He said unto them, The kings of the Gentiles have lordship over them; and they that have authority over them are called benefactors. But ye shall not be so; but he that is greater among you, let him become as the younger, and he that is chief as he that doth serve. For which is greater, he that sitteth at meat or he that serveth? Is not he that sitteth at meat? But I am in the midst of you as he that serveth. But ye are they which have continued with me in my temptations. And I appoint unto you a kingdom even as my Father appointed unto me, that ye may eat and drink at my table in my kingdom." (Luke 22:24-29.)

Then she kneeled and prayed:

"Dear Lord, make me fit to serve, use me to the glory of Thy kingdom in the new life before me. Make me worthy to be a servant, to be like my Master. Amen."

So Barbara Clark began her new experience, which profoundly affected not only her own life for all time to come, but the lives of very many other souls in the world. And that night she slept the sleep which belongs to all the children of the kingdom, whose earthly peace is as the peace of God.

CHAPTER II.

IT IS SWEET TO TOIL.

It was four weeks after Barbara Clark had been at work as a "hired girl" in the Ward family. She was sitting in her little room at the back of the house, writing a letter to one of her classmates in Mt. Holyoke. She wrote slowly, with many grave pauses and with an anxious look on her face.

"The fact is, Jessie," the letter went on, after several pages describing a part of the four weeks' experience, "I have come to the conclusion that I am not born to be a reformer. It was all very well when we studied social economics to have our heroic ideals about putting certain theories into practice, but it is quite another thing to do it. I thought when I came here that I might do some great things; but there are no great things about it, just nothing but drudgery, and thankless drudgery at that. And yet Mrs. Ward—but I must not say any more about her. I have stayed out my month as I agreed to do, and to-morrow I am going to let her know that I cannot stay any longer. I think I shall try a place in Bondman's after all. It seems like a poor sort of position, after all the dreams we had at Mount Holyoke; but anything is better than what I have been doing. I would not have mother know this, and I have not said as much to her yet. Poor mother! She must be disappointed in me, I am in myself. I am glad you are so well suited with your school. There is a good deal of the blues in this letter; and, to tell the truth, it is just as I feel. 'A Hired Girl for Four Weeks!' How would it read as title to a magazine article? I might get a few dollars for my experiences if I chose to exploit them. Instead of that, I have given them to you gratis. Shed a tear for me, Jessie, over the grave of my little, useless experiment in practical economics. Your classmate, BARBARA CLARK."

Barbara wearily folded the letter, put it in the envelope, directed it, stamped it; and then, being hardly more than a girl, and a very tired girl, and at the moment one disappointed with herself and all the world, she laid her head down on the little table and cried hard. To tell the truth, it was not the first time that the little table in the little room at the back of the house had seen Barbara's tears since she had come to work at Mrs. Richard Ward's as a "hired girl."

So this was the end of all her heroic enthusiasm for service. It had all turned out in disappointment. To begin with, the weather had been intensely hot all the time. The work was harder in many ways than Barbara had anticipated. Her mother had not been well. One week Mrs. Ward had gone to bed with a succession of nervous headaches. And so on with ceaseless recurrence of the drudgery that grew more and more tiresome. At the end of the month Barbara had summed up everything and resolutely concluded to leave.

She had not yet gathered courage to tell Mrs. Ward. The woman had been very kind to her in many ways. But she was not well, and there were days when things had occurred that almost sickened Barbara when she recalled them. When she went downstairs the next morning after writing the letter to her former classmate, Barbara had fully made up her mind, not only to give notice of her intention to leave, but to give Mrs. Ward all her reasons why she could not work as a "hired girl" any longer.

About ten o'clock in the forenoon Mrs. Ward came into the kitchen for some[illegible], and Barbara, with a feeling that was almost fear, spoke to her as she was turning to go back into the dining-room.

"I ought to tell you, Mrs. Ward, that I have decided to leave you. My month is up to-day, and I—"

Mrs. Ward looked at her in amazement.

"What! You are going to leave? Why, we are more than satisfied with you!"

"But I am not with you or the place!" replied Barbara, so spiritedly that it was the nearest to an exhibition of anger that Mrs. Ward had ever seen in her, during the whole month.

Mrs. Ward sunk down in a chair, and a look of despair came over her face as she looked at Barbara. Barbara, with a white face and trembling hands, went on with her work at the table. She was preparing some dish for baking.

"Why—what—haven't we been kind to you? Haven't the wages—Mr. Ward was saying to me this morning that we ought to give you more. I am sure," Mrs. Ward continued eagerly, noting Barbara's set expression, "I am sure we would be glad to make it four and a half a week, or possibly five."

"It's not that," answered Barbara, in a low voice. She took up the dish and put it in the oven, and then, after a moment of hesitation, she sat down and looked at Mrs. Ward very gravely.

"What is it, then?" Mrs. Ward asked hopelessly.

"Do you want me to tell you all the reasons I have for leaving?" Barbara asked the question with a touch of the feeling she had already shown.

"Have you made out a list?" Mrs. Ward asked carelessly. It was that characteristic of the woman that had oftenest tried Barbara.

"Yes, I have," replied Barbara; and she added, with a different tone, as if she had suddenly put a check on her temper: "Mrs. Ward, I don't want to leave you without giving you good reasons. That would not be fair, either to you or to me."

"I ought to know," replied Mrs. Ward, slowly. She still looked at Barbara sharply, and Barbara could not tell exactly what the woman was really thinking.

"Then, in the first place," began Barbara, "my room is the hottest room in the house. It is right over the kitchen, it has no good ventilation, and it is not attractive in any way as a room at the close of a hard day's work."

"It is the room my girls have always had." Mrs. Ward spoke quickly and angrily.

"Maybe that is one reason you have had so many," said Barbara, grimly. The memory of the hot nights spent in the little back room framed Barbara's answer.

Mrs. Ward started to her feet. "This is impertinence," she said, while her cheeks grew red with anger.

"It is the truth! You asked me to give my reasons for leaving. That is one of them," replied Barbara, calmly. "It is true of a good many other houses in Crawford, too. The smallest, least attractive, poorest room in the house is considered good enough for the girl. I know it isn't true of a great many houses that furnish as comfortable a room for the servant as for any other member of the family. But it is true of this house. I am not blaming you for it, but whoever made the house for the express purpose of planning to give the hired girl of the house that particular room, which in this case happens to be the hottest, most uncomfortable room in the building."

Mrs. Ward sat down, and again looked at Barbara keenly. Her anger vanished suddenly, and she said, with a faint smile: "I don't know but you are right about that. Will you go on?"

"In the second place," Barbara went on, slowly, "I have not had any regular hours of work. Four nights this week I worked until ten o'clock. Three nights last week I sat up until 11 with the children while you and Mr. Ward went to entertainments or were out to dinner."

GIVING OUT.

The Struggle Discourages Many a Citizen of Plainfield.

Around all day with an aching back,
Can't rest at night.
Enough to make anyone "give out."
Doan's Kidney Pills will give renewed life.
They will cure the backache;
Cure every kidney ill.
Here's Plainfield proof that this is so:

Mrs. Valentine Utzinger, of 75 Grandview avenue, says: "I suffered from kidney complaint for six years; I doctored and used various kinds of medicine with little or no result. I had almost a constant sharp darting pain across my back, and if I ever exerted myself or took cold I suffered severely. I always felt it most when the weather was damp. While in this condition I saw Doan's Kidney Pills recommended and my son bought me a box from L. W. Randolph's drug store. I started to use them at once, followng directions closely. They helped the pain in my back, and relieved my other difficulty. I gave all the credit for this relief to Doan's Kidney Pills for they are beyond a doubt a grand medicine for kidney trouble."

PARK AVE. AND RAILROAD

A gentleman living in a Pennsylvania town says: "I had to give up my business on account of my poor health, and just attend to the work on my small lot, and that was more than I felt able to do. For several years I have had indigestion and liver complaint, and been very much troubled with constipation. I employed different physicians and tried different kinds of patent medicines, but only received temporary relief. Early in the summer I saw an advertisement of Ripans Tabules in the Bucks County Intelligencer. I did not have much faith in them, but finally decided to give them a trial, and on July 23d I purchased a box and commenced taking them. Before I had taken half of the Tabules I began to improve, and by the time I had taken all of them I was so much improved that I felt like another man. I have continued their use, and I am gaining daily in health and strength. Now I can do the work on my lot with ease, where it used to be a burden to me. I can speak only in praise of the Tabules, and I would recommend them to all persons who are ailing."

WANTED—A case of bad health that RIPANS will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. [illegible] Name the word RIPANS on the package and accept no substitute. RIPANS, 10 for 5 cents [illegible] any drug store. Ten samples and 100 testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, for addressing the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

DRESSY GOWNS.

Black Prevails, and Touches of It Are Inevitable.

A great deal of black silk is being worn by smart women. This includes taffeta and a new weave resembling black pongee. The latter is much used for summer waists, as it is light weight, soft and capable of standing any amount of wear. Black chiffon embroideries are also all the style. They come in the most beautiful rose and orchid patterns. No summer dress is perfect without a touch of black, be it ever so slight. As for all black dresses, they are worn by even very young girls.

A stunning gown was recently seen at a popular race track, and it is reproduced in the illustration. The material was pearl gray silk, with violet threads, giving it a changeable effect. Both the waist and the skirt were appliqued with inch wide gray satin ribbons, forming vertical stripes. The broad flounce, however, was of the plain silk, and so were the ruffles at the elbow. Heading the flounce and running down both sides of the front of the waist were two bands of black chiffon applique in a pattern of beech leaves. A wide empire belt of panne encircled the waist, and the soft front was of white mousseline de sole covered with heavy coffee colored lace. The hat which went with this costume was of the same changeable silk. It was faced with black mousseline de sole and trimmed with a single long white ostrich feather.

The hat made of the same material as the gown is a new fad among well dressed women. JUDIC CHOLLET.

FASHIONS IN MILLINERY.

Every Woman Can Find a Hat to Suit Her This Year.

Never before has millinery been so artistic. There are styles to suit every kind of face, and every style is pretty. For those who like a stiff, serviceable hat there are continental shapes of fine chip, which are worn well tilted over the eyes and are trimmed with satin panne scarfs of various shades. Dainty chiffon hats are made with flat, shirred crowns and soft brims. These require but little trimming, and frequently the entire decoration consists of one or two large roses fastened to the underband. White crinoline hats are very popular because of their durability. A very dressy effect is gained by trimming them with yellow lace scarfs.

A hat very becoming to irregular features is here pictured. The shape is of soft cream leghorn faced with tucked mousseline de sole. In the back the brim is bent down close to the hair, but starting from the sides it has an upward slant which grows decided directly in front, where it is held by a long steel buckle and a big, irregular bow of liberty satin ribbon. This ribbon is one of the new shaded novelties in two tints of salmon pink. The top of the hat is left untrimmed, with the exception of a broad band of black velvet which encircles the crown.

A beautiful and chaste woman is the perfect workmanship of God, the true glory of angels, the rare miracle of earth and the sole wonder of the world. —Hermes.

GOIN' BACK.

I've packed my traps and I'm goin' back where the fields are green and broad,
And the colts, with their legs all doubled up, are rollin' on the sod;
They'll smile, I s'pose, when they see me come, and they'll, some of 'em, likely say
They thought I'd forsaken the farm for good the day that I went away—
But let 'em smile—I'm goin' back—I'm sick of the noise and fuss,
Where a couple of dollars count for more than the life of a common cuss;
They'll nobody notice I've went away—it you told 'em they wouldn't care,
But somebody's face'll be full of joy when she greets her boy back there.

I'm goin' back, for I've had my fill—I've saw what there is to see;
The city may still be the place for you, but it's lost its charm for me;
And won't I be lonesome there, you say,
with the people so far apart?
Well, mebby they're few and far between,
but each of 'em's got a heart;
There ain't no hundreds of thousands there to push you around, I know,
Not carin' a cent where you're comin' from or where you're tryin' to go—
For the one that's jostled day after day with never a friend to greet,
There ain't a lonesomer place on earth than the city's crowded street.

I'm goin' back where the dog's asleep on the step by the kitchen door,
With his nose pushed down between his paws—I'm sick of the smoke and roar;
There's money to make where the crowds are thick and they're tryin' to rip things loose—
There's money to get if you've got the grit, but, dang it all! what's the use?
They hustle for dollars all through the day and dream of dollars in bed,
And forgive the gougin' a fellow may do as long as he gets ahead—
They hustle and bustle and coop themselves in dark little holes and fret
And honor a person accordin' to the money he's managed to get.

I'm goin' back where the poplars stand in tall rows down the lane,
Where the bobsled's settin' beside the barn,
defyin' the sun and rain;
Where the birds are singin' away as though they were hired to fill the air
With a sweetness that nobody ever can know who was never a boy out there;
I'm goin' back where they'll not expect me to sit in the kitchen when I'm courtin' the girl I love because I'm workin' for other men—
Where the richest among 'em'll shake my hand, instead of lettin' me see
That they think the money they've got must make them a blamed sight better than me.

I'm goin' back, and you'll stay here and rush, in the same old way,
Goin' to work and then goin' home—the same thing day by day—
And you'll think you're havin' a high old time and I'll pity you, lookin' back (From where I whistle across the fields) at you in the same old track!—
I'm goin' back, but the crowds won't know, and they'll still keep rushin' on;
They'll never notice that some one's face is missin' when I am gone—
No, they'll never notice that some one's gone—if they did they wouldn't care—
But every tree'll be noddin' to me when I turn up the lane back there.

—S. E. Kiser, in Chicago Record-Herald.

Didn't Get the Reward

THE Reformed Messenger Boy took a dirty and time-worn paper from the inside pocket of his vest. He unfolded it and spread it out on the table. It showed the face of a middle-aged man, with a brief description below it. Above the face, in big black letters, was the single line: "$5,000 Reward."

"Dere," said the boy, "is de mug of de guy what me an' 327 got pinched. If it hadn't been fer us de fly cops 'ld a-been lookin' fer him yet. We gits wise to his nobs, an' gives de tip to de flies, an' den dey makes de pinch, cops de coin, an' gives me an' 327 de double cross.

"His name was John Rawlins Glimmer, an' he made a quick sneak out-a New York five years ago, after pinchin' $250,000 from de Newton national bank. De peppers was full of how smood a guy he was. He was de book-keeper, an' kept de bank dope books, an' he'd been pinchin' an' makin' de books lie about it fer ten years. Every day it was pinch an' carry one wid him, an' in de afternoon he'd go down an' put a few dollars on de ponies, 'spectin' all de time to win out an' put himself back on de square.

"Me an' 327 was readin' all about it, an' wishin' dat we could git a chance to do a little flyin', an' win de dough de bank offers fer catchin' de guy. Den my fren', de lute over to Central, gimme dis bill of de play, wid de guy's mug on it an' tellin' all about him. Me an' 327 learns it all by heart.

"'John Rawlins Glimmer,' it says, '48 years old, red hair and mustach, mixed wid gray. Little finger on right hand is missing. Has big scar on back of neck. When excited is apt to stutter badly. Has taught class in Sunday school, an' may be found takin' part in revival meetin's. $5,000 reward fer his errest an' detention. Left New York June 11, an' is supposed to have come to Chicago.'

"'327,' I says, after him an' me has got de descript down fine, 'me an' you mus' cop dat dough.' We mus' keep our lamps lit fer Mr. Glimmer, an' when we sees a guy wid his right mitt shy one finger we'll t'row him down an' look fer de scar on de back of his neck. You'll have to go to Sunday school, 327,' I says, 'an' rubber fer guys wid red hair and mustaches.'

"327 goes de nex' Sunday, an' dere's a big gazaboy dere wid de right color roof on his nut and a red mustache, but he has gray kid gloves on his mitts, an' 327 can't tell whedder he's shy a little finger er not. 327 says dat kid gloves are suspicious, anyhow, so he waits till de guy gets out on de street. Den he sneaks up an' gives him a pinch on the little finger on de right glove, t'inkin' if it was stuffed wid sawdust de guy youldn't know it. But de guy lets out a yell, and so 327 knows dat he is on a dead 'un. De nex' t'ree Sundays me an' 327 puts in pinchin' red-headed Sunday school teachers what wears kids in de right hand little finger, but dey all yells, an' one of 'em hands 327 a swift kick in de slats, so we knows dey are de real t'ing an' not bank robbers.

"All dis time de peppers is printin' stories about John Rawlins Glimmer. 'Traced to Chicago,' dey said. 'It Is Knowed Dat de Newton Bank Wrecker Cum to Dis City,' 'Offer of Reward Is Doubled,' 'Ten Thousand Dollars fur His Arrest, and Detectives Are Hot on de Trail.'

"De night dat piece cum out in de pepper dere was a telegraph cum from New York to de bigges' fly copper in town. It cum in about midnight an' it read like dis:

"'Octopus, Glimmer, tentacles, Chicago, seven, tempus, catamaran.

"'Eye.'

"'Deliver dis message by special messenger immediately,' it said. 'Spare no pains. Most important.'

"De fly copper de telegraph was fer lives six miles out in de rubarbs, an' de manager calls in me and 327 an' tells us to go over an' git a buggy at de libery stable an' make a hurry-up trip. We goes over an' I stops at de hash foundry to cop some sinkers an' cigs fer lunch on de way. 327 goes ahead to get de horse hitched up.

"When I cums up to de stable 327 ducks out an' leads me into de alley.

"'Say,' he says, shiverin' all over, 'dere's a guy in dere wid red hair, an' his mustache is jes' shaved off. He's wearin' mitts, an' de collar of his coat is turned up to hide de back of his neck.'

"'An' I'll bet,' says 327, 'dat he's de guy we're after. We as good as got him pinched now,' says 327. 'What you goin' to do wid yer $5,000?' he says. 'Glimmer's in dere tryin' to hire a rig to drive him down-town, an' the libery stable guy says he'll have to wait a minute till he gits a driver in; dat all de men are out jes' now, but he's expectin' one back in a minute.

"W-W-WELL, I'LL G-G-GET IT OFF."

"'Who's bossin' de libery to-night?' says I. 'Mike?'

"'Yes.'

"'Tell him dere's a guy wants to see him out here fer a minute.'

"Mike an' me is old pals, an' when he comes out I gits him on to let me put on a driver's coat an' go out wid de guy me an' 327 t'ink is Glimmer. An' I tells 327 to git a quick hustle out with the telegraph to de fly an' to bring de fly back wid him.

"'You call up 16 offis on de telephone frum de fly's house,' I says, 'an' I'll leave word dere fer you what's to do an' where de guy has went.'

"'So I goes in, an' Mike says: 'Here's a driver for you, sir.' An' de guy says: 'Well, hurry up. I haven't got no time to lose.' I takes a piece of red chalk I finds in de stable an' I makes a mark on de back of de guy's coat when he ain't lookin'.

"De n I says to him: 'Excuse me, sir, but you got something on the back of yere coat,' 'Brush it off,' he says, an' I pretended to try, but couldn't make it come. 'It won't come, sir,' I says, 'an' it looks like a big letter in in red paint.'

"'W-w-well, I'll g-g-get it off,' the guy says, an' unbuttons his coat an' starts to pull it off. Then he stops sudden an' pulls it up again around his neck an' says: 'O, well, never mind, I'll change my clothes in de morning, anyhow.'

"By the time Mike gits my cab hitched up 327 is started out fer de fly, goin' out West Thirty-first street like a fire engine, an' it's along towards two o'clock in de mornin'.

"'Where to, sir?' I says, touchin' my hat to de guy.

"'To de Union station in a hurry,' he says. 'I want to catch a train at three o'clock.'

"I gits a hustle over to the West side an' seen my guy safe in lower t'ree in de St. Louis car. Den I calls up 16 offis an' puts de manager wise to the whole show.

"'327 will call you up in a few minutes,' I says, 'an' you tell him an' de fly to catch de train at de Englewood station. Dey got time if dey drive fast. De guy dey want is in lower 'tree in de St. Louis car.'

"De fly and 327 makes a quick run in an' catches de train O. K. at Englewood. De fly walks in and takes John Rawlins Glimmer out of de berth. An' John Rawlins is a rabbit an' gives de hull game away. Den a fly gives 327 a dollar bill an' says: 'Split dat wid your pardner, my boy,' he says, and dat was de nearest we ever came to dat $10,000 reward."—Chicago Tribune.

Her Newspaper Instinct.

"We can elope," he urged; "no one need know a thing about it."

Sadly she shook her head.

"Alas!" she said, "if I were anyone else the plan would be all right. I would have no objection to fooling papa as a man, but, remember, I am an editor's daughter. Think how undutiful it would be for me to deprive him of a 'scoop!'"—Chicago Post.

PRETTY HOME WEDDING TOOK PLACE AT DUNELLEN YESTERDAY.

Groom Was Franklin M. Kelso, of Plainfield—Wedded Miss Leonilia Pierson, of That Place.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, June 27—Surrounded by 150 friends and relatives from New York, Brooklyn, Binghamton, Plainfield, New Market and this place, Miss Leonilia Pierson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lisbon J. Pierson, was united in marriage to Franklin Mason Kelso, of Plainfield. The ceremony took place yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents on New Market road.

Rev A. A. Phelps, of Bound Brook, pastor of Holy Innocents church, pronounced the words which made them man and wife. The Episcopal form of service was used. Miss Pierson wore a pretty gown of white organdie over white silk. She carried a prayer book. Miss Maud Doyle, of Plainfield, was maid-of-honor. Her gown was of pink organdie over pink silk. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses.

Attending the groom was William Grobes, of Philadelphia, who acted as best man. The bridal party was completed by two little flower girls, Miss Myrtle Pierson, sister of the bride, and Miss Bessie Kingslow, of Plainfield. Preceding the ceremony the Lohengrin wedding march was played by Miss Irene Day, of New Market. She also rendered a number of other selections.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Kelso were tendered a reception after which they left amid a shower of rice for Washington, D. C., where they will spent their honeymoon. On returning they will take up their residence on Elm place, Plainfield, where the groom has furnished a home. They were the recipients of a large number of handsome presents.

STOVE EXPLODED.

Mrs. Frank Bufano Was Badly Burned As a Result of Accident.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, June 27.—Mrs. Frank Bufano, who lives in Raritan, about a mile from this place, was cooking her dinner yesterday noon on a gasoline stove. Suddenly and without warning the stove exploded, setting fire to the garments on Mrs. Bufano. She ran about wildly calling for help. Later she was wrapped in blankets, but not until she had been horribly burned. The doctors have hopes of her recovery.

Tripped On a Rug.

Mrs. Kate Marsh, of 340 Franklin place, is detained in her room, the result of an accident a few days ago. She was walking across a room when her foot caught in a rug. She fell heavily to the floor severely spraining her ankle. Dr. Endicott was called and succeeded in making the patient as comfortable as possible. It will be nearly two weeks before Mrs. Marsh will be able to get about.

Sweet Little Songsters.

A small colony of wrens have made their homes for several years in the trees on the lawn of J. Hervey Doane, LaGrande avenue. Mr. Doane placed boxes in the trees containing a small hole no bigger than a 25-cent piece and the wrens take possession and rear their young, the hole being too small for the pesky little English sparrows to enter in molest the little wrens.

AFTER FINANCIAL AID.

Meeting in Interest of Westfield Fresh Air Camp at First Baptist Church Tomorrow Night.

In lieu of the regular exercises, the meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church tomorrow evening will be devoted to the furtherance of the interests of Westfield's Fresh Air Camp. A special programme has been arranged for the occasion. Vocal and instrumental music as well as appropriate addresses will be features of the affair.

This will be the seventh season of the Westfield Fresh Air Camp. Each year, it is believed, the work becomes of increased usefulness. There are forty four societies, including branches of the Y. P. S. C. E. and Epworth League, which contribute, in some form or other, towards the support of the work. Miss Curry, who has been the matron for the past six years, will be in charge again this season.

The meeting tomorrow evening will be for the purpose of enlisting financial aid for the charity. No admission will be charged.

MARRIED ON WIDE PIAZZA.

WHILE GUESTS WITNESSED CEREMONY FROM SHADY LAWN

Pretty Home Wedding at "Long Hedge," Dunellen, At High Noon Yesterday.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, June 27—While a host of friends viewed the proceedings from comfortable seats on the shady lawn, the marriage of Miss Jessie Maltby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Maltby, to Nathan Gordon Read, of New York, took place yesterday at noon on the piazza of the bride's home, "Long Hedge," at West Dunellen. It was one of the most brilliant weddings which has taken place in this vicinity this season. The guests to the number of sixty were relatives and friends from points far and near.

The piazza, already admirably suited for the occasion owing to its wealth of trailing vines, had its beauty enhanced by an arch of ferns, roses and daisies. Beneath this the young couple stood while the words which made them man and wife were pronounced by Rev. Frank Fletcher, pastor of the New Market Baptist church.

Attending the bride was her cousin Miss Gertrude Suydam, of Kingston, N. Y., who was attired in a gown of white d'esprit over green taffeta silk She carried a shwer bouquet of pink sweet peas. The bride's charms were set off to advantage by a gown of point d'esprit over white satin, while she carried a bouquet of white sweet peas. The groom's attendant was Frederick M. Dearborn, of New York. While the ceremony was being performed, the strains of Mendelssohn's beautiful wedding march were heard as it was played in the parlor by Miss Irene Day.

Following a reception which was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Read, they took their departure for New York from whence they will go to the White Mountains for a wedding trip. They will make their home at Newark. The groom is associated with his father, Henry A. Read, in a New York brokerage firm.

HANLEY'S BOLD RIDE

Brought a Recalcitrant Mule Back to Army Camp.

And by This Act of Gallantry Saved Maj. Reno's Column from Being Exterminated by Bloodthirsty Indian Fiends.

When some American mules in South Africa stampeded with the British field guns and put the Englishmen in rather a bad plight in the face of the enemy people said that it was the American mules' way of showing sympathy with the Boer cause. The thing was spoken of and written about everywhere as being the first instance where the mule, though his back always has had to bear much obloquy ever came within an ace of being responsible for the defeat of an army. People who wrote and talked about the affair evidently had never heard of how a Missouri mule came near being the cause of the wiping out of Reno's battalion on the Little Big Horn contemporaneously with the annihilation of Custer and his band a few miles beyond. An ugly, vicious, branded Missouri mule did his level best on that awful day to aid the Indians in exterminating the whites, and, what's more, if it hadn't been for an Irish sergeant, Richard J. Hanley, recently retired the Missouri mule would have succeeded.

It was in the red month of June, 1876 says the Chicago Record-Herald, when Reno's column after separating from Custer struck the river of the Little Big Horn. The gallant major, whose valor in war was much greater, as subsequent events proved, than his discretion in love, was attacked by a tremendous force of Indians. There wasn't over and above much ammunition with Reno's outfit. As a sailor would say: "They had been flying light," and with the exception of what the men had in their belts the bulk of the bullet supply was on the back of an ornery Missouri mule, chosen for the job of carrying it because of his prodigious size and strength.

The long-eared ammunition bearer was with the pack train to the right and rear of the squadron which was lying facing the enemy along the edge of the wood. A Sioux bullet went over the head of the skirmishers, and with a far-reaching trajectory tore an ounce of flesh out of the pack mule's flank. It instantly snapped its tether, broke like a set of fours from right to rear, and clearing the obstacles of its rightful lords and masters to the front made straight on a wild gallop for the heart of the outlying masses of the Indians. When within about 100 yards of the place for which it was headed the mule struck a bit of bunch grass which was to its liking, and it then and there started to graze. On its back in the ammunition cases lay that which meant the safety of Reno's forces. To reach the animal any man of the command must cross an open plain swept by a thousand rifles. There was a moment of consultation among the officers, and a desperate plan for the recapture of the mule was being discussed, when one of the soldiers saw far over to the right, just above the grass, the slowly moving head of a white man who was crawling toward the stampeded animal. The word was passed along the line and volley after volley from the whites kept the attention of the enemy directed away from the mule and from that solitary soldier who was worming his way toward it. Discovery for him meant capture and death. On he went, while between shots the eyes of his every comrade sought him. He was within 25 yards of the mule. Then he stood straight up, dashed forward, vaulted onto the creature's back, and digging deep the spurs he started the animal back on a gallop as wild as that by which it had fled. There was a yell from the reds. A hundred rifles were emptied at the flying beast and its dauntless rider. Sergt. Richard J. Hanley, who was astride that gigantic Missouri mule, as it went through that hailstorm, got never a wound, though his chances of escaping unhurt were only one in a thousand. The mule was saved, but, as a trooper put it afterward, "the critter brought back as much lead in its hide as it did in its pack."

THROUGH A HAILSTORM OF SHOT.

Perhaps Richard J. Hanley, sergeant, retired, is the only man on record who wears a medal of honor for riding a mule, though that operation even in peaceful times is not always devoid of danger.

ORGANIZER WHITLOCK TRIED

CITY JUDGE RUNYON RESERVED DECISION UNTIL SATURDAY.

Patrolman Vanderweg Charged George Whitlock With Causing Disturbance on Street

George Whitlock, organizer for the Building Trade's Council, who on Monday pleaded not guilty to a charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct preferred by Patrolman Vanderweg, was tried before City Judge Runyon this morning A large number of witnesses were produced by both sides and after hearing their testimony, decision was reserved until Saturday.

According to the statement of Patrolman Vanderweg, Mr. Whitlock was in the center of a crowd at Front and Somerset streets, Saturday evening, which impeded traffic. He requested the men to move on and the defendant insisted on speaking to him against his wish. Mr. Whitlock persisted until he became annoying and his arrest followed. Chief Kiely and Roundsman Flynn corroborated him in his statement that the defendant showed signs of intoxication.

In his own behalf, Mr. Whitlock emphatically denied being drunk, that his desire to speak to the officer was to ask him to prevent idlers from congregating before his door and that the crowd had collected before he came. J E. Flannery, A. C. Rogers, Richard Mattis and Frank Dunham, who witnessed the arrest, offered similar testimony. The witnesses were all rigidly cross examined by the defendant's counsel, Wm. Newcorn, but their original story was not shaken.

GRADUATION TIME AT ST. MARY'S SCHOOL.

First Night of Commencement Devoted to an Entertainment By Pupils.

OPERETTA WAS A FEATURE.

VERY CLEVER POSING DONE BY MEMBERS OF GRADUATING CLASS.

"Cinderella in Flowerland" Was Part of the Programme—Cleverly Given By the Children—The Rest of the Programme.

The entertainment, which marked the first part of the graduating exercises of St. Mary's school, was held last evening in the large hall of the educational institution and was particularly enjoyable. Despite the warm weather there was a large representation of the parish present and appreciation was continually shown throughout the evening.

The rendition of each number in turn gave evidence of the careful training the pupils had received from the teachers of the school. Exceptionally good was the senior delsarte class's exhibition, although naturally the operetta was the feature of the evening. The songs and dances were all cleverly rendered. Miss M. Smith displayed her ability as an accompanist.

After a short overture played by Miss Smith, the girls of the third and fourth grammar grades augmented by the young women of the graduating class sang in a charming manner "Merry June." A Japanese dance performed by the junior delsarte class was an unique feature. Those participating in the intricate manoeuvres were the Misses Minnie Kyle, Mary Casey, Lizzie Casey, Teresa Hibbits, Margaret King, Alice Day, Catherine Hepner, May Buckley, Lizzie Crosby and Mary Huntington.

"The Young Musicians" was sung as a chorus by twenty-five little boys of the primary department and caused much applause. This selection was followed by forty little girls of the primary department singing sweetly "Our Baby." The leading parts in this number were taken by Miss Margaret Brown, who recited, and May Breem, who sang the solos.

"Cinderella, in Flowerland," which was the principal feature of the programme, pleased the audience immensely. Little girls represented the various characters and the performance was exceedingly creditable. The costumes were very attractive and the bright colors of the gowns were quite effective.

The characters were as follows:

Cinderella—Daisy....Miss Bessie Bebout.
Proud Sisters—
Hollyhock ..... " Helen Casey.
Tiger Lily ..... " May Huntington.
Godmother—Nature.. " Catherine Harding.
Bonnie Bee — Little Page..... " Catherine Powers.
Robin Red—Prince's Herald..... " Elizabeth Casey.
Prince Sunshine—Of Sunbeam Castle " Alice Day.
Poppy.....Miss Mary Kyle.
Pansy..... " Elizabeth Brown.
Violet..... " Mary Murray.
Mignonette..... " Bessie Young.
Sweet Pea..... " Beatrice Young.
Buttercup..... " Mary Donnelly.
Daffodill..... " Teresa Hibbits.
Sweet Brier..... " Helen Cotter.
Lily Bell..... " Bertha Flynn.
Narcissus..... " Anna Callahan.
Butterflies, Sunbeams, Raindrops.

It would be difficult to distinguish the work of any one particularly inasmuch as all took their parts ably.

There were four scenes. In the opening one "Prince Sunshine" invited a company of friends to the May-day ball, and in the following scene "Godmother Nature" bid "Daisy" attend the affair. In the scene which followed the May-day ball was shown interrupted, however, by a shower. The operetta closed with an ovation to the newly chosen princess of the "Sunbeam Castle." The senior delsarte class, composed of members of the graduating class, gave a minuet fan drill.

The exercises were concluded with some fine exhibitions of posing, given by members of the graduating class, who formed themselves into groups. Those taking part were the Misses Margaret Harding, Jeanette Summers, Elizabeth Shay, Emma Sullivan, Mary Bermingham, Loretta Flanagan, Helen Cooney, Catherine Ryan, Anna Galbraith and Blanche Skinner.

There were six groups in all and each one constituted an entertainment by itself. Miss B. Burgh, the teacher of physical culture, who instructed these young women as well as the members of the junior Delsarte class, has reason to be proud of the work she has accomplished.

This evening the commencement exercises proper will take place. Rev. Father Smyth will present the diplomas and also make an address. Besides the valedictory and salutatory addresses an operetta and some recitations and drills will be given.

WILL FIGHT FOR WATER RIGHT.

SCOTCH PLAINS MILL OWNERS TRYING TO GET INJUNCTION.

Want to Restrain Essex and Union Water and Light Company From Pumping Out Feltville Wells.

The fight over the headwaters of Green brook has been resumed. Application was made to the Court of Chancery Tuesday by Senator Charles A. Reed, representing the Harper, Hollingsworths & Darby Company, of Scotch Plains, for an injunction to restrain the Essex and Union Water and Light Company from pumping any water from its wells, located near Feltville. The trouble is an old one and was well aired two years ago when this same Scotch Plains concern, which owns a mill there on Green brook, won a damage suit against the water and light company. The damages allotted were for $800, and were given for loss to the mill concern owing to lack of water in Green brook, which it was proven to the satisfaction of the court resulted from the pumping at the company's wells at the headwaters of the stream. The case was first tried in the circuit court at Somerville and was subsequently appealed to the Supreme Court, where a similar verdict was given.

That suit was simply to recover damages for loss occasioned by the lack of water. This action is an attempt to prevent the company from continuing the course which brought about the other suit. The injunction is but temporary but will be the means of securing a permanent one if possible.

Chancellor Emory heard a partial argument on the rule to show cause why the injunction should not be granted and then adjourned a further hearing in the case to July 9. The Harper Hollingsworth-Darby interests were represented by Senator Reed while Riker & Riker, of Newark, and Frank Bergen, of Elizabeth, appeared for the water company.

STOPPED A SPELLBINDER.

Socialistic Doctrines Were Distributed to the Crowd Until Police Interfered.

A glib tongued orator, fresh from New York, took possession of the corner of Park avenue and Second street last evening, and in stentorian tones, which quickly attracted a large crowd, began to advance the socialistic principles upheld by the followers of Herr Most.

Becoming enthused over a number of approving nods from the crowd and the seemingly distant attitude of the police, the spellbinder waxed warm over the subject of labor and capital and finally overreached the bounds prescribed by the city ordinance. He was in the midst of a harangue when the bluecoats could stand it no longer and to the disappointment of his hearers prevented the enthused one from telling how the laboring man was to wrest some of the wealth from the rich.

He objected at first but finally believing discretion was the better part of valor, quietly withdrew with the coveted secret still untold.

FIVE MEN WANTED.

Police Headquarters Notified Of Approach Of Men From Cranford.

A telephone message was received at police headquarters at 2 o'clock this morning from Cranford, asking the officials here to watch out for five men who were heading for Plainfield. They were described as being rough looking characters, two of them being barefooted. Nothing was said as to why they were wanted, but they were to be arrested and held for the Cranford police. Nothing was seen of them, however, despite a close watch kept on the outskirts by the roundsmen and patrolmen.

Another Old Pole Gone.

Included among the old poles removed on North and Park avenues, was the one at the corner, near Dunn's grocery. The letter box has since been transferred to the electric light pole which is now connected up for service.

THE ENTERTAINING WAS DONE BY YOUNG FOLK.

Entertainment Given In Chapel Of First Presbyterian Church Last Evening.

SELECTIONS BY ORCHESTRA

PROGRAMME COMPOSED OF DRILLS, RECITATIONS AND MUSIC.

Affair Given Under Auspices of The Ladies' Aid Society Of The Church To Aid Fund For Chapel Addition.

A children's entertainment was given in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church, last evening, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the church. Despite the very warm weather a large and appreciative audience assembled and enjoyed the affair. Mrs. Edgar Williams and Mrs. Harry Williams took the lead in the entertainment given by the children, and they were ably assisted by other young people of the church. Martin A. Korff's orchestra was present and interspersed the other numbers on the programme with pleasing selections.

During the evening several unique drills were given, the first of which was entitled, "The Feast of Nations." In this the young folks represented all nations, while Miss Leah Hammond read an appropriate verse as each one of the participants appeared. Those who took part were David Wagner, Abram Gaston, Elizabeth Winn, Elston Hoagland, Edward Abbott, Miss Ida Englehardt, Alvah Dunham, Donald Gaston, Byron McClintock, Fred McClintock and Wilbur Dunning. Each one was in costume and was well received.

A garland drill was very pretty. Those taking part were the Misses Gertrude Abbott, Martha Klein, Leontine Huntsman, Bertha Englehardt, Martha Cain, Bertha Townley, Lulu Klein, Marion Englehardt, Bertha Hill, Eunoma Korff, Grace Cranston and Jessie Hill. "A Bed-Time Drill," was the name of an amusing exhibition given by the Misses Bernice McClintock, Margaret Patterson, Effa Beekman, Ruth Murphy, Henrietta Englehardt, Clara Gans, Grace Townley, Laura Gans, Mabel Townley and Ruth Wean. The last drill was entitled, "Looking Backward," and was given by the same girls who gave the other drill. They each wore a mask at the back of the head, while their faces were covered. The delusion was perfect and produced much laughter.

Other features of the programme were the recitations given by Miss Mabel Pound, Albert Dunham, Miss Margaret Abbott, Miss Edna Burr and Willie Giese, and a vocal duet by the Misses Ruth Wean and Helen George, entitled "Hush Baby." Miss Marion Wean took the part of the weeping child.

Whistling solos by C. Maynard Evans were also enjoyed. During the drills, Miss Clara VanFleet was the efficient accompanist, while Vincent Sokol accompanied Mr. Evans. The programme was in charge of Edgar Williams.

After the entertainment nearly all remained to still further assist the worthy affair by enjoying the ice cream and cake which was served. Mrs. J. A. Haynes was chairman of the committee in charge of the refreshments, and she was assisted by many of the young women of the church.

The proceeds of the affair are to be used to help pay for a proposed addition to the chapel.

AIDING MARCONNIER CHAPEL.

SUCCESSFUL FESTIVAL HELD IN COTTAGE IN AVON PARK.

Refreshments Served on the Lawn—Those in Charge—Raising Funds to Purchase Piano.

A successful strawberry and ice cream festival was held last evening in a cottage opposite the Plainfield Driving Park, under the auspices of Marconnier chapel. The proceeds are to be added to a fund with which to purchase a piano for the chapel. Those in charge arranged many tables on the lawn, which was brilliantly illuminated with Japanese lanterns. Here in the beautiful moonlight and cool breeze, ice cream and cake were served to many persons who were present to assist in the worthy enterprise. The first floor of the cottage was also used to serve refreshments in, it being beautifully lighted and decorated.

The many earnest workers in the chapel all joined in making the festival a success, but several, including Mrs. H. W. Marshall, Miss Lettie Campbell, Mrs. Giles, Miss VanCourt, Mrs W. H. Randolph and Miss Ruth Wilson, took the lead and waited on the various tables.

Wm. H. Randolph was in charge of the soda water, while Mrs. Van Court and Mrs. Freeman took charge of the cake. Edward Jones presided at the candy table. H. W. Marshall, as superintendent of the chapel, had general oversight of the affair.

Although the returns are not all in yet, it is believed that between $45 and $50 will be realized as profit. Those in charge are very grateful to all those who attended and thus helped to make the festival a success.

LASTS TWO NIGHTS.

Strawberry Festival At German Reformed Church Had Auspicious Opening Last Night.

Under the auspices of the women of the church, a two-night strawberry and ice cream festival began in the German Reformed church last evening. No regular programme had been provided for the opening night, those in attendance being too engrossed in patronizing the refreshment stands to occupy their time otherwise. This evening an excellent programme has been prepared, one of the main features being the Jenrenaud brothers in their expert musical act.

The committee in charge of the affair consists of Mrs. Joseph Angerbaur, Mrs. Jacob Blimm and Mrs. Phillip Bach. The waitresses are the Misses Josephine Fritz, Kathryn Blimm, Sadie Blimm, Margaret Fritz, Annie Bartlew and Bertha Bartlew. A candy and cake table is in charge of Miss Kathryn Blimm and Miss Margaret Fritz.

The Christian Endeavor meeting of the Park Avenue Baptist church this evening will be in the interests of the Westfield Fresh Air Camp. SELF SUSTAINING.

Substantial Growth of Trinity Reformed Church's Mission, Marconnier Chapel, at Oak Tree.

The rapid, yet substantial growth of Marconnier chapel, at Oak Tree, which was taken under the care of Trinity Reformed church a year ago last March, is a source of much pride and gratification to the members of the chapel and the church. This chapel is now self sustaining.

In its last annual report it showed receipts $469 15, and disbursements $475.57. The sum of $20 was sent to Miss Scudder, of India, for support of a child, and $10 to Miss Winn, of Japan, for her work. A junior society of eleven members contributed $6 to foreign and domestic missions. Sheds have been placed in the rear of the chapel at an expense of $386, all but $75 of which is provided for. This is independent of the regular disbursement account.

WEDDED 'NEATH FLORAL ARCH.

MARRIAGE OF MISS CHARLOTTE M. BEEKMAN AND SAM'L T. SAUMS.

Took Place at Bride's Home on Clinton Avenue Last Evening—Bride and Groom From Plainfield.

A very pretty wedding took place last evening at the home of Mrs. Sarah Beekman, of Clinton avenue, when her daughter, Miss Charlotte Marshall Beekman and Samuel T. Saums, of this city, plighted their troth. The ceremony took place in library which had been tastefully decorated with flowers, the bridal party standing beneath an arch of ferns, white stocks and carnations. Rev. John McMurray, pastor of the Monroe Avenue M. E church, was the officiating clergyman.

Attired in a gown of white tissue, with lace and liberty satin trimmings and carrying a shower bouquet of white sweet peas, the bride presented a very charming appearance. She was attended by her sister, Miss Georgie E Beekman, who wore a gown of white organdie. She carried a bouquet of pink sweet peas. The groom's only attendants were the ushers, Frederick Saums, his brother, and Samuel T. Beekman, brother of the bride.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, the guests to the number of fifty from New York, Jersey City, Somerville, Roselle, Elizabeth and this city, adjourned to the dining room where a collation was served and congratulations were showered upon the newly married couple. They afterward left for a week's wedding trip, the destination of which they refused to make known. They will make their future home in this city.

Among the many handsome presents received by Mr. and Mrs. Saums were a number of elegant pieces of cut-glass, hand painted china and articles of furniture from their associates at the Monroe Avenue M. E church, where both have always been earnest workers.

MANY MOURN DEATH OF A YOUNG WOMAN.

Mrs. Bessie Blair Case Passed Away Yesterday Afternoon —Death Was Unexpected.

WAS A FAVORITE WITH ALL.

SHE WAS AN ACTIVE WORKER IN A LOCAL CHURCH.

A Daughter Was Born a Week Ago—Sudden Change for the Worse Tuesday—Was Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ramsay Blair.

In the death of Mrs. Bessie Blair Case, wife of Samuel P. Case, which occurred yesterday afternoon, Plainfield has lost a most estimable and highly esteemed young woman.

A week ago a baby daughter arrived to bless the happy parents, who were rejoicing in the event. Last Tuesday there was a change for the worse and from that time until the hour of death, the mother was conscious only at short periods. The turn for the worse was not looked for. Terminating so quickly in death, it came as a terrible affliction to the husband and near relatives, as well as the host of friends who admired and loved the deceased.

Mrs. Case was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ramsay Blair, of East Second street, and she lived in Plainfield nearly all her life. She was a thoroughly devoted Christian woman. Her happy and congenial nature won for her a host of friends. She was a member of the First Presbyterian church. Prior to her marriage she was particularly interested and devoted to the work in that church. In the Sunday-school, Christian Endeavor and in almost every department her untiring efforts resulted in the accomplishment of much good.

After her marriage she went with her husband to the First Baptist church, where he was a member and where she had for a long time been a member of the choir as one of the leading sopranos. She possessed a strong, sweet voice, and it was always her pleasure to give her service to God through song. Wherever she went she always carried with her sunshine and happiness.

Besides a husband and a daughter, Mrs. Case leaves her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ramsay Blair, three brothers, James, Adam and Thomas D. Blair and two sisters, Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. David C. Boice, of East Second street. The funeral will be private.

The friends wishing to see Mrs. Case will have an opportunity tomorrow, between 12 noon and 2 o'clock in the afternoon, at the residence, 309 East Second street.

Grading Elmwood Place.

In view of the fact that stone walks are to be laid on Elmwood place, it is necessary for the street commissioner to establish the proper grade. To accomplish this the whole street is now under repair and will be properly graded. The street is now being ploughed up and provisions will be made for having gutters through the street, something unknown before in that thoroughfare.

Home to Texas.

A. Mellick Tweedy, who has been staying with relatives on LaGrande avenue during the last few years while attending the sessions of the Plainfield High School, left for his home at Knickerbocker, Texas, yesterday. Mr. Tweedy was graduated at the recent High School commencement. In the fall he will return east to enter Princeton University.

In Interest Of Westfield Camp.

In place of the regular exercises a meeting in the interest of Westfield Fresh Air Camp will be held under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church in the lecture room of the edifice this evening.

LITERARY.

Scribner's Magazine for July has an attractive flavor of adventures, sport, travel, and holiday-making out-of-doors. There are entertainingly presented, both in the text and in the abundant illustrations of the strange countries which are the subjects of the narratives. The leading article describes the romance and the historic past of the island of Sicily. The author, Rufus B. Richardson, director of the American school at Athens, is particularly well suited to write of the wonderful Greek ruins which there abound. The story of "Krag, the Kootenay Ram," by Ernest Seten-Thompson, is concluded dramatically. The illustrations include a wonderful head of "Krag," drawn by the author. G. R. Putnam, of the Coast and Geodetic Survey, made a journey along a part of the shore of the Yukon Delta never visited by a white man before. John LaForge's diary of his voyage in the Pacific is concluded with an account of Vahiti, fully illustrated from Mr. LaForge's own drawings and paintings. Mrs. Wiggin's "Dairy of a Goose Girl" comes to an end with a very pretty love story. Senator Roar gives personal reminiscences of famous orators he has heard, with vivid descriptions of the oratory of Gladstone, Choate, Edward Everett, and other great speakers of the past half century. There is a poem by Mrs. Dorr, illustrated by her daughter, Mrs. Steele; other poems by Marguerite Merington and Martha Gilbert Dickinson; and discussion, in the Field of Art, of some French caricaturists. c

A LONG SESSION CLOSED.

Pennsylvania Legislature Has Completed Its Labors.

HARRISBURG, June 28.—The legislature of 1901 adjourned at noon after having been in session since Jan. 1. With the exception of the session of 1897, which closed July 1, and the extra session of 1883 the session was the most protracted in the state's history.

The opening was marked by a bitter struggle for United States senator to succeed Colonel M. S. Quay, who failed of re-election at the previous session by reason of a deadlock. The Quay Republicans organized both branches of the legislature on Jan. 1, and 15 days later Senator Quay was elected on the first ballot.

The legislature passed almost 600 bills, of which 297 have been approved by Governor Stone, more than 200 have not yet been acted upon, 17 have been vetoed and 14 recalled. Nearly all the bills which have not been acted upon are appropriations to private charities. The total appropriations were about $27,000,000, of which $11,000,000 is for the support of the Pennsylvania schools, $4,000,000 to complete the capitol, $1,000,000 to restore the deficiency in the school fund, $300,000 for a state homeopathic insane hospital and $110,000 for a free hospital for consumptives. An appropriation of $35,000 was made for a Pennsylvania exhibit at the Pan-American exposition and a like amount for the Charleston exposition.

Twelve cases and four deaths were reported from plague at Oporto, Portugal.

Lieutenant Edward E. Downes, First infantry, was reported killed in Samar, Philippine Islands.

Indictments have been found against Montana land locaters, the case in which Senator Clark was interested.

Prize money cases were decided. Manila Bay claimants are to get $288,000 and Santiago claimants $500,000.

Sheet Iron Scale Unsettled.

PITTSBURG, June 28.—The two day conference for the settlement of the sheet iron scale adjourned without result. No arrangement was made for another meeting, and as the bar iron scale is to be considered today and Saturday there seems to be no hope of a settlement of the sheet iron scale before next week. In the event of no settlement by Monday organized sheet mills of the country will close down, throwing more than 15,000 men out of employment.

Missouri Society of New York.

ALBANY, June 28.—The Missouri Society of the City of New York has been incorporated. The object is to maintain an organization to cultivate friendly relations between Missouri men resident or sojourning in or about the city of New York. Among the directors are Augustus Thomas of New Rochelle, Burton Thompson, Harry W. Walker, Hamilton M. Dawes and Justin McGrath of New York city.

Long Fight With Boers.

CAPE TOWN, June 28.—A patrol of six Cape police and 12 Dordrecht volunteers unexpectedly encountered a portion of Fouche's commando north of Jamestown. The Boers endeavored to outflank the British, who retreated, fighting from kopje to kopje for nine hours, finally reaching Aliwal North unscathed. The corporal commanding has been promoted.

Election Riots In Chile.

VALPARAISO, June 28.—Election riots have occurred here at the ports of Concepcion and Antofagasta. At the latter port the police fired into a Riesco procession, killing three men and wounding several others. The prefect of police of Antofgaasta has been imprisoned, and the populace threaten to lynch him.

ELECTIONS IN CUBA.

The Commission Plans For Universal Suffrage.

AUSTRALIAN BALLOT TO BE USED.

The Project Ready to Present to the Convention—Annexationists Advised to Proceed Slowly and Save Their Strength.

HAVANA, June 28.—The electoral commission appointed by the Cuban constitutional convention to frame laws for the conduct of Cuban elections has completed its work and will probably present its project of electoral law to the convention today.

The electoral project provides for universal suffrage and the use of the Australian ballot system. One article specifies that the ballots shall be divided into columns corresponding to the number of political parties in the field and that each column shall be distinguished by the mark of a party in order to prevent the deception of voters who can neither read nor write. The project further provides that the electoral boards shall be in the hands of representatives elected by the political parties and presided over by judicial functionaries. It also prohibits the governmental power from intruding in the elections. Sailors and soldiers of the Cuban republic as well as all men who by virtue of their office bear arms are prohibited from voting.

Of the five members of the electoral commission Senores Silva and Aleman are the only ones who have taken part in the drawing up of the projected electoral law. As these two members of the commission are of the extreme radical element it is probable that the conservatives will attack many features of their project.

La Lucha, referring editorially to the annexation movement, warns its agitators to proceed slowly, saying premature action will prove harmful to themselves and that their efforts should be saved for that time in the future when the problem of annexation comes up.

La Lucha says that as a natural outcome of the existing conditions the United States is determined to establish a republic in Cuba whose only limits shall be the Platt amendment. When Cuba is in possession of its own administration and government, the Cuban people will then be able to see whether it is to their advantage to continue as a republic or be annexed to the United States.

Fatally Burned by Blackmailers.

TOPEKA, June 28.—Blackmailers who demanded $5,000 from W. C. Carson, a weathy Cowley county farmer, and were ignored fired the Carson homestead while Carson was en route to Oxford for his mail. The house was destroyed, and Mrs. Carson was fatally burned. Carson received an anonymous letter several weeks ago demanding that he deposit $5,000 at a certain point. He ignored the missive. Later another letter was received stating that should he not comply with the demand his house would be burned and his life taken. This also was ignored. While he was absent Saturday evening flames suddenly appeared in the house. Mrs. Carson escaped, but returned to the house for a highly prized violin. While Mrs. Carson searched for the instrument the flames spread rapidly, and when she again reached the open air she was enveloped in flames.

General Gomez En Route.

TAMPA, Fla., June 28.—General Maximo Gomez arrived here last evening from Havana and is now en route to New York. He appears to be in the best of health. He talked freely considering the brief time he spent here, but was very reticent concerning vital Cuban matters with which he is supposed to have much to do. He said that he was especially delighted to set foot once more upon American soil, as he felt that he was among friends who had been tried and proved themselves true. He said his people were busy now rebuilding their wasted and devastated island and only desired peace, for then prosperity and happiness would follow. This they recognized. He declared positively that there was nothing whatever significant in his trip to the United States at this time.

Aground In New York Bay.

NEW YORK, June 28.—The Ward line steamer Santiago de Cuba, outward bound for Santiago, Cienfuegos and other Cuban ports, went aground on the east edge of the Swash channel just south of Romer shoal at 7:15 o'clock last evening. The vessel is lying in an easy position, with her anchor lights up. A boat from the pilot boat was sent to the steamer, but soon returned, the captain having evidently refused assistance.

May Lose Henley Cup.

LONDON, June 28.—The Daily News, in an editorial discussing foreign encroachments upon British supremacy in various forms of sport, expresses the fear that the grand challenge cup may be carried away from Henley by either an American or Belgian crew and argues that, with the very best disposition toward all foreign sportsmen, Henley ought to be excepted from the risk of losing this cup.

Indians Refused Transportation.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The Kiowa and Comanche Indian delegation, headed by Lone Wolf, who have been here seeking to have the opening of the Kiowa and Wichita reservations in Oklahoma postponed, have left for their homes. The interior department refused to furnish them transportation.

Arkansas Town Burned.

HOPE, Ark., June 28.—Twenty houses in the little town of Center Point have been burned. A telephone message says the county records were saved, but it is not known whether the courthouse escaped the flames. The loss probably will reach $75,000.

Rockhill Coming Home.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—A cablegram has been received at the state department from Mr. Rockhill saying that he will leave Peking for home in August, by which time it is hoped Mr. Conger will have nearly reached his destination.

National Steel Meeting Adjourned.

NEW YORK, June 28.—The meeting of the National Steel stockholders, at which it had been proposed to consider the question of leasing the properties to the Carnegie company, has been adjourned until July.

THE YALE CREW WON

Harvard Beaten Two Lengths In the Varsity Race.

HONORS DIVIDED IN MINOR RACES.

The Big Race on the Thames Was One of Spectacular Closeness and Was Undecided Until the Last Half Mile.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 28.—In a race never excelled on the Thames for spectacular closeness Yale's varsity crew won in the last half mile of a four mile race yesterday.

It was a contest that worked into a perfect frenzy the thousands of enthusiasts who watched it from the observation trains, yachts and points of vantage on the banks and saw Yale row to victory, leading Harvard over the finish line by a scant two lengths.

To Yale also fell the honor of a victory in the freshman race, while Harvard takes consolation in the fact that the varsity four walked away from the Yale quartet handsomely. The two minor races, with honors divided, served to whet the appetites of 12,000 spectators on the observation trains and half as many more on yachts and the river banks. These contests resulted exactly as the experts had predicted, and the great crowds were impatient for the supreme events of the regatta.

The big race was rowed down stream in the cool of the evening shortly after 7 o'clock. The conditions were fairly favorable. A wind out of the southwest blew diagonally against the crews at the rate of about six miles an hour. A beautiful start, with the two eights rowing stroke for stroke, began a contest that will never be forgotten by those who witnessed it.

Harvard immediately took the lead. Her stalwart oarsmen retained it for a mile and a half. At the two mile flag Yale had cut down the Harvard advantage and drew ahead only to lose again before a half mile had been traveled. For still another half the Cambridge boys held on, and the excitement was of the keenest kind.

Both crews had by this time dropped to an unusually slow stroke, at times the rate per minute being scarcely 30. Yale's endurance, however, was up to the standard, and as the two shells approached the three and a half mile flags the Elis spurted magnificently. Harvard heroically responded, but it was Yale's day. She took the lead and not only kept it, but drew away rapidly in the last quarter mile, until the finish was reached, when Yale tore across the line barely two lengths in advance. Time—Yale, 23m. 37s.; Harvard, 23m. 45s.

The two races preceding the varsity resulted about as expected. Yale's big freshmen won the first race handily by two lengths. Time—Yale, 10m. 27 4-5s.; Harvard, 10m. 48s.

In the four oared race Harvard took the lead at the mile and easily outrowed the Yale boat. She crossed the line five lengths to the good. Time—Harvard, 11m. 49 1-5s.; Yale, 12m. 9s.

Further Aid For Famine Sufferers.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The Chinese minister, Wu Ting Fang, has received information that a second remittance of $20,000 has been cabled by The Christian Herald to the relief committee at Tien-tsin for the famine sufferers in Shansi and other places. A first remittance of $20,000 from the same source was made a few weeks ago and was acknowledged by Li Hung Chang. The fund is distributed through a committee of missionaries who personally supervise the famine relief in the provinces of Shansi, Shensi and Chi-li. Minister Conger has given his co-operation to the relief movement and has approved the members of the committee selected for its distribution.

Street Car Concession In Mexico.

CITY OF MEXICO, June 28.—The city government has granted a concession for another street car company to be called the Belt railway. It was organized about a year ago with $600,000 capital and had built some short lines outside the city. It is reported that Arthur Stillwell and other American capitalists associated with him have offered to put fresh capital in the concern. The concession authorizes the new company to occupy 200 streets.

Postmasters Appointed.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The following fourth class postmasters have been appointed: Massachusetts—East Blackstone, Louis R. Daniels. New York—Battenville, Dwight S. Miller; Chipmunk, Matthew King; Black Creek, C. S. Westfall; Bakers Mills, George S. Bennett. Pennsylvania—Sterretts Gap, Barney E. Daron. Vermont—Calais, George Kent; North Calais, S. B. Fair; Middlesex, Charles C. Ward.

Anarchist Story Unfounded.

VIENNA, June 28.—The report published in the United States that an armed anarchist had been arrested while waylaying Emperor Francis Joseph with sinister intentions is quite unfounded. Two suspected anarchists have been arrested at Bruck, in lower Austria, 23 miles southeast of Vienna, one of whom was immediately liberated, while an examination of the other failed to prove he had criminal intentions.

Carpenters' Strike Is Off.

HAZLETON, Pa., June 28.—The local carpenters' strike, involving about 100 hands, has been declared off, and the men will resume work at once. They will be paid a minimum of 24 cents an hour, will work nine hours a day and will receive their wages semimonthly. Concessions were made by both the builders and the carpenters.

Bandits Seize Walled Cities.

SHANGHAI, June 28.—It is reported here that bandits have seized four walled citites near Mukden, Manchuria. Advices received here from Sian-fu are to the effect that Ching Sing, president of the board of civil appointments, committed suicide when the dowager empress stigmatized as treachery his advice that the Chinese court return to Peking.

Verdict In Morrison Case.

EL DORADO, Kan., June 28.—The Jesse Morrison jury brought in a verdict of manslaughter in the second degree, penalty for which is imprisonment for from three to five years.

ECHOES FROM GUAM.

Governor Schroeder Applies Harsh Names to Garrison.

A BARREL OF WHISKY STOLEN.

Soldier's Letter Says the Troops Are Abused and Disgraced by the Commander's Harsh Order.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—A copy of an order issued in Guam by Commander Schroeder, governor of the island, recently received here, has caused some comment in the navy department, and a conference to consider the situation in the island colony will be held by Acting Secretary of the Navy Hackett and General Heywood, commandant of the marine corps. The order, known as "naval station order No. 4," is as follows:

"First.—The attention of the command of this station is directed to the hoodlumism and lawlessness which are rampant in it.

"Second.—It is not necessary to mention all the instances of terrorism, theft, gambling and drunkenness which have brought the United States forces into disrepute among the people of this island, but there is reason for alluding to the theft a few weeks ago of a barrel of whisky from the naval hospital that was the last and sole supply of the medical department for medical purposes. An officer on duty here has since been so reduced by climatic fever that a certain amount of whisky was considered necessary to keep him from utter prostration. Fortunately a small supply was obtained from a passing vessel. Had that accidental supply not been forthcoming and had that officer succumbed his death would have rested on the heads of the scoundrels who committed the theft. There are many who know who those thieves are, but they apparently have not the courage to denounce them. They are afraid. This gang operates in the United States uniform, although not always in the uniform of their own corps. Their latest victim is an enlisted man in the battalion, from whom they have now stolen clothing and over $600 in Mexican silver.

"Third.—For the present and until further orders all enlisted men in this station shall live in the barracks provided for them, and no liberty shall be granted after taps. Commanding officers of posts will provide the necessary number of sentries to enforce this order and will direct the officers of the day to have the roll called in any or all of the barracks whenever there may seem to be reason for it, even if that be at every 15 minutes during the night.

"Fourth.—The many honorable men of the command, men who don't steal or gamble or get drunk, are invited to bestir themselves. When they shall have attained to real manhood's estate and decide to take courage and put a stop to these practices by bringing the offenders to light, then reputations under a cloud may be cleared and the command become a source of pride instead of being a source of shame to their officers and a disgrace to their country and to their uniform. Until then and while the guilty remain unconvicted none is innocent."

A personal letter has been received in Washington from a soldier in Guam who says that the marine garrison has been "overburdened, overworked, underfed and retained in a climate that is most injurious to one's health, and now insult is added to injury.

The writer goes into particulars in discussing the situation in the island, and he represents that the theft of the barrel of whisky and the other incidents that have recently become notorious were really insignificant.

Barker Gets Five Years.

ARLINGTON, N. J., June 28.—Thomas G. Barker, who shot the Rev. John Keller of Arlington on Feb. 3 last because he believed that the clergyman had outraged his wife, was sentenced by Judge John A. Blair in Jersey City to serve five years at hard labor in state prison as the penalty for his crime. The full penalty of the crime of assault with intent to kill, of which Barker was convicted last Friday, is seven years' imprisonment and $2,000 fine. By reducing the term of imprisonment to five years and omitting the fine Judge Blair tempered justice with mercy, but not to the degree that was expected by many, especially the convicted man's friends.

Commons Adopts Coal Tax.

LONDON, June 28.—After a prolonged debate and considerable disorder the house of commons in committee at 2 o'clock this morning adopted the coal tax by a majority of 86. An unseemly scene occurred when the Irish members accused the chairman of the committee of partisanship in omitting to secure a proper hearing for the opponents of the tax. A. J. Balfour, first lord of the treasury, informed a deputation of Unionist members that the government had decided to drop the education bill owing to the congested state of public business and that he would reintroduce the bill early next year.

New Gas Light Association.

ALBANY, June 28.—The Incandescent Gas Light Association of America, with its principal office in New York city, has been incorporated to foster the interests of the incandescent gas light industry. Among the directors are Irving H. Brown of Plainfield, N. J.; L. E. Hartley, Hugo Lieber, Morris Reno, Joseph T. Robin and Charles Simon of New York city.

Strikers Killed by Italian Troops.

ROME, June 28.—During a conflict between Italian troops and the agricultural strikers at Ferrara the soldiers fired a volley into the crowd, several of whom fell. A Socialist paper published here and called Avanti asserts that six of the strikers were killed and 20 wounded, but it is believed these figures are exaggerated.

Shoes For South Africa.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—In a report to the state department Consul General Stowe, at Cape Town, advises United States manufacturers who send boots and shoes to South Africa not to attempt to duplicate the English product, as the latter has not the style and symmetry which characterize the American article.

Stabbed by a Car Conductor.

ATLANTA, June 28.—A special to The Constitution from Marietta, Ga., says that Hon. T. C. Crenshaw, president of the Georgia railroad commission, was stabbed and seriously injured by a Pullman car conductor on the train which left Atlanta at 5 o'clock last evening.

The Rahway Reformatory.

Owing to its comparative proximity to Plainfield, there has been more or less local interest in the Rahway Reformatory. The main building and one wing of the Reformatory are now complete and practically ready for use. According to the reports of the Reformatory Commission, however, it will not be formally open for the reception of inmates until August 5.

The Reformatory is planned as a step between the Reform School and the States prison. It is rather a corrective institution than a place of punishment. It is proposed to send there first offenders and less hardened criminals with the idea of saving them from the disgrace of incarceration in States prison and possibly making good citizens of them. With that idea in view, trades will be taught and the inmates will have plenty of opportunity of making good use of their time. The boys will still continue to go to the Reform School, but the young men and middle-aged men, who are yet young in crime, will be sentenced to the Reformatory.

Provision has been made for fifty suits for the inmates. All the clothing beyond that number will be made in the institution. It is also planned to allow some of the inmates to work on the incompleted wings of the building. It is not likely that any of the present inmates of either Reform School or State's prison will be transferred to the Reformatory, but the judges of all the county courts will be notified and can sentence any offenders hereafter to the place. There is no question but that there will be enough prisoners of the class mentioned to more than fill the present accommodations of the Reformatory.

A case of great importance to all New Jersey is now before the Court of Errors and Appeals involving the constitutionality of the Stokes School law of 1900, which was amended by the Legislature last winter. The case refers to the board of school estimate and is brought against the Jersey City Board of Education which refused to appoint such a board and prepared to build a new school house under the provisions of the old act. Different arrangements are made according to the act in cities which are divided into wards and those that are not. This, it is claimed, is special legislation and therefore unconstitutional. The case is being argued today.

Despite the advent of the automobile and the popularity of golf and tennis, the local livery stable keepers say that business this spring and summer has been considerably better than for several years past.

CHURCH PICNIC.

Held at Mountainside Grove Yesterday Afternoon and Evening—Was a Great Success.

The congregation and Sunday-school of the German Lutheran church held a picnic at Mountainside grove yesterday afternoon and evening.

The threatened storm in the afternoon delayed the arrival of many of the picnickers. By nightfall a large crowd was present, however, and a merry time was had. Refreshments were on sale and much patronage was given this feature. The dancing floor was crowded throughout the evening

The board of the church, with Rev. Wm. Trebert, the pastor, as chairman, had charge of the picnic, and did all it could to make the picnic a success.

Mrs. Charles Smith was chairman of the refreshment committee. J. J. Crouse, a member of the church board, dispensed the cooling drinks. Richard Worthington acted as floor manager and George Zepp assisted. Mrs. Scheidecker was the treasurer. The picnickers returned to town at midnight.

CUSTOMERS' LOSS.

Insurance Adjusters Refused to Allow for Customers' Laundry Destroyed.

According to a decision reached by the adjusters of insurance on the burned Morey Larue laundry building at Elizabeth, the firm will not be recompensed for goods destroyed belonging to customers. They maintain that as the laundry people were not responsible to their patrons, the insurance companies were not liable to the insured. The firm was therefore unable to claim any loss on customers' goods even where the risk was supposed to be covered by insurance.

BORN TO SERVE

By CHARLES M. SHELDON,

Author of "IN HIS STEPS," "JOHN KING'S QUESTION CLASS," "EDWARD BLAKE," Etc.

(Copyright, 1900, by Charles M. Sheldon.)

"But what shall we do?" Mrs. Ward suddenly cried out despairingly. "Some one must stay with the children. And Mr. Ward and I have social duties we cannot neglect. I am sure we go out very little compared with other people."

"I can't answer your questions," Barbara replied. "But I know one reason why I feel like leaving is because I never know whether my work is going to end at eight or nine or ten or eleven o'clock. There is no regular hours of labor in a hired girl's life, in this house."

"Neither are there any regular hours of labor in a mother's life in a home," said Mrs. Ward, quietly. "Is your burden harder than mine? Or is it any harder than your own will be if you ever have a home and children as I have?"

The sudden question smote Barbara as a new one, and in a moment she felt conscious of an unthought of problem in the social economics of housekeeping. She had not thought it all out, as she had told her mother. If the home life was never to be free from the necessary drudgery of life, why should she complain if in the course of service in a family exact hours and limits of service could not very well be determined? She was somewhat troubled in her mind to have the question thrust upon her just now. She was not prepared for it.

"In any case," she finally said, reluctantly, "the hours are so long and so uncertain that—"

"But you have Thursday afternoon and nearly all of Sunday. You have more real leisure than I have."

"But you would not be willing to change places with me?" Barbara asked, looking at Mrs. Ward doubtfully.

"It is not a question of changing places. I simply want you to see that in the matter of time you are not abused. But go on with the other reasons." And Mrs. Ward folded her hands in her lap with a resigned air that made Barbara wince a little, for what she was going to say next would in all probability anger her.

"Another reason why I have decided to leave is the Sunday work. During the four Sundays I have been here you have invited in several friends to Sunday dinner. This makes Sunday morning my hardest day."

"It has happened so this last month, that is true," Mrs. Ward confessed reluctantly; "but it has been rather unusual. In three instances I remember the gentlemen invited were particular business friends of Mr. Ward, and he was anxious to please them, and invited them home with him from church rather than send them to a hotel. But such social courtesies are a part of a man's home life. What shall he do? Never invite a friend home to dinner for fear of giving the girl a little extra trouble?"

"I don't mind it during the week," Barbara replied, thoughtfully, "but it does not seem to me to be just the thing on Sunday. A good many families make it a rule not to have extra Sunday dinners. Do you think it is quite fair?"

"We haven't time to discuss it. Go on," Mrs. Ward answered, not sharply, as Barbara thought she might. There were traces of tears in the older woman's eyes that disarmed Barbara at once. The excitement of her nervous tension was beginning to subside, and the attempt to narrate her grievances in their order was helping her to see them in their just light. Besides, Barbara had received some new ideas since she sat down to give her reasons for leaving. The next time she spoke it was with a feeling of doubt as to her position.

"I DON'T MIND IT DURING THE WEEK."

"There is another thing that I have felt a good deal, Mrs. Ward. You have asked me to give reasons. You will not think me rude if I go on?"

"I asked you to go on," Mrs. Ward replied, smiling feebly.

"Well, during the four weeks I have been in the family, you have never invited me to come into the family worship, and you have never asked me to go to church with you, although I told you when I came that I was a member of a Christian Endeavor society in Fairview before we moved to Crawford. I don't mind so much being left out of the church services, but I cannot get over the feeling that as long as I am a hired servant I have no place, so far as my religious life is concerned, in the family where I serve."

Contrary to Barbara's expectation, Mrs. Ward did not reply at once; and, when she did, her voice was not angry. It was, rather, a sorrowful statement that gave Barbara reason to ask herself still other questions.

"There are some places in a family that are sacred to itself. Mr. Ward has always said that he thought the hour of family devotions was one of the occasions when a family had a right to be all by itself. Of course, if friends or strangers happen to be present in the home, they are invited into this inner circle, but not as a right, only as a privilege. We have had so many girls in the house who for one reason and another would not come into worship, even if asked, that for several years we have not asked them. But the main reason is Mr. Ward's. Is there to be no specially consecrated hour for the family in its religious life? Is it selfish to wish for one spot in the busy day sacred to the home circle alone?"

Barbara was silent. "I have not wished to intrude into your family life. I only felt hungry at times to be recognized as a religious being with the rest of you. Would my occasional presence have totally destroyed the sacred nature of your family circle?"

"O, I don't know that it would," sighed Mrs. Ward. "I have only given you Mr. Ward's reason. He feels quite strongly about it. As to the church. Do you think I ought to invite my servant to go with me?"

"I would if you were working for me," replied Barbara, boldly, for she was on sure ground now, to her own mind.

"Are you sure?"

"I know I would," Barbara replied, with conviction.

Mrs. Ward did not answer, but sat looking at Barbara thoughtfully. Barbara rose and looked into the oven, changed a damper, and then went over to the table and stood leaning against it.

"Your other reasons for leaving?" Mrs. Ward suddenly asked. As she asked it, Carl came into the kitchen and went up to Barbara.

"I want a pie. Make me a pie, Barbara, won't you?" he asked, climbing up into a chair at the end of the table and rubbing his hands into the flour still on the kneading-board.

Barbara smiled at him, for they were good friends, and she had grown very fond of the child.

"Yes, if your mother thinks best and you will sit down there like a good boy and wait a little." Carl at once sat down, only begging that he might have the dish that Barbara had used to mix eggs and sugar in.

"I have told nearly all the reasons, I think," Barbara answered slowly, and she turned toward Mrs. Ward. "Of course, there is always the reason of the social loss. I don't know any of the young women in Crawford; but, if I did, I do not think that any of those who have money or move in social circles would speak to me or recognize me for myself if they ever knew I was a servant."

Mrs. Ward did not answer. Barbara silently confronted her for a moment, and it was very still in the kitchen except for the beating of Carl's spoon on the inside of the cake-dish.

"And then, of course, I see no opportunity ever to be anything but a hired girl. How long would you want me to work for you, Mrs. Ward, as I have been doing for the last four weeks?"

"Indefinitely, I suppose," answered Mrs. Ward, frankly.

"Yes, you see how it is. If I should be willing to stay with you, I might stay till I was an old, broken-down woman, always washing dirty dishes, always messing in a kitchen, always being looked down upon as an inferior, always being only a part of the machine, my personality ignored and my development dwarfed, never receiving any more wages than when I began, or, at most, only a little more, always in a dependent, servile position. Once a hired girl, always one so long as you choose to have me and I consented to stay. Is that a cheerful prospect for a girl to consider as final?"

Mrs. Ward did not answer. Barbara had spoken out all that the four weeks had been piling up in her mind. Once spoken, it relieved her; but she was troubled over the thought that, even if all she said were exactly true, there was still somewhere in the economic world a factor of service she had not fully nor fairly measured. She could not escape the self-accusation: "But ministry is still ministry. If this family really needs such work as I have been doing to help it work out its destiny in the world, why is not my service for it as truly divine as if ministered in other ways that the world so often thinks are more noble?"

A MEDICINE WHICH PROLONGS LIFE

"I have used Ripans Tabules for a number of years and would not be without them," writes a Philadelphia, Pa., housewife. "I was troubled with indigestion and constipation, and have noticed since I have been using them that I am getting rid of those terrible bilious spells which confined me to bed on account of the dizziness. Of late I have not had any. I had just got over a bad spell of bilious fever and was sitting on the step, when a neighbor came to me and remarked how bad I looked. I told him I had just got over the fever and that I was afraid to eat anything on account of indigestion, from which I had suffered since I was quite young. He advised me to take Ripans Tabules. I said I would try them, and from then I haven't been without them. I can eat anything, provided I finish with a Tabule instead of dessert. I feel very thankful that I have found something that will prolong my life."

TRIMMING NOVELTIES.

Velvet Tabs Are Ornamented With Art Nouveau Slides.

Dresses become more and more elaborate. Tucks, shirrings and lace are a matter of necessity on even the simplest gowns. Little cordings in velvet, in silk of contrasting colors and even in gold are much used to head ruffles and to trim collars and tabs. These tabs are seen everywhere and in all lengths, but the most popular are those which hang from a rosette placed carelessly on the left side of the waist. They are ornamented with the finest embroidery, and on evening gowns they are often decorated with hand painted flowers and jeweled.

Street gowns of foulard silk are ornamented with black velvet bows and ends tipped with gold and jeweled slides. These slides take the place of the alguillettes, which have grown too commonplace. A pretty dress which illustrates this style of trimming is made of cadet blue foulard. The waist is laid in tiny vertical tucks. The skirt has a narrow front gore bordered by two wide clusters of tucks. A band of yellow cluny lace gives a flounce effect. This cluny lace is appliqued on the pale yellow silk collar and it also appears in the close fitting undersleeves. The wide collar is fastened with a black velvet bow ornamented with art nouveau sides. A knot of pale yellow tulle finishes this costume at the throat, and the broad hat is of shirred yellow net trimmed with tea roses and blue velvet knots. JUDIC CHOLLET.

DRESSY NOVELTIES.

Lustrous Silks and Elaborate Effects in Evening Gowns.

This year smart women are affecting glossy, supple materials such as taffeta, louisine and tussore silks, and the separate blouses are in consequence exquisitely dainty. A great deal of hand embroidery is used on these waists, both in the chemisettes and the undersleeves. For ordinary wear black taffeta blouses are trimmed simply with tucks or tiny gold ribbons and buttons. For hot weather nothing is more desirable than a white muslin waist either embroidered or trimmed with valenciennes. This can be worn over a colored slip. Crepe panne is one of the new materials for evening waists. Tawny lace in all degrees of fineness is worn for dressy occasions.

A very striking gown made of lace was seen in a recent play. From the slight V shaped decolletage to several inches below the knees it fell in a tunic, the lower edges of which were cut out in deep scallops. This tunic opened on the left side sufficiently to show the underdress of pale nile green chiffon, accordion plaited. A rosette of narrow velvet ribbons fastened this opening at the waist line. A broad vandyke collar finished the neck, and the lace sleeves, reaching only to the elbows, revealed a transparent undersleeve of the green chiffon. The underdress showed for about 10 or 12 inches around the bottom. The lower edge of this was ornamented with a fine embroidery of silver thread.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Not a Serious Affliction.

"Yes, my cook has but one fault—she is a little nearsighted."

"It isn't serious, then?"

"Well, not often. I don't think she mistakes my best hat for hers more than once a week."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning June 30, "True to Christ"—Text, John xv, 7-16; Col. iii, 17; Math. xxviii, 16-20.

"Whatsoever ye do in word or deed do all in the name of the Lord Jesus."

The word gold is used to name a substance very unlike any other. So distinct is its character that no one who has once been made acquainted with its peculiar qualities is ever inclined to say iron, brass, silver or any other word when he means the most precious yellow metal.

So the name Christ stands for a distinct conception of life as related to God and men, and Christian has become the title of qualities of human nature as peculiar as the qualities of gold.

To do anything in the name of Christ is to act in a manner similar to that in which He acted when among men. It is to exhibit the Christ quality, just as when we speak of a golden hue we refer to one of the most striking characteristics of the metal, which is its color.

Whoever loves Jesus and intends to be a true disciple strives to learn the way in which the Master did things, studies His words and acts so as to get at the real thought and feeling which underlie all. This is done in order the better to have "that mind that was in Christ." No desires, however strong, are sufficient in themselves to reproduce in us the nature of the blessed Lord. We must pass through desire into settled purpose to be transformed into His likeness, and even then the change comes only gradually and almost imperceptibly. The resolution may be formed as suddenly as a lightning flash, with rapidity of thought as quick as choosing, but the process of growing up into Christ is as slow as time. We must let His thought come into our thinking idea by idea, notion by notion, until we are not only familiar with the process and product, but our own thinking naturally runs in the same channels and gives the same results. Then our words sound like His speech because our thoughts are like His. Tones of voice and looks of face and motions of body are such as He would have had, because the same forces of life which were mighty in Him are powerful in us to shape all our being into His likeness.

This being so, it is plain that we do not have to be thinking of Him all the time in order to be like Him. We do not need to be always conscious of effort to imitate Him. Rather the more His life is in us and guiding the freer are we from constraint and sense of striving to make things look as they should. Seeing things in the same light in which He views them and feeling as He does, we can without hesitation go and disciple others and teach them what He has taught us, can go into all the world and disciple all nations realizing His abiding presence as wisdom and power in us and through us as well as for us.

We are true to Christ when we are entirely passive to receive all His mind and will and entirely active in using it as our own, conscious that we live and that the life we live in is that of the indwelling Spirit of the Christ. We shall not have His name so often on our lips that it becomes less than utterly sacred; we shall not be so continually lost in adoring Him that meditation drives out ministry to men, but we shall be truer than needle to pole star in working out the salvation inwrought by His presence.

Pray.

Pray.
Pray reverently.
Pray earnestly.
Pray believing God hears and answers prayer.
Pray as you would talk to a very near and dear friend.
Pray, using the simplest words.
Pray as if God stood right before you and you were talking to Him.
Pray the prayer of adoration.
Pray the prayer of confession.
Pray the prayer of supplication.
Pray the prayer of thanksgiving.
Pray the prayer of faith, of love, of trust.
Pray finally, "Nevertheless not as I will, but as Thou wilt." — Religious Telescope.

Proverbs For Young Pilgrims.

Stumbling stones become fewer as we ascend.

Our companion Jesus is a fast walker.

Always our best for Christ. Even that is far too poor.

We lead men most when we follow Christ closest.

Cowardice in Christ's service is eternally despicable.

Hope is an anchor in storms and a stiff breeze for sailing.

Keep the tree alive, and leaves and blossoms will come again.—Christian Standard.

Nearer Home.

One sweet solemn thought
Comes to me o'er and o'er;
I'm nearer home today
Than e'er I was before.

Nearer my Father's house,
Where many mansions be;
Nearer the great white throne,
Nearer the jasper sea;

Nearer the bounds of life,
Where we lay our burdens down;
Nearer leaving the cross,
Nearer taking the crown.

But lying dark between,
Looming up through the night,
Is the dim and unknown stream
That leads at last to light.

Close and closer my feet
Draw to the dark abyss;
Closer death to my lips
Presses the dreadful kiss.

Father, perfect my trust;
Strengthen my faltering faith
That I may not fear to stand
On the rocky shore of death.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning June 30—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—Whatever: "I will strive to do whatever He would like to have me do."—John xv, 7-16; Math. xxviii, 18-20.

The pledge has its devotional side—"I will make it the rule of my life to pray and to read the Bible every day." It also has its ecclesiastical side—"I will * * * support my own church in every way." It has, furthermore, its practical side—"I will strive to do whatever He would like to have me do." This is one phase of the pledge that has been particularly emphasized and yet one that will always need to be. Contemplation is not all of religion. Devotion is not the goal of Christianity. Contemplation must lead to consecration. Devotion must develop dedication. It is, after all, the doing of God's will in Christ that determines the character of our faith and love for Christ.

The pledge in its practical part is conservative. It does not pledge us to the impossible. It simply says, "I will strive to do." Striving is impossible to no one. Every one can strive. We may not always be able to do what Christ would have us do, but we can always strive to do it, and by God's grace we can usually do it. This clause leaves no room for the excuse that we cannot keep the pledge. We can keep it, for who is there that cannot strive to obey Christ?

The pledge in its practical part is comprehensive—"Whatever." Whatever is a broad, comprehensive word. It includes all the will of Christ, not a part or a fraction of it. Yet it is not too comprehensive. It is Christ's own expression—"Ye are my friends if ye do whatsoever I command you," "Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you." Many would gladly do a part of Christ's will, but not all of it. This, however, is not sufficient. It is all or nothing. "Ye cannot serve God and Mammon."

The pledge in its practical part is Christine, "Whatever He would like to have me do." We pledge ourselves to strive to do that which Christ would have us do, not what we would like to do or what society or fashion or custom would like to have us do. We surrender our wills to the will of Christ. We declare that "it is no longer I that live, but Christ liveth in me." Our time, our talents, our possessions, are all laid at the feet of Christ. They are no longer to be used for ourselves as we would like to use them, but to be used for Christ as He would have us use them.

Our willingness thus to do "whatever He would like to have us do" is the test of our love to Christ. "If ye love Me," says Christ, "keep My commandments." Obedience is the test of love. "Obedience is better than sacrifice." Obedience founded upon faith and love is the open sesame to heaven.

"Trust and obey, for there's no other way to be happy in Jesus but to trust and obey."

THE PRAYER MEETING.

Arrange a special programme, covering this phase of the pledge.

BIBLE READINGS.

Ps. i, 1-3; Eccl. ix, 10; Math. vii, 12; xii, 50; John xvi, 23; Rom. xiv, 23; I Cor. x, 31; Phil. iv, 8, 9; Col. iii, 17; Gal. vi, 9, 10.

All Things Work Together For Good.

The way is very long, and for myself I can only say that I feel I have but begun to understand a few things. The way is long and steep, and neither I nor any man will traverse it all. The full truth is for omniscience alone. And yet we must not talk in a despairing way. We must not speak in mock humility of our absolute ignorance. We are not absolutely ignorant. Some things we must hold with the utmost tenacity. We are certain that reason is at the heart of things; that what Heine calls "the terrible doctrine that God is dead" is not true, but a lie. We must hold that all things work together for good. This at least is the conviction that has sustained me in many a weary hour.—John Watson, Professor of Moral Philosophy, Queen's University, Canada.

The Time and Place For Prayer.

The value of prayer does not depend on the place in which it is offered or the times in which we call upon God. The spirit that leads us to observe times of the church's appointment or of our own appointment and the promptings of a heart filled with gratitude and love as they rise spontaneously is to be sought and appreciated. Let us not be concerned very much as to the time when and the place where we shall offer our devotions, but be deeply concerned about having the spirit of true, earnest worshipers.—Rev. Robert H. Williams in Presbyterian.

Not Luck, but Pluck.

A good chance alone is nothing. Education is nothing without strong and vigorous resolution and stamina to make one accomplish something in the world. An encouraging start is nothing without backbone. A man who cannot stand erect, who wabbles first one way and then the other, who has no opinion of his own or courage to think his own thought is of very little use in this world. It is grit, it is perseverance, it is moral stamina and courage that govern the world.—Herald and Presbyter.

ONE YEAR WEDDED.

Occasion Pleasantly Celebrated at the Home of Mrs. William D. Bauer's Parents, This City.

The first wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Bauer, of Somerville, was happily observed last evening at the home of Mrs. Bauer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Van-Dyke, on East Front street, where forty guests, including relatives and friends, from this city and elsewhere, gathered to offer their congratulations to the popular couple. There was present a party of sixteen from Somerville, who made the trip by trolley. It was a jolly crowd and everyone joined in having a good time.

Several of the guests, with musical talent, helped to make the affair more enjoyable through the rendition of popular selections on the piano. During the evening the bride performed the honors by cutting the wedding cake, which was passed around. Another feature of the occasion was the sumptuous repast served on the lawn. The young folks enjoyed an informal dance. Later in the evening when a street piano put in an appearance, the operator was engaged to furnish music for awhile. It was late when the happy gathering dispersed, but all left their good wishes with the bride and groom for a continuance of happiness and success.

ONE SOLUTION OF THE GREAT LABOR PROBLEM

James Bell Writes Concerning Relations of Employer and Employe.

CONCERNING LABOR UNIONS.

TELLS HOW NEW ZEALAND SETTLED THE PROBLEM.

What Good Can Come From Ideal Trades Union and How the Present Reality Differs—Interesting Statements.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—

During strikes the trade union springs into prominence, therefore it may be well to consider it under the factory system now in vogue. There are, on the one side, the owners of the plant, who are responsible for the conduct of the business, and absorb the profits or sustain the losses; and on the other side the operatives who perform what is commonly known as the labor of the business. The former are commonly known as the employers and the latter as the employes. While I do not recognize these terms, employers and employes, as properly expressing the relations between these parties, I use them because they are in common use.

The object of the employer in conducting a business is to make profit. Two means to accomplish this are available. One is to obtain from the purchaser a sum greater than the cost of the product. The other is to withhold from the employe a portion of the actual value of the labor expended by him. Unions are organized to enable the employes to obtain as much as possible of the actual value of the service performed by them and to regulate the conditions under which the labor is performed. As it is the interest of the employer to secure the labor at a low price and that of the employe to dispose of it at a high price, antagonism appears at once.

Continual warfare has existed since the inception of the factory system. Discharges and lockouts, strikes and boycotts have been the usual weapons. They have always been costly and can not fairly be said to have settled anything. In spite of all the struggles the condition of the employe, as compared with that of the employer, has grown worse.

During the last fifty years in spite of the wonderful advancement in methods and appliances the ten-hour day has remained unchanged, extra pay for overtime is almost obsolete, and the employes' share of the product has diminished enormously. This is conclusive proof that the strike, boycott, ostracism, etc. are not equal to the occasion and that something better is needed.

This fact was recognized by the labor unions of New Zealand some dozen years ago and as a result they took possession of the government and established courts of arbitration to adjust all differences between employers and employes. The decisions of this court are as imperative as those of any other court. Fines and other penalties are inflicted. The arrangement appears to be satisfactory to all parties who are willing to be governed by representatives of the people.

In this country, we find a succession of broken pledges and an absolute lack of confidence. These peculiarities are in evidence in the strike now on in this city. Under these conditions negotiations are impossible and the result of a strike is simply a question of endurance. Such being the case, should employes organize into union? The answer must be conditional. If the methods of the past are the only ones available, the answer should evidently be "no." If the employes are willing to organize and in their organized capacity keep their pledges, meet their employer fairly, settle their disputes or grievances by arbitration if possible, or if this is not possible, follow the example of their New Zealand brethren, carry the matter to the polls, then the answer should be "yes."

This must not be construed for a Socialist effusion because the New Zealanders are not Socialists, simply trade unionists.

The trade union is really a necessity for both the employer and the employe. When each party is thoroughly organized they will be a position to transact business together and insist on the fulfillment of obligations. Employers are interested in having a strong union of employes because such a union would be able to determine the wages and condition

WHO DID THE FIGHTING?

City Judge Runyon Settled The Question And Finally Administered Justice This Morning.

After a week's deliberation, City Judge Runyon managed to straighten out the tangle of testimony offered in the case of Thomas and Phillip Sheridan and James McCann, who engaged in a fistic encounter at the corner of Park avenue and Second street recently.

Thomas Sheridan appeared to have been the aggressor and was fined $6 or twenty days, James McCann was not sure whether he was drunk or had a fit, so to be impartial, his fine was made $3 or ten days.

The last of the trio, Phillip Sheridan, was mixed up in the fracas but it was not proven he had struck anybody and, although found guilty, sentence in his case was suspended. The first two paid their fines in preference to going to Elizabeth.

HEARD ABOUT CAMP WOOLFE.

SPECIAL SERVICE HELD BY ENDEAVORERS OF FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH.

Sum Of $12 Raised By Collection And More Pledged To Assist In The Good Work.

A special service in the interest of Camp Woolfe, of Westfield, was held last evening by the Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church, and there was fully one hundred persons present, whose interest in this work is constantly growing. N. Douglass Drake, president of the society, presided and conducted the service.

After he opening exercises, there was a short talk by L. H. Biglow, Jr., who told in general of the work at the camp and how much good is accomplished there. This was followed with a paper by G. F. Brown, which told of the camp, its guests and their needs. This was very interesting and enlisted the sympathy of all. Another interesting talk by L. W. Randolph outlined the aim of the camp work and he told what the mangement hopes to accomplish this summer toward giving mothers and children an outing.

A beautiful poem, entitled "I'll Go Where You Want Me to Go, Dear Lord," was read by Miss Mae Batchelor, and a story, "Little Miss East-Side at Camp Woolfe," was read by Miss Ella Serrell. A concluding paper "Camp History Told By Metre," was given by Miss Alice Woodland.

During the service there was special music appropriate to the occasion and at the close a collection was taken for the camp. The sum of $12 was received, and will be increased largely by other contributions pledged to the work. The Endeavorers will be contributors to this work throughout the summer and help in such other ways as possible.

GREAT GOLF PUTS GLENNY IN FINALS.

Defeated the Champion, Archie Graham, in an Interesting Match—Then Beat Wicox.

FINALS ARE PLAYED TODAY.

HOW THE MATCH WITH GRAHAM WAS PLAYED AND WON.

Glenny, of Hillside, and Kenneday, of Montclair, Meet For Championship of the State Today—Will Play 36 Holes.

W. Lester Glenny, one of the crack players of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, will meet Allan Kenneday, of the Montclair Golf Club, on the links of the Englewood Golf Club today for the golf championship of New Jersey. The college boy from Plainfield made a great showing yesterday morning when he defeated Archie Graham, of the North Jersey Club, the present holder of the championship, two up and one to go. In the semi finals in the afternoon he defeated Paul Wilcox, of Montclair, president of the New Jersey State Golf Association, two up and one to play. The finals are played today between Glenny and Kenneday, who defeated J. Whitney Baker, of the Hillside Club, in the first round of match play.

Graham and Glenny had a hot match. The former took a lead with 2 up at the start, but Glenny cut this down and was 1 up at the sixth. They were all square at the turn, each going out in an even play. They halved the tenth in 4, and the eleventh in 5, after both getting into trouble.

Glenny assumed the lead by taking the twelfth in a par 4, laying his long iron second within ten feet of the cup. Graham made the edge of the green on the like and then ran his long approach put up almost dead, only to have the Plainfield man lay him a stymie. This made Glenny 1 up.

Graham should have won the 190-yard thirteenth hole, as he drove the green, while Glenny was short. He needed 3 puts, however, and a halve in 4 resulted. The next hole is 525 yards uphill, and both used brasseys for their seconds. Glenny pulled into the rough stuff, while Graham's playing the like sliced through the fence. He made a beautiful recovery and won the hole in 5 to 6, when Glenny failed to get down a 4-foot put. This made the match again all square.

Glenny again assumed the lead by taking the fifteenth in a par 4. Both were short on their seconds, but laid their short approaches almost dead. Glenny ran his put down, winning in four to five, making him 1 up.

Playing the 500-yard sixteenth hole both sliced to poor lies, but used their brasseys for their second shots and pulled into trouble. Graham's third put him in the bunker and he overran the green playing out. Glenny got down in six, making him 2 up and dormie.

Going to the seventeenth hole Glenny topped his second shot short of the brook, while Graham made the edge of the green. Glenny's third was fairly close, and Graham then overran his approach put, a halve in five resulting, which gave the match to Glenny by 2 up and 1 to play. This defeat of the State champion was unexpected. Their cards were:

Glenny—
Out..	6	4	5	4	3	5	4	5	5—41
In...	4	5	4	4	6	4	6	5	x—38—79
Graham—
Out..	4	4	4	5	5	5	5	4	5—41
In...	4	5	5	4	5	5	7	5	x—40—81

The afternoon match was not as sensational as the morning one but Glenny continued to play with much steadiness. The heat seemed to trouble the older man more and Glenny won by two after having been dormie three. The play for the final is thirty-six holes and will occupy both morning and afternoon.

TWO VICTIMS OF THE EXPLOSION ARE DEAD

Little John Abbott, The Clerk, And C. V. Hall, Elderly Man, Have Since Died.

ABBOTT MADE A STATEMENT

STORY OF EXPLOSION AS RELATED BY MRS. C. V. HALL.

Abbott's Funeral This Morning—Other Victims Will Recover—Ground Broken For a New Building For The Drug Store.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, June 29—Two of the survivors of the explosion which demolished the drug store of H. W. Reusswig on West Main street, Wednesday, are dead. The other victims are doing nicely and it is expected they will recover.

John Abbott, aged fourteen, was the first to die. He was in the cellar when the catastrophe happened, recharging the soda-water fountain. When dragged out of the wreckage the hair was entirely burned from his head, his arms, hands and chest being also terrible injured by the flames.

He was an orphan, boarding with his sister at the home of Mrs. Stevenson on New street. After the disaster he was taken there and given the best of medical attendance. At one time when he rallied sufficiently to talk intelligently he told the family the following story of his experience.

"I was busy with the apparatus in connection with the soda water fountain, when all of a sudden everything became blue about me. I tried to get to the back cellar, but I seemed to run in every direction except the right one. After the crash the fire cut me off. I ran through the flames to the rear where I perceived an opening and called for help." Continuing, he denied the statement made that he had gone in the cellar to draw gasolene.

Abbott's funeral was held in St. John's P. E. church this morning at 10:30 o'clock. Rev. Harrison B. Wright officiated. Abbott used to be a choir boy in that church and a handsome floral wreath was prepared by the choir.

The other person to die was Cornelius V. Hall, who passed away yesterday morning in the Somerset Hospital. He was seventy-five years old and lived with his wife in the apartments over the drug store. They were hulling strawberries when the explosion occurred.

Mrs. Hall, who escaped with but a cut on one foot, described what followed thusly: "We were sent flying in the air and when we came down again father was buried in a heap of plaster and broken partitions. I managed to extricate him so that he was entirely free except one limb which was pinioned fast by a fallen timber. He is old and feeble and he thought the world was coming to an end. The flames were almost on us when the firemen got us safely out."

Hall was suffering from a badly lacerated leg and his nose was broken. Blood was spurting from his mouth. The funeral will be held Sunday. Formerly he was proprietor of the Clinton House, at Clinton, Hunterdon county. His son, Dennis Hall, is a member of the big firm of Hall, Nevius & Company, of Flemington. A daughter married Alex. Peabasco, a well-known liveryman at Clinton.

Mr. Reusswig resumed business in the Daughty block. Hon. A. A. Clark broke ground today for a new building, which will be used for the drug store when completed.

FUNERAL OF MRS. DAUGHERTY.

A large number of relatives and friends attended the obsequies. The pall bearers were William Campbell, Rudolph Spiegel, Frank Winn and John Schropp. Interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery.

SCOTT'S AND POTTER'S SHOPS OPEN MONDAY.

Scott's Proposition of Fifty-five Hours and Six Per Cent. Increase Accepted.

POTTER'S RATE UNCHANGED

MEN ARE SLOWLY DRIFTING BACK TO POND TOOL WORKS.

Next Forty-eight Hours Will Probably See Many Changes in Local Situation—Fifty-four Men Now Working in Pond's Machine Shop.

The next forty-eight hours are likely to see some changes in the local strike situation. The Potter Press Works will reopen Monday morning. Part of the machinists have agreed to return and others are expected to follow. Machinists continue to straggle into the machine shop of the Pond Tool Works, three more returning this morning. There are fifty-four men working there today. No united action has yet been taken by the strikers although they have received a communication from President O'Connell, of the International Association of Machinists, saying that it will be better to return altogether without the concessions than straggle in one by one.

Several conferences were held during the week between the officials of the Potter Press Works and the employes of that company but they resulted in nothing definite. The officials received assurances from a number of the machinists, however, that they would return when the shop opened. An advertisement will be found in another column where notice is given of the opening Monday. There will be no change in the time and wage schedules.

The number of men working at the Pond shop is slowly increasing every day. The officials of the company have not changed their policy. The old employes will be first given a chance and any places then left vacant will be filled by others. The officials are hopeful, however, that there will be no need to go outside for any employes. There has been some talk among the men of returning in a body Monday morning, but no action has yet been taken along those lines.

Every department of the big Scott Press Works will be running in full force at 7 o'clock Monday morning. This announcement, made officially, comes as a result of conferences held between Mr Scott and the shop committee. The striking machinists shortly before noon today instructed their committee, which is composed of Messes Oliver Force and Bentford, to accept the plan of settlement roughly outlined by the owner of the works.

The substance of the agreement is contained in a notice posted conspicuously in the shops. It is as follows:

"Beginning Monday, July 1, 1901, all departments will run 55 hours per week, from 7 to 12 and 1 to 6 o'clock stopping at 12 o'clock Saturdays. The rate of wages will be increased about 6 per cent This arrangement does not affect apprentices."

While the machinists were looking out for their interests solely Mr. Scott was mindful of his employes in the other departments, who have remained at work. This new order applies to them as well, and, moreover, they may share slightly better still.

According to the plan the machinists will get about 6 per cent increase, but will lose approximately 40 cents on the half-holiday Saturdays. On the other hand the moulders and other classes of workingmen will lose less on the Saturday arrangement. The laborers will get about 20 cents less than formerly.

But Mr. Scott considers that the unskilled workingmen cannot afford to stand the loss as well as the higher paid men, and hence he will exercise his judgmenent in increasing their pay. The chances are that they will get over six per cent. increase.

The settlement as made is in exact accordance with the views expressed by Mr. Scott at the first meeting of the manufacturers, held some time prior to the institution of the strike.

It is well known that he was the one man who championed the cause of the machinists before the manufacturers' meeting. He impressed upon the others that the nine-hour day had come and that the owners had better recognize it first as last.

It is equally well known that the others at the conference disagreed with Mr. Scott, and as a result strikes followed. Since then many of the manufacturers have acknowledged the soundness of his views and now regret that they were not carried out at the meeting.

THREE TIMES THIS WEEK.

So Oscar Green's Mother Promised Judge Runyon That She Would Send Him Away.

It is a well-known fact that the new boy has a hard time of it with his new playmates, but in the case of Oscar Green, a young colored lad, according to his mother, more than the ordinary amount of trouble has been encountered in getting acquainted.

Within one week, Oscar has appeared in the city court three times, the last being this morning when Patrolman O'Gorman accused him of throwing stones during the band concert last night. His mother, who was present, attributed his conduct to boys picking on him; the stone throwing of last evening being one of these instances. She declared that in her own mind the only way to stop the trouble was to ship Oscar to her cousin's, at Cranford, and on condition that this should be done at once, the court allowed the culprit to depart.

THOUSANDS HEARD CONCERT.

SECOND OPEN-AIR CONCERT GIVEN BY LA VERE'S BAND.

Two Solos Included in an Excellent Programme — People Didn't Mind the Heat.

A crowd, composed of several thousand people, took possession of the sidewalks for almost a block on East Front street, last night, for the purpose of hearing the second concert by LaVere's band, in front of the Hotel Waldorf. Heat and physical discomfort counted for nothing as they were forgotten in the joy of hearing the delightful music.

The band, last evening, was composed of eighteen members, among whom were Al Sweet and Arthur Zimmerman, two of the best soloists ever appearing in this city, the latter at one time being a member of Brook's Marine Band. In his usual excellent manner Mr Sweet rendered a pleasing cornet solo, "The Vacant Chair" which elicited long applause. Mr. Zimmerman's selection on the French horn was "The Awakening of Spring," by Bach. This instrument is getting to be well liked by concert attendants, especially when it is in the hands of so able an artist.

The concert was composed of ten numbers selected by Mr. LaVere. All were well received and if possible enjoyed more than ever. It has not been decided when the next concert will be given.

BARRY IN COURT.

Defence To Charge Of Leaving Horse's Head To Solicit Passengers Was Not Satisfactory.

On the familiar charge of soliciting passengers away from his horse's head, preferred by Patrolman McCarthy, Charles Barry, one of the Jehus at the depot, appeared in the city court this morning. He denied the patrolman's story and also that of two witnesses.

In his own behalf, he offered a written statement from the man he was supposed to have solicited, to the effect that the defendant merely directed him to the trolley station. A careful scrutiny of the writing by City Judge Runyon disclosed the fact that it was in two vastly different styles of penmanship. This and several other things Mr. Barry could not explain. The court adjudged him guilty.

A fine of $2 or ten days was imposed, together with some excellent advice in regard to telling the truth when placed on the witness stand. Mr. Barry left the court room, vowing he would have a dozen or more of his brethren before the judge inside of a week.

CONCLUDING EXERCISES AT ST. MARY'S SCHOOL

Class Of Thirteen Graduated With Honors At Parochial School Last Night.

DIPLOMAS WERE PRESENTED

ADDRESS WAS MADE BY REV. FATHER P. E. SMYTH.

Another Address By C. E. Boone—Music And Operetta—Salutatory And Valedictory Given—Honorable Mention Announced.

A class of thirteen young men and women were graduated from St. Mary's School by commencement exercises of a decidedly interesting character held in the school hall last evening. Needless to say the hall was exceedingly warm. Nevertheless an audience, composed of relatives and and friends of the graduates, which occupied every seat and even the standing room, was glad to have the opportunity of listening to the well rendered programme.

The painstaking efforts of the able corps of the school teachers was shown in the ability displayed by each one in the rendition of the part assigned to him or her on the programme Especially was this the case in the delsarte exercises, which reflected much credit on the able teacher of physical culture, Miss B. Burgh.

Naturally Father Smyth's address to the graduates was the chief feature of the evening, and second to it was the address delivered by Charles E. Boone, a son of Dr. W. C. Boone.

When Miss M. Smith had rendered an overture, the graduating class made its appearance and sang "Ireland, I Love You," which undoubtedly brought cherished memories to the hearts of many of the audience, judging by the applause it received. Solo parts in this selection were taken by Miss Loretta Flanagan and Miss Margaret Harding, each of whom has a pleasing voice.

Miss Jeanette Summers, the salutatorian, welcomed the assemblage in a few well chosen and equally well delivered words. Accompanied by Miss Smith, Miss Margaret Harding recited "Aux Italiens," and following the selection the senior delsarte class gave a minuet fan drill.

An operetta, entitled "A Peaceful Assault," produced considerable applause and much laughter. In the first scene the "Mayor of Moskitoville," whose ambition was to become a senator discovers that he is popular.

In the second and final scene the mayor welcomes different associations of his town which come to congratulate him on winning a prize. The town letter carriers, policemen, cadets, choir boys, firemen and band each in turn appears and is warmly greeted. Songs are sung and after cheering the mayor the band climaxes the operetta by playing "There'll be a hot time in the old town tonight." The particular feature of the operetta was the completeness and correctness of the costumes, which greatly added to the enjoyment of the affair.

Between the first and second scenes the graduates gave an exhibition in posing.

Mendelssohn's "The May Bells and the Flowers," was sang as a vocal duet by the Misses Loretta Flanagan and Margaret Harding.

The valedictory was delivered by Miss Harding, who, judging from the style of her address, had given much thought and attention to the subject. Following her remarks Father Smyth presented the diplomas to the graduates and delivered a short talk. After congratulating the graduates on their past success he gave them some wholesome advice which would be of service in shaping the course of their future lives.

Charles E. Boone, a graduate of the school, who is now preparing for the priesthood at St. Mary's College, Baltimore, Md., made an appropriate speech. The exercises closed with the song "Farewell," rendered by the graduates. Miss M. Smith, in her usual good style, acted as accompanist throughout the evening.

The members of the graduating, all of whom received honorable mention, are: The Misses Margaret Harding, Jeanette Summers, Elizabeth Shay, Emma Sullivan, Mary Bermingham, Loretta Flanagan, Helen Cooney, Catherine Ryan, Eugene Johnson, Miss Anna Galbraith, Bernard Brady, Henry Kearns and Miss Blanche Skinner. In the various classes honorable mention was awarded as follows: Third grammar—The Misses Mary Lannon and Catherine

LITERARY.

In fiction the July number of McClure's is strong. Rudyard Kipling chronicles more of the wanderings of irresistible "Kim." Mrs. Elizabeth Stuart Phelps concludes her powerful drama of the spirit world, "Within the Gates." And there are four short stories—a story of the railroad, a child story, a character sketch, and a love story. Each one of these bits of fiction is not only entertaining but well worth reading. c

S'SH SLEEP AT LAST

LAXAKOLA DOES IT

NO ONE BUT A MOTHER can appreciate the benefit that sound refreshing sleep gives to an ailing, teething, feverish, colicky, fretty infant.

Almost distracted by its constant crying, and worn out with weary, anxious care and watching, she tries everything possible to obtain even relief for the little sufferer.

With what comfort and delight she sees her little one drop off into a deep peaceful health-giving slumber, after its little clogged bowels are cleared of their poisonous burden by a single dose of Laxakola, the great tonic laxative and mother's remedy.

Laxakola is a pure, gentle and painless liquid laxative, and contains valuable tonic properties which not only act upon the bowels, but tone up the entire system and purify the blood. A few drops can be given with safety to very young babies, which will often relieve colic by expelling the wind and gas that cause it. Great relief is experienced when administered to young children suffering from diarrhœa, accompanied with white or green evacuations, as it neutralizes the acidity of the bowels and carries out the cause of the fermentation. LAXAKOLA will aid digestion, relieve restlessness, assist nature, and induce sleep. For constipation, simple fevers, coated tongue, or any infantile troubles arising from a disordered condition of the stomach it is invaluable.

Laxakola, the great tonic laxative, is not only the most efficient of family remedies, but the most economical, because it combines two medicines, viz.: laxative and tonic, and at one price. No other remedy gives so much for the money. At druggists, 25c. and 50c., or send for free sample to THE LAXAKOLA CO., 132 Nassau Street, N. Y., or 356 Dearborn Street, Chicago.

FRENCH DRESSMAKER FAILS.

Man Who Clothed Royalty Is a Bankrupt.

PARIS, June 29.—Felix, the world's greatest dressmaker, has closed his doors in bankruptcy.

He was long looked upon as the king of France's largest industry.

Fashionable women are in tears over the failure. The cause of the failure is the Palais de Costumes at the exposition. Felix invested all his money in the palace and exhibited dresses showing the costumes of thousands of years.

The remnants were bought up by the big clothing establishment called Trois Quartiers.

Felix was Queen Alexandra's dressmaker and recently refused a large order from her because he foresaw bankruptcy.

Felix was a dressmaker to more notables than any other dressmaker alive. He kept a large corps of beautiful models to show his creations to the best advantage.

His charges were enormous. Asked once as to the average cost of a ball dress, he replied, "There is no limit in my establishment." He added, however, that $3,000 was about the average. Among his customers were Queen Margherita of Italy, Queen Maria Pia, sister of the murdered King Humbert; the Duchess d'Orleans, Princess Charles of Denmark, Countess Boni de Castellane, Duchess d'Uzes, Princess Victoria, Mrs. Langtry and Ada Rehan.

The commission fixes the compensation.

Fifty teachers have arrived here.

The Philippine commission has completed its revision of and finally passed the city charter. It is similar to that of Washington and was prepared by the provost department.

A thousand people greeted General MacArthur, who is extremely popular, at a reception at the Army and Navy club last night. President Taft will hold a levee of a most elaborate character in honor of General MacArthur on July 4.

AFTER MANY YEARS

Deserted Wife Is Seen In a Daughter's Face.

A ROMANTIC FAMILY REUNION.

Man Who Ran Away From Wife Soon After Marriage Returns With a Fortune and Meets Daughter He Had Never Seen.

JOPLIN, Mo., June 29.—John Doerr, recently from Colorado, has just become reunited to his wife, from whom he had been separated for more than 20 years, through his daughter, whom he had never seen till Thursday.

For several years Doerr has been searching for his wife. While walking along the principal street of Joplin gazing into the faces of persons he met Doerr suddenly saw the face of the girl wife whom he had cruelly deserted in Illinois when they had been married only a few months because fortune refused to smile on him.

Remorse has been his lot ever since, and shame had kept him an exile until in the Cripple Creek region he had made his fortune.

The face was that of a woman of 20 years, fair and girlish.

The girl looked him squarely in the eyes, passed on and boarded a street car. He took the same car. Doerr finally found his courage and, taking off his hat, sat down by her and told her why he had followed her—that he had lost his wife and that she resembled her so much it gave him a start.

Then the girl asked him his name, and the man and the girl learned that they were father and daughter. Doerr did not know before that he had a daughter.

In a little cottage on the edge of Joplin there was a happy reunion between the husband and wife. Doerr and his family will go back to Colorado to live.

Rothermel Accepts.

PHILADELPHIA, June 29.—District Attorney P. F. Rothermel, Jr., who was named in town meeting as an independent candidate for district attorney against John Weaver, the nominee of the regular Republican organization, was formally notified of his selection yesterday. He accepted the nomination in the following letter to Edward Shippen: "Your letter of even date received. There can be but one answer—I would be false to honor, duty and true citizenship should I refuse to lend my every effort to aid the patriotic and unselfish determination on the part of my fellow citizens to throw off the yoke of corruption under which Philadelphia so woefully suffers. I accept your nomination for the district attorneyship and place myself unconditionally at your service."

Philippine Cotton Imports.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The importation of cotton manufactures into the Philippine Islands during 1900 showed an increase of 93 per cent over the importation for the previous year, according to a comparative statement issued by the division of insular affairs, war department. The value of the cotton manufactures imported during 1900 is set down at $8,729,777 and for 1899 at $4,522,408. The increase in importation from the United States alone showed an increase of 303 per cent, or $69,236. The greatest amount of the cotton manufactures came from the United Kingdom, about $4,000,000 worth, with Spain second at $1,233,262.

Big Fort For Halifax.

HALIFAX, June 29.—The plans for the new fortress for this station are completed and work will commence at once. The fortress will be much larger than that at York redoubt and will be armed with the most powerful of weapons. It will be constructed out of the solid rock. The imperial authorities selected a large granite cliff which has a hollow in the center. The main part of the fort will be located in this hollow. The fort will have as its principal armament 16 latest kind of guns, which will be of the disappearing type. The fort will be the largest this side of the Atlantic.

McFadden Knocked Out Daly.

WILMINGTON, Del., June 29.—George McFadden of New York knocked out Jack Daly of this city in the ninth round of what was scheduled as a 15 round fight. McFadden had all the better of the fight from the first round. In the fifth round he knocked Daly down several times, and again in the eighth round he repeated the performance. Daly was knocked down eight times in the ninth round before he received the right swing on the jaw which put him out. The men fought at 138 pounds.

Our Army Praised.

LONDON, June 29.—During the debate on the army reorganization bill in the house of lords Lord Wolseley, the former commander in chief of the forces, declared the United States army was the finest of its size in the world. He said its superiority was due to good wages. Great Britain must face the alternative of conscription or pounds, shillings and pence to secure recruits.

A Saving on State Printing.

ALBANY, June 29.—The state printing board has awarded to the James B. Lyon Printing company of this city the contract to perform the legislative printing of the session of 1902. The contract will save the state, it is estimated, $81,000 as compared with the prices at which the current legislative printing contract is being performed.

Americans at Henley.

HENLEY, England, June 29.—The Pennsylvania university crew had a remarkably fast trial yesterday, paced by the famous triple scullers Gollan, Sullivan and Towns. Pulling 42 strokes to the minute throughout, the Americans beat the pacemakers by three-quarters of a length, which no other eight was ever able to do.

A Russian Conflagration.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 29.—A fire at Tsaritsyn, a fortified town in the government of Saratov, consumed several sawmills, 24 timber laden barges and the timber depots and quays on the Volgo. The damage is placed at 5,000,000 rubles, and it is reported that several lives were lost in the fire.

ASSOCIATIONS BILL BEFORE LOUBET.

French Chamber of Deputies at a Single Session Adopts the Bill as Amended by a Vote of 313 to 249.

PARIS, June 29.—The premier, M. Waldeck-Rousseau, has carried the most important project of his ministry, the law of associations bill, which now only awaits the signature of President Loubet to become a law.

The chamber of deputies last night in a single session definitely adopted the bill as amended by the senate by 313 to 249 votes. Several attempts were made by the opposition and Socialists to again amend the bill, but the chamber in every case supported the ministry.

Canadian Railways Blocked.

QUEBEC, June 29.—The Quebec Central and the Canadian Pacific railroads are great sufferers by yesterday's storm, and traffic will be blocked for several days on account of the washouts. Forty miles of the Quebec Central track between Angus and Lake Weedon is badly wrecked. All trains have been canceled. The Canadian Pacific has a bad washout at Cookshire. The Halifax express ran into it at midnight. The locomotive alone left the track, and no one was injured. The boom of the Royal Paper company at East Angus was carried away with 16,000,000 feet of lumber. In Cookshire sewer pipes that were five feet under ground now lie in view. Highway bridges all over the country have been washed away.

Heavy Storm at Minneapolis.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 29.—With all the accompanying phenomena of a cyclone except the funnel shaped cloud a heavy electrical and rain storm swept over this city last night, killing one and seriously injuring many others. The Home laundry was totally wrecked. The storm leveled part of the canvas inclosure of the Pawnee Bill Wild West show, and several people were injured, none seriously. One of the grain tanks being built by the Pioneer Steel Elevator company in southeast Minneapolis was tilted from its foundation and collapsed. The workmen barely escaped. A special from West Superior, Wis., says there was almost a cloudburst there and that great damage was done.

Rowing Party Drowned.

NEWBERN, N. C., June 29.—Hon. William E. Clarke, his two daughters, Mary B., aged 12, and Francis B., aged 9, and George B. Bryan, the 10-year-old son of Green Bryan, were drowned here last night. The party was out rowing opposite the waterworks when the boat was swamped by the waves. Mr. Clarke's little son, William E., was the only one of the party saved. He clung to the boat until rescued. The bodies of the two young girls have been recovered. Mr. Clarke was a Republican and had at different times been state senator, representative, deputy collector of customs and postmaster of Newbern.

No Appeal In Barker Case.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Thomas G. Barker's friends definitely decided at a meeting held at Arlington, N. J., last night not to take an appeal from the verdict of the jury. It was the sense of the meeting that the energies and funds of those who had interested themselves in the case would be devoted to caring for Mrs. Barker and preventing her from want and in securing a rebate of a part at least of his five year sentence, which means that he must serve four years and five days if his conduct record is perfect. It is expected the request will be for his parole at the end of a year.

For a Park In New Jersey.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., June 29.—Prominent residents of New York and Orange, N. J., have purchased 1,000 acres of land in Montague township, N. J., for park purposes. The territory includes Mashipacong lake. Articles of incorporation have been filed in the name of the Mashipacong club, with George O. Shields of New York president. Improvements on property will be begun at once, and a large amount of money will be spent in the erecting of buildings and the laying out of the ground.

Killed by Lightning.

SOUTHINGTON, Conn., June 29.—During an electrical storm here yesterday Fred H. Lee of Pratts Corners was killed and his wife injured by lightning. Lee and his wife had taken refuge under a tree when the storm broke. A bolt struck the tree, and, passing down the trunk, the fluid went through Lee's body and out of his shoes. His hair was singed, and the foot through which the current passed was burned, but otherwise his body was without marks when found.

Another Suit Begun.

HELENA, Mon., June 29.—The United States has commenced another suit in the federal court against the Bitter Root Development company, the Anaconda Copper Mining company and the Daly estate to recover over $350,000 for timber claimed to have been illegally cut upon the public domain. This makes suits for $750,000 that the government has pending against the same persons.

PANTHER, W. Va., June 29.—Peter Price, a negro, cornered in a house by a determined band of infuriated citizens bent on meting summary justice to him, charged with insulting a lady, in his desperate efforts to escape cut and killed George Hooks and F. M. McGran and seriously cut Charles Davis. The murder occurred at Iaeger, a small town five miles south of here.

BLUNDER AT PEKING

China Promised to Pay More Than Was Asked.

A FURTHER DELAY IS THE RESULT.

China Had Agreed to Pay 450,000,000 Taels Indemnity—The Formal Demand of the Powers Only 415,000,000 Taels.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Another delay has occurred in the collection of the indemnity from China. It has just been discovered that although China agreed to pay an indemnity of 450,000,000 taels the aggregate demands of the powers do not exceed 415,000,000 taels. This means that China has agreed to pay to the powers 35,000,000 taels more than they can rightfully claim.

The powers each agreed to submit their separate claims for indemnity, but before this was done the representatives in Peking estimated the total indemnity at about 450,000,000 taels, and this was demanded of China. Now that the amounts claimed by the respective countries have been received and added it shows a total of not more than 415,000,000 taels.

Whether the powers will accept the excess amount and apportion it to the different countries has not yet been determined. The United States will insist that the surplus be returned to China, but it is doubtful whether Germany and Russia will agree to such a disposition of it.

The attitude of Japan on this subject is yet to be ascertained, but it is thought that the Japanese government will stand by the United States government in its desire to see the money returned to China.

BELGIAN MISSIONARIES SAFE.

Governor of Shansi Denies Story of Their Massacre.

PEKING, June 29.—The governor of Shansi province says in a message to Li Hung Chang that the Belgian missionaries have not been massacred.

Li Hung Chang, on the suggestion of the French minister, issued a proclamation stating that the return of the court and the resumption of Chinese authority would follow the evacuation of the city by the foreign troops. He warned the people to avoid seizing upon the time of the transfer to create disturbance.

Sir Ernest Satow, the British minister, was not consulted previous to the issue of the proclamation, and he ordered the copies of it which had been posted in the British section to be removed. On hearing of this Li Hung Chang asked the British minister's permission to post the proclamation, and this was granted. Li Hung Chang and other Chinese officers, however, are annoyed at what they consider to be the British minister's assumption.

While the profession is made that the administration of the city will be transferred, it really appears that Peking will be governed by the Chinese under the foreign domination of an international protectorate similar to the position of Russia in Manchuria.

A dispatch from Shanghai says that the taotai Sheng, at the request of Liu Kun Yi, the viceroy of Nankin, visited all the consuls and urged that as the foreign forces were leaving Peking they ought also to evacuate Shanghai. The consuls are referring the matter to their respective governments.

A Province In Revolt.

LONDON, June 29.—A dispatch from Chefu reports the entire province of Shengking in revolt. The rebels are said to be overrunning the country, pillaging and burning. It is asserted that in the vicinity of Mukden all the villages are being burned and that hundreds of inhabitants have been killed. The dispatch says the Russian forces are not sufficient to maintain order.

Another Banking Firm Fails.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Henry Marquand & Co. failed yesterday. The collapse of this banking house had been confidently expected by Wall street ever since Tuesday, when it became known that the Seventh National bank had got into straits by a loan to the firm of $1,600,000 made on what is generally regarded as poor collateral. The closing of the Seventh National bank, forced by the comptroller of the currency because Henry Marquand & Co. could not put up cash for the big loan, rendered the failure of the banking house a necessity. The condition of the firm has been known in financial circles for several months, and after having searched the street from one end to the other the concern appears to have succeeded in doing with the Seventh National bank what it could do with no other institution. It secured accommodations that are surprising in view of the firm's capital and resources, and just how it managed to entangle the Seventh is a mystery which can only be explained by Mr. Kimball, the ex-president, and those directors who countenanced the loans.

Fire Commissioner Indicted.

NEW YORK, June 29.—John J. Scannell, fire commissioner, and William L. Marks were indicted by the grand jury which for two weeks had been investigating the fire department method of purchasing supplies. Marks, it has been repeatedly charged for some time, has practically been the purchasing agent for the department. Three indictments were handed down, one of them a blanket indictment charging Marks and Mr. Scannell with conspiracy to defraud. The other indictments were directed against the fire commissioner and charged him with neglect of duty and malfeasance in office.

Ludlow Coming East to Be Treated.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The secretary of war has telegraphed Brigadier General William Ludlow permission to come to Washington for medical examination and treatment. General Ludlow has just arrived at San Francisco from the Philippines. He is suffering from tuberculosis.

A Local Instance.

That there has been a deminuation in the regular flow of Green brook as it passes through the "notch" at Scotch Plains, seems to be a well established fact. It was brought out in the trial of the damage suit, instituted two years ago by the owners of the mill-right and plant above Scotch Plains against the corporation then known as the Summit Water Company, which had located wells, near Feltville, in the hills where Green brook finds its source in a number of small springs. The point which was then established to the court's satisfaction was that the excessive pumping from these wells reduced the flow from the springs and thereby lessened the volume of the stream which furnished water-power for the mill below.

An attempt is now being made by the same people who were successful in their suit against the water company to prevent the successors of the old Summit company, now known as the Essex and Union Water and Light Company, from taking the water which would naturally flow into Green brook and directing it into other channels. As the pumping station near Feltville is a valuable plant and serves to furnish the city of Summit with particularly pure water, the corporation is not going to give up its present position without a hard and bitter fight.

Another instance of this same kind can be seen today right in the city of Plainfield. Ten years ago, Cedar brook was a brisk little stream, flowing with remarkable steadiness even in time of drought. Today it is practically a dry watercourse although a little water coming from the exhaust pipe of the Scott Press Works trickles through. After a heavy rainfall, the brook freshens up and there is a fair flow but it is not continuous as of old.

There seems but one way to account for this change. While the section where the brook rises is gradually building up, it seems perfectly logical to believe that the water which used to flow into Cedar brook is now being pumped out through the wells of the Plainfield Water Supply Company at Netherwood. Cedar brook possesses no mills along its banks so that a suit similar to the one brought by the Scotch Plains people is not to be expected. The property owners along the brook see with much regret, however, that little can be expected from Cedar brook in the future.

It might be well if the Common Council would take official recognition of this wholesale running to fires of which editorial notice was taken in Thursday's Daily Press. The time to stop it is the present before any serious accidents occurs. Drivers of all kinds of vehicles urge their steeds at top speed to the scene of the fire without regard to anyone. There have been countless narrow escapes and the only strange thing is that there have not been a score of serious accidents before this.

When the Plainfielders have occasion this summer to visit other cities and towns through the country, they will find that there are few, indeed, which possess the varied attractions that Plainfield has. It is the summer visitor who first begins to open the eyes of the native to the advantages he is enjoying right here at home. Of those who are here for the summer months, there is scarcely one who is not greatly delighted with the city and speaks in high terms of its beauty and advantages.

Another season, the charitable young women of Plainfield will conduct a camp on the first ridge of the Watchung Mountains for sick babies. There is no doubt about the excellence of this charity and the success it has been doing the years it has been in existence. It requires funds, however, to keep the camp in operation. Anyone who desires to contribute to that worthy cause may send the funds to this office and we will see that the cash gets to the proper destination

It is too bad that circumstances prevented all the crack golfers of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club from representing that local club in the championship team contest of the New Jersey State Golf Association at Englewood Thursday. With such players as Wadsworth, Talmage and Reinhart, with Glenny who took part, the Hillside Club would have had a team which could not have been beaten by any other club in the State.

While there are no end of rumors current concerning the cause of the disaster at Somerville Wednesday, which resulted in the destruction of a pharmacy there, the cause of the explosion is still a mystery. It is claimed that there was no large stock of explosive chemicals on hand yet there must have been something to cause such a destructive explosion. The greatest wonder is that no one was killed. The escapes of the four victims were almost miraculous.

After considerable delay, the Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Company has followed the example of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company and is having the filled-in trenches in the borough streets rolled. The telephone company did excellent work and returned the streets to as good condition as they were before the trench was dug. The other company's work was far from unsatisfactory at first although its condition is now being much improved.

The sturdy spirit shown by the workers at Marconnier chapel is very commendable. It is very seldom that a chapel of that size with its congregation so scattered is able to meet all its own expenses and not call on its outside friends for financial aid. The news that that chapel is self supporting is a general but pleasing surprise to the public. Much credit is due to those who have labored so faithfully and so well.

Independence Day will be celebrated at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club this year as no local organization ever celebrated it before.

A Wise Man.

There was a man in our town
And he was wondrous wise,
He knew the kind of coal to buy—
He also knew the size.

And when he found his coal was out
With all his might and main,
He called Consumers' Coal Comp'ny
To fill his bins again.

Paid at Last Moment.

Constable W. R. Mattox is now assisting Constable George E. Rogers in the collection of delinquent taxes, there being many taxpayers to look after. Yesterday Constable Rogers arrested a Plainfielder and was on his way to the railroad station to take him to Elizabeth, when the delinquent decided that he could get the six odd dollars needed to square him with the collector. The man was successful and after paying his bill he was released.

Trying to Save Sod.

The recent dry spell has had a tendency to stop the growth of the grass in the sod placed along the railroad bank near the new station. Yesterday an abundance of water was thrown on the sod in the hopes that it may yet be saved to beautify the grounds.

From observations in shops where the union ruled and others where it did not rule I have found that there is little or no jealousy observable in the union shops, mutual assistance and instruction being the rule, and as a result the product is better and greater than in non-union shops where this good feeling does not exist. If the union will comply with the conditions to which "yes" is applied before an employer could find no reasonable ground for refusing to recognize it. If, however, he proved unreasonable, action at the court of arbitration would still be available to bring him to terms. James Bell.

BORN TO SERVE

By CHARLES M. SHELDON,

Author of "IN HIS STEPS," "JOHN KING'S QUESTION CLASS," "EDWARD BLAKE," Etc.

(Copyright, 1900, by Charles M. Sheldon.)

Mrs. Ward still sat with folded hands and a strange look, and Barbara turned from her and began rolling out a small piece of pie crust for Carl. When she had finished it and had put it in a platter, as she was turning with it toward the stove, she was amazed to see Mrs. Ward standing in front of her. She had risen suddenly and had come over near Barbara.

"What you have said is too true—a great deal of it, most of it; and yet, Barbara, if you only knew how much I need just such help as yours in my home you would not leave me. Isn't there some way we can work it out together? I have not been to you what one woman ought to be to another. I have been nervous and faultfinding and—and—you have not said anything about that, I know; but, if you will stay, Barbara, we will try to study the thing out better—we will help one another. That is not exactly what I mean, but we will understand each other better after this talk, and perhaps we can be more just, and study how to better matters."

Barbara stood during this unexpected appeal trembling with a conflicting set of emotions. In the midst of it all she could feel a return of something of the old feeling of heroism in service that had prompted her to answer the advertisement in the first place, and her pulses leaped up again at the thought of help from this woman to solve the servant question and work with her toward a common end. What could she do alone? Only four weeks of trial, and she had despaired of service. Already in the swift reaction from her despair Mrs. Ward's words produced a great revulsion in her feelings. Surely all things were possible if both the woman of the house and the servant studied the question together. And her grievances! They were there still, and still real. But they were not without compensation if what Mrs. Ward said was going to mean a new start all around.

Still, as she faced Mrs. Ward with a troubled heart, she hesitated, going over again the trials of the four weeks, the hot, insufficient little room, the long and irregular hours, the separation from people, even from the very people in the house where she was serving; the daily drudgery, the hopelessness of any future—it all came up again to dash an enthusiasm that had apparently been killed out of her at the first attempt to turn practical things into heroic things. And let us say for Barbara what was a very true part of her true self; she had so great a horror of doing anything from impulse alone that a part of her hesitation now arose not from her doubts concerning Mrs. Ward's sincerity, but from her own fear of changing her mind, of seeming to act from pity for Mrs. Ward rather than from a genuine conviction that she had not been heroic enough to test her service long enough to prove something besides a few grievances. She was smitten even while Mrs. Ward was speaking, to think that she had not endured all the hardships of service to the limit of service.

"Of course, I don't know how we are going to arrange all the things that are wrong, but I have gone over all the ground you have emphasized this morning more times than perhaps you imagine," Mrs. Ward continued, and Barbara, perhaps for the first time, gave Mrs. Ward credit for many things she had hitherto denied her. "My wretched health, and cares and trouble with servants who have had no ambitions and no abilities such as you have, I think have all helped to make me seem indifferent and thoughtless. But I need you, Barbara. Really, I cannot bear the thought of being without help. You cannot realize what these last four weeks have meant to me in the burden lifted. You do not understand how capable you are in management. I ought to have let you know it. I am sure I have felt it deeper every day."

"You are flattering me now," said Barbara, smiling a little.

"No, only the truth as it ought to have been told you. My sickness, the children, my cares, Mr. Ward's business complications, some of which have been serious the last ten days, have all conspired to make me careless of you; but even my carelessness has been a sign of my confidence in you. Don't leave us now, Barbara. We need you more than you can realize."

What! Barbara Clark! Here has been trouble in this home, and trouble of a serious nature, and you have lived in your own troubles, absorbing all thought about yourself. She began to be ashamed. She turned towards Mrs. Ward.

"I don't want to seem to act on just my feelings alone. Let me go home tonight and think it out."

Mrs. Ward looked at her wistfully, and again tears came into the older woman's eyes.

"I am asking a great deal of you. Maybe I am promising a good deal for myself, too, if you decide to go on with us."

"You mean?" Barbara began, and then stopped.

"I mean that, if you will keep on as you have begun, I am willing to help make your place different in many ways from what it has been. I don't know all that this may mean to you. It is not an ordinary case, as you are not an ordinary servant girl. There is another thing I ought to say. If you remain with us, it ought to be a great source of satisfaction to you that the children think so much of you. Do you realize how much it may mean to a mother to know they are being helped in every way while with her servant? That is another great reason I don't want you to go, Barbara."

"Thank you, Mrs. Ward," Barbara answered, and the tears came into her eyes for the first time. Praise is sweet. Why don't we all give more of it where we know it will help, not hurt?

"We cannot spare you out of the home. We have not treated you right, but—"

"Don't say anything about that, Mrs. Ward," Barbara interrupted, a feeling of remorse growing in her at the thought of her "grievances." Some of them were beginning to seem small in comparison with her privileges. She was a real influence in it if what Mrs. Ward had just said about the children was true. Surely there was more in the position than physical drudgery. Could even a school-teacher expect to be more useful? A host of new questions rose in her mind.

"Let me go home to-night, Mrs. Ward, and I will return in the morning and give you my answer. In any case, I will not leave, of course, until you have secured some one else."

"Very well, we will leave the matter that way," Mrs. Ward answered, and she went out of the kitchen as Carl began to clamor for his pie and Barbara turned to attend to him.

But Barbara was strongly moved by this interview. It had begun with her heart full of discouragement and rebellion. It had ended with a feeling of doubt concerning her resolution to give up her position, with a renewal of her former enthusiasm. There were possibilities in the situation that she had not considered. And so, with all these new ideas crowding into her thoughts, she finished her work early that evening and went home.

Her mother met her with a happy smile and instantly put into her hand a letter that had come in the afternoon mail. It had printed on it the address of a teachers' agency.

"Another polite note saying there are no vacancies at present, etc. Is that it, mother?"

"I opened it, Barbara. You remember you told me to if anything came from this agency, and I was going to send over to the Wards' for you this evening if you had not come," Mrs. Clark said, as Barbara took out the letter and began to read.

It was an offer from the principal of an academy in a neighboring state of a fairly good position as teacher in the department of French and German, the two languages Barbara had made the most of at Mount Holyoke.

"It's a good offer, Barbara. Just the position you can fill, isn't it?"

"Yes, mother," Barbara answered, slowly. But she dropped the letter into her lap and sat thoughtfully quiet.

"What are you thinking of? Barbara, you don't mean to refuse, after all this waiting?"

Then Barbara told her mother all about the morning's talk with Mrs. Ward.

"I am in honor bound to stay with her, anyway until she finds some one else. I promised. If I accept this offer I must go at once, as the place requires an immediate answer in person. That would leave Mrs. Ward without anyone just at a time when she is most in need of some one."

"I OPENED IT, BARBARA."

"She will let you off for such an unexpected offer as this Barbara," Mrs. Clark spoke with eagerness. "You do not mean to lose it, to lose your chances of getting something better just for—"

"Mother, you must not tempt me," Barbara replied, with a faint smile. And Mrs. Clark, with a sigh, made no further appeal. She knew from past experience that Barbara would not change her mind in such a matter.

After a long silence Barbara said: "Mother, I may decide to remain with Mrs. Ward for good. This morning I thought it was all a mistake and that I could not do anything. But since this talk with her I see some hopes of working out the problem. I really begin to think I may be of some use in that home."

SHIP WITH A HISTORY.

nce the Vigilant Was a Pirate Ship and a Slaver, Now She Is an Honest Mail Ship.

Few persons, even those who are in the postal service, know that United States mail is carried in the oldest sailing vessel in the water to-day, and that the vessel has been a pirate ship and a slaver. Its name is the Vigilant, and it carries the mails from St. Croix to St. Thomas in the West Indies. In speed it compares favorably with many steamboats which carry the mails, and it can distance anything that is propelled by wind in any postal service.

The ship is of 40 tons burden, and is rigged as a fore and after, the same rig that was carried when the vessel was in the slave trade, and was cruising about the West Indies as a pirate. With a fair wind the Vigilant makes the 40-mile trip in a little more than three hours, and it ean stand any sort of weather.

(Once This Rakish Craft Was a West Indian Pirate Vessel.)

P. C. Pentheny, of St. Croix, owns the vessel and leases it for mail-carrying. He is proud of the fact that no schooner has ever beaten his boat. He got it from his father, who, in turn, bought it from an old native, whose father had used it with an English master in the slave trade.

The slaves were carried in the hold where the mail is thrown now. The vessel is 150 years old, and has had its back broken twice. This ceremony occurs every time a ship is condemned as a pirate or a slaver. The last sentence of the Vigilant was passed in 1823. The vessel was run ashore, where its keel was split in two. It was repaired and put in service again, and is now as good as ever.

DR. IRA C. REMSEN.

New President of Johns Hopkins University Is a Scholar of International Reputation.

Dr. Ira C. Remsen, the new president of Johns Hopkins university at Baltimore, has been a member of the faculty in that institution, chiefly in the chair of chemistry, since its foundation in 1876. When Dr. Gilman started out to build up a faculty Dr. Remsen was the first man to whom he tendered a chair. For 25 years he has been the confidant and adviser of Dr. Gilman, and he is regarded by both students and faculty as a thorough scholar and an able educator. All the time during which his famous predecessor was abroad Dr. Remsen was the acting president of Johns Hopkins. At 56 he is in the prime of his intellectual power. He is a graduate of the medical school of Columbia college, a post graduate of Munich and Goettingen (Ph. D.) and an authority in chemistry whose fame is international. Dr. Remsen has been several times tendered most tempting offers by the University of Chicago, but his love for Johns Hopkins has always prevented his acceptance. His election to the presidency is regarded as a fitting reward for his loyalty.

Have Reason to Feel Sore.

Kansas lawyers are grieved and indignant because some of the cattlemen are inclined to settle their disputes without resorting to the courts. The disputants choose three men as an arbitration committee, and the committee decides each case. Not long ago a case involving $60,000 was thus settled in Eureka, and not a dollar went to the lawyers. No wonder they tear their hair as they finger their empty pockets.

Swimmers in German Army.

To be acceptable as a soldier in the German army a man must be able to swim. The best swimmers are able to cross a stream of several hundred yards' width even when carrying their clothing, rifle and ammunition.

GOOD RESULTS

follow the use of Ripans Tabules, as in the case of a New York City lady, who writes: "I was troubled with indigestion, constipation and headache for about a year. On getting up in the morning I would feel sick, my head would ache, my bowels would not act and I would be bothered with belching up gas. I tried most every kind of salts for my bowels, but got no permanent relief. At first the salts would act, but I would soon become accustomed to them and be bothered worse than before. My brother-in-law told me how wonderful Ripans Tabules were, and I got a five cent carton and took them, and was more than surprised at the good results, as I did not have much faith in medicine. After that I bought another box and took all of them, and they had such an effect on me that I feel like a new person. My bowels act regularly, and I can eat anything without belching. Before taking the Tabules the water would gather in my mouth and I would have to spit continually, but since taking the Tabules I am not troubled anymore. If I eat a hearty dinner I always take a Tabule and I experience no bad effects. Since my bowels act regularly and my food digests properly I rarely have a headache."

The Woman Who Stays At Home

YOUR friends are all making preparations to leave the city. Scores of pretty dresses are being tucked away in trunks. Wherever you go the conversation is all about the charms of Hotel This or the Such-and-such Inn; the golf links at one place, the bathing at another. You feel very much out of it. Gradually the street becomes deserted. There are entire rows of houses with blinds pulled down and shutters closed. The heat is intense. You mope in your room clad in some old affair—it doesn't matter what—and when Jack or Tom or Fred comes home tired from the day's work you talk about the thermometer and the evils of having to stay in town when every one else has gone.

That's where you make the mistake of your life.

The city is not half a bad place in the summer. It is far better than many summer resorts. Your friends write of the beautiful scenery, but they don't tell you of the hot nights they spend in their little cooped up rooms. They dilate on the music at the hotel and the dances, but they don't mention that the men are so scarce that the women have to waltz with each other. Neither is there a word about the backbiting, the snobbishness, the eternal and tiresome dress parade and their loneliness for their own men folk hard at work (?) in the hot city.

If you will play being at a summer resort, you will have more fun than they. Your husband will rise up and call you blessed, and the other men, when they hear of it, will fall over one another in their eagerness to get invitations to your house. If you have a pretty daughter—well, more than one girl has met her fate by staying right at home in the hot city instead of wasting her smiles in a manless summer resort.

Take up your expensive rugs and put away your heavy furniture. Shade the windows with striped awnings. Scatter potted flowers and cool, green palms wherever it is possible. Have plenty of light literature around and deep wicker chairs with linen cushions. Make the evening meal attractive with a bunch of flowers and serve plenty of iced things. Furnish the veranda with easy chairs and little tables, so that the men can lounge and smoke there. If you haven't a veranda, the roof may be turned into a delightful spot by means of an awning and a few Japanese lanterns. Become proficient in mixing cooling drinks and don't scorn an acquaintance with ragtime melodies. Above all, look cool and dainty yourself in pretty muslins, such as you would wear if you were away from home. If you follow this plan, I don't think you will find your summer in town a failure. MAUD ROBINSON.

The Power of Etiquette.

A good story comes from Washington. It seems that there is sometimes a difficulty at official and diplomatic dinners in determining who should rise and break up the entertainment.

When Dom Pedro, then emperor of Brazil, was entertained at the White House, he was informed by some well meaning but muddle headed senator that he would be the last of the guests to depart.

The president's wife, on the other hand, told her other guests that the emperor would depart first and no one would leave till after the royal party had gone.

The result was that no one ventured to go for fear of a breach of etiquette. At last, at 3 o'clock in the morning, some poor, tired woman pretended illness, and thus the deadlock was broken.

A beautiful woman with the qualities of a noble man is the most perfect thing in nature.—La Bruyere.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

Iron and Steel Industry In Excellent Shape—Wheat Prospects Improved.

NEW YORK, June 29.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

It does not follow because bad banking methods have caused one of the New York banks to close its doors, with attendant circumstances that create discussion in Wall street, that general business is in any way affected by or at all responsible for the trouble. The country is prosperous, and, with prospect of an abundant harvest to supply our own needs and increasing European deficiencies, the situation is viewed with confidence.

A few more labor disturbances have arisen, but others have been settled, notably the dispute over the tin plate scale.

The fiscal year closes with conditions in the iron and steel industry in marked contrast to the situation at the corresponding date in 1900. Quotations were then receding rapidly without stimulating activity, idleness was the rule at furnaces and mills and wage scales were under serious discussion, with employers and labor organizations far apart in their views. This year difficulty is experienced in stopping machinery long enough to make necessary repairs, prices are well maintained and steady without unreasonable inflation, while a successful season makes it possible for many concerns to avoid controversy by voluntarily reducing hours or advancing wages, and evidences of serious disagreement are the exception. Construction proceeds at an unprecedented pace, so that structural material, builders' hardware and kindred goods find ready purchasers.

Wheat prospects are further improved, according to reports from correspondents throughout the entire producing region. In southern Kansas and Oklahoma harvesting of winter wheat is progressing rapidly, and much of the grain is beyond danger, assuring another phenomenal crop in that locality. Farther north the grain matures under most favorable conditions, and even in spring wheat states there is little probability of loss, although injury from elements and insects is still possible.

Wheels at textile mills are no longer generally idle. Improvement in all branches of this industry has come with a rush, and manufacturers are making up some earlier losses. Gains are more conspicuous in the woolen goods division because depression had lasted longer and been more severe.

Failures for the week numbered 204 in the United States against 207 last year and 23 in Canada against 21 last year.

Repairing Flood Damage.

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., June 29.—Two bodies were found in a drift pile at Landing Raff yesterday. They were so far decomposed that identification was impossible, and the bodies were burned promptly. The railroad and industrial situation is improving rapidly. It is expected that the Norfolk and Western railroad will be in shape for a train to get through tonight. A number of coal companies have resumed work and loaded over 200 cars. Rainstorms continue to visit this section, and while they do not cause very high water they delay work. The telegraph lines have been got up as far as Vivian. It was more difficult to run this line than it was to construct it at first, as in many places the flood washed the soil to the bedrock and poles could not be set.

Flint Glass Factories Close.

PITTSBURG, June 29.—All the flint glass factories of the country operated under the scales of the American Flint Glass Workers' union will close tonight for periods ranging from four weeks to two months. Fully 40,000 men and boys will enjoy the customary summer vacation. The longest shut down is in the prescription bottle branch, where the 2,500 skilled workers will be idle for two months. The suspension in the chimney branch is for six weeks, and in the pressed ware branch it is for four weeks. Many of the nonunion plants also close, which will greatly increase the number of idle flint workers next month.

The Heat In New York.

NEW YORK, June 29.—New Yorkers experienced the hottest weather of the year yesterday, the official thermometer registering 92 degrees at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, while street thermometers ran up as high as 100, with the humidity 64 per cent. In Greater New York 8 deaths and 50 prostrations from the heat were reported up to midnight. Of the deaths five occurred on Manhattan Island, two in the Bronx and one in Brooklyn. In Jersey City and nearby towns in New Jersey about 20 prostrations occurred, but no deaths had been reported up to midnight.

Erie Railway Changes.

CLEVELAND, June 29.—It is announced in Erie railway circles that Charles W. Fitch, now general manager of the eastern division of that road, has been made general manager of the entire system and that John C. Moorehead, now general manager of the Ohio division, has been selected assistant general manager. Albert A. Mitchell, who has been superintendent of motive power, has been styled mechanical superintendent, with office in New York, and the office of superintendent of motive power has been abolished.

Gompers Fatally Hurt.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Samuel W. Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, fell from a street car and received injuries that will probably prove fatal. Mr. Gompers attended a meeting of the executive committee of the Federation of Labor Thursday night and was on his way home when he was thrown from the car as it rounded a curve, receiving a compound fracture of the skull. He has since been unconscious, and his physicians fear he will not recover.

The America Sails For Dundee.

DUNDEE, June 29.—The America, the flagship of the Baldwin-Ziegler north pole expedition, has left here for Tromso, Norway. The Baldwin-Ziegler expedition will probably leave Franz Josef Land July 12. The three vessels of the expedition—the America, the Belgica and the Frithjof—will rendezvous there before that date. Evelyn Baldwin will join the Frithjof at Tromso and will then go to various points on the White sea and embark 400 dogs.

Hottest June Day In Thirty Years.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., June 29.—William Van Epps, aged 70 years, was prostrated by the heat here yesterday. It was the hottest June 28 in this vicinity in 30 years, with one exception, the thermometer registering 98.5 in the shade.

TRIED TO SAVE HUSBAND.

Mrs. Ruthven Claimed She Committed Murder—Story Denied.

COLUMBUS, O., June 29.—Mrs. Edwin Ruthven, wife of the Cleveland murderer who was put to death in the electric chair early yesterday, made a last effort early in the evening to save the life of her husband.

In the presence of the Rev. W. M. Langford and others she said that she and not her husband killed Policeman Shipp.

Mrs. Ruthven declared that on the night of the murder she and Ruthven quarreled, that she left the house, met Charles Jacobs, a mysterious individual of whom Ruthven frequently spoke, and that he asked for Edwin, saying he had a job on hand. She told him her husband was not at home, but that she would help.

She donned her husband's clothing and assisted Jacobs in the burglary. Policeman Shipp appeared, and Jacobs fled. She used her revolver, and Shipp was killed.

Ruthven, when told of his wife's statement, declared it was not true. Mrs. Ruthven is serving a sentence for receiving stolen property.

EDWARD'S CORONATION.

Formal Announcement Made With Great Ceremony.

LONDON, June 29.—The royal proclamation announcing that the coronation of King Edward is to take place in June next, the exact day not yet being determined upon, was read yesterday at St. James' palace, Temple Bar and the Royal Exchange, with all quaint, mediæval scenes which marked the occasion of the proclaiming of the accession of the king.

The day's ceremonial was unheralded, so the crush was not so great as on the previous occasion, but crowds quickly gathered from all directions and thronged the points at which the announcement was read. The ceremony began at St. James', where, from the purple draped balcony of the palace, the Norroy king-at-arms, William Henry Waldon, in a brilliant uniform, accompanied by the heralds and pursuivants in gorgeous tabards and numerous state officials, read the proclamation.

Millionaires' Train.

LONDON, June 29.—Messrs. J. Pierpont Morgan, W. L. Elkins, P. A. B. Widener and Clement A. Griscom and the other wealthy Americans who are to sail for the United States today chartered a special train to take them yesterday morning from London to Southampton, where they boarded the Hamburg-American steamer Deutschland. The regular train had scarcely left Waterloo station before the platform again began to be crowded, this time mostly by the millionaires. Their train consisted of a saloon carriage, a second class car for the servants, a baggage car and one of the best engines of the Southwestern road. The Americans stood upon the platform chatting and were watched a bit awesomely by the British officials.

Maurice Grau to Retire.

LONDON, June 29.—Maurice Grau said here that he expected to retire from the management and present lease of the Metropolitan Opera House of New York in 1902. Mr. Grau has left London for Carlsbad, where he will take a month's rest. His Bernhardt-Coquelin season here has been most successful, the receipts exceeding those of any previous season of either Coquelin or Bernhardt. Before leaving London Mr. Grau concluded nearly all his engagements for the coming opera season in America. He thinks the company he has selected is the strongest he has ever taken to the United States.

THIRTEEN GRADUATES OF BUSINESS COLLEGE.

Commencement Exercises at the Plainfield Business College Last Evening.

EXERCISES NOT ELABORATE.

ADDRESS OF EVENING MADE BY REV. E. M. RODMAN.

Four Young People Completed Commercial Course and Eleven the Course in Shorthand—Social Hour Followed.

Books and studies will no longer form a part of the daily routine of thirteen young people who, with appropriate exercises, closed their year's course at the Plainfield Business College last evening. Equipped with a thorough business education, from now on their efforts will be devoted to winning a place in the commercial world and putting to a test the knowledge gained from competent instruction.

The exercises, which marked the close of their school career, were simple in comparison to those of other years, yet they were greatly enjoyed by the graduates' relatives and friends who were present. The graduates occupied seats on the platform and were as follows: Comercial course, Frank Cramer, Laura E. Abbott, William Gale, Jr., Elyda M. Huges; shorthand course, Mrs H. B. L. Wilkinson, Miss Annie S. King, Miss Belle G. Conboy, Miss Katherine C. Leahy, Jacob J. Ginder, Miss Eva C. Baker, Percy Ising, Jr., Miss Lora H. Linbarger and Miss Bertie E. Myers.

Interspersing the numbers on the programme, the Dunellen Banjo Club rendered a number of pleasing selections. The address of the evening was delivered by Rev. E M. Rodman, in which he offered the graduates some timely advice. He closed with the earnest solicitation that the class prove a credit to themselves in after years, not only in business but in all its future actions. Mr. Rodman was followed by Miss Alice Johnson, who recited and gave a clever impersonation of "Miss Perkins, of Maine." Remarks by Professor A. A. Phelps and the presentation of diplomas brought the programme to a close.

Those present were afterward entertained by the school faculty, when specimens of the pupil's work were inspected. Refreshments were served and during their disposal, a social hour was enjoyed.
